Re: Notice of Ex Parte Presentations in GN Docket No. 12-268, WT Docket No. 12-269, and MB Docket No. 15-146

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On January 6, 2016, David Limp, Senior Vice President, Amazon Devices; Greg Hart, Vice President, Amazon Echo; Heather Dystrup-Chiang, Director, Product Management; Aaron McGrath, Vice President and Associate General Counsel; Brian Huseman, Director, Public Policy; Sarah Hudgins, Senior Manager, Public Policy; and Melissa Cha, Vice President and Associate General Counsel, all with Amazon.com, met with Commissioner Rosenworcel and her legal advisor, Travis Litman. On January 7, 2016, the same group from Amazon.com except for Mr. Hart met with Commissioner Clyburn and her legal advisor Holly Sauer.

During the meetings, the parties discussed the company's interest in reaching all customers and the importance of making our devices and content available at affordable prices. The parties also discussed the challenges of reaching those customers without sufficient connectivity and affordable access. In that context, the parties identified value in a diversity of spectrum stakeholders and mixed use spectrum, including both licensed and unlicensed with a vibrant WiFi capability, and the importance of expanding connectivity options. The parties also discussed Amazon.com's vision for a connected home with a customer-centric focus, and in that context, the parties highlighted Echo and its voice service as giving all consumers a new platform to manage various parts of their home and life. The parties also discussed the Amazon Video service.

Please direct any questions to the undersigned.

Sincerely,

/s/ Gerard J. Waldron
