Public Comments Regarding FCC Proceeding Number 16-42

First Name	Last Name	Address	City	Zip	Comment
Robert	Flynn	3604 14th Ave S, Mpls.	Minneapolis	55407	A reminder that you are SUPPOSED to work for the public vs. the cable companies. Remember Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Blackwelder	61 RCR	Lander	82520	After setting up an account, there is VERY LITTLE COST in maintaining cable service. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keith	Mathews	4405 Whippoorwill Court	Valdosta	31605	All the boilerplate usually sent to you is significant, I guess. But I know no one will read it, so here‰Ûªs a PERSONAL MESSAGE. Back in the late nineties I was flim-flammed by a con man who ‰ÛÏsold‰Û me a satellite TV box for cash, telling me it would never be charged against my account. A runnning battle insued between myself and Dish TV that lasted six months and resulted in my dropping the service permanently. I was an early adopter of streaming TV for my entertainment, because I would not have to pay (at that time) some $8 a month rent for a box I bought on the free market. I have never regreted my choice, Since that time, nearly twenty years, I have saved some $1,200 each year (or around $24,000 total for the 20 years) for entertainment that gave me little choice of what channels I would pay for, (even forcing me to pay for channels I abhor, such as Faux News, innumerable cooking and pet channels I never would watch), which products I could enjoy to attain the service and constantly increasin
Andrew	Weaver	27609 Ruby Ln	Castaic	91384	Allowing consumers to be scammed into paying more for their yearly contracts contradicts your responsibilities. It also suggest that your conspiring with these companies in order to maximize their profits over consumer protections. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

D	Ashford	621 W 171st	New York	10032	Allowing Internet access (ISP) monopolies must end. Prices are insane, innovation is at a standstill, and access speeds are the lowest in the developed world. The FCC needs to bring itself into the 21st century on behalf of the taxpayers who pay their salaries, not the corporations who grease their palms.
Mary	Love	3100 Smith Lane	LA GRANGE	40031	America's cable companies have a monopoly on consumers' cable box options. Especially for low income consumers, this is an expensive item.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JJ	Frankel	1441 SS Plymouth Ct	Chicago	60605	American consumers appallingly pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and raises cable profits. Consumers must have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We strongly urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Sillman	6415 Garland Ct	NEW PORT RICHEY	34652	American consumers are getting ripped off! We pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies because we have no other choice! This cable monopoly hurts competition, costs us more, stifles innovation, and limits programming choices. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Oostendorp	806 kocher st	Rockton	61072	American consumers like my mom pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. It also makes a big dent in her small budget. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Graue	830 W. 11th st.	Panama City	32401	American consumers pay an average of $231 higher year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Simmerman	3 Old Oak Drive	Greenville	29615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year - and I pay more than that - to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, dramatically limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits with NO benefit for the people you should be service, the citizens of this country. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. You are NOT the representative of these monopoly cable companies, who rip-off the public and continue to fail to provide even reasonable levels of customer service. PLEASE QUIT REPRESENTING THE COMPANIES AND THE LOBBYISTS AND PLEASE START REPRESENTING THE PEOPLE WHO ACTUALLY PAY YOUR SALARIES AND BENEFITS. Thank you.
Paul	Allen	318 N Abbott AVE	Milpitas	95035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year (~$400 for my family) to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Conroy	340 Danby Woods Court	Summerville	29485	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year per unit to rent set-top tuner boxes from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kay	Minardi	935 Hathaway Road, Oakwood, OH	Dayton	45419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a cable box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice and lifts cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own devices. Competition would lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TVs. I urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Maso	620 W Carrillo St, #C	Santa Barbara	93101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a cable box. That is such a waste of money. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device, just like they have the right of choosing their own modem. The price of my modem has gone down while the price of renting a cable box has gone up.Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Felling	825 S. 7th Ave.	Iowa City	52240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box and or modem from the cable monopolies. This lifts up cable profits as editions to the regular cable fee.. For several years the modem we use for cable connection was at no extra cost--now we are charged $60 a year for having that modem--besides the monthly payments for the cable etc
Greg	Palmer	5 Bay Bush Ct.	Durham	27712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable (and satellite) monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. (Plus give us access to digital subchannels we can't get on satellite, like Buzzr and MeTV.) Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Underwood-Sweet	2875 Lancaster Road	Danville	40422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable and satellite monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. I am currently paying an additional $240 a year for choosing a satellite company dvr/tuner box. I am sure that this would be far less if there were a consumer marked choice for this item. Cable and satellite companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. As a consumer who lives in a rural area, I do not have access to cable at all. The only way to get any television is through a satellite company. I want you to be sure and include the satellite market in any decision that you make.
Jessica	Sternberg		Tuckerton	8087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable companies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Lower cable prices will increase government revenues as businesses lower this important business cost and raise their net revenue. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV, or decide what device they must use to watch programming, never mind being able to charge whatever they want on those required devices. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victor	Allen	5186 Chalk Point Rd	West River	20778	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies and the Telcos. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Batson-Lerer	5644 Kingsbury Road	Fairfield	45014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies that is substandard to what is available on the market. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers SHOULD have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. The predatory prices being charged by the cable companies has been unacceptable for years now.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MATTHEW	BARON	14 KIMBER CT	East Northport	11731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies, hurting competition and limiting consumer choice. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. The FCC and Congress are urged to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Roth	217 Sollas Ct	Ridgewood	7450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies, including Verizon FiOS. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LJ	Teman	4700 Xenon	Morrison	80465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies, personally we've spent even more--for years. This also hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Fruechting	1627 Redcliff Street	Los Angeles	90026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. It is a major reason I can no longer afford to have cable TV in my home. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. This is something of paramount importance to me. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eugene	Gorrin	2607 Frederick Terrace, Union, NJ	Union	7083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	McKay	1721 Lasuen Rd.	Santa Barbara	93103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. (I pay $300 -- $8/mo for HD service and $8.50/mo for 2 boxes). This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. AND PERSONALLY, I DON'T EVEN UNDERSTAND WHY WE HAVE THE BOXES. In the prior generation of TVs, they were cable-ready and no box whatsoever was needed. Innovation! Technology! Let's require TV manufacturers to have cable signals and Cable Companies to accept this.
Lynn	Deschler	207 e racine st	Jefferson	53549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. And I pay more than that!!.Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jl	keith	po box 60345	Providence	2906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. AND SEVERAL STATIONS' RECEPTION IS WORSE THAN BEFORE "DIGITAL"! This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits - OF COURSE. AS SOON AS I CAN LEARN HOW TO BY-PASS THE CABLE ON MY COMPUTER, I WILL SO DO!! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Still	10075 Los Coyotes Ct	Fountain Valley	92708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. Consumers should be able to choose their own device. Competition lowers prices and increases access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Larry	Bowman	1991 Thesy Drive	Melbourne	32940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. Here in Central Florida, I pay $96 per year. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Not to mention the proprietary software the cable companies acquire from the cheapest sofware vendor.to use on their set top box. This software is minimally tested and filled with problems and ppr behavior consumers are forced to live with, thanks to the cable company monopoly. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition lowers prices and increases access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. We also urge the FCC and Congress to support the constitution and end the Cable Company monopoly, Consumers should have a true choice of our TV content provider. Thank you, Larry E. Bowman MSgt, USAF, Ret.
Paul	Weintraub	106 Hardy Cir	Pleasant Hill	94523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. My family in California pays half again as much! This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patty	Cook	Nunya	Snellville	30078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. Plus over $30 a year(since when does a remote cost hundreds of dollars?) for a remote that I do not even use or have as I have my own. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carl	Wilcox	7400 SW Northvale Way	Portland	97225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. They also try to charge for home modems. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own devices for cable anything. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dustin	Henning	3319 S DAWSON LN, BLOOMINGTON, IN	Bloomington	47403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition and limits consumer choice. While I am fortunate that Comcast will provide a cable card and I can use an alternative box, all consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. I urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lucy	Komisar	100 W 12th St	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits conItsumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claire	Appelmans	101 Village Circle	Santa Cruz	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and bolsters cable company profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Martin	6020 Loganwood Drive	Rockville	20852	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and increases cable company profits.Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

M	Rosenthal	Arlington, MA	Arlington	2476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and increases cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to a much broader array of streaming content. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Prinz	5223 Stockton Drive	Virginia Beach	23464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits - all to the detriment of the consumers and competition. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV, without adding any additional fees. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elsie	Lamb	848 N. Norris Ave.	Tucson	85719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits at an unduly high level, at the expense of consumers. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lyn	Lowry	1538 Kimbark	Longmont	80501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits at our expense.Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	LeBeau	97 Phenix Avenue, Unit#1	West Warwick	2893	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits at the expense of subscribers who are held hostage by their ever-increasing rental rates and additional fees dreamed-up for increasing cable bills! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theron	Speer	4625 N Hamilton Dr	Oklahoma City	73112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits to level's of what, 95% or better profit margins?!?. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynda	Beigel	1230 Haight St	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits without responsibility to the people who need this source of information . Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Hesselmann	14426 N 44th Dr	Glendale	85306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits, which are already very high. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices and promote technological innovations.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
terence	o'neill	113 w. poplar ave.	Wildwood	8260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits,. This endless cycle needs to be stopped. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box, and end the unfettered actions of a greedy monopoly, like the one that serves me, Comcast.

Ada Kathleen	Rote	736 N. Benton Ave.	Tucson	85711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.  I am a retired senior who gave up having cable TV at all - the cost of the box, insurance you pretty much had to chose as an add on, because if you didn't and anything went you might be charged for the box - the program packages I could afford were mostly paid programming, kiddy shows, in Spanish and reality shows. I watch TV on the computer now. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gerilynn	tarvin	110 state road t t	Buffalo	65622	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. almost 90% of the channels on cable/satellite are infomercials- real time viewing is limited to some 10 channels not all at hours of the day avaiable to view. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Liggins	1818 Newkirk Ave	Brooklyn	11226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Every year the cable boxes go up $1.00 - 2.00. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Cranford	404 Chester Woods Ct	High Point	27262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. I bought the lowest plan Time Warner Cable had just trying to save money. Then I had to buy digital converter boxes so that I could even watch TV, so my bill doubled. There is NO WINNING! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gail	Roust	1370 Fritz Cove Road	Juneau	99801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. I pay $14.99 per month EACH for 2 of my boxes and have had to have boxes replaced periodically because they're were old and didn't work properly. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content. And customers should not be forced to use obsolete equipment. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Saja	1335 Williamswood Dr	Raymond	39154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. It stinks! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Walker	61 BLUEBERRY HILL LN	Sudbury	1776	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. My previous box had lots of desirable options that were disabled by my cable company. Let's go open source and move TV forward. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Holly	Cohen	408 Sheffield Court	Brewster	10509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. The current system has created monopolies- we are forced to use only the single cable co. that our town has awarded a contract to. This results in incredibly high prices that many people simply cannot afford. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DC	David M. Scheer	2715 Cody Circle...#102, Bellingham, Wa.	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Unfair, unfair, unfair!! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. FAIR! FAIR! FAIR! Cable companies SHOULD NOT be able to block what consumers see on their TV!! We URGE the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box!

Nancy	Knott	53 Paul Ave	Wakefield	2879	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. We are so tired of being cheated my the huge profits these companies make. Please force more options, devices and small company competition. Consumers deserve protection. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Wood	715 W Prairie Ln	Columbia	65202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. ACTUALLY, I DROPPED CABLE 15 YEARS AGO. . Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Kelly	2102 Payne Pl Santa Clara CA	Santa Clara	95054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. And it is yet one more example of monopolistic utility gouging in America. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Ann	Weiss	1136 Riverside Dr	Cincinnati	45202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. and we have just been forced to add another piece to each TV for which we will be charged about $3 monthly and had to hire an installer to put in. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Berne	607 E Loyola	Tempe	85282	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Because of that I had to delete my cable subscription. I've been without cable for about 6 years. So far, that's been a good thing. But I have lost the financial ability to subscribe to cable, as did many other elder Americans. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Chapel	49 The Knolls	Warwick	10990	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Beyond this... I am old enough to remember that cable was sold to the American public as a COMMERCIAL FREE alternative to our _ FREE_ broadcast TV. Yes there was a time that advertising paid for programming not the PUBLIC!!!.... So now we have a stranglehold on us by the Cable industry because the American public can't bring themselves to say enough is enough and stop watching for several months..... maybe read a book!!!.... As this is not likely to happen I guess the next best thing is "insisting" that the cable companies stop ripping us off and using the regulating agencies we pay for to do the dirty work..... so.... I'm signing..
Matt	Summey	9444 Manorwood Dr	Mechanicsville	23116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Cable companies have monopolies in many markets, and that's unfair. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Thank you for considering my comments.

carla	dimondstein	18901 symes lane	FORT BRAGG	95437	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Cable companies should not be allowed to charge a fortune, limit our options and treat us like piles of shit. Wake up FCC! You're not supporting we the people. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Weigt	5430 Dahlen Dr	Madison	53705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. It's time to throw out the old rules that give all the decision making power to the big companies, and return it to the people!
Suzanne	Prescott	Pob 7092	Albuquerque	87194	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Our economy has other desperate needs that can be met when the money tied up by these cable expenses is dealt wiith. Please get going on this.

Chris	Hardy	303 bar king road	Boulder Creek	95006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. christopher Hardy. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marie	Raven	9104 Gorman Road	Laurel	20723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose and purchase their their own device, for significant cost savings over time. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Hagopian	9251 N. Hilltop Court	Fresno	93720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their o device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcha	Gonsalves	215 Dekalb Ave	Brooklyn	11205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own devic e. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Philo	5625 manzanita ave #87	CARMICHAEL	95608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device and more choice of value plans. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Lewis	849 Virginia Dr.	Arroyo Grande	93420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device and their own programming choices. Consumers should not be forced to pay for content that they don't use. Tiered programming reduces consumer choice and often includes objectionable content. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicholas	Gimbrone	11704 Briary Branch Ct	Reston	20191	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device, such as TiVO. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Treanor	Richland Road	Yuba City	95993	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Cable companies on the whole are the most DESPISED corporations in the USA. This distinction is due to the Lying, Cheating and overcharging Of the public. When one cable company found a way to HOSE the public they all followed suitCable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Kingery	3412 e university ave	Urbana	61802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition lowers prices and increases access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Penny	Snyder	316 Berkley Ct	Jonesborough	37659	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition lowers prices and increases access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edna	Zappa	SE Ogden St	Portland	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Watson	13523 248th Ave SE	Issaquah	98027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Hamson	4021 Driftwood Way	WILLIAMSBURG	23188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Julian	8103 190th St SW	Edmonds	98026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
m	moran	167 ahaaina	Kihei	96753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ina	pillar	236 prairie vw st	OREGON	53575	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert and Paula	Lund	16358 Co. Rd. 25	Brainerd	56401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phil	Wagner	1233 Vista del Lago	San Luis Obispo	93405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Commons	2703 Corabel Lane #215	SACRAMENTO	95821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Dallin	17041 Robinson Road	Gulfport	39503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Otto	4319 Calle Amarilla Arc	Las Cruces	88011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Dinkelis	6640 ridgefield circle, #202	West Bloomfield	48322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rozina	Barker	140 W. Wright Street	Pleasantville	8232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William F	McMillen Jr	148 Center St	Madison Heights	24572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ira	Zimbler	3 W Green, Easthampton, MA	Easthampton	1027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Anderson	3132 Grand Ave.S., #1	Minneapolis	55408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Clayton	1866 Portland Avenue	Saint Paul	55104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Jensen	1618 Jenifer St	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Druwing	6633 Woodman Ave	VAN NUYS	91401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rozina	Barker	140 W. Wright Street	Pleasantville	8232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phyllis	Simon	3000 E. 112th Ave., 82	DENVER	80233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Reschke	1420 W. Glen Avenue Apt 506	Peoria	61614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Nardell	1484 Meeker Drive	LONGMONT	80504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Reid	717 Alvarado Ave	Davis	95616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Chambers	10 Temi Road	Chelmsford	1824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Busby	under	Watertown	37184	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Kerr		Marietta	30068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rose	Rios	Rios	Las Vegas	89134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ananda	Valenzuela	23 Green St	Cambridge	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Andes	2506 Elizabethton Hwy Apt 4	Johnson City	37601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Waldron	2610 NW Glenwood Dr.	CORVALLIS	97330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rich	Lande	1102 aqua ave	Pueblo	81004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joshua	Villwock	14970 Salt Creek Rd	Dallas	97338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Elam	107 Prospect St	Newburyport	1950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Boyd	2014 Henderson Dr.	Opelika	36801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Drehfal	4430 S 68TH ST	Milwaukee	53220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Landskron	5132 Winged Foot Ln	WINTER HAVEN	33884	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Arellano	7829 W. 41st Ct.	Lyons	60534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phil	Tyler	3467 CEDARVIEW CT	Bettendorf	52722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Young	2201 Wilson Blvd #314	Arlington	22201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rich	Lande	1102 aqua ave	Pueblo	81004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Landskron	5132 Winged Foot Ln	WINTER HAVEN	33884	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	McCombs	12 reed ln. bedford	Bedford	1730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Atkins	305 old wood rd s	North Attleboro	2760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carey	Corr	31 Seascape Drive	NEWPORT BEACH	92663	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rich	Lande	1102 aqua ave	Pueblo	81004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JJ	Chambers	3579 Rosalie Dr	Destin	32541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Passon	1390 S. Kihei Rd	Kihei	96753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Mann	10542 Dover St NW	Albuquerque	87114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laren	Fusman	1257 Vine Street #103	DENVER	80206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Guillory	3604 N Canary Circle	Avondale	85392	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Spacek	1425 W Chase Ave Apt 1D	Chicago	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Lov	2400 Nostrand Ave	Brooklyn	11210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Wells	524 South Willard St. Apt. 13	Burlington	5401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Sanucci	8501 W. University #2008	Las Vegas	89147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Linko	26974 Rock Lake Court	Flat Rock	48134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Freitas	2067 Ascot Dr	Moraga	94556	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marguerite	Donnay	1032 Ironsides Ave	MELBOURNE	32940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Lehman	1122 Soap Hollow Road	JOHNSTOWN	15905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jesse	Calderon	4025 Puente Ave	BALDWIN PARK	91706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Karan	4150 Webster St.	OAKLAND	94609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Davis	906 1st Ave. W #9	Seattle	98119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann	Fosso	907 Las Tuzas - PO BOX 233	Magdalena	87825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Choky	Alvarez	7100 rue bordeaux	Miami Beach	33141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Lehman	1122 Soap Hollow Road	JOHNSTOWN	15905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Teresa	Bauer	631 Brocton Ct Unit 102	Long Beach	90803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Palmer	Senn	3113 Airlie St	Charlotte	28205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russell	Munsell	Mill Valley, CA	Mill Valley	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Jones	38763 Neely Rd NE	Albany	97322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melinda	Meyerhoff	228 CHRISTIAN STREET #3	Hartford	5047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Barhydt	5555 Lakewood Drive	Norfolk	23509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melody	Kraus	1709 White Oak Ave	Parkville	21234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	MacAulay	26802 Gena Dr	New Baltimore	48051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	LeMieux	608 Robert Ln	GREEN BAY	54311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allison	Castle	290 Burnside Ave	Muscatine	52761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Brown	Brown	RENO	89511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Severn	28 Red Deer Road	Londonderry	3053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurie	Jurs	3550 West Calle Uno	GREEN VALLEY	85622	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Gallagher	35 A Ball Pond Rd. East	New Fairfield	6812	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	HILL	18620 52nd AVE W	Lynnwood	98037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Logan	Mulford	3508 Morgan Springs Way	KNOXVILLE	37917	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Munshower	103 Fern Way	Clarks Summit	18411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Walden	290 Ramapo Valley Rd.	MAHWAH	7430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ira	Kalmus	Fairport, NY	Fairport	14450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melvin	Herlin	Herlin	LAGUNA NIGUEL	92677	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Pickering Jr.	13 Pond St.	Bangor	4401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Choky	Alvarez	7100 rue bordeaux	Miami Beach	33141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Epps	2916 1/2 OBerry Street	RALEIGH	27607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karynn	Merkel	833 Everding Street	EUREKA	95503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bryna	Schreier	9581 Via Bernardo	Burbank	91504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Felix	6716 Rosedale	ALLEN PARK	48101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C.A.	Matthews	725 Oaklawn Ave.	FOSTORIA	44830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marian	Ellette	1091 NE Orenco Station Parkway E204	Hillsboro	97124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
yolanda	krisch	9 cinder rd	Lutherville Timonium	21093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
STELLA	HOMICKI	1908 TAMAHAWK LN	Naperville	60564	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carrie	Walker	169 Hague Rd	Brattleboro	5301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Kilgore	NOYFB	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teri	Richardson	2000 Vine Avenue	KLAMATH FALLS	97601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Royce	Beasley	3802 E. Baseline Rd	Phoenix	85042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Caruso	60 Palatine	Irvine	92612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barb	Rogers	421 Stonehaven Dr #309	AMES	50010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harriet	Colbert	106 E Jefferson St.	Media	19063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
marlen	johnson	p.o. box 1439	La Jolla	92038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Temple	422 8th st, Brooklyn, ny	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Madis	11756 12th Avenue NE	Seattle	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Flynn	17 East 96 street	New York	10128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiffany	Snyder	175 South 35th Street	Boulder	80305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eugene	Cahill	224 Pine Street	Hackettstown	7840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
VM	Brainard	1420 S. Twin Lake	Virginia Beach	23454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Giroux	41 Virginia Road	Tewksbury	1876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Tighe	5536 N Omaha Ave	Portland	97217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jef	Weisel	44 High St	Keene	3431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. YEAH ALL THAT! ~ JW
Vernon	Kotar	13076 Marion Dr.	Thornton	80241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Waldo	4916 S. 525 W	Ogden	84405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Rosas	7220 Central Ave SE. #1118	Albuquerque	87108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eduardo	forero	1622 bella vista way	Port Saint Lucie	34952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicole	Dobronski	9905 Edelweiss Circle	Shawnee	66203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	McCombs	McCombs	ARCATA	95518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Royce	Beasley	3802 E. Baseline Rd	Phoenix	85042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Wilk	2102 Alamanda Drive	Naples	34102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Brown	9943 N 100 E	OSSIAN	46777	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Baldock	2404 ne 162nd	Portland	97230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Gasking	93-8 Riley Rd	New Windsor	12553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Black	401 bridge st apt 7	Lehighton	18235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Smith	1 Fisk Drive, Newington CT	Newington	6111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Raimo	2029 Verdugo Blvd. #307	Montrose	91020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory J	Maddox Sr	22200 W Eleven Mile Rd #224	Southfield	48037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Iuele	908 Brestol Ct. West	Bedford	76021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Routin	carole	42, rue guersant	Irving	75017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
marc	Arrant	119 Stephanie Dr.	West Monroe	71291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Weaver	103 W. Main St, Apt 1-B	Carrboro	27510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joey	leftow	99 Hillside Avenue	NEW YORK	10040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LYNN	LAWLER	1526 16th av	Vero Beach	32960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Houston	Castro Valley	Castro Valley	94546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Monroe	494 Tylers Mill Road	Sewell	8080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
stuart	greenburg	25948 voltaire place	Stevenson Ranch	91381	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sarah	Kough	5301 westbard circle	Bethesda	20816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony	Bongiovanni	66 Ruffian way	Howell	7731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
KAREN	COLLETT	280 E 1100 S	BOUNTIFUL	84010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Derho	15 Park Row #12G	New York	10038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jo	Taggart	17049 doe valley ct	CORNELIUS	28031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Reed	PO-BOX-3119	Southfield	48037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	stoddard	30 green acre ln	Agawam	1001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Linz	77 W. central Ave. # 207	Roselle	60172	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Truse	Pretto	836 AMADOR STREET	Richmond	94805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Wright	1210 webb farm ln	Loganville	30052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Hilleary	E13105 Boone	Spokane	99216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jordan	Genson	1630 N. 4th Ave	Purcell	73080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Shelby	9309 Summit St Rd	Le Roy	14482	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

RICHARD	GREEN	1006 W THORNGATE DR	Ozark	65721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marlene	Krapf	22877B Nadine Circle	Torrance	90505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Hampton	1886 Aba Dr	Orange Park	32073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Al	Lane	342 Bonds Pkwy	BEREA	44017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruwan	Salgado	5800 Inman Park Cir	Rockville	20852	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Reed	PO-BOX-3119	Southfield	48037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kurt	Johnson	584 morel	Wixom	48393	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Mckeown	402 cook	Fillmore	93015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Whitingbird	Naples	NAPLES	4055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Den	Stetter	11th Terrace	Dania	33004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Lowe	7207 Academy Rd	Warrenton	20187	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Tollefson	6902 Prairie Drive	Middleton	53562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claudia	Miranda	221 Morning Glory Drive	LAKE MARY	32746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Ryner	15900 New Bedford Drive	Derwood	20855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	English	1406 S W Antiquity Dr	Lees Summit	64081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

robert	kesselring	644 Zumwalt crossing	O Fallon	63366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hank	Eng	2527 Santa Rosa Street	Santa Maria	93455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Leiser	5077 Fruitville Rd. Ste 419	Sarasota	34232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Brockman		Pueblo	81004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betsy	Pendergast	530 Roosevelt Street	Port Townsend	98368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
robert	kesselring	644 Zumwalt crossing	O Fallon	63366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Newsom	1437 Jackson Circle	San Jacinto	92583	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M.	Wiggs	Baltimore, MD	Baltimore	21209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bert	Prisby	543 Tennessee Place	BARBERTON	44203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurie	Ryan	10008 Menlo Ave	Silver Spring	20910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Royal	Chamberlain	52 Evangeline St.	Rochester	14619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Bullen	125 S. Valley Rd. Paoli	Paoli	19301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Walker	1348 Florence Street	Enumclaw	98022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Golden	317 Merrilee Pl	DANVILLE	94526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	crozier	1689 brooklyn #4	EUGENE	97403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tania	Malven	2228 E. Kleindale Rd	Tucson	85719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
hans	castro	10733 cantlay st	Sun Valley	91352	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Guillen	8585 Ousley Dr	GILROY	95020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann	Wagner	389 S. Egg Harbor Road	Hammonton	8037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jeffery	Morgenthaler	1366 Alden Nash Ave NE	LOWELL	49331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Bradley	225 Ewing Drive	Fairfield	45014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

N	Bain	475 FDR Drive	New York	10002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robbie	White	1401 Billman Ln	Silver Spring	20902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JOHN	CAVICCHIA	33 Castle St	Springfield	1118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheila	Dillon	1701 5th St SW	Willmar	56201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Friedman	6512 Ellwell Cresent	Rego Park	11374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leland B	Jones		Papillion	68133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Weisser	6445 Mounting Rock Rd	CHARLOTTE	28217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evert	Van der Sluis	23	Brookings	57006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Lynk	7404 McCormick Wds. Dr. SW	Port Orchard	98367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Radosti	PO Box 187	Creighton	68729	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Fisher	4861 Sally court	Union City	94587	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patti	Griffin	94 Robin Hood Trl	Berlin	21811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gloria	Doerner	1060 Lassen Dr.	MENLO PARK	94025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
York	Quillen	1332 Farrington Drive	KNOXVILLE	37923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Schmidman	W6555 Lincoln Ct	Cedarburg	53012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Damian	Velez	5908 Downing St.	Parlin	8859	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eve	Eells	167 Columbus Ave. , Pawtucket, RI	Pawtucket	2860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	king	228 postage circle	Pickerington	43147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Finsterer	455 W Kelso st	Tucson	85705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Goldstein	Bridgewater	Bridgewater	8807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rudolph	Ripp	33 Sherman Avenue	STATEN ISLAND	10301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Helen	Hansen	7565 Charmant Drive, Unit 310	San Diego	92122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Riley	510 S. Kenmore Ave. #508	Los Angeles	90020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Giles	Inavale Lane	Brentwood	37027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Cobble	2732 Winding Trail Place	Boulder	80304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Spagna	120 Courtside Dr.	ASHLAND	23005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	DeGeorge	4222 Club Court	Ellicott City	21042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Monahan	6 Yorkshire Drive	Suffern	10901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Lopez-Hagan	976 Alta Vista Dr	Pacifica	94044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marise	Hausner	411 East 53rd Street	New York	10022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Golembiewski	1004 Everglades Dr	Pacifica	94044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Curley	327 Mullock Road	MIDDLETOWN	10940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LEWS\IS	DAUBER	P.O.BOX 501	Pacific Palisades	90272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Cox-Palmer	14515 SW Glenbrook Rd	Beaverton	97007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gina	Sanfilippo	4218 Skymont Dr	Belmont	94002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Burpo	P.O. Box 5468	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Bell	404 Olson Drive	ORFORDVILLE	53576	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Roth	1303 S Walter Reed Drive #201	ARLINGTON	22204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Amos	65A Laurel Hill Rd.	Hollis	3049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry	Carroll	po box 1047	Evansville	82636	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cate	Kennedy	241 N Magnolia Ave	Monrovia	91016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Roberts	4333 Gresham Drive, EDH	EL DORADO HILLS	95762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julian	Mesick	77 Hill St	Frostburg	21532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Brigham	4208 Quanders Promise Drive	BOWIE	20720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenny	Hakimian	100 Cuttermill Road Apt 3H	Great Neck	11021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Elencik	7430 Cedar Creek Circle	Portage	46368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Podboy	1027 Deer Creek Rd	Carpentersville	60110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rita	Montague	P.O. Box 268	Burson	95225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Walker	San Pierre Way	Mountain View	94043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judi	Batchelor	1731 Lorelei Lane	The Villages	32162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Tomlinson	22035 Stratford Place	Excelsior	55331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paris	Bottoni	2258 Langford Rd.	North Collins	14111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynore	Reiseck	444 nw 1st ave	Fort Lauderdale	33301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carrie	Kourkoumelis	28 Cargill Street	Melrose	2176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Billy	LeBlanc	Saint Albans	Saint Albans	5478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Vivado	51 Wedgewood Drive		26324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Hogan	4920 Quemazon	Los Alamos	87544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beverly	Guter	Po box 644	Brownsville	5037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Irvin	1424 Prescott Drive	Fox Lake	60020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianne	Roberto	5429 Waterview dr	North Port	34291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lawrence & Carolyn	Rice	112 Sweet Birch Lane	Womelsdorf	19567	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Laverdiere	28 Wethersfield Rd.	BELLINGHAM	2019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Ashley	7149 North 46th Street	MILWAUKEE	53223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Hendrickson	140 Main St	Rockport	1966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Greenburg	25948 voltaire place	Stevenson Ranch	91381	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Eehn	2606 Abedul, Carlsbad, CA	Carlsbad	92009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Johann	Nutter	1212 s bross ln	Longmont	80501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathon	Spillman	4708 private road 2503	Royse City	75189	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Penny	Oldfather	110 Chinquapin Way	Athens	30605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Hardesty	3521 Spring Creek Pl	BOULDER	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
rob	boughton	7747 dutra bend	Sacramento	95831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arlisa	Johnson	1830 nw 167th Street	Opa Locka	33054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	LeSueur	208 Brookwood Cir NE	Arab	35016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Bartkowicz	1011 Atlantic Ave., Apt.A	Hoffman Estates	60169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Walters	417 Reeds Landing	SPRINGFIELD	1109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Cummins	1646 Rob Roy lane	SAN ANTONIO	78251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Brown	5 Meadow Lane	GOFFSTOWN	3045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Licht	140 Lindeman Lane	Venus	16364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Iehl	335 N VAN BRUNT BLVD	KANSAS CITY	64123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Radens	200 57th Ave. S.	SAINT PETERSBURG	33705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dolores	Pino	7200 Wilson Terrace	MORTON GROVE	60053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vicki	Pratt	9116 Kinzer Street	Lanham	20706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Purnell	3044 Vista St NE	WASHINGTON	20018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Page	1 1/2 Stetson Street	Norwich	6360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Price	5718 Trenton Rd	Utica	13502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Sheriger	14 June Court	Fairfax	94930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Dine	9924 Alydar Court	Cincinnati	45242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Parsons	Brooklyn, NY	Brooklyn	11234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Gragg	24510 64th South, #132	Kent	98032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Giamo	Lao	334 Pamela Lane, Lebanon PA	Lebanon	17042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Price	5718 Trenton Rd	Utica	13502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rev. Marcia	Urban	1823 Fargo Ave.	Des Plaines	60018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Goldman	265 Ringwood Rd.	FREEVILLE	13068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kaihla	Olivar	3 Repton Circle	Watertown	2472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberto	Alexander	3441Dixie ln	Riverside	92503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lillian	Watson	2242 SW 330th ST	Federal Way	98023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony	Henline	903 South Belgrade RD	SILVER SPRING	20902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Bunker	221 Kelton St	Allston	2134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sierra	hester	8921 nw 33rd st	Pompano Beach	33065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorlan	Bales	818 W 33rd St. N	Wichita	67204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Ross	1013 Irene Ave	Largo	33771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bradley	Richardson	1212 Cavan St	BOULDER	80303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Joyner	5639 Lansing Dr.	Charlotte	28270	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
clark	OLSON	2525 scenic ridge drive	MADISON	53719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Alban	421 S. 7th Street	La Porte	77571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Hessner	418 Pine St	Delavan	53115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	James	914 N Cornejo Way	Azusa	91702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Vedder	2314 e. dayton st.	MADISON	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vicki	McAlister	422 Winter Creek Ln	Roseburg	97471	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Moise	424 E Olive St	Oxnard	93033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawn	Wilson	10040 Silverton Avenue	Tujunga	91042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tara	D'Andrea	3696 prospect	ANN ARBOR	48105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Marentette	53634 Lynnham ln	Utica	48316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dee	Halzack	318 Pawtucket St	Lowell	1854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Beck	3537 Poplar Ave	Pittsburgh	15234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trudy	Conley	1414 Winter Pine Trail	Severn	21144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Hellmuth	12 Swayze Drive	Latham	12110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Benjamin	Bernhardt	209 Red Fern Ct	Canton	30114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Troy	Burns	2589 Pinewood Dr	Marietta	30068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Laing	12 Cape Jellison Road	Stockton Springs	4981	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

james	fowler	613 Glendale Rd.	Havertown, PA	19083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
diana	fiorini	30667 cedars drive	WARREN	48093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Pittman	2130 11th Avenue North	BIRMINGHAM	35234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lee	Allen	PO Box 23654	Portland	97281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cassia	Charles	639 Sterling Place	Brooklyn	11238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emily	Husch	Green Valley, AZ	Green Valley	85614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Else	9702 Veterans Dr SW	LAKEWOOD	98498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Johnson	decatur	Decatur	30030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juliann	Pinto	4438 Pennypack Street	Philadelphia	19136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Dilley	POB 2416	Detroit	48202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sandra	carlson	4201e.camelbackrd#21	PHOENIX	85018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donnell	Sutherland	1527 Summit View Drive	Holts Summit	65043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

M. R.	DePrey	1480 Applewood Ct 114	Roseville	55113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Howard	6911 Aloma Ave	Winter Park	32792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Ellis	1595 Penncross Dr SE	CALEDONIA	49316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Hauck	3 Oyster Creek Drive	Keyport	7735	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Curran	143 River Ridge Rd	Brunswick	31523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	S	7258 S Ponderosa Dr	Salt Lake City	84121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Simmons	5226 Lillian Street	Torrance	90503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sid	Snider	4526 NE 13th Ave	Portland	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Phillips	1109 Rear Main	BOONVILLE	65233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	PROCIDA	38 AMALFI DRIVE	CORTLANDT MANOR	10567	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Lesh	2330 Hawkins Lane	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Ford	2402 Baylor, Roswell, NM	Roswell	88203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Dannelley	2010 Boston	IRVING	75061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
L'Tanyua	Littlejohn	828 Spring St NE #1702	Minneapolis	55413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Jahn	11545-34th AVE NE SEATTLE WA	Seattle	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Topher	Heigham		8 Arlington	2474	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig Lee	Burket	17A Arlington St., Cambridge, MA	Cambridge	2140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Ano	27600 Marquette	GARDEN CITY	48135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Gould	Chelsea VT	Chelsea	5038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Heacock	101 Scheivert	Aston	19014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

david	PASSELL	851 E. Pine Knoll Dr.	Prescott	86303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I would like to add that the Cable Companies should be required to provide the .2, .3. etc additional services. E.G. PBS is kids shows all days but .2 is Life, .3 is World News, and .4 rebroadcast of music with slides. No cable (or Satellite) that i know of provides this. I personally found the quality and reliability of the digital changeover requiring a box was worse than the analog services so i cancelled my cable.. I am fortunate in being able to receive all the TV i need including the extra services off the air..
Peter	Thomas	65 E.4th st.	NEW YORK	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Pikus	2820 E. Sweetwater ave.	PHOENIX	85032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Hussein	210 Westbrook Court	HIGH POINT	27263	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paula	lynn	19 rock hill rd 5d	Bala Cynwyd	19004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Johnson	83 east walnut st	Metuchen	8840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cyrus	Shamloo	101 N chestnut Street #4	Winston Salem	27101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Patterson	318 Leland Ave.	Palo Alto	94306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

rob	johnson	1680 flat rock ct	Columbus	43235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cody	Gould	12227 Level Run	Stafford	77477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Berthaut	6219 Garden Ct. Davie, FL	Fort Lauderdale	33314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Asiain	405 Peoples Lane	Saugerties	12477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Birr	9712 North Kelly Lake Road	Sobieski	54171	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremiah	Avins	139 Kendall Road	Kendall Park	8824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Coffi	P.o. 1223	Westwood	96137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Smith	476 Laurel St.	Manchester	3103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Moore	5402 neer ave	San Antonio	78213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

terry	MYERS	127 North Hazel St	Upper Sandusky	43351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erik	Streeter	12 Pope Street Apt B1013	SALEM	1970	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Pekkanen	5101 Newport Avnue	Bethesda	20816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Wimmer	7209 Whispering Oaks Dr	Austin	78745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Viginia	Dodge	1620 Mayflower Ct. Winter Prk, FL	Winter Park	32792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Swanson	1210 Bickler Rd	Austin	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

rob	johnson	1680 flat rock ct	Columbus	43235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Yeager	828 Franklin Street	Louisville	40206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Krauz	701 W 5th St.	GRAND MARAIS	55604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul C	Barry	20051 Old Scenic Hwy #909	ZACHARY	70791	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bradford	Harrington	85 parkway rd	Bronxville	10708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Tauer	909 1st Ave S	Sleepy Eye	56085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Rogers	608 Aiken Ave	Rock Hill	29730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elana	Levinson	70-25 Yellowstone Blvd Apt.14k	FOREST HILLS	11375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arlyne	London-Kessler	782 Calmar Ave.	Oakland	94610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Cutter	220 Athol	Oakland	94606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Sherman	106 Flintridge Drive	MOUNTAIN HOME	72653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Marinella	15927 SE 148th St. Renton, WA 98059	Renton	98059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim	Messmer	2599 Amethyst	SANTA CLARA	95051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Raccio	6400 Ranchview Ln N	Osseo	55311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Seeley	1234 Main St	Los Angeles	90006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ane	Brusendorff	18209 NE 175th Place	Woodinville	98072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Estes	629 Arguello Blvd. #303	SAN FRANCISCO	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kellyann	morander	2791 landover blvd	spring hill	34608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charlette	Spicer	4005 Zeno St Mad. WI	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Damian	McDonnell	40 Plain St. #4	Taunton	2780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Wilson	16035 26 Ave NE	SEATTLE	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hazel	.Williams.	25890 Stefanie Lane	Harts	25524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Whitford	6619 Locust Way	ANNANDALE	22003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annie	Richardson	2731 37th St S	SAINT PETERSBURG	33711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Verdugo	1849 Wisconsin Avenue	Berwyn	60402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Keenan	23392 bolivar, mission viejo, ca	Mission Viejo	92691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Yanosik	9005 Quail Run Dr	PERRY HALL	21128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Rider	E.Mitchell	Gaylord	49735	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Newman	710-D Powell Drive	Raleigh	27606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. I just canceled my cable because my monthly charges keep going up and up, and there's nearly nothing I want to see on most channels. If I could pick only the channels I want for a much lower price and NO box-top payment each month, I might reconsider my cancellation. Cable will continue to lose customers if they do not reform. They are raising their prices to continue to "earn" the same amount of profit without improving service or allowing choice, despite customers leaving in droves. Isn't this counter to the supply-demand concept? Let competition reign! Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock Th

Gary	Katona	1611 8th st	Los Osos	93402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Hawkins	2208 Armstrong Road	Lansing	48917	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Bechthold	1380 Sun Tree Dr	Roseville	95661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Annie	Wang	225 West 106th Street	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Barber	63 Church Hl	Strong	4983	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Phillips	415 Maulden St.	Conway	29527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jenifer	Wightman	625 Caton Ave #5h	Brooklyn	11218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jenifer	Wightman	625 Caton Ave #5h	Brooklyn	11218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorraine	Lopes	88R Wales Street	Taunton	2780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Brown	777 Sunset Drive	DANVILLE	46122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lacey	Hicks	34655 Skylark	Union City	94587	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles Paul	Becker	467 Goshen Road	LITCHFIELD	6759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Carruth	5123 Grey Swallow St	BRIGHTON	80601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Howard J	Whitaker	2041 Campton Circle	Rancho Cordova	95670	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erik	DeSart	6116 N G st	Spokane	99205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Van Grouw	145 Columbia Ave., Holland, MI	Holland	49423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sybil	Schlesinger	22 Rockland Street	Natick	1760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Shurie	210 Trinity Farm Lane	Centreville	21617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

henry	holtzman	33 riverside drive	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Hooks	1634 Sharpe St.	Port Charlotte	33952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Van Grouw	145 Columbia Ave., Holland, MI	Holland	49423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jaime	Collazo	4535 park ave. Apt 4B	Bronx	10457	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Alvarez	6 Scenic Pond Drive	Warwick	10990	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Wood	230 Riverside Dr PHL	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JD	Cynthia Vitko	2808 Holiday Ranch Loop Road	Park City	84060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Smith	2315 Mercury Blvd Apt K151 Murfreesboro, TN	Murfreesboro	37127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty	Karst	2702 SE Talton Ave.	Vancouver	98683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Johnston	812 Delgado	Baton Rouge	70808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randall	Willard	5206 S Haleyville Way	Aurora	80016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catena	Pagano	16531 redland road	Derwood	20855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Denehy	1808 Val Ct	Burlington	41005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken & Glenda	Ledbetter	gayfer road ext	Fairhope	36532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Mitchell	4555 Stewart Place	Middleburg	32068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Mitchell	4555 Stewart Place	Middleburg	32068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anita	Nallathamby	4545 DE SILVA ST	FREMONT	94538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Vipond	204 S Fourth St	Milbank	57252	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jaye	Brink	25 Tamarack Rd	PITTSFIELD	1201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Sackenheim	6990 Melton Rd	PORTAGE	46368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Sharp	1502 Bedford Rd #223	Bedford	76021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Jensen	1462 Cambridge Street	Novato	94947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Pierce	3126 31st Street	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Chater	PO BOX 247	Cannon Beach	97110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	Critz	212 Anker Lane Lot 12	METAMORA	61548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maryann	Almeida	25 Gemini Dr apt 4B	East Providence	2914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Wavra	5114 Crescent Oaks Dr.	MADISON	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jon	Solmos	403 E. Morgan Ave.	Chesterton	46304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Macy	115 Elm Street	CRANFORD	7016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Ellis	819 Woodland	Port Washington	53074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

MS ADRIAN	SIEGEL	601 NW 103D AVE APT162	Hollywood	33026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Russell	hamden	Hamden	6517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Cruz	1 Whitney Place	Princeton Junction	8550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Javier	Mendez	1326B Alewa Dr.	Honolulu	96817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Terriault	Jupiter	Jupiter	33458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerome	Roth	1912 S. River Dr.	TEMPE	85281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randy	Wiser	Hoxie rd	Cedar	49621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Fine	Po box 754	Dorset	5251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Nevin	36 Hargrave St	ROCHESTER	14621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Storm	17 Lincoln Street	Norwood	2062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryne	Kinley	3152 acorn way	San jose	95117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Campbell	3117 Linden St.	Emeryville	94608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glenn	Freeman	500 Fulton Street East #317	GRAND RAPIDS	49503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Craven Sharp	4940 Hackney Lane	The Colony	75056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gina	Bates	40 South St	APPLE CREEK	44606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jorge	Gonzalez	6308 N 3rd St.	McAllen	78504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Glenn	1531 perry st. apt. 14	Columbus	43201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lucille	Bloodsworth	2807 Upper Tangelo Dr.	Sarasota	34239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Coyt	Watters	2229 Shirlene Drive	Grove City	43123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Jordan	297 Stonewall	Memphis	38112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	OBrien	72 West Coast Rd.	Redway	95560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Trevor	Brummel	806 Price St Saint Joseph MI	Saint Joseph	49085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russell	Burke	16700 Guernewood Rd	Guerneville	95446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
lisa	enloe	1806 10th ave n	Fort Dodge	50501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Gluckmann	114 Miller lane	Mount Tremper	12457	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Stephens	99 Parkwood Street	Williamsport	17701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Esther	Peterson	22989 Asthre Ln	BATTLE LAKE	56515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arthur	Scholbe	S. Barnes St.	Mason	48854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Lambeau	203 1st street Huntington, WV	Huntington	25705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Stanton	332 Ketcham Rd	VOORHEESVILLE	12186	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Freeman	5437 n 100 w	KOKOMO	46901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Leong	9035 NW Arboretum Rd	CORVALLIS	97330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Liepmann	36 Fox Run	Saranac Lake	12983	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Montgomery	825 Lozano road	Newcastle	95658	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	hansen	2380 foxdale ave	La Habra	90631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Dean	528 Henry St.	Brooklyn	11231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Ivankovic	17 Jerome Pl	WAYNE	7470	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Earl	Frounfelter	120 Palm Court Drive	SANTA MARIA	93454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Moldafsky	8645 Ardelia Ave	Saint Louis	63114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Labenz	170 Palmers Mill Rd	Media	19063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jarrette	Smith	1068 Frontier Trl	Rockwall	75032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Capps	1403 Hummingbird	HILLSBORO	76645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raquel	Brac	151 judson st, apt. 301	Redlands	92374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mel	Apodaca	550 E. 12th Ave.	Denver	80203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Belcastro	956 Fox Hollow Rd	SHERMANS DALE	17090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Jacobson	1516 Rose Lane	Williston	58801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Isidor	Patapis	5518 Amesfield Ct	Rockville	20853	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Zied	6326 lexington ave.	Pennsauken	8109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Craig	Virg	4150 Webster Street	Oakland	94609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Kelman	14056 80th Ave NE	Kirkland	98034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Weaver	2303 Macfarland Dr Cocoa FL	Cocoa	32922	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Lewis	584 South Valley Road	Southern Pines	28387	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
N	C	3451 Queens st	SARASOTA	34231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Ryberg	30247 Overdale Ct	Farmington	48334	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Bennett	1479 Farmers Loop	Fairbanks	99709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Scobee	3606 Rollingbrook St.	Clermont	34711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
nelson	urdaneta	2401 norse ave	Costa Mesa	92627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Bayait	43 N Middaugh St.	SOMERVILLE	8876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
H.	Coetzee	505 Venado Vista Dr	La Canada Flintridge	91011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick and Sharon	Norlund	PO Box 162	Durham	95938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Teresa	Collins	674 Wildrose Way	LOUISVILLE	80027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick and Sharon	Norlund	PO Box 162	Durham	95938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryanne	Rosenlund	23120 SE Black Nugget Rd	Issaquah	98029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melissa	Siedentop	60 SE Holly Place	Shelton	98584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Bichanich	409 Lueders Road	Sauk City	53583	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Bohne	1350 William Penn Blvd	WOMELSDORF	19567	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Scerbo	746 West 12th	New Castle	19720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Langlais		Providence	2903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yanula	Pengenika	8100 North Palafox Str	Pensacola	32534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adam	Shumway	10-A Lincoln Heights	Schenectady	12305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Greenwood	434 Lexington Dr	TUCKERTON	8087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Gustafson	33 Knickerbocker Road	Scotia	12302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arthur	Kendy	142 West End Ave #28L	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Azar	9821 Falcon Bluff Street	San Diego	92127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Koo	2329 aperture cir	San Diego	92108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eugene	Scalisi	931 Paseo Camarillo Apt 708	Camarillo	93010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Labenz	170 Palmers Mill Rd	Media	19063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emil	Bradinov	1170 Valley Ridge Cir.	Fairfax	22033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Swanson	3715 Willow Heights Drive SW	Rochester	55902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rich	Clawson	611 North 12TH Street	Billings	59101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Aland	4136 Gladstone St.	Pittsburgh	15207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Murdoch	11908 Elk Ridge	Wesley	72773	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karel	Kretzschmar	442 Locust Street, SF, CA	San Francisco	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Uta	Tipper	31116 6th Ave South	Federal Way	98003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Martin	901 S Lagrange Rd. Apt C	La Grange	60525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maxwell	Morrongiello	210 Chestnut St	Franklin	2038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Iris	Newman	any 123 street	Olympia	98512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

LeRoy	Boyce	Tacoma, WA	TACOMA	98407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Krumenacker	16 Kopf Street	BRENTWOOD	11717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Malz	200 W Campbell St #212	Arlington Heights	60005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Caswelch	1084 Aubrey Springs Ave	Henderson	89014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Cox	1604 Herr Ln	Louisville	40222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Rosel	315 11th Ave #1	San Francisco	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Arias	760 Pelham Parkway South	Bronx	10462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Descault	13 union pl	manchester	6042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Martin	901 S Lagrange Rd. Apt C	La Grange	60525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gertrude	Battaly	112 Chelseea Road	White Plains	10603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annette	Bork	4505 Sandburg Way	IRVINE	92612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Roth	8818 Oak Trail Dr	SANTA ROSA	95409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tammie	Savini	4 Salins rd	Madison	3849	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Owen	72 Water St.	Jersey Shore	17740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samantha	Turetsky	608 John Anderson Drive	ORMOND BEACH	32176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Johnston	617 W. Roses Rd.	San Gabriel	91775	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen-Cathryn	Nash	456 Ninth Street #26	Hoboken	7030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Anderson	945 E Sterling Dr	Spanish Fork	84660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

leisha	monet	256 fountainbleau Dr	Baton Rouge	70819	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Mount	4579 Laclede Ave #178	SAINT LOUIS	63108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Glasser	3660 barry ave	Los Angeles	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Kmotorka	1384 W Valley Ridge PL	Tucson	85737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiffiny	Snyder	285 Saint Johns Place	Brooklyn	11238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Scott	421 E Cravath St	Whitewater	53190	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	OConnor	919 Country Club Drive	PRESCOTT	86303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yvonne	McLaughlin	2959 Premae Drive	Akron	44312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Olp	PO Box 329	Four Lakes	99014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Ducet	1014 Bella Vistax	Pasadena	91107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Sheppard	30 Hanson St. Somerville MA	Somerville	2143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Vallance	1034 Lakeview Dr.	Stafford	22556	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Rosenblum	1475 ne 111st	Miami	33161	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melinda	Wallingford	8919 Fleetwing Avenue	Los Angeles	90045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Let the free market, actually be a "free market". Stop blocking the competition.
Aenia	Amin	1001 Jefferson Wood Lane	Greensboro	27410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harald	Huckins	Tucson, AZ	Tucson	85711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dee	Bell	4698 VIOLET RD #92	Toledo	43623	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gayland	Gump	2127 Poplar Dr.	Ferndale	98248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jan	Nethers	PO Box 685	BAYFIELD	81122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Banach	1420 SE 4th Ct.	DEERFIELD BEACH	33441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cherri	Nelson	21487 Old Mine Rd.,	Los Gatos	95033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Miguel	Rivera	1 Amesbury St Worcester Ma	Worcester	1605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	dupont	68 Lake Nottely Dr	Blairsville	30512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Andrewjeski	442 44th Ave.	San Francisco	94121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Moreno	140 W Will Dr	Chino Valley	86323	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Davis	1215 Fish Hatchery RD	Huntsville	77320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Whitaker	472 Palisades Dr.	Akron	44303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Mann	1604 W. Bannock St. Apt. 10	Boise	83702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Popowski	2630 Pleasant Ave #101	MINNEAPOLIS	55408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Pietsch	126 Broad Meadow Road	Groton	1450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	TRUE	28-1141 Mamalohoa HWY PO BOX 1020	Pepeekeo	96783	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Haughton	312 Alexander Ave	Durham	27705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cory	Pendergraft	3107 Kingston Drive	Richardson	75082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Attaway	328 Southing Grange	Cottage Grove	53527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lowell	Gomes	8772 Vivero Street	Rancho Cucamonga	91730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pam	Swan	330 Military Ridge DR	Verona	53593	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bernadine	Turner	371 NW 249th Street	NEWBERRY	32669	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Ball	36 Elm Drive	Rochester	14609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John-Mark	Pawlowski	569 Portland Avenue #5	Saint Paul	55102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheena	Jacob	2416 mumford dr	Silver Spring	20906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Schwenke	172 Fox Creek Drive	O'Fallon	63366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Bennett	1479 Farmers Loop	Fairbanks	99709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Stewart	2315 Harrodsburg Rd, #10	Lexington	40504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Lawrence	124 S Tanninger Rd	Mount Holly	28120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Staight	28536 C. G. Lorane Rd	Cottage Grove	97424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sherry	Halbrook	28 Birchwood Lane	Ballston Spa	12020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Akhtar	Ehtisham	553 Elsie Avenue	South Plainfield	7080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Helton	607 E Portland Dr	Burnsville	55337	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jon	baker	s 51st st	Phoenix	85044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Kendall	59 Spruce	Oneonta	13820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Raab	Adams	OSWEGO	60543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Belinda	Colley	P O Box 152	Azalea	97410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Garza	557 Dowling Circle	Lady Lake	32159	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Girouard	8 Hycrest Rd.	Charlton	1507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim	Garside	481 e. Green haven dr	Midvale	84047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ross	Humphries	3111 Se 52nd St	Ocala	34480	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Causey	960 n gilbert rd	GILBERT	85234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Linn	1201 Highland Blvd.	Bozeman	59715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alva	Crom	1343 Blair Ave.	Saint Paul	55104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Colburn	3015 Conway St.	Houston	77025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Gangawer	3265 Comfort Road	New Hope	18938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Watson	3250 W. Page	SPRINGFIELD	65802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ron	pyle		0 Orangevale	95662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Muriel	Thompson	2499 18ave apt 210	Minneapolis	55404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
West	Smith	Po box 179	OJAI	93024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Evans	2114 STEAMBOAT SPRINGS DR	Garland	75044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Burns	213 Guaymas Pl	Davis	95616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edwin	McCready	1818 Whitley Avenue	LOS ANGELES	90028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Schneider	5503 S THOR ST	Spokane	99223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann	Denton	15508 Buena Vista Avenida Sonora, CA	SONORA	95370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Steiniger	8740 ROSWELL RD	Atlanta	30350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Bowden	2005 Kelly Creek Circle	Oviedo	32765	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Evans	2114 STEAMBOAT SPRINGS DR	Garland	75044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Adamson	3456 Oro Grande Blvd unit 102	Lake Havasu City	86406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Small towns with limited or no repeaters are locked into one cable provider. This is monopoly, no other provides may enter for free competition. Hardly any over the air stations in these smaller rural areas.
Juan	Molina	43921 Northgate Ave.	Temecula	92592	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Juan	Molina	43921 Northgate Ave.	Temecula	92592	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	Harrison	505 Westminster, Kerrville	Kerrville	78028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Noordyk	4538 Cass Street	SAN DIEGO	92109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Molina	43921 Northgate Ave.	Temecula	92592	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Traupman	2999 NW 48 Avenue	Fort Lauderdale	33313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claire	Barnett	110 W. Walnut St	Baraboo	53913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Cohen	77360 Calle Tecate La Quinta, CA	La Quinta	92253	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Stein	2625 N. Alabama St	Indianapolis	46205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Candace	Moon	100 David Drive APT E9	Greenville	27858	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Sherman	1308 KENDAL	Ossining	10562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarah	Dallosto	15443 38th Ln S, Apt. #67	SEATTLE	98188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samuel	rees	821 E Country Club Rd	Mount Airy	27030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arnold	Lee	6407 Landing Way	Hyattsville	20784	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lloyd	Wareham	18690 Dellwood Dr.,	Bedford	44146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Kohn	1268 W Hiahia Place	Wailuku	96793	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Heller	1666 N Beverly Dr	Beverly Hills	90210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nyla	Lewis	9741 206th St W	Lakeville	55044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gonzalez	Austin, TX	AUSTIN	78723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Martin	3254 Redstone Lane, Boulder, CO	Boulder	80305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Miller	8247 S Old 27	Grayling	49738	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randy	Maxfield	P.O. Box 13778	SALEM	97309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Johnson	210 Harmon Ct	WINSTON SALEM	27106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Johnson	3203 center street	OKLAHOMA CITY	73120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Miller	7000 N 16 St	PHOENIX	85020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wendy	Om	1672 Druid RD E	Clearwater	33756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Martin	18566 Willowridge Lane	CLINTON TOWNSHIP	48038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerardo	Talavera	28 Browne ST	Brookline	2446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JOAN	SOLANCHICK	260 VICTORY WAY	Bethlehem	18017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Murat	Senaydin	1929 OAK TREE LANE	Mount Pleasant	29464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Grauel	2751 Bay Oaks Drive	Sarasota	34234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jefte	Arroyo	217 south liberty street	HAMMONTON	8037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Mcdaniel	717 E. 32 Ave.	SPOKANE	99203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
j	gruber	3814 N Monroe	Peoria Heights	61616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Brown	808 s 299th pl	Federal Way	98003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Cooke	3518 Eastern Ave SE	ALBUQUERQUE	87106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Gatling	1oo4 montgomer st apt c6	Brooklyn	11213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	McDonald	109 Luquer St. Apt. D1	Brooklyn	11231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Loomis	19 Upper Clark Avenue	van Etten	14889	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Kelly	900 West Tyler St	DALTON	30720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Bartlett	715 East Lime Street #406	Tarpon Springs	34689	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Alongi	209 East Ranch Rd. Sacramento, CA	Sacramento	95825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Poxon	3207 L Street, Apt. B	Sacramento	95816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Gottschalk	62 Village Walk	WILTON	6897	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Antonia	Salaz		Grand Junction	81502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rudy	Avizius	123 front st	Cherry Hill	8003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sue	Nuccio	608 Plymouth Dr.	SYRACUSE	13206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Curtis	Curtis	Mesa	85213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edwina	Nuccio	60 Algonquin Rd.	YONKERS	10710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Harry	1010 McKinley Ave	Louisville	40217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Lowry	80 Deaconess rd,#358	Concord	1742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Harry	1010 McKinley Ave	Louisville	40217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	McKenzie	62 wildwood circle, fletcher, NC	Fletcher	28732	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margie	Schwinn	11715 e 4th ave apt 25. spo	Spokane	99206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Nedbor	496 Towpath	High Falls	12440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marc	Milgrom	27A Jackson Pl, Brooklyn, NY	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Additionally, set-top boxes are one of the biggest zombie power drains in the home because we have no choice. We pay for the box for the right to waste energy on top of it.
Hannah	Perkins	140 N Clifton	Wichita	67208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Davis	4404 East Nichols Av	SACRAMENTO	95820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nina	Flowers	1455 S Puget Dr	Renton	98055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S. Jay	Tallman-Willcut	4580 Cummings Rd	Eureka	95503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Helner	453 Woodcrest Ln	Media	19063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	McNulty	6619 N 106th St	Omaha	68122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hyatt	Barnes	103 Cascade Lane	PORT LUDLOW	98365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Flannery	712 S 2 Av., Highland Park NJ	Highland Park	8904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bill	Winkler	1625 delaware st. Lawrence KS	Lawrence	66044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Suttelle	16620 N 30th Ave	Phoenix	85053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
david	segal	261 Broadway	Providence	2903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Miller	1512 Spruce St., Apt. 809	Phila.,	19102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rudolph	Villalaz	12902 W. 159th St.		Apt 1B	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Fernandez	6812 EDEN ST		92568	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

eugene	berkovich	3350 ne 192 street	MIAMI	33180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Shinneman	9153 Yarrow St.	Broomfield	80021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Murphy	1258 Maple Ave, Flint MI	Flint	48507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurel	Neufeld-Williams	411 E Cherry Ave.	Arroyo Grande	93420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberta	Pineau	320 Kennedy Terrace	Millis	2054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Farrell	6307 California Ave SW	Seattle	98136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Tilden	PO Box 1452	Blakeslee	18610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Lewandowski	16003 91st Ave NE	Arlington	98223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Nagy	720 W 3RD AVE #202	Columbus	43212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rosa	Del LCSW	158 W. Indianapolis Ave	Clovis	93612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
W. Andrew	Stover	247 West Queen Street	CHAMBERSBURG	17201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susanne	Ellis	1092 Capitol Ave.	San Francisco	94112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Betty	Kaine	41 STEARNS ST APT4	Bristol	6010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Larson	1425 W 28th Street #123	Minneapolis	55408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
don	dulmage	6964 Rynn Rd	North Street	48049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Metz	227 W. Jefferson Ave.	Danville	40422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Navneal	Mangat	4233 111th St. SE	Everett	98208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rhonda	Burgess	Tulsa OK	Tulsa	74153	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nenad	Stefanovic	1225 100th PL NE, Bellevue	Bellevue	98004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Conquergood	9401 N Clarkview Pl	HAYDEN	83835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John H	Kraemer	321 Dwight St.	Chippewa Falls	54729	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennie	Brawner	921 San Pablo Drive	San Marcos	92078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Cox	321 East 71 Street, New York, NY	NEW YORK	10021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Checchia	1829 Avenida Flores	Encinitas	92024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Mendoza	7900 Reseda blvd apt.304	Los Angeles	91335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Burgess III	1401 Central Drive	Oak Harbor	98277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aubrey	Mason	PO Box 165	Au Sable Forks	12912	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gianfranco	Candela	3970 San Leandro Way	San Diego	92130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Hill	2480 Verna Court	PALM SPRINGS	92262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Burgess III	1401 Central Drive	Oak Harbor	98277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Hill	5017 Sand Ridge Rd.	New Bern	28560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Rettic		San Diego	92107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Reiss	49 Ashbury Ave.	Mill Valley	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marilyn	Pizzardi	10 Meryl Lane	NESCONSET	11767	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Teel	3715 Hidden Meadow Lane	KEEZLETOWN	22832	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	McCauley	127 Beryl Dr, San Antonio, TX	SAN ANTONIO	78213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Georgina	Wright	4370 New Suffolk St Unit 101	NORTH LAS VEGAS	89032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carla	Finis	10350 W Petearana St	Boise	83704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Owen	Crabtree	98-1692 Kaahumanu St Unit B	Pearl City	96782	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Gallagher	375 Wailuku Drive	Hilo	96720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Mahoney	1517 31st ave Longview	Longview	98632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Gallagher	375 Wailuku Drive	Hilo	96720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Maccarone	1357 Anchor Dr	Wantagh	11793	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamie	Moffitt-Graham	E 29th St	Vancouver	98663	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Kornmiller	50 County Road 519	Newton	7860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andy	Parker	832 Chaparral Ct	Bedford	76022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Feagin	P.O. Box 111	Ipswich	1938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Brostoff	PO Box 247	Cascade Locks	97014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	Westphal	N5771 State Highway 76	Shiocton	54170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	McKeever	279 Crosscut Trail	Rexford	59930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Brown	2001 N. Pebble Beach Dr.	New Brunswick	8901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jimbeau	Hinson	380 Houston Fielder Rd.	Clarksville	37043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ev	F	Drew	Minneapolis	55416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Hosmer	25672 Cervantes Ln	MISSION VIEJO	92691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. i currently have 3 "boxes." and since cox is now "all digital," one stopped working. to fix it, the tech switched us to an hdmi connection. now the other 2 tv's upstairs (our service is pulled off the main tv & strung under the rafters) won't work. without their own boxes, of course. they just went up $10/mo on our crappy service & now i need to pay $2 x 2/mo more...for the rest of my natural life.or until the price increases to $3/mo.. all i want is a picture that doesn't tile!
Sabrina	McDonald	5145 SW 19th Dr.	Portland	97239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Genevieve	Ameduri	1193 N Sunflower Ave, Covina, CA	Covina	91724	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Jekinsn	2131 historic Decatur	San Diego	92106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Phillips	19769 Sages Road	NEVADA CITY	95959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Phillips	19769 Sages Road	NEVADA CITY	95959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Paul & Sullivan	4946 sullivan st	Ventura	93003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Goldberg	2120 N Pacific Ave Spc 27	Santa Cruz	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lauren	Wood	PO Box 28091, San Jose,CA	San Jose	95159	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roseanna	Szilak	123 Old Post Rd. North	Red Hook	12571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Schur	4198 Kent Ave	Lake Worth	33461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Beltt	491 N. Pleasant View Road #15	PLYMOUTH	53073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Johnson	924 S Garfield St	Lodi	95240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wilfred	Long	3390 W. Treeline Dr.	TUCSON	85741	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Ricketts	207 Riverside Road	Edgewater	21037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	File	2034 Oak Grove Rd., Atlanta, Ga	Atlanta	30345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Johnson	924 S Garfield St	Lodi	95240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Everyone should be able to afford cable tv. Not have to struggle to pay the high cost and being price gouged to have We are fed up and tired of making these companies and people rich. They are Parasites. Lower prices for monthly cost of cable and hbo showtime etc are over priced it is all over priced. Needs to be affordable so all can afford and enjoy. Tired of all the Greed etc. Should not be happening. At all no excuses Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	evans	111 You Don't Need This	Leggett	95585	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Samuel	Ephrem	11519 16th ave ne	Seattle	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
SA	Martinson	2900 11th ave so	Minneapolis	55407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mahmoud	Sourakli	5450 leary ave nw #254	Seattle	98107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stanley	Pannaman	7301 NW. 75th Court	FORT LAUDERDALE	33321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gilbert	Riboni		Rosemead	91770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Zotter	1038 se 29th Ave	Portland	97214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Svihula	14402 S. Hwy. 475	Summerfield	34491	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Oksana	Bohatch	4406 Cloverleaf Dr SE	Grand Rapids	49546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jenee	Wagner	8225 59th Street NW	Gig Harbor	98335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Benjamin	Scott	2138 California Drive	VACAVILLE	95687	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	Evans	36517 Tezcuco Ave	DENHAM SPRINGS	70706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty	Gorman	1972 N.E. 3rd St.	DEERFIELD BEACH	33441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurie	Wolf	379 Kinderkamack Rd., Hillsdale, NJ 07642	Hillsdale	7642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Max	Mensing	california st.	Yachats	97498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margarita	Garrahan	732 N Lima st	Burbank	91505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Zanine	2010 Broadway E	Seattle	98102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynne	Worthington	223 Residence St	El Dorado	67042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Burton	18469 roselawn	Detroit	48221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rita	Lemkuil	2410 Mirro Dr.	Manitowoc	54220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mitchell	Diamond	441 E Washington ave	SUNNYVALE	94086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Linerud	325 Middle Road	Belmont	94002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jaime	yanez	616 N. Azalea st	Ontario	91762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J Michael	Pinc	6201 NE 80th Ct	VANCOUVER	98662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jaime	Yanez	616 n azalea st	Ontario	91762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Abigail	Gillespie	45 West 67th Street	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Myers	20308 43rd Ave E	Spanaway	98387	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Jarest	913 Spyglass Ct.	paso robles	93446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Klobcar	25521 Lincoln Ave Space 86/87	Hemet	92544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Seconda	Tyson-Caldwell	2506 Jameson Street, Temple Hills, MD	Temple Hills	20748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Iwanicki	57 Crown Knoll Court	Groton	6340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Lapuyade	PO Box 81, San Anselmo	San Anselmo	94979	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Lapuyade	PO Box 81, San Anselmo	San Anselmo	94979	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	mcdonald	216 c st	SAN RAFAEL	94901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Burson	10906 Thorncliff Dr	Humble	77396	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Seconda	Tyson-Caldwell	2506 Jameson Street, Temple Hills, MD	Temple Hills	20748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rikcy	TRan	16 wandering trail	Pittsford	14534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gloria	Love	191 Warbranch Rd.	CENTRAL	29630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Humphrey	525 Miller	ANN ARBOR	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
N	Ubus	paterson	Paterson	7502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Dahl	10833 Hayden Ave.	New Port Richey	34655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	coon	Bayview Roaddover nh	Dover	3820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bowman	1433 Haight St # 4 San Fnacisco Ca	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Webber	15640 FREEMAN AVE	Lawndale	90260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Arrabaca	210 Main St., Apt. 1D	Poughkeepsie	12601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lonnie	McKenzie	848 103rd ave n	Naples	34108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kamil	Drews	30 Cluain Ard		0	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Friel	103 Great Oak Drive	Downingtown	19335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Weld	2234 Clifton Place	Hoffman Estates	60169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Norine	Williams	6307 Rock Canyon	Dallas	75232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Napoli	1841 North Adams	South Bend	46628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Johann	Mitchell	12800 Harbor Drive #409	WOODBRIDGE	22192	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. And add something to clean up services like TiVo that make you agree to a contract as a way to get away with providing abysmal service. I got a box from them that only lasted a few months. they replaced it, and the replacement lasted THREE WEEKS. To get it fixed cost more in time and money than I wanted to spend, but I had to pay for months of services that I couldn't use! And once you agree to a contract, they're NASTY to customers!
Robert	Banks	2601 sunny lane	Bakersfield	93305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dee	Randolph	336 Mission Serra Ter	CHICO	95926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathanael	Dror	42 Azza Jerusalem Israel	Shoshone	92384	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Davis	1950 Nougat Ct SE	Salem	97306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Holtz	112 Fenton Drive	Penns Grove	8069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aida	Suidan	2660 Peachtree Rd.NW	Atlanta	30305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Blomberg	5541 E Camden St	TUCSON	85712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Herbert	Short	202 W 10TH AVE	HOMESTEAD	15120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Radka	Horseheads, NY	Horseheads	14845	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Haschart	2662 Ringwood Farm	Crozet	22932	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Henri	Larmuseau	2105 Bigham Ct.	Eureka	95503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Roberts	32125 St. Vincent	WARREN	48092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Sommerwerck	17610 134th Lane SE	Renton	98058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Gambriel	1204 Volta Vista	BRENTWOOD	20722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Connell	5353 Columbia Pike #508	ARLINGTON	22204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Faith	SHAFMAN	21045 Indiana Ave	PORT CHARLOTTE	33952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jill	VonOhlen	656 N Main	Fall River	53932	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Domon	129 carriage dr	Brookfield	64628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
s	n	weston	Danforth	4424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JOSEPH	Ericson	5012 sand ridge rd, New Bern NC	New Bern	28560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Lee	3910 Fulton Street	San Francisco	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Rupp	13 Balsam Acres, New London NH	New London	3257	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	PANEK	6 Alandale DR	East Longmeadow	1028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Cummings	4980 Thales Rd. Apt. D	Winston Salem	27104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Payne	94 Dover rd	MILLIS	2054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Hiscock	31 Windy Lane	VERGENNES	5491	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claudia	Hudson	1124 Rahway Avenue	Westfield	7090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Fitch	167 Alta Ave	Yonkers	10705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

C	S	ave	s h	34609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
diane	benjes	4701 buckhorn rd	EFLAND	27243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Webber	419 S Frontage Rd W	ALBERTON	59820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Plitt	13288 Trout Run Rd, Wardensville WV	Wardensville	26851	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Prestiano	1105 N Van Buren	San Angelo	76901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Taylor		Redwood City	94061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Ann	Minneapolis	MINNEAPOLIS	55426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B	T	68 Van Nuys Rd Colrain, MA	Colrain	1340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	Clark	4720 Oak Glen Ct	GAINESVILLE	30507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

kenneth and pauline	fisher	2221 river bend rd	Plover	54467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kara	Davis	20206 Rodeo CT	Southfield	48075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Albert	Auriemma	12 Deerfield Rd.	Hingham	2043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Prosser	7974 Evans Rd	Holland Patent	13354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Prosser	Evans Rd	HOLLAND PATENT	13354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Prosser	Evans Rd	HOLLAND PATENT	13354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	Prosser	7974 Evans Rd	HOLLAND PATENT	13354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jim	McGuire	5254 Lake Terrace Ct	Garland	75043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Hohol	526 west 112 street	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Winslow	2771 S Embers Lane	ARLINGTON HEIGHTS	60005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beatrice	Zovich	5001 Pennell Road, Apt G-11, Aston, PA	Aston	19014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jose	De Cecco	93 Walter Street	San Francisco	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Horseman	61 Maple Ln	Lake Alfred	33850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rich	Wirz	267 E. Allman	Medford	54451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Staugaitis	765 Minnie Pl	Secaucus	7094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. I don't want big cable stealing hard earned money from me when TV'S are manufactured with the technology that makes a cable box unnecessary. They get enough $ for making me pay for old shows without forcing me to rent a box that is totally unnecessary. I got 200 channels of crap on the TV to choose from . Personally I think the internet should take over, put high speed processors and Wi-Fi towers everywhere and stream channels to everyone who pays for service. TV'S will have high speed routers in them and we would be paying for cable maintenance advertising will cover the rest, if you opt out of advertising you pay more, but never see a commercial. And if you want you can b
DA	Beeman	Roberts Lane	ALEXANDRIA	22314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Barhydt	5555 Lakewood Drive	Norfolk	23509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alana	Billings	4 Laguna Lane	Santa Fe	87508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenji	Kato	1160 Taylor St.	San Francisco	94108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexandra	Harriman	4613 55th Avenue North	Saint Petersburg	33714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Willaim	Kiefer	240 S Main St	New Hope	18938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Sinclair-Hubbard	4 Longview Dr., Birdsboro	Birdsboro	19508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Highsmith	5637 Hunter Street	Philadelphia	19131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremy	Maxwell	68 Prospect Ave	Buffalo	14201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Mitchell	1756 Beaver Dam Dr	Green Bay	54304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

whitney	doherty	1680 OCean	Brooklyn	11230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Maltby	4005 NW 43rd Ave	Cape Coral	33993	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Bedics	2168 Richlandtown Pike Coopersburg, PA	Coopersburg	18036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Parnell	Yeatts	6500 Bel Lac Dr, Chester, VA	Chester	23831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Lego	6973 John Furr Rd.	Concord	28025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Sorrell	5422 Wolfpen Pleasant Hill Rd.	Milford	45150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kay	Gruling	Wausau, WI	Wausau	54401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Younk	14103 Rochelle #8	Detroit	48205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angel	Morales	3241 S Utica St	Denver	80236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Babb	28 1st st inman sc	Inman	29349	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wyatt	Shell	7 Penstock Way	Newmarket	3857	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Fletcher	5227 Parkland Ave	Dallas	75235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Gambino	888 Eighth Ave #8T	NEW YORK	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Street	12923 Arezzo Cir	Parker	80134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Moore	5 ERMINE COURT	Manchester Township	8759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Pagel	4304 Zenith Ave S apt 2	Minneapolis	55410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Arntson	707 S Cloverdale ST	Seattle	98108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rae	Gustafson	303 LaVerne Ave	MILL VALLEY	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Lock	8353 Four Mile	Ada	49301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Parks	603 w. Patterson	KIRKSVILLE	63501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vincent	Hennessy	90 Sycamore Rd, Braintree	Braintree	2184	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Irvin	Lindsey	19002 Rion Hill Ct	Cypress	77429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Meghan	Frost	57 Quarry Village Road	Cheshire	6410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Herlihy	Taylors	Taylors	29687	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Sileno	1509 W. Cornwallis Drive	Greensboro	27408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Ronzio and Hanselman	101 main st	Newport	97365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
I.	Fogg	Pleasant Street	Clinton	4927	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Robinson	1384 West Wind Circle	Carmel	46032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Belsan	10514 cedar ave	Fairfax	22030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jeff	reiferson	5021 antler circle	Emmaus	18049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beatriz	Rich	912 15th st	Rockford	61104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Hancock	1305 E 30th St	Austin	78722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Schultz	951 Reems Creek Rd.	Weaverville	28787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Kirkbride	8609 Sumner Ave	Fort Myers	33908	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Haynes	104 E. 25th St.	New York	10010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Sander	1801 Woodhill Rd.	Edmond	73025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Juanita	Finn	9530 Main Street	REMSEN	13438	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Nash	51048 Maria st.	New Baltimore	48047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Toni	Lapointe	291 Springfield Street	CHICOPEE	1013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bettemae	Johnson	1217 Kirby NE	Albuquerque	87112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Farnum	196 2nd NH Turnpike	NEW BOSTON	3070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrei	Smarandoiu	36 Ames Street	Somerville	2145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Carafides	2612 Eagle Road	West Chester	19382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	McGrath	18 Island Rd Franklin MA	Franklin	2038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Bisson	2315 W Superior St	Chicago	60612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

rosemary	butka	345 union avenue	Elizabeth	7208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Jennings	61 Randolph	ARLINGTON	2474	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Pangburn	1830 NE 21st St. Cape Coral Fl	Cape Coral	33909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carl	Vermeulen	711 Colonial Ave	Williamsburg	23185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Johnny	O'Neal	40098 Pleasant Hill Rd.	Asher	74826	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	MacKelvie	1954 Palisades Dr	Appleton	54915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Russell	McShea	501 Manorville Rd	Saugerties	12477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellis	Smith	3100 Arsenal str Apt 7	St Louis	63118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandee	Parrish	1860 Sunnymeade Dr	JACKSONVILLE	32211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lori	Broger-Mackey	10114 Lasaine Ave.	Northridge	91325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Bonner	2900 Hametown Rd.	Barberton	44203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Nemethy	3Wash Sq Vlg NYC	New York	10012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Balavage	1000 Westinghouse Drive	Cranberry Twp	16066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Lear	238 Moorehead Ave	Conshohocken	19428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clifford	Rollins	1623 BIRCH	Oklahoma City	73108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hannah	Ingram	286 Sunset Drive	Abingdon	24210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jen	Messina		Boulder	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Kestella	westerville	Westerville	43081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Thomas	998 Marshall st	Philadelphia	19123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Sandbank	11900 Whispering Oak Ct	Reisterstown	21136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dana	Quinn	41 Linnaean street Cambridge Ma 02138	Cambridge	2138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Hood	375 Laurel Street	HARTFORD	6105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
I.	Fogg	Pleasant Street	Clinton	4927	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Ritter	214 Richardson Ave	Utica	13502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eliza	Perkins	Gasslite ln	Shutesbury	1072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
HANK	DELEO	82 Burdick Hill Rd	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Oldfather	807 E Mosier St	Norman	73071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Pearson	100 Erdman Pl.	Bronx	10475	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. The FCC has been trying and failing to regulate Big Cable for years. The air waves belong to the people. How about benefiting the people for a change!
Rosalie	Bruno	21 Folly mill terrace	Seabrook	3874	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosalie	Bruno	21 Folly mill terrace	Seabrook	3874	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vincent	Turano	24 Langdon Grove	Carmel	10512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Grace	Truax	108 Brookside Place	Springfield	62704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Rawlyk	12 C Holly Street	Toms River	8757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Morell	2016 Hilltop Rd	FLOURTOWN	19031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Adler	2015 w berwyn	CHICAGO	60625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Zell	Pittsburgh PA	Pittsburgh	15201-2	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janae	Dale	770 Whiskey Jack Circle	Sandpoint	83864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
KENNETH	mOSTELLA	1503 bERRYT sT.	Goldsboro	27530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
johnna	stewart	32 LLoyd Lane	Monticello	12701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

EdD	Yvonne Hansen	6206 Hillston Dr	Austin	78745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	Gibert	17157 Panorama Ct.	Montrose	81403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Avis	Segedy	6246 Hill St	Ravenna	44266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Starr	10 Keswick Ct, Westbrook, CT	Westbrook	6498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Kane	1229 N Mansfield Ave	LOS ANGELES	90038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Van Kirk	123 Anystreet	Houston	77057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stanley	Wolfe	4477 Tanbark	Bloomfield Hills	48302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandrasa	Rkon	1530 Gough	SAN FRANCISCO	94109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Monner	309 N. 12th Street	Bellevue	52031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	Jew	Brownsville	Brownsville	78526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamie	Harris	355 Main Street	Broomfield	80020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynda Dianne	McGreevy	3310 Thistlegrove Lane	Sugar Land	77498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	McKeen	15 Wesley St	Somerville	2145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Porter	917 Park Avenue	Bristol	19007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanette	Taylor	2235 N. Columbus Street	Arlington	22207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Bragan	6548 Williamsburg Blvd	Arlington	22213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Feutz	1 indigo ln	Hilton Head Island	29928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joelle	Dawson-Barker	730 Okanogan Ave.	Wenatchee	98801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Grzeskowiak	4407 Inverness St	DEXTER	48130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Katona	1611 8th Street	Los Osos	93402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patty	Barga	929 Forest Blvd S Dr	Indianapolis	46240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randy	Childers	8025 W. 66th Terrace	Merriam	66202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kay	Merica	PO Box 399	Hope	83836	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Levins	6109 Eagle Eye Dr. NW	ALBUQUERQUE	87120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rochelle	Losman	450 Lee St	OAKLAND	94610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	McGarry	101 Q St. NE	WASHINGTON	20002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Dirkx	1245 W Cottage Pl	Chicago	60607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Lewis	4165 Big Sky Rd Santa Fe	Santa Fe	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victor	Abad	5627 W Avenue L14	Lancaster	93536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nanette	Betts	2189 W Dodge Rd	Clio	48420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Jensen	4 BETTY JEAN DRIVE	Monson	1057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katia	Lee	601 Woodland Street	Trenton	8610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Hinson	973walker rd	Newton	39345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelly	Polacinski	Delmar, NY	Delmar	12054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Chacko	2541 WINDSOR CASTLE WAY, LEWISVILLE, TX	The Colony	75056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Kronenfeld	Somerville, MA	Somerville	2143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	Saylor	5713 Smith Drive	Bethel Park	15102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Springett	335 Wilmot Rd	Rochester	14618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mara	Francisco	820 2nd Ave, FL12	New York	10017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Albrecht	5904 SE Francis St	Portland	97206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. And while you're at it, how about breaking up these cable monopolies anyway?! I want fast reliable internet service, and I want more than one choice on how to get it.
Jal	Parakh	3923cliffside drive	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Hansen	Deerfield	Deerfield	60015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	Arns	1226 E 42nd St	Tacoma	98404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Eckler	175 Everett Street	DENVER	80226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	McDonough	PO Box 165	Eastsound	98245	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	van de Steeg	5151 4 St. N.	SAINT PETERSBURG	33703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Butler	2211 Rainbow View Drive	URBANA	61802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Isidoro	Tamborello	1726 W Bedingfield Dr	Tampa	33603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Trevor	Pierce	3528 NE 987ths	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Hix	779 S Dale Ct	Denver	80219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
robert	bean	p.o. box 443, wataga, il	Wataga	61488	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Niekamp	281 North Sycamore Street	SAINT HENRY	45883	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	Schaem	p.o. box 8029	NEW YORK	10150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Halan	6388 Bryson Drive	MENTOR	44060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Cable companies are nothing more than legalized Mafia!

Stephanie	Cox	3626 Wallingford Ave N, Apt 2C	Seattle	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
TeriLee	Huff	7314 NE 70th Street	VANCOUVER	98662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Nedd	317 Ley Ave	Marshfield	54449	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Newton	155 W 68 STREET, APT 1630	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	DeAscentis	69 River Run	Middletown	2842	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hillary	Buckingham	173 Warburton Ave.	Hastings on Hudson	10706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	Groner	7514 Liberty Ave	University City	63130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	DeZutter	3321 BROOK HIGHLAND CIR	Birmingham	35242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Dutschke	4306 darbrook rd	Louisville	40207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

nancy	seymour	121 washington ave s	MINNEAPOLIS	55401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Arendt	POB 1264, Sparks, Nevada	Sparks	89431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Scholbe	4730 E. Golike Ln	Bethalto	62010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claire	Carsman	360 W Pico Rd	PALM SPRINGS	92262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Joiner	2428 Voyager Circle	Raleigh	27603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Duggan	70 Glenbrook Road	Freehold	7728	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Geoff	Giovan	Box 462	Charlestown	2813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Duggan	70 Glenbrook Road	Freehold	7728	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marion	Bullington	Kilauea	KILAUEA	96754	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Derzon	1429 Martha Custis Drive	Alexandria	22302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alice	Watson	415 West Passage, Columbia, SC	Columbia	29212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Wienert	520 Tanacrest Cir	Atlanta	30328	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	McClure	175 N Harbor Drive	Chicago	60601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valerie	Mehring	13729 22nd Ave NE	SEATTLE	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shelley	Mack	379 Maka Hou Lp.	Wailuku	96793	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

E.D.	Crum	Whitmore Lane (voting)	STAMFORD	6902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Olson	10395 Barrywood Way	San Diego	92131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
K.J.	Dotson	29980 Westbrook Parkway	Southfield	48076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Miguel	Gonzales	1305 Lucretia St SW	Albuquerque	87121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Wiese	2543 Nicollet Ave.	Minneapolis	55404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Jenkins	752 custis street	Aberdeen	21001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicolas	Humphrey	2685 Ravine Way	Green Bay	54301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Edey	4835 Falcon Rock Pl	RANCHO PALOS VERDES	90275	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Z'ava	Rosen	40335 Camino El Destino	Indio	92203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lauren	Fenenbock	519 Mississippi Ave	El Paso	79902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Becci	Greene	5855 Bodega Ave	PETALUMA	94952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Ohara	3350 Midtown Place	Anchorage	99503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Odgers	104 Franz Ct. # 14	PACIFICA	94044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vincent	Alvarez	12671 SE Where Else Ln.	Portland	97222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Plymale	102 South Linwood Avenue	Charlotte	28208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony	Eichelberger	232 Jill Drive	PITTSBURGH	15236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Zinn	19 Mountview Rd	Morris Plains	7950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Mortka	1431 Genesee St,	Utica	13501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dymitr	Puszkar	West Palm Beach	West Palm Beach	33420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randal	Stone	33710 124th st se Sultan, WA	Sultan	98294	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Censorship is generally wrong, and is especially wrong when it's profit driven. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Smith	817 Wood St	Johnstown	15902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Brookshire	5407 NE 33rd Ave	Portland	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Micheal	Carter	13133 Le Parc	Chino Hills	91709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Beebe	35 Bond Street	New York	10012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurie	Alper	818 2nd Street	Santa Monica	90403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Fitze	County Road	Bovey	55709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Howard	Hassman	52 Clark St, Brooklyn, NY	Brooklyn	11201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stella	Buccella	216 Christian St Unit D	Philadelphia	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	DuBois	1 asbury ave	Ocean City	8226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JOHN	MCCLEAREN	158 NORTH LINDEN DRIVE	Ventura	93004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emmy	Moore	2110 St. Mary's Street	RALEIGH	27608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Christman	P.O. Box 108	BUCK HILL FALLS	18323	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	McConnell	14 Winsor Ct	SAYREVILLE	8872	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susannah	Phillips	864 Stonehurst Ct	Annapolis	21409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Thryft	15520 Big Basin Way	BOULDER CREEK	95006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M.E.	Scullard	650 End Ave	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Coby	Lyons	1006 Coldwater Falls Way	Las Vegas	89123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shane	McCune	College Heights	MANHATTAN	66502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amber	Manske	12701 West Ave.	San Antonio	78216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bartley	Deason	PO Box 1060	Darby	59829	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dana	Heltz	6716 nevada avenue	Hammond	46323	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gavin	Bornholtz	9090 Creekwood Lake Trail	GRAND BLANC	48439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	McMullen	1938 Shady Brook Dr.	Thousand Oaks	91362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	butler	25 willow road	Carmel	10512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Bosshart	25511 137th PL SE	Kent	98042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephanie	Rieffanaugh	1914 Wayne Dr	Norristown	19403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rudy	Qualls	1639 Emerald Dunes Dr	Sun City Center	33573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Additionally, they force us to buy their modem for internet hook up at a cost of at least $10 per month, this needs to stop and let me buy better technology from my retailer of choice not the cable industry who are ripping me off.
Linda	Bell	13442	Saint Paul	55124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Geer	13 Morton St Apt 2	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tshaka	Warren	925 Canterbury Road NE Apt 230	Atlanta	30324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Huff	7406 47th Ave NE #A3	Marysville	98270	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J	Tuthill	64 Mead Ave, Greenwich, CT	Greenwich	6830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Perez	Scottsburg	Scottsburg	47170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjoleen	Dijkema			62111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Baglio	1291 Indian Church Rd.	Buffalo	14224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leah	Thomas	2648 WoodMeadow Dr	Grand Rapids	49546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Gilroy	25 Irving Terrace Apt 1	CAMBRIDGE	2138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Giambra	3725 sturbridge apt-e	Hilliard	43026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Knowles	24 School Street, Wayland, MA	Wayland	1778	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Kizer	30 Ritchie Ave	Silver Spring	20910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Cockrell	1613 White St., Apt. 3	Ann Arbor	48104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Audrey	gurtman	Jericho	JERICHO	11753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Kizer	30 Ritchie Ave	Silver Spring	20910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice	Hernandez	7013 Thannas Way	Austin	78744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Courtney	Best-Trujillo	28Balsa Rd.	Santa Fe	87508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
w	alkers	1934 se clinton	Portland	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Siegel	610 W 110 St	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Thorson	255 SW Harrison St Apt 26D	PORTLAND	97201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Mcdonald	146 sidney rd	Annandale	8801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

w	alkers	1934 se clinton	Portland	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Herbert	Thomson	1913 Nelson Mill Rd	JARRETTSVILLE	21084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Dalrymple	224 Carton Ave	Neptune	7753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Treanor	17 Hickory Street	East Dubuque	61025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alison	Coy	8637 Bronze Hills Ct	Las Vegas	89178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debby	Hahlen	15 Walnut Dr	East Dubuque	61025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelvin	Hobson	4 crosswall ct.	NOTTINGHAM	21236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Koeck	2069 President Place, Costa Mesa, CA	Costa Mesa	92627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	McInerny	1379 windsor Way	Brentwood	94513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alfred	Sutton	woodinville,wa.	Woodinville	98072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Wright	3 FACTORY ST	Oneonta	13820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Hamilton	1021 ANTLER DR.	SCHERTZ	78154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheila	Mazar	46 Wickley Ave.	Piscataway	8854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gayle	Hoisington	Amherst Rd	Merrimack	3054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ms.	Courtney	962 N. Wanda Rd.	Orange	92867	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorraine	Gray	16 Symmes St # 3	Roslindale	2131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adrian	Lagakos	28 Beaufort Rd. #1	Jamaica Plain	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Davids	Graube	1805 Oakland Dr.	Kalamazoo	49008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexandra	O'Steen	309 east 2nd street	Florence	35630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Jackson	32612 Endeavour Way	UNION CITY	94587	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Miller	4120 Andrew Dr	Floyds Knobs	47119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacqueline	Arias	3909 Sunbeam Rd. Apt812	Miami	33257	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Pfeiffer	150 West 54th Street	KANSAS CITY	64112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Fox	3347 sunset drive	Fallbrook	92028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lanny	Burrill	2027 East Upriver Drive, Apt 2-14	Spokane	99207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Vrana	POBox 715	Crestone	81131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paulette	Forest	Soquel, CA	Soquel	95073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pearl	Karon	14004 Palawan Wy. #309	Marina del Rey	90292	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melanie	Trotz	706 Jamestown Drive	Winter Park	32792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Armand	LeGardeur	390 riverside drive	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Malcolm	30821 N. 138th St.	SCOTTSDALE	85262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Moore	413 20th St.	Niceville	32578	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Martinez	1520 Colima Ave.	Modesto	95355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Cook	P.O. Box 3037	Big Bear Lake	92315	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	Weisman	720 Greenwich Street, #9A	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lillian	Clay	231 Hempstead Dr	Somerset	8873	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Chavez	3916 W. Gelding Dr.	Phoenix	85053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathaniel	Sims	8720 Stroelitz	New Orleans	70118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rose	Mankowski	2549 Elmwood Lane, Denver CO	Denver	80221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephanie	Vorse	Eddy County	Carlsbad	88220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Winfield	Schmitt	30 Rex Road	Jewett City	6351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
SYLVIA	MITCHELL	21455 Highway 196	ARLINGTON	38002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeremy	compton	4040 w. peoria ave apt 2020	Phoenix	85029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	S	4805 Archer Dr	Corpus Christi	78415	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. These crooks should NOT be allowed to enact undue unlawful greed practices on its' consumers.. who are their customers...in any way, shape, or form. SHAMEFUL, UN-AMERICAN, UN-CIVILIZED, IN-HUMAN. INDUSTRIES MUST NOT BE ALLOWED TO WREAK HAVOC ON THE CONSUMER, WITHOUT THE PROTECTION OF FEDERAL LEGISLATION TO ENFORCE THEM TO COMPLIANCE OR FACE STIFF FEDERAL PENALTY..

Karen	Bostic	1646 tick creek rd	Springfield	40069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
s	Harrell	1103 Baker St	Fort Collins	80524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexia	Nunn	2437 Winston Dr	Sterling Heights	48310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pam	Kmiec	13237 Houston	Chicago	60633	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DON	PIER	40 CORLEY ST YONKERS MNY	Yonkers	10701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Majersky	3 Cider Mill Dr	Campton	3223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Zeitlin	88 Lenox Rd.	Rockville Centre	11570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sonya	Myers	1730 5th Ave	Vero Beach	32960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doreen	Hochberg	12 Renaissance Blvd.	Somerset	8873	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	Hepfer	1720 E John #3	Seattle	98112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Stenzel	709 Carver Street	Ypsilanti	48198	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Carron	515 W. Wrightwood Ave	Chicago	60614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	Luchterhand	1174 S 51st St	West Des Moines	50265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Kizer	30 Ritchie Ave	Silver Spring	20910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jordan	Werner	2175 S Luster Ave Apt 103 Springfield MO	Springfield	65804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	G	Eden Prairie, MN	Eden Prairie	55347	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Alford	3680 E Fox Trotter Rd	Tucson	85739	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Tilley	440 Connor Ave	Pataskala	43062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	B	877 Wilson	Laguna Beach	92651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Moya	1658 Bearskin Lane, Jacksonville, FL	Jacksonville	32225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	Nafziger	808 E 200 N	Logan	84321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Kluk	3360 dellwood road	Cleveland	44118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Fok	10660 E. Lincoln Ave	Mesa	85212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Pacifico	3003 88th Pl	KENOSHA	53142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine	Richardson	Redmond	Redmond	97756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Arndt	780 Dixie Ave NE, Unit 1, Atlanta, GA 30307	Atlanta	30307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francisco	Martinez	02910 N M75	Boyne City	49712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

sagen	smith	2531 Eagle Creek Ln.	Ashland	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Fiedler	27 Stream Lane	LEVITTOWN	19055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Coughlin	3554 Collonade Drive	Wellington	33449	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Sharf	9465 Unity Court	Fountain Valley	92708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Freeman	Aspen ST NW	Washington	20012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MELINDA	SCOTT	2010-F Quail Ridge Road	GREENVILLE	27858	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Beller	1997 West Point Pike	West Point	19486	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lou	Butenschoen	Butenschoen	Oklahoma City	73139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claudio	Alpaca	Via Piave		18026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Walsh	315 w cedar	Burbank	91506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Powers	1132 Vivian Lane	Florence	29501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Madison	2516 Grand Ave S	Minneapolis	55405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ange	Lobue	5244 Patrick Creek Drive	MCKINLEYVILLE	95519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thanh-Le	Nguyen	Stone Point Drive	Annapolis	21401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Harrison	PO Box 4214	Leander	78645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Billups	1611 E st. SW	Miami	74354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Gillen	46 Graham St.	Farmingdale	11735	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheryl	Allen	107 West Hook Road	Hopewell Junction	12533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine	Sell	1234 Nicholson Avenue	Lakewood	44107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Connor	30 Waterview Drive	Saratoga Springs	12866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Cohen	1674 Conkling Ave Rear PORCH	Utica	13501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paula	Orloff	12476 Valley View Rd	NEVADA CITY	95959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Trosky	187 Channing Way	JACKSON	38305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Scherer	PO Box44189	Tucson	85733	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Kelly	43 Coppermine Vlg	Flemington	8822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Whaley	1930 Braymore Dr.	Barrington	60010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Ellis	3700 Pittman Rd.	Atlanta	30349	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kate	Kizer	4817 36th St NW	Washington	20008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Luther	Norman	2101 E. James St. #102	Seattle	98122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrie	Williams	850 Laura Lane	VIDOR	77662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Carney	215 Cowie Ave	Syracuse	13206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Robertson	1420 Milton St SE	Grand Rapids	49506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Bass	241 Francis St.	Mansfield	2048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Wilson	32 S 19th St	ALLENTOWN	18104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrie	Williams	850 Laura Lane	Vidor	77662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	Freid	500 Hampshire Rd Drexel Hill Pa	Drexel Hill	19026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorian	Bybee	950 S Adams st	Bloomington	47403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Inzer	180 viki ln	Owens Cross Roads	35763	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Williams	6047 n. santa monica	Milwaukee	53217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terrie	Williams	850 Laura Lane	VIDOR	77662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Bass	241 Francis St.	Mansfield	2048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Berry	6 Shinyrock place	Spring	77381	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Smith	12620-3 Beach Blvd	Jacksonville	32246	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Bridges	19th. St	Rancho Cucamonga	91737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carrie	Jones	9722 S Durand Rd	Durand	48429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clyde	Williams	7672 SE Roots rd	Portland	97267	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Villinski	1809 N Nancy Rose Blvd	Tucson	85712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Mulligan	755 Carolyn Dr SE	Concord	28025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aaron	Honore	334 Bombing Range Road	Columbia	29229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Coons	502 deck hill rd	Boone	28607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Roduner	9312 NE Ferngrove St	Vancouver	98664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Kinzler	1245 Sunset Ridge Rd	NORTHBROOK	60062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	McCaig	3960 Township Line Rd	Collegeville	19426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Ruth	510 Lyon Ave	Wheaton	60187	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	Leigland	8910 NE Hazel Dell Ave	VANCOUVER	98665	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Laursen	811 Oak Dr	Brigham City	84302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Goldstein	3 Hillcrest court	Westwood	7675	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dena	Harris	380 Riverside Dr.	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Candace	Griffin-Campbell	204 Touchdown Dr	Irving	75063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Ishmael	11447 Anderson Lakes Pkwy	EDEN PRAIRIE	55344	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim	Raubolt	8687 river homes ln	Bonita Springs	34135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clint	Hennecy	3817 Cypress Trails Dr.	Polk City	33868	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Swager	Crystal Lake	Crystal Lake	60014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Petersman	1366 Columbus Avenue	CINCINNATI	45255	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ramon	Reyes	823 Nordale Ave	Dayton	45420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Makurat	10816 Verde Vista Dr	Fairfax	22030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Gillespie	201 Fairfax Rd, Apt 7, Blacksburg, VA	Blacksburg	24060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Crady	5194 47 AVE N	Saint Petersburg	33709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Hardman	1396 N 1020 E	AMERICAN FORK	84003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glenda	McGregory	210 E. Douglas Street	Sheffield	35660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Russell	916 Euclid Rd	VENICE	34293	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
N	Norris	7769 Plantation Circle	Bradenton	34201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Morris	3831 ARROWWOOD BEND	San Antonio	78261	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bernard	Moncla	945 Field Club Rd	PITTSBURGH	15238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
bernard	lytton	21 autumn street	New Haven	6511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anna	Loera	2170 Tree Ln	KINGWOOD	77339	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Roberts	7715 Tanbark Lane	Fort Wayne	46835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Freund	1809 Post Oak Place	Bastrop	71220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Loren	Clift	3128 - 1D	Lansing	48910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ian	Ladd	4366 Westhill Pl	Kernersville	27284	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Debont	501 S. beverly dr	Beverly Hills	90212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Crumpler	3040 Hillside Rd	Nashville	37207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Cranford	113 E Kirby	Haysville	67060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Fabian	217 S. Water St	Fort Atkinson	53538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Sawicky	Windsor St	Ashland	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	Schlein	316 Stones River Cove	Nashville	37214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
m	splawn	Woodrow	Bakersfield	93308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

M	Davidson	912 Pinewood	Henrico	23238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suesie	Hartman	PO Box 804	Bowmansville	17507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Whitley	24951 Sunset	Laguna Hills	92653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Morfield	154 Hannah Cir Nw	Cleveland	37311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clarence	Alcon	4383 Wallburg-high Point Rd., High Point, N. C.	High Point	27265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shane	Walrath	85 Tallow Wood Drive, Clifton Park, NY	Clifton Park	12065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Grady	Warren	May Street	Lawrenceburg	38464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	fairchild	216 58th street, Seattle WA	Seattle	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Herman	Diaz	36 mozart st, apt 2	Jamaica Plain	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ROCHELLE L	S CARTER	1200 E 78TH ST APT 408	Chicago	60619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Murrie	Kinney	38 County Road 4531	DAYTON	77535	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Morfield	154 Hannah Cir Nw	Cleveland	37311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gloria	Stepp	586 OLD RIVER RD	SALT LICK	40371	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Hornberg	7737 Tall Cedars Lane	Bridgewater	22812	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jose	Alfaro	166Maywood Avenue	Maywood	7607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ben	Flint	250 Fairmount ave apt 227	Oakland	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Carcusa	3856 Winona Ct	Denver	80212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Deem	269 high st	CONNEAUT	44030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shannon	Jacobs	1204 14th avenue	DOROTHY	8317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Davie	255 jessica dr.	Forest Grove	97116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
carolyn	clark	641 fitzsimmons rd	Red Hook	12571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Myott	5251 Beachside Drive	HOPKINS	55343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Levy	Morristown, NJ	Morristown	7960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	Bostonia	578 New York Ave. Morgantown, WV	Morgantown	26501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Huber	2552 singing vista way	El Cajon	92019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Stuckemeyer	801 N Morningside Dr.	ROBINSON	62454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miklos	Bosarge	5740 LAUDERDALE DR	CINCINNATI	45239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Helbert	4825 N Blackwelder #214	Oklahoma City	73118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robyn	Wagoner	1121 4th Ave W Olympia WA	Olympia	98502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Gumina	2646 Buckingham Ave.	Birmingham	48009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ROCHELLE L	S CARTER	1200 E 78TH ST APT 408	Chicago	60619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Doran	2211 Autumn Wood Drive	Huntingdon	16652	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarah	McCown	727 23rd Ave. N.	Saint Petersburg	33704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marc	Prevost	8409 Foxhound Trail	Austin	78729	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sidney	Ash	1708 Quail Run CT NE	Albuquerque	87122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Benjamin	13190 Washington Drive B	Largo	33774	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JoAnne	Metzler	1400 PLYMOUTH AVE S	ROCHESTER	14611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Prevost	8409 Foxhound Trail	Austin	78729	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ramon	Magrans	56 Marwen Circle	Russellville	72802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Rivas	PO BOX 1235	Wildwood	34785	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Guillermo	cruz	9503 veline	San Antonio	78250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paula	Kershaw	3109 Orchid Ct	Flower Mound	75028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Scarabin	2707 Kaliste Saloom Rd., Lafayette, Louisiana	Lafayette	70508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Broome	florida	Palm Bay	32909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Lisciandro	969 Washington Valley Road	BASKING RIDGE	7920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rocquelle	Woods	3784 University Drive	Huntsville	35816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Hill	14510 drowsy	BIG LAKE	99652	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Wynne	831 Hermosa ave	Cincinnati	45238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martha	Richards	214 Brian lane	Dalton	18414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Albert	1235 Waller St #10	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Bishop	6 Kingswood Drive	Greenville	29611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	McClure	12507 N Hickory Grove Rd	Dunlap	61525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. This is especially true when you run into a problem with the box. I recently spent several hours in online chats with AT&T/DirecTv reps trying to get my box replaced. After finally convincing them they needed to swap out the box, they tried to coerce me into a service call (at $49.95) during which they said the rep would troubleshoot my receiver and replace it if necessary. This was completely unnecessary (it had already been diagnosed as faulty by way of following their protocol) so I told them to send me a new box or I would look elsewhere for my TV programming. So, they agreed to send the new box (I had to pay shipping plus tax). None of this would have occurred if I h
sven	barr	6767 forest lawn drive	Los Angeles	90068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Klein	700 Owl Court	WALLED LAKE	48390	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Blue	117 N. Hanover Ave.	LEXINGTON	40502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
brian	kaeser	2921 Simpson Avenue	Juneau	99801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Austin	English	3607 Gresytone Dr Apt 913	Austin	78731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynne	Barnes	35 Arthur Dr.	Santa Rosa	95403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eugene	Ekaitis	401 w. main st. apt. 1002	Monongahela	15063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ross	Winsor	PO Box 2072	Bend	97709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Hartung	5767 Mill Ridge Rd.	Granite Falls	28630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	terry	PO box 1912	Spokane	99210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jane	Murphy	57 S State St	Ripley	14775	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Mueller	5683 Hinkley Road	Stockbridge	49285	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Faucher	907 San Carlos Ave NE	Saint Petersburg	33702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Dantoni	2007 pelican st slidell la	Slidell	70460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gael	Scott	24903 Northern Dancer Dr	Moreno Valley	92551	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Waymire	12201 Loganberry Drive	ALEXANDER	72002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Tkatch	80 Austin Dr., #183	Burlington	5401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Furlo	Bengtsson	2250 N. Dickinson	Hesperia	49421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Davoll	1100 Skyland Dr -M 1	Columbia	29210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Strickland	167 fifth st	Meldrim	31318	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Loch	683 SR 307	Factoryville	18419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randy	Gross	132 Front Street	Enola	17025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Ott	columbia	Columbia	17512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Cadkin	2949 Northwood Dr.	Endicott	13760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Porter	139 W 1st St	Salida	81201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	Franzblau	610 S. St. Louis #106	Los Angeles	90023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Legg	939 Cypress Road Unit 17	Saint Cloud	56303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Gonzalez	5201 44th Ave S	MINNEAPOLIS	55417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

corey	cummings	2621 oakley ave	Bensalem	19020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Updike	1177 Kesler Road	FRONT ROYAL	22630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Kolak	None	Lake Ann	49650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francisco	Ortiz	5210 s. Wilton pl	Los Angeles	90062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Holsten	5605 Lands End Court	Wilmington	28409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doran	Marold	6445 109th Ave	Pinellas Park	33782	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Hinman	33072 Sea Lion Drive	Dana Point	92629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
david	hirsch	2275 So Bascom ave	Campbell	95008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sam	wc	one way drive	San Francisco	94111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Iain	Guthrie	202 Arcadia Loop, Apt. C	Yorktown	23692	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chad	Hershey	122 Miller St	Sims	62886	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Howard	611A Baker Street	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Precour	271 Sigsbee Rd	Grayling	49738	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrance	Kelly	352 Abrams Mill Road	King of Prussia	19406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Holly	Kukkonen	1607 Burns Ave	Iowa City	52240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Heidke	3126 E. Linden St.	TUCSON	85716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	DeLand	1420 Hill St Apt 2	Radcliff	40160	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Finnerty	1369 NW 123 Ter.	Hollywood	33026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Armstrong	16 University Place 2A	Port Chester	10573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Huyck	4320 sw corbett ave	Portland	97239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Finnerty	1369 NW 123 Ter.	Hollywood	33026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Bertozzi	8 castle road, Lexington, MA, 02420	Lexington	2420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emily	Borhi	Nissouri Road		N0M2P(	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Bley	750 red bud ave	Cincinnati	45229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Armstrong	16 University Place 2A	Port Chester	10573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Moraski	7611 Teal Bay	Saint Paul	55125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shane	Anciso	5230 thunder creek rd Apt 169	Austin	78759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dayna	Thomas	6323 Grand Avenue South	Minneapolis	55423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Hyde	5001 w florida ave	Hemet	92545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Perdue	Mt. Juliet Tenn.	Mount Juliet	37122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Kramer	209 mohawk cir	Superior	80027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
corey	cummings	2621 oakley ave	Bensalem	19020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Milton	3189 FIRENZE PL	Littleton	80126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry	Patel	17 Esquire Dr.	Peabody	1960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bretton	Finch	909 SW 28th street	Ankeny	50023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Day	37814 Swede Heaven Rd	Arlington	98223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

devon	andrew	Orangeville		12345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Larke	1435 Wedgewood Dr	Saline	48176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Meriwether	403 Johanna Place Dr	Ballwin	63021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Mills	1445 E. 123rd St.	Olathe	66061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Tubbs	1450 San Roy Drive	Dunedin	34698	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Dendy	920 Great Sand Dunes Avenue	Pflugerville	78660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Anderson	2168 Ardenwood Ave, Simi Valley	Simi Valley	93063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Brewer	929 Forest Ave	Chattanooga	37405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brett	Wolfson	6271 Sunset Drive, S. Miami, FL	Miami	33143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dick	Price	1o Jonathan Ct	Highland	12528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arden	Green	10633 Cliffmore Drive	GLEN ALLEN	23060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andy	Stanfield	624 Xavier Ave	Melbourne	32901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julie	Knauer	1220 Florida Avenue, NE	Washington	20002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Grate	3144	Allentown	18103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Bellott	6 national avenue	Brick	8724	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kent	Cole	145 Essex Blvd #711	Huntsville	77320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	D'Alessandro	42486 Saratoga	Canton	48187	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Elder	2055 Pinetrail St.	LAS CRUCES	88012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Monica	Hilding	155 Lincoln Street	SALT LAKE CITY	84102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Landry	1225 West 4300 South	Salt Lake City	84123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Novel	11 Christina	Union	63084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Grant	Smith	26582 guys mills road	Meadville	16335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darren	Harper	p.o. box 1001 nederland, co.	Nederland	80466	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	sheridan	112 West Grant	Woodstown	8098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deidre	Harner	1217 Missouri Ave NW Apt 3	Washington	20011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	White	3950 N. Lake Shore Dr.	Chicago	60613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Arroyo	14197 E Kansas Pl 105	Aurora	80012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Wolfe	rt 1, Youngsville, nc	Youngsville	27596	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Johnson	201 W CONRAD DRIVE	Phoenix	85023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geoff	Harrington	29 maple street	Hudson Falls	12839	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

LaSherial	Wooten	5536 Gwendolyn Dr #106	MEMPHIS	38125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
marvin	zimmerman	354 sea grape rd	Venice	34293	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Taylor	123 Cifuentes Way	HOT SPRINGS VILLAGE	71909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justin	Allen	25812 117TH PL SE	Kent	98030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Satterfield	130 Hilltop Road	Athens	30605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephan	Edmond	96 oak st	New Bedford	2740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Glowacki	1434 Norfolk	Crete	60417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Saxton	19571 SE 24th Way	Sammamish	98075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	Kapek	3007 s Lloyd ln, Spokane WA	Spokane	99223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

RGarry	Glenn	Tracy Lane, Oakwood, Ga.	Oakwood	30566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Crystal	Wilson	207 Buel Court	DAYTON	45433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Flohre	722 Daytona Dr.	LIMA	45801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicole	Rodriguez	436 Bellevue Ave	Oakland	94610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Gaines	gv	Grass Valley	95945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Persson	21905 58th Ave W. Apt A	Mountlake Terrace	98043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Norton	319 Blaine Ave	Fillmore	93015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Bass	451 E Mills St	Rising Star	76471	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Spevak	7666 Paseo Laredo	Anaheim	92808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eos	Parish	108 Camelot Pl	Monroe	71203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Rice	7011 Huff Trail	Dallas	75214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Sterling	PO Box 231603	Encinitas	92023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lydia	Dickson	4717 Radcliff Rd	Raleigh	27609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Turney	2020 Spring Valley Dr.	Dripping Springs	78620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Ferguson	2302 Del Curto Rd	Austin	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alex	Shatsky	872 Lusterview Ct.	Las Vegas	89123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dede	Cassis	3405 Kanawha Ave SE	Charleston	25304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catharine	Mader	37330 Water Tower Road #109	Bayfield	54814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Bolker	4938 Main Street	Middleburg	32068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Held	74224 Catalina	Palm Desert	92260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Bell	1108 8th Street	Davenport	99122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Zielinski	2604 Rainbow Ave., #2	Bloomington	61704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Rexroad	PO Box 512	Hamilton	20159	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Cohen	2516 Elson Green Ave	Virginia Beach	23454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	D'Arco	123 Street	Sarasota	34236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dayanara	De Oca	4529 W Crescent Rd	QUEEN CREEK	85142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Lefson	2126 W. Lark	Visalia	93291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raymond	Pater	6518 Kentdale Court	Charlotte	28270	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Lefson	2126 W. Lark	Visalia	93291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Sutler	1000 Pacheco Rd	BAKERSFIELD	93307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Asturino	5679 Steubenville Pike	MC KEES ROCKS	15136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Burke	720 N Sappington Road	Saint Louis	63122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	Cristaldi	1635 Lucas Avenue Ext.	Cottekill	12419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	Hartzog	429 East Hemlock St.	Yadkinville	27055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Wolf	1705 Gordon Dr	NAPLES	34102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	viola	220 Fourth Street	Morgan City	70380	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

michelle	holford	224 w congress	Greenville	48838	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Zottola	2003 Eaton Ct	Danbury	6811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Fast	8406 Green Rd.	DANSVILLE	14437	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gabriel	Fidler	4033 Cave Mill Rd.	MARYVILLE	37804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	Mace	230 West Trail	Grayslake	60030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Taylor	312 Agincourt Ave. Unit 30	Biloxi	39531	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lise	Brooke	P.O. Box 1144	FELTON	95018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jo	Harvey	204 Eastgate Ave N	PACIFIC	98047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Masters	335 Beechwood Dr	GRANTS PASS	97526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Mitchell	1380 Detroit St #619	Denver	80206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Trotter	762 7th St NW # 2 Grand Rapids, Mi.	Grand Rapids	49504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Burns	PO Box 142111 Coral Gables FL	Coral Gables	33114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Lefcourte	7400 Pembroke Dr	Reno	89502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Johnathan	Van Den Elzen	709 South 1st	Lamar	81052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Paul	2128 East Hawkeye Ave	Turlock	95380	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Holly	McDuffie	11565 Erwin Street	NORTH HOLLYWOOD	91606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Kirk	P.O. Box 252, Palenville, NY	Palenville	12463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Duggan	1140 Dryden Road, Bldg 2	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Verdie	Harper	405 Washington Street,	Waukegan	60085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Townsend, Ph.D.	15 Paradise Plaza 344	Sarasota	34239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Keating	30 MEAD ST	CHARLESTOWN	2129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

D	Ptak	po box 106	Delevan	14042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Syrenne	5475 Meadowview Dr. S.	FLORENCE	59833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Bandy	6141 Grand Oaks Dr	Winter Haven	33884	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	lin	6045 boulevard east	West New York	7093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Gouge	110 segrest circle	Athens	30605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heide	Coppotelli	383 Seldon-Emerson Rd	Cedar Mountain	28718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ashley	Culmo	6724 Minnick Road	Lockport	14094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Patton	401 Woodbine St.	TEANECK	7666	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Fisk	10956 Caminito Cuesta	SAN DIEGO	92131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Mateas	790 Lytham Circle, Osprey FL	Osprey	34229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Rybicki	39 Flagg Court	STATEN ISLAND	10304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liza	Conroy	1566 Brentwood Dr.	Boulder City	89005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	barron	15630 ocean walk cir	Fort Myers	33908	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
victor	cruz	15125 sw 62 st	Miami	33193	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan+Schluederberg	Schluederberg	1100+Sunset+Dr	BEL AIR	21014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Hanson	7757 bear drive Missoula Mt .	Missoula	59802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	floyd	4348 Demorest Highlands Lane	Grove City	43123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Elliott	101 College Park Lane	Knoxville	37918	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Wright	20A Center Street	Geneseo	14454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Balfour	124 E. Turgot Ave.	EDGEWATER	32132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jane	Sendek	jane44095@gmail.com	Eastlake	44095	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Troy	Wilson	504 E Maine Ave	BESSEMER CITY	28016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Schlesinger	PO Box 258	WOOLRICH	17779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samuel	Croft	124 1/2 5th St NE	WASHINGTON	20002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffery	Garcia	PO Box 1166	Mendocino	95460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Hatch	501 West James Street, Mount Olive, NC	Mount Olive	28365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ravi	Hasija	4380 South Monaco Street, #4099	Denver	80237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	McQuitty	440 NE Park Lane	COLUMBIA	65201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Georgeanne	Samuelson	47525 Perkins St	OAKRIDGE	97463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eleasha	Counts	p.o. box 3585 Mckinney Texas	McKinney	75070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Myron	Meisel	2780 McConnell Dr	LOS ANGELES	90064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Austin	Greitz	139 Dittmar Drive	Toms River	8757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Douglas	80 Surfview Drive	Palm Coast	32137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rosalind	Brooks	8721 E amaroso ln	Tucson	85748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cristofe	Chabot	2020 Collard Road	Skaneateles	13152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Art	Glick	HC 67 Box 539BB	Renick	24966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justin	Miceli	2871 N Ocean Blvd #F435	Boca Raton	33431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Lisi	8857 Silverline Drive	Fairfax Station	22039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rena	Zaman-Zade	2041 East Grand Avenue	ESCONDIDO	92027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denice	Lessard	2910 Morseman Ave, Chico, CA	Chico	95973	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miranda	Rudnicki	250 Moonglow ave Apt D1	ALAMOGORDO	88310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Schuster	7168 Hall St.	Holland	43528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jon	Mrozinski	18 S 4th St	Lafayette	47901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Norton	42WWarwick Circle	Clover	29710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Amador	197 Spiral Road	Holtsville	11742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Klassen	#3 201 High Park Ave		M6P 2S	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Hofferber	2235 North Drive	Butte	59701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Blake	621 Charlotte Creek Road	Oneonta	13820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristine	Heisler	Donnelly Dr	Springfield	97477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Bevington	2343 Spring Gulch Dr	Lyons	80540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	St Louis	141 old piney trl paige tx	Paige	78659	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Beyer	8236 Holly Springs Rd	Raleigh	27606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Dolloff	504 8th Street N	Northwood	50459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ingrid	McCants	809 Laurie Ct.	MOBILE	36695	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

larry	wayne	5024 Butterfield Court, Culver City, CA	Culver City	90230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Caiazzo	6941 182nd St.	Fresh Meadows	11365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorraine	Heagy	6 Sussex Place	LITITZ	17543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Pletz	2580 Alma Ave	South Lake Tahoe	96150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Elder	2005 Owego Road	Vestal	13850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
e	hickey	Longmont	Longmont	80503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J	Meek	120 Bailer Drive	Belgrade	59714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
YvonneBoone	Boone	6356 N Lilac Ave	Rialto	92377	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Mcconnell	3330 Astorbrook Way	LITTLETON	80126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amelie	Shadout	1526 circle ranch	Oceanside	92057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
william	farrell	2 wyman lane	Bella Vista	72714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Gibbings	14684 riverside st. Livonia, mi	Livonia	48154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Jordan	7104 Tulip Street	PHILADELPHIA	19135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Etta	Juge	316 Balfour Drive	Winter Springs	32708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Miller	927 Alexander Street	Houston	77008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Tin	1216 Crespi Drive	Pacifica	94044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	mckay	4239 owls perch dr	Charlotte	28278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynda	Bagot-Parker	10909 W Peoria Ave, Sun City, AZ	Sun City	85351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Bellantoni	13835 N Tatum Blvd	Phoenix	85032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jill	Cochran	1697 Winterwood Ct.	HERNDON	20170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Greenberg	2608 W. Skylark Drive	Muncie	47304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Brunke	7701 Baymeadows Circle West	Jacksonville	32256	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Dolly	19809 89th Road	Mc Alpin	32062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Marsa	145 primrose hill rd Rhinebeck ny	Rhinebeck	12572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Thompson	8500 Pflumm Rd., B103	Lenexa	66215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Crider	5910 Roma Dr	Shreveport	71105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Hribar	P.O.Box 737	Palmer	99645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Kalaghan	167 Main St. Apt. A	ROCKPORT	1966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Deeds	7918 46th St.	Lyons	60534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Couture	65 Lake Avenue	Worcester	1604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arlene	Alvarado	2223 Gaylord Street	Butte	59701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
K	Mrs	Colorado Springs	Colorado Springs	80914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	Penwood	12 Chance Street	Hicksville	11801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lloyd	Barnes	12115 Nest Ct.	Grand Island	32735	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gael	Irvine	8220 E Edgerton Parks Rd	Palmer	99645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Geyer	192 Falmouth Rd, 192 Falmouth Rd	Bainbridge	17502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jake	Tillinger	4231 Kingsburg Dr., Round Rock, TX	Round Rock	78681	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andy	Miller	205 S. Wilderness Trl.	Lafayette	70507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Schwab	12227 Trinidad Terrace	MARION	62959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	covey	4163 HWY 121 S	Marianna	72360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
m	s	335 warren	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	Tomlin	1409 Kuehner Dr.	Simi Valley	93063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Seaman	313 Bridgeport Trl	Cleveland	44143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
m	s	335 warren	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Wilson	325 High ST	MORGANTOWN	26505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Young	5808 Williamsburg Way	Durham	27713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Lee	4601 52nd St.	Lubbock	79414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
calvin	turner	1624 arrowhead dr.	GADSDEN	35903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	M.	3466 E. Waterview DR.	CHANDLER	85249	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Barnes	5113 Alcoy Ct	Lancaster	93536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	K	21 W KENDRICK AVE # 1	Hamilton	13346	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wesley	Barton	123 Youdontneedto know Ave.	Magnolia	71753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carrie	Kilian	4551 S Crystal Way	Aurora	80015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Carter	1392 Waterford Green Drive	Marietta	30068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	White	77 Madison Ave, MorrisHills	Morristown	7960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Bradley	15221 Preston Rd #2030	Dallas	75248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wiiliam	Herrmann	2 liszt st	Ronkonkoma	11779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alvin	Estep	4008 Templeton St.	Greenville	75401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Cote	20240 Hummingbird Hill	Colfax	95713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julia	McMahon	Pooles Ln	Rockport	1966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Long	PO Box 92814	Austin	78709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Rose	1 Harvestview S Apt C	Mount Joy	17552	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Walls	171 old hickory rd.	New Castle	16102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Hiemke	1109 Wayne Dr	Pflugerville	78660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Smith	8265 Schroeder Rd	OCONTO FALLS	54154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elder	James	799 new salem rd	Griffin	30223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Campbell	5644 Northrop Rd.	Milton	32570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Meyer	895 Herrick Hollow Rd.	Sidney Center	13839	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Agy	9710 151 ave SE snohomish wa	Snohomish	98290	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Rumph	3238 Quail Pointe Dr, Greenville NC	Greenville	27858	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Kosem	10761 Blueberry Hill Dr.	WILLOUGHBY	44094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Enoch	Smith	7277 Smith Executive Drive	West Jordan	84084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Patterson	13330 West Rd. #832	Houston	77041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francis	Higgins	379 River Isle	Sacramento	95831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	Blackshear	1312 Tipperary Dr	Grapevine	76051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. We've had cable for 25+ years @ $231 a year that well over $6,000! Outrageous gouging! Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tod	Spoerl	Highview Road	Ixonia	53036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Campbell	485 S. Tannahill St.	Vidor	77662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Johnson	Green Trees Drive	Gorham	4038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Lichtenbert	5307 W. Nelson	Chicago	60641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tyler	Wibstad	15251 55th Street NW Annandale MN	Annandale	55302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Waskey	6230 FM 1830, Argyle, TX	Argyle	76226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	DeRaps	1931 Hill Rd, Canaan, ME	Canaan	4924	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Mitchell	5619 87th Street	Lubbock	79424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zoraida	Erquinigo	454 Fern st	Freeland	18224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Maggied	2240 east arbor circle	Mesa	85204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Eckman	3809 Rockview Ct.,Duluth, MN	Duluth	55804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Bossio	4 Billings St.	Taunton	2780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Rootes	1707-Grace Drive	Big Lake	55309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosemary	Scully	5520 London Lake Drive	Jacksonville	32258	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Stone	26512 159th Ave. SE	KENT	98042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erin	Brandeberry	2628 Ashton Pines Dr Apt 1L	Elkhart	46517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
richard	pounder	148 smoke rise rd. bedminster, nj	BEDMINSTER	7921	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Meredith	Gregory	2675 3rd st	Cuyahoga Falls	44221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Gramse	2421 E. Katie Lynn Ln.	SALT LAKE CITY	84117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Shaw	6419 Vine St	Cincinnati	45216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Rice	84-136 Water St.	WAIANAE	96792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ian	Kaplan	4952 Kolmar Ave	Dayton	45432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	Valencia	306 3rd Street SE	Washington	20003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thilo	Kumbernuss	Zur MÌÎ_hlwiese 9	Hathaway Pines	95233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chuck	Hamilton	663 Douglas St.	Chattanooga	37403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Sharpe	194 Maple Ave	Great Barrington	1230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Murer	339 Beverly Rd NE	Atlanta	30309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Iris	Block	28 Wilson Circle East	Red Bank	7701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Knudsen	1257 County Route 22	North Bangor	12966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Claytor	365 Calvert Ave	Saint Louis	63119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Warren	Beverly Ave	Tucson	85712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Sailes	224 Broadway	Hanover	17331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gaye	Georges	11 Creek Road	Smithtown	11787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Oliver	Steck	7407 Loganberry Dr.	Austin	78745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Harrington	317 Auburn LR, AR	LITTLE ROCK	72205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Bryan	127 Woodwind Dr	Pineville	71360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mr.	Evans	300 Somewhere Dr.	Clovis	93612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ben	Tusa	8909 S 66th Ave	Papillion	68133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Corbell	Grants Pass, OR	Grants Pass	97526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Claytor	365 Calvert Ave	Saint Louis	63119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Viola	whiting	Manchester Township	8759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terri	Sider	2258 Hooper Ave	Brick	8723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcia	Hawk	3616 Saddle Ridge Dr Independence MO	Independence	64057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gary	rowland	733 moorehead ave	ZANESVILLE	43701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brendan	Cardaci	516 Rogers St	Fredericksburg	22405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bud	Sanson	111 Wiscasset Way	Greenville	29615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Ciocia	5277 Graham Drive	Cleveland	44124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	Arrowwood	308 avenue of Oaks	moncks corner	29461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

debbie	weiss	1185 Loma Linda Dr	Beverly Hills	90210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Quinn	Nashville, TN	Nashville	37203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Psaras	12 Woodbine Lane	East Moriches	11940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Orlando	Bessey	4031 St. Rt. 22 Lot 11	SALEM	12865	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	MacStay	87 Cheney Ave	Peterborough	3458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
BJ	Snell	PO Box 473	GALLATIN	37066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Rolbeck	Placerville	Placerville	95667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Larson	2805 Stonegate act SW	Rochester	55902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Sillery	Incline Village NV	Incline Village	89450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	English	1049 Sammi Jo Lane	DACULA	30019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Nikolai	3558 S 3610 E	SALT LAKE CITY	84109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jo	Sippie-Gora	4 dogwood trail	Butler	7405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

H.	Fleishon	100 Landsdowne	CAMBRIDGE	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Matthews	1012 NW 38th St	Oklahoma City	73118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Berger	3219 Regatta Pointe Court	Midlothian	23112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Cole	1109 NE Locksley Dr.	Bend	97701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rod	Costa	359 Marco Court	Clermont	34715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Jenkins	2543 Anvil Tree Lane	HACIENDA HEIGHTS	91745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Timothy	Dodd	5299 Monarch Pine Ln	NORCROSS	30071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Khashayar	shojaati	11321 santa monica blvd	Los Angeles	90025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Kukucka	19117 Gunnerfiled Ln Germantown MD 20874	Germantown	20874	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Deimund	903 Wynbrook Lane	Deland	32724	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
STEPHEN	STORMS	4932 Vireo Drive	Flowery Branch	30542	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Shuda	11301 Canoe Cove Ln	Huntersville	28078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Jack	2716 33rd Street	PORT ARTHUR	77640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Moats	1100 Maple Ave.	DOWNERS GROVE	60515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Lucas	160 Hiawatha Ave	Westerville	43081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ewan	Schmid	2315 S Cutter Ct	Bloomington	47403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Meyer	6635 Southfield Lane	Rockford	61108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Harger	3215 Alta Vista Rd.	Rockford	61107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Evans	3383 So. Broad St. Trenton, NJ	Trenton	8610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hans	Wiegert	113 Rainwood Drive	Simpsonville	29681	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Fryer	24 bento. ct apt 44	MIDLAND CITY	36350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	Creely	202 Cheshire Lane	Lafayette	47909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Notary	805 Tully Rd	Modesto	95350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leah	Nelson	6110 Acorn Lane	Cary	60013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Babb	1440 morning Crescent St.	Henderson	89052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Blanche	Potter	4108 Big Spur Road	Great Falls	59405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Martinez	3150 Ave of stars	Frisco	75034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Crheston	Mitchell	4859 S. Picadilly Ct	Aurora	80015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Leonte	100 Jacobus Ave, Little Falls, NJ	Little Falls	7424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Gamache	2769 Jackson St.	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beni	Tabron	243 Babylon St. Islip Terrace NY	Islip Terrace	11752	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Twyla	Tranfaglia	809 W. Austin St.	Fredericksburg	78624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjorie	Girth	800 W. Ferry St., -- #6D	Buffalo	14222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorri	Zbinovec	749 Burning Trail	Carol Stream	60188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Barnebey	3433 McNary Pkwy #504	LAKE OSWEGO	97035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Vallon	99 Jefferson rd	Princeton	8540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Svatek	1326 Healing Springs Drive	Denton	27239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tzuriyah	Musah	174 West 136 Street	NEW YORK	10030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat E.	Perrin	10 Deans Court	Santa Fe	87508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bert	Gaquer	1633 Colmar Dr Holiday, Fl	Holiday	34690	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Carter	P.O. Box 83 Antelope, OR	Antelope	97001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Goley	Bryson	1104 E. 9th ave. #1	Johnson City	37601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Hartle-Schutte	2901 E. Alta Vista St.	Tucson	85716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregg	Edson	13749 Lakeshore Drive	GRAND HAVEN	49417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Schade	N8279 Schoenfeld Rd	Beaver Dam	53916	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marjorie	Girth	800 W. Ferry St., -- #6D	Buffalo	14222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Bowser	2203 E Lakeside Av	COEUR D ALENE	83814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathaniel	Hill	118 Merchant Man Ct	Williamsburg	23185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diego	Lazcano	523 Small Cedar Dr.	League City	77573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Wilson	441 Anastasia Ave	Miami	33134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Waclo	1171 Bandtail Dr.	Carson City	89701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Lynn	5 Bell Waver Way	Oakland	94619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Marek	2380 Netherstone Drive NE	Marietta	30066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Gebhard	6565 E. Thomas Rd.	Scottsdale	85251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wendy	Groff	1305 Teflon Cir	Chesapeake	23320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marshall	Sass	9417 Great Hills Trail	AUSTIN	78759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susie	Humphreys	456 M St SW	Washington	20024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harvey	Goldman	14082 Mango Dr	Del Mar	92014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Brown	1608 Rolling Brook Dr	Allen	75002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandy	Romelsbacher	11788	Nampa	83651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

charlotte	kazlauskas	138 C.R.325	Corinth	38834	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Swolinski	9826 N Lake Creek Pkwy 11303	Austin	78717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Davis	N Shore Dr	Lake Orion	48362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Seth	McCorkle	9545 Greenleaf Ct	Reno	89506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Lipson	10 Holland Lane	New Paltz	12561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Regan	7955 Monroe Rd	Lambertville	48144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	Moyer	3602 Calumet St	Philadelphia	19129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Lipmanson	3018-B W. Villard St Bozeman, MT	Bozeman	59718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Wilson	PO Box 23357	Fort Lauderdale	33307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Volesky	39530 Gary St #15	Sandy	97055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonard	Greene	157 Left Ave	Bluefield	24701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurel	Holmes	3158 N Van Horn Rd	FAIRBANKS	99701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Dadmun	338 Athens St	Boston	2127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Hoffman	1453 N.Norman Ave.	Oklahoma City	73160	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	woods	607 tnsy ln	Westerville	43081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sara	Garcia	1218 Camino La Cuchilla	Mayaguez	680	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eugene	Butler	196 Taylor Rd	CHEHALIS	98532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Faulkner	4500 shiloh road	Cumming	30040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vivek	Golikeri	Dania Beach, FL	DANIA	33004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Collins	2230 Cosmos Ave	Middleburg	32068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Quiroz	5145 East Valencia Dr	Orange	92869	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Moreland	12635 oakwood drive woodbridge va	Woodbridge	22192	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
phil	badiz	Bear creek blvd	BEAR CREEK	18602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frances	Morrison	17875 La Rosa Lane	Fountain Valley	92708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Edwards	1373 Prairie Ct.	WEST CHICAGO	60185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Stemper	2561 S Sumac Ln	Boise	83706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Meadows	505 Grampian Drive	Columbia	65203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Donahue	2051 Rice Rd	Lancaster	17603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Stocker	1437 Cowhorn Rd	Winnsboro	29180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Carlisle	1019 Farmhouse Rd	Gainesville	30506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Clay	207C Memorial Terrace	Warner Robins	31093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michele	andrade	139 san carlos way	Novato	94945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlotte	Zampini	17271 W Model Creek rd	Kirkland	86332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Donahue	10330 22nd St NE	Pekin	58361	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Leedy	1904 Old Ridge Rd	Virginia Beach	23464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	Garcia	1705 Patricia Ln	Garland	75042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Harper	3330 warner rd	RICHMOND	23225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Helmbolt	25718 69th Ave	Graham	98338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Myers	414 Penn St	Hollidaysburg	16648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Burns	5707 45th Street East #18 Bradenton, FL	Bradenton	34203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Agnes	McKeon	10 West 65th Street	NEW YORK	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Olson	1105 S W 10th Dr	GRESHAM	97080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tami	Fosmark	17302 270th Ave SE	ISSAQUAH	98027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hadley	Luerson	563 Diamond Falls	San Antonio	78251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Kostis	7 Fox Hill Dr. W.	Warren	7059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Malissa	Wilson	640 Downard Rd	ZANESVILLE	43701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mitzi	DuBois	Milton, FL	Milton	32570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fiddle	Witch	28 tt	Swannanoa	28778	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Colley	2540 Robbins Road	Ellensburg	98926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Pope	104 Myrtle View Ct	Apex	27502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arnold	Anderson	30220 Rosemond Drive	Franklin	48025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

HL	Arnett	17 Buena Vista Park	Cambridge	2140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Harris	7617 Maui Ln	Rowlett	75089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Greisen	16438 Shady Elms Dr.	houston	77059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria	Pachina	125 sugar grove rd	Morgantown	26501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shay	Hodges	37 Puu Koa Place	Haiku	96708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Faulk	2203 Crestview Place	Laguna Beach	92651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Hansen	1114 CAMBRIDGE DRIVE	Grayslake	60030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
G	Wolske	55 Lighthouse Dr	Bumpass	23024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	McKenzie	PO Box 20403	Montgomery	36120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Kaler	73 Maddox Ave	Islip	11751	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianna	Jancik	19768 Tyler St NW	Elk River	55330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Ritz	1216 West Chester Drive	Louisville	44641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vicki	Smith	po box 163	MERRILLAN	54754	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. People should also have more choices about what they want to have included in their package. As it is now, most of the so-called channels are not any of what people want to view / hear. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Simon	13170 W. Scarborough dr.	New Berlin	53151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Shifman	7 Meryl Lane	Cherry Hill	8002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melody	Nielsen	Seymour	Cheyenne	82007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Cole	670 Carlsbad Rd	CINCINNATI	45240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Christine	Tyrone, PA	Tyrone	16686	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Anderson	2714 4th Avenue North	Minneapolis	55412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brandon	Adams	1541 gravel springs circle	Jacksonville	62650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tara	Score	1084 west riviera blvd	OVIEDO	32765	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine	Arrigoni	3419 E Chapman Ave #340	ORANGE	92869	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Thompson	12133 Lexington Dr.	South Lyon	48178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clifford	Spencer	1888 Conklin Road Conklin New York	CONKLIN	13748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brandon	Adams	1541 gravel springs circle	Jacksonville	62650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Batcheler	703 Oro Dam Blvd W. #205	Oroville	95965	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Goodstone	24 Steeplechase Road	Millstone Township	8535	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Radin	5320 Eagleswatch Ct	CINCINNATI	45230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Main	2031 Branard	Houston	77098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Busching	2505 E Bona Ave	Appleton	54915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Stanne	260 1st Steet	Rochester	48307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	wood	1103 Nuttman ave.	Fort Wayne	46807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Van Vechten	915 Skyland Drive	Lake Oswego	97034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dean	Schaecher	10202 Whitetail Ln.	Truckee	96161	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Irvine	1284 Delfield Drive	Bethel Park	15102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alanna	Borders	301 Banks St.	San Augustine	75972	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Blied	2641 Gregory Lane	La Habra	90631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathe	Garbrick	2944 Keats Ave	MANHATTAN	66503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nadine	Duckworth	804 Deal Farm Lane	Taylorsville	28681	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clinton	Akins	1235 Joerin Ave	North Fort Myers	33903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Bradley	3520 Sumpter St	Lansing	48911	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ian	Corbett	1164 Academy St.	WATERTOWN	13601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Forsyth	1465 Hooksett Rd. Unit 114	Hooksett	3106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Brown	PO Box 3245	Clovis	93613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	Henderson	20 Woodlane Rd, Ithaca, NY	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glen	Wetzel	16238 N. 161 Drive	SURPRISE	85374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tara Moira	McBride	P.O. Box 783, Ocean Beach	Ocean Beach	11770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Dempsey	301 W. Washington St.	Paris	38242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vincent	Hardt	29W424 Butternut Ln	Warrenville	60555	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Unsworth	36 Tupelo Road	Westport	2790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Larson	3700 Broomsedge Ct	Fairfax	22033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rodney	Weaver	119 Beagle Rd.	Mill Hall	17751	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Lent	78 Belmont Circle	SYOSSET	11791	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Odysseas	Ladopoulos	2301 brewery rd	Cross Plains	53528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angela	Howard	6164 S Cherry Ct	Centennial	80121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Biegel	6 Brookside ct	Toms River	8753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Knapp	10825 Buchanan St.	GRAND HAVEN	49417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Garret	Hammond	4326 Florence	Downers Grove	60515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Klym	8702 102 Street	Richmond Hill	11418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
karen	bacon	733 Dairy Rd	PARKTON	21120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nathan	Kraft	9915 marquette dr	Bethesda	20817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Swan	8619 Persea Court	New Port Richey	34655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Swan	8619 Persea Court	New Port Richey	34655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

K	Scott	422 Copperfield	Southlake	76092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Hanson	3514 Robert St	New Orleans	70125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslee	van Ranst	5200 28th Street N. Lot#356	Saint Petersburg	33714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Earle	Kasregis	Roxbury	Roxbury	4275	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Boni	139 Lancaster Rd	Freehold	7728	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valerie	Johnston	6248 Carmen Blvd	Las Vegas	89108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Wampler	2005 South Rogers Street	Bloomington	47403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Davies	909 Harbour Ridge Lane	Downingtown	19335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Timberlake	2117 Atkins Drive	HUNTSVILLE	35810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	Haugh	665 West Market St	MARIETTA	17547	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Turner	5108 Far Hills	DAYTON	45429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Wampler	2005 South Rogers Street	Bloomington	47403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Morgan	704 Kings Highway	Moorestown	8057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phil	Reid	123 smith	KLAMATH FALLS	97603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William V	Patterson	110 Lincoln Way West	New Oxford	17350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Connolly	1286 Glenn Haven Dr Chico CA	Chico	95926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Lanter	201 Vanderpool #70	Houston	77024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	Wilkinson	69th street	LUBBOCK	79413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Simmons	Buntin	10367 E. Sixto Molina Ln.	Tucson	85747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Kefalos	13 Pleasant View Way	Flemington	8822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LG	McCaw	3815 S Jackson St	Amarillo	79110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mitesh R	Patel	403 Main St., APT #416	San Francisco	94105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjorie	Scheers	966 St. Johns Rd.	Drums	18222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Weissman	113 Crescent	Chalfont	18914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

April	Arnold-Gillar	3807 Spring Hollow	Bryan	77802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Antonsen	102 Edgecliff Way	Ketchikan	99901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Coleman	710 River Place	BUTLER	7405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrelene	Babbitt	4410 Sybil Dr	Orefield	18069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Enrique	Martinez	Murfreesboro	Murfreesboro	37128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	-	Blank	Gardnerville	89410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kalpesh	Patel	2 Old Road E	Elmsford	10523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert L.	Buzzard	1300 Greencroft Dr.	GOSHEN	46526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrence	Meehan	2439 Linden Drive	Havertown	19083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rob	Mosby	mcintosh rd	Sarasota	34233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Walters		Fish Haven	83287	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Maskarinec	4092 Stone Ridge Dr.	Rootstown	44272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffery	Beam	707 botham ave.	Saint Joseph	49085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Hoisington	188 Fairway Drive	COLUMBUS	43214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Kapetsky	7706 Meadowlark, #2 Wilmington nc	Wilmington	28411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marion	Bronson	2086 Vallombrosa Ave.	Chico	95926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlene	Boydston	3951 Donner St	Pahrump	89048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristian	Koerwitz	7214 W. Summerdale	CHICAGO	60656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerald	Smolinsky	2125 Melridge Place	AUSTIN	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Saraswathi	Devi	1717 Alcatraz Avenue	Berkeley	94703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Trumbull	10812 Hart Rd	MONTAGUE	96064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Levitt	5020 Fox Hollow Dr	Denver	28037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
e Cook	cook	114 spring cove dr	CARY	27511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Renfro	Bancroft Ave	Berkeley	94720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lois	Radford	521 NANSEMOND ST	Portsmouth	23707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Marquart	2003 Blackiston Mill Rd	Clarksville	47129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Walters		Fish Haven	83287	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Starace	537 ridge drive	Brookings	57006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Yelmene	1218 Dewey Street, Unit 2	Manitowoc	54220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Phillips-Burke	127 Chestnut Hill Road	WOODSTOCK	12498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charlene	Boydston	3951 Donner St	Pahrump	89048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mary	Conley	3900 n. stable ct. #201 peoria, il.	Peoria	61614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JAN	SWENSON	2744 CHATEAU CIRCLE	Columbus	43221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Walters		Fish Haven	83287	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Abrahamson	1 Ahrens Place Apt 1	Fredonia	14063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Skirbunt-Kozabo	4530 Crossgate RD	Chester	23831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jimetta	Lewis	155 Kings Down Dr	Crossville	38558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Kelly	258 A St., #1-30	Ashland	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Wayrynen	2331 albin Dr.	ENTIAT	98822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William L.	Parker	938 S. Evangeline Ave.	MESA	85208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Freeman	3408 Chester Ln.	Bakersfield	93309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Calhoun	115 Spring Valley Rd	Bristol	24201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erica	Weaver	1900 hi line drive	Dallas	75207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Roberts	1009 Pine St	Sandpoint	83864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Butler	1110 McCrea Dr., Moncks Corner, SC	Moncks Corner	29461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Grassman	726 Negley Avenue	Evansville	47711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
chris	white	5052 north nigh street	COLUMBUS	43214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Detrick	2304 Cumberland Circle, #201	Clearwater	33763	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

PL	Hampton	Renton	Renton	98058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Herbert C.	Ziegler	35011 Ave "E",#9,YUCAIPA, CA	Yucaipa	92399	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	Gonzalez	11801 Toepperwein Rd 103	San Antonio	78233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanna	DeMaris	13363 West Tara Lane	Surprise	85374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	patrick	Patrick	Mount Joy	17552	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Guth	116 Oklahoma Ave.	Oak Ridge	37830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harold	Grant	1388 Trask Parkway	Seabrook	29940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Kuckel	P.O. Box 22387	Cheyenne	82003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Kuckel	P.O. Box 22387	Cheyenne	82003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sylvia	Gonzalez	11801 Toepperwein Rd 103	San Antonio	78233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
P	Byers	Western	Kingman	86401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Bonowitz	4791 Lago Dr Apt 306	Huntington Beach	92649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne	Mudge	cantsaysorry	Sandy	84094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nita	Lowe	41730 M 53	Paw Paw	49079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Clifford	6232 Clark lake drive	New Port Richey	34655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Clark	913 plymouth ln.	McHenry	60051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Stewart	1306 conestoga crt	Mount Airy	21771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Jacobson	1 Pomeroy Rd., N. Reading,MA	North Reading	1864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jan	Oge	1124 E. 10th St	Russellville	72801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Wechter	8 flycatcher way unit 201 arden	Arden	28704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Josh	Summers	516 E Cross St	Ypsilanti	48198	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

DeWayne	Halfen	1737 N Cloverland Ave	Tucson	85712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alicia	Faires	4469 Jacob Pl	Mount Vernon	98274	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Phibbs	625 LAURELANN DR	Dayton	45429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Johnson	1027 Washington Ave	Golden	80401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Kohut	206 Woodward Dr.	EVANSVILLE	47712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Landin	1107 38th Ave.	Seattle	98122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stacey	Beckner	32564 Long Spoon Way	Millsboro	19966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Purcell	5436 Clark Rd #44	Paradise	95969	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
martha	ragley	po box 492	NELLYSFORD	22958	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Jenatsch	51 Winding Way	Morris Plains	7950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonn J	Schenz	2955 COLERAIN AVE	Cincinnati	45225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Casey	3752 Shawn Circle	Orlando	32826	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sara	Ryder	1094 hwy 44 bristol tn	Bristol	37620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Sullivan	107 Cherry Street	Shrewsbury	1545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Kite	1856 Clay Hill Rd	Chittenango	13037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shari	Sharp	PO Box 38	Eagle	83616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Gomeringer	286 13th St	Avalon	8202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Zettel	642 Rawlings Rd	LIBBY	59923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Marchand	136 Wethersfield Drive	Harvest	35749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nita	Sembrowich	209 Putnam Avenue Cambridge MA	Cambridge	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I would love to see some alternatives to the stranglehold of the large telecommunications companies. This is one example of how American consumers are being gouged.
Jeff	Kronick	P.O. Box 345	Lake Orion	48361	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Coffman	6278 Golden Meadow Rd	Reno	89519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marvin	Elmowitz	111 Park Street	Caldwell	7006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lloyd	Ross	18 Norwalk Lane	BARNEGAT	8005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Daniels	3571 Fox	Flagstaff	86005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carl	Boatright	18592 Mariposa Dr	Villa Park	92861	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Schneier		New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nathan	Harrington	3214 11th Place SE	Washington	20032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Scholle	20085 E Rogers Dr	Orange	92869	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristan	Knierim	1680 E 300 S #F203	Price	84501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dale	Fitzgibbons	1009 Saddlebrook Drive	Bloomington	61704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reza	Mojtabavi	112- 3629 Deercrest Drive	NULL	V7G 2S9	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Clifford	1608 Carl Circle	Garner	27529	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. It is the same with DirecTV!

Linda	Thomason	104 Broadway PO Box 246	Fisher	61843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Fellner	15527 Oceanside Way	San Leandro	94579	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Cooper	651 FOREST AVENUE	PARAMUS	7652	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Reggie	white	62 east st, schaghticoke, ny	SCHAGHTICOKE	12154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carla	Peltonen	70 Cherry Lane	Basalt	81621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	trezza	1165 Goldenrod circle	Palm Bay	32905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Arendt	POB 1264, Sparks, Nevada	Sparks	89431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Rutherdale	9166 Firelight Way	SACRAMENTO	95826	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andy	Carlstedt	Ploggatan		11634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean C	Thompson	6042 N Rosewood	Appleton	54913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
scott	dance	dance	Utica	13502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Mostoller	919 South 8th Street, #2F	PHILADELPHIA	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lawrence	Montford	6929 Sims Rd	Harrison	37341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawn	Kelly	619 BEHL RD	Franklinville	8322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Negri	822 Fireweed Dr	Henderson	89002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shirley	Johnson	2815 Terrace RD SE	Washington	20020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Radford	7623 Jimson Drive	RENO	89511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randi	Thomas	60 Plantation Acres Dr.	Little Rock	72210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catharine	Holt	486 Moana Way	PACIFICA	94044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	Miller	1226 Trail Ct	MUKWONAGO	53149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Feschyn	3950 W Tapp Rd.	Bloomington	47403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marg	Finn	428 West 47 St	New York	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Ollis	406 Wartman Rd	Collegeville	19426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Brouhard	2200 Ashe St	Durham	27703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Virginia	Paul	37 Shenandoah Avenue	HARRISONBURG	22802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randi	Thomas	60 Plantation Acres Dr.	Little Rock	72210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dean	Yianilos	1757 Lake Berry Drive	Winter Park	32789	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claire	Adkins	5248 Old Friberg Rd	Wichita Falls	76305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Finer	188 Pleasant Street	Bristol	3222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Noonan	134 Demmel dr	Canonsburg	15317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Avigdor	Orr	208 Grant Ave	Highland Park	8904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Schaefer	910 North 10th Street - Apt 111	SHEBOYGAN	53081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bloomquist	105 Alice Bridge Way	Woodstock	30188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Graham	Hayes	4168 southpoint pkwy	Jacksonville	32216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrie	Williams	850 Laura Lane	Vidor	77662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Felton	5300 E. Esche Drive	NEWBURGH	47630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aaron	Simmonds	46 Hala Road		LA1 4QJ	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
raymond	vosilla	18 james st	Shoreham	11786	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caitlin	v	Greenlake	Cardiff by the Sea	92007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christian	Colella	4352 Scandling Center	Geneva	14456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Mattson	Rt 153	Union	3887	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roxane	Dow	3109 Albatross Circle	LAS VEGAS	89108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wesa	Sweeney	1543 Shields Lane	WILLISBURG	40078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colleen	Cleary	5451 S Bethel Church Rd Apt 1-201	Columbia	65203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Duffy	257 BOYLE CIR	Delavan	53115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sonia	ImMasche	730 Cottonwood Drive	Fort Collins	80524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marvin	Feil	69 Sparta Ave.	Newton	7860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James and Joan	Tomczyk	West Caldwell	Caldwell	7006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacque	Hurley	201 Old Mill Rd	Royersford	19468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Christodoulou	1665 Starfish Street	Kissimmee	34744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremy	Durivage	19 Timber Dr.	Waterford	12188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Rusanowski	500 Broadway Apt A232	Farmington	84025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colin	Mansfield	430 Mendota Road West, Apt 112	West Saint Paul	55118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Smith	729 W 26th St	San Pedro	90731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Pridy	7065Regina Dr.	Englewood	34224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Matteson	OHIO	Hilliard	43026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberta	Anderson	14663 w. Mayland villa rd.	Lincolnshire	60069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	ADAMS	8202 Barrett Road	Fort Washington	20744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Daniel	240 Irving Ave	Brooklyn	11237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Moyer	713 Scenic Drive	Harleysville	19438	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nikki	Larkins	10550 Western Ave. Stanton, CA.	Stanton	90680	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Cordell	805 Fallview Ave	Englewood	45322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Saul	1470 s Quebec way 115		80242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vincent	O'Gara	32 Arizona Ave	Manchester Township	8759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Snyderr	16 7th St. NE Washington DC	Washington	20002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Lesser	111 SMOKE RIDGE RD	North Augusta	29860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nick	Scott	1701 Rancho Way	Loveland	80537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Vitucci	649 C Street SE #305, Washington, DC	Washington	20003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dustin	Drake	9540 Fordham St	Indianapolis	46268	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Virginia	Vitucci	649 C Street SE #305, Washington, DC	Washington	20003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	St. John	12001 CR 404	Spicewood	78669	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
joe	sans	200 N Paterson St #1	Madison	53703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nellie	Sherman	1146 W PORPHYRY ST	Butte	59701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Kennelly	3112 Bern Drive	Laguna Beach	92651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Cadenhead	1096 Verbena Dr	Austin	78750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Hultstrand	5009 Sandburg Dr	McHenry	60050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juan	gonzalez	719 3rd	Elmer	73539	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Bond	7449 E Edward Ave	Scottsdale	85250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debbie	King	1104 Mobley Walk Ct	COLUMBUS	31904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bobbie	Hulse	508 E. Kansas	McPherson	67460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vikki	Rosenbaum	3987 Orchard Hill Circle	Palm Harbor	34684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Messing	619 FIFTH ST	Traverse City	49684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Channing	Turner	1117 NW Dogwood Circle	Mountain Home	83647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Savige	5661 Craneybrook Lane	Portsmouth	23703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michele	McCoy	97 Lantern Lane	DELAND	32720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Jividen	1272 bellefontaine ave marion ohio 43302	Marion	43302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Melegari	W10348 Borth Lake Road	Deerbrook	54424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Schlesinger	506 Breezy Hill Road, Hillsdale, NY	Hillsdale	12529	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gisele	N.	5777 Ridgeview Drive SW #713	Cedar Rapids	52404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Fernandez	222 North Oklahoma St.	TRYON	74875	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Kirkland	408 Banbury Ave Elburn IL	Elburn	60119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	ballou	12984 w melody	Grand Ledge	48837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Aurandt	402 Thomas St	Roaring Spring	16673	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	DeHoff	552 Campbell Lead Rd	Gatlinburg	37738	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vanessa	Harris	809 Meares St	Wilmington	28401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Hauck	10912 124 Ave Largo FL	Largo	33778	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Todd	Yancey	28 Farnwood Road	Mount Laurel	8054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
bruce	miller	801 E Lakeshore Dr E	Shelton	98584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Bower	25157 325th Street	Sioux City	51108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	Peacock	248 S Heincke Rd Apt 5C	MIAMISBURG	45342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hugh	Ashcraft	2334 Ainsdale Rd Charlotte, NC	Charlotte	28226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dona	Hoagland	40 Duck Hawk Ct	Hackettstown	7840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Coleton	Carter	1539 Lagoon Rd	Lakeland	33803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Levin	6043 Timberwood Circle	Fort Myers	33908	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Lewis	3510 Brook St.	Lenoir	28645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Callaway	418 N. 8th Ave.	Upland	91786	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanne	Heer	6475 Abisco Road	Cocoa	32927	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Wallston	1025 Hart Road; Pisgah Forest, NC	Pisgah Forest	28768	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	McDaniel		Philomath	97370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Rindt	4466 Vern Cove	Milton	32571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Cassidy	534 East 83rd Street	NEW YORK	10028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gail	Safrit	120 Beverly Place	Greensboro	27403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Duane	De Vries	1477 Oakcrest St. SW, Wyoming, MI	Wyoming	49509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Dodge	8 Simonson Lane	Bridgewater	8807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	Hanson	2760 23 ave	Marion	52302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Kunya	1929 Seclusion Drive	Eau Claire	54703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kat	Vanstory	486 Raymond	Benicia	94510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Gettens	7 Wren Court	Rocky River	44116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Szilagyi	1004 NE 72nd St.	VANCOUVER	98665	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kerrie	Pennington	10144 Pinnacle, Las Vegas NV	Las Vegas	89134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Skebo	2373 Unionville Deason Rd.	Bell Buckle	37020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jordan	Lipka	Rego Park, NY	Rego Park	11374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Derry	123 Firestone Drive, Rochester NY	Rochester	14624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R	Mulder	2621 Little Kate Rd	Park City	84060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Fortini	2100 Idlewild Dr	Reno	89509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	McElligott	921 Noel Court	Westmont	60559	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	bostick	7812 pointview cir	ORLANDO	32836	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Holly	Angel	302 McKinney Street	South Boston	24592	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Schultz	339 w 4th	Whitefish	59937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Valerie	Chism	3 East Oneida	Baldwinsville	13027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Kunya	3414 s 113th st apt 4	Milwaukee	53227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shannon	Littrell	980 LAGUNA DR	CARLSBAD	92008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Josh	Colman	1107 neal rd	Watertown	37184	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
judy	Ryan	108 marcia dr	Torrington	6790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
doreen	Goldbronn	2190 BANCROFT PL #D	Palm Harbor	34683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scot	Seffinga	16127 w Anderson rd	HAYWARD	54843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caroline	kopel	6650 spring view Dr.	Westerville	43082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
WILLIAM	BALTON	808 MONROE ST	DOTHAN	36303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Owen	Liebich	PO Box 747	ACTON	93510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Felene	Bayles	16990 Monterey road	Lake Elsinore	92530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Lewis	8274 Lakeshore Circle #4014	Indianapolis	46250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Sixtus	8353 Rumson Dr.	Santee	92071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Rose	2429 Brook Rd.	Richmond	23220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daisy	Perez	113 Sprague Street	Jamestown	14701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Kirk	125 N HAWKSBILL ST	Luray	22835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Gaudin	1906 Preswwod Dr	Hixson	37343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Givins	85 Pike ST	Seattle	98101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Burns	115 Mobrey ln	Smithtown	11787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Arveson	16707 46th	BONNEY LAKE	98391	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Berton	2217 Woodlawn Ln	APPLETON	54914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Lynam	2046 Coast Blvd	Del Mar	92014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacob	Boutte	14109 W. 53rd Terr	Shawnee	66216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Scott	212 Mountain View Rd	Clymer	15728	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Baillie	1419 R ST NW	Washington	20009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Norelli	7214 Marywood Cir	Austin	78723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Troyanovich	1 Pelle Court	Florence	8518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Johnson	7614 Hampshire Ave N	Minneapolis	55428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Chenoweth	7854 27th Street	White City	97503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
shari	zeman	box 580056	North Palm Springs	92258	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cecilie	K.Bodnar	291 N. Pearl St.	Canandaigua	14424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tanya	Miller	5188 Desert King Dr. #A	Fort Irwin	92310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Paolino	160 Broad Street	NEW LONDON	6320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Brooks	13480 wentworth ln 125L	Seal Beach	90740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stevie	Woodrum	4921 N.25th St.	Lincoln	68521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wilma	Davison	Eldorado	Vincentown	8088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Cox	10813 Coyle Circle	Charlotte	28277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
w	bolcon	320 Thames St.	Newport	2840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
walter	bolcon	320 Thames St./Suite 984	Newport	2840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shawn	Reed	680 s irvine ave	Sharon	16146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Wingenroth	9 N. Port St.	Baltimore	21224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tennie	Kruse	1743 E. Dunkerton Rd	Waterloo	50703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynda	Porter	1008 West Main St.	New Albany	47150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ruby	curry	68 shipman qt rd	Louisville	36048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Stoll	6116 N Harden Ct	Kansas City	64151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jamie	Cutler	1701 W Street Rd.	West Chester	19382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Armington	240 Boca Ciega Dr	Saint Petersburg	33708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Siewert	2326 119th Ave NE	Minneapolis	55449	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Lyons	West Chester PA	West Chester	19382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
celeste	birkeland	4036 Zenith	Minneapolis	55422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Keller	430 Allentown Road	Parsippany	7054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Darrel	Easter	313165 Woodsman LN	Memphis	38135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Les	Muller	833 S. Ogden Drive, Los Angeles CA	Los Angeles	90036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Bumgarner	309 Pacific Ave	OSAWATOMIE	66064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	McIntyre	252 Ragon Road, Philadelphia, Tennessee	Philadelphia	37846	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Piche'	8180 South 35th Street	Franklin	53132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Shaffer	84 presidents dr	Mechanicsburg	17050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Hatch	11906 meadowview dr.	Cypress	77429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Sottana	PO Box 66	Weed	96094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	DeMuth	3449 Las Palmas Ave	Glendale	91208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brent	Gunderson	882 Kellogg St	GREEN BAY	54303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Kriegel	120 Cornwall Rd	Rehoboth Beach	19971	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Honz	Zondorgh	10240 S. Sierrita Mt Rd	Tucson	85701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hugh	Carola	617 Spring Valley Rd.	MAYWOOD	7607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Woolie	104 jason drive, west monroe	West Monroe	71291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Dodge	1080 Sharon Way	Reno	89509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nesha	Robb	2301 Falconveiw Dr.	Salina	67401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Guy	20936 Gresham St., Apt. 2 Canoga Park, CA	Canoga Park	91304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Temple	2089 Alapattah Circle	Crossville	38572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Schaf	Schaf	7637 Creedmore	Raleigh	27613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Bosco	5411 Foundation	Williamsburg	23188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Desjardins	31 Bristol Road	Windsor Locks	6096	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Bafik-Vehslage	9019 Koenig	San Antonio	78251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Davis	1244 Sledge Avenue	Memphis	38104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Beaulieu	215 Euclid Av	Albany	12208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Lyday	2741 Via Cipriani Unit 915B	Clearwater	33764	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Denison	1835 NE Steele Ave	Corvallis	97330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Hunt	89 Gallup st #1	North Adams	1247	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ANDREW	ROSENBERG	12216 BEAR RIVER ROAD	Boynton Beach	33473	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Temple	2089 Alapattah Circle	Crossville	38572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Hennes	205 Tall Trees Dr	Barrington	60010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Angelosanto	202 Franklin Street	STONEHAM	2180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Mayberry	10812 sleepy hollow rd.	Terrell	75161	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Lopez	15741 sharonhill dr.	WHITTIER	90604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Brown	1410 Barnsley Walk	Snellville	30078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Mitchell	400 Collins Rd. N.E. MS 164-100	Cedar Rapids	52498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremy	Aversa	333 W Midvale Ave	Chattanooga	37405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	DeVine	Folsom	Folsom	95630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victor	Tibaldi	PO Box 220	Miller Place	11764	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Shotts	1147 Oakland Square	BLACKSBURG	24060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Penz	505 mitchell	Grayslake	60030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	James	609 Harper Ave.	Drexel Hill	19026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Smith	Salem, Or	Salem	97304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justin	Kelly	2828 29 st	Astoria	11102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sonia	Cassell	610 Van Dyke Way	Greenwood	46142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Stein	45 Hargrove Dr	STONY BROOK	11790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anna	Aldredge	15507 Moorpark St Apt 101	ENCINO	91436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anna	Aldredge	15507 Moorpark St Apt 101	ENCINO	91436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	SanClementi	165 Timber Ridge Drive	Hawley	18428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Amrod	3171 Riverknoll Drive North	Baldwinsville	13027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Rubin	259 West Oak St	Ramsey	7446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Wood	1049 Ridge Rd	Gettysburg	17325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karl	Ferenczy	1744 W. Alabama, Unit F	Houston	77098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Littrell	11 Green Oak Rd	Asheville	28804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brieaux	Poche	P.O. Box 536	Ponchatoula	70454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Medlin	115 1st Ave East Apt #14	Dickinson	58601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Riccardo	61 Riverside Ave.	COXSACKIE	12051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Brinklow	1573 Bannister Rd.	Traverse City	49685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Bacharach	110 Skyline Drive	LEWISBURG	24901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Link	1022 Augusta Drive	Sun City Center	33573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Carroll	1340 N 78th Street, Seattle WA	Seattle	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	West	5400 Waterbrook Dr.	Austin	78723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathleen	Evans	1345 E. Madison Ave., Space 14	El Cajon	92021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Ring	2 Hildreth rd	HAMPTON BAYS	11946	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Cushwa	309 COLONIAL DR	HIGH POINT	27262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Frohwein	1515 Rancho Lane	Norco	92860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tizim	Zinniker	K,he,jhgkjyvkj		99999	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol D	Jackson	4100 Avenue G	Austin	78751	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Rowland	14082 Mango Dr.	Del Mar	92014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Bradon	5010 Frontier Rd	Garland	75043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Orlando	Gali	69437 Taverny Ct	Madisonville	70447	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Mugent	Hy 97	Bemd ore	97702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	Barns	196 Tortoise Trail, Batesburg, SC	Batesburg	29006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Karns	614 NW 180th Street, Shoreline	Seattle	98177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Wilbur	7006 Lauren Court	Gurnee	60031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Gordon	36 Meadowside Park	ARVADA	80001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tam	Black	5 Beverly Ave.	Somerset	8873	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Sims	3100 Hickory Creek Rd Lenoir city, tn	Lenoir City	37771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Adams	3032 Rancho La Presa	Carlsbad	92009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. These companies are already virtual monopolies that fight consumer choice at every turn. Allowing consumers to choose will begin the process of opening up the market. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

margaret	mcdonald	6338 e calle de san alberto	TUCSON	85710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Heintz	119 Tidewater dr, Bradenton fl	Bradenton	34210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allie	Tennant	4763Nottingham Dr	Fort Myers	33905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	Nobert	1320 N Myers St	McPherson	67460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gabriel	Abate	259 Washington Ave	BRENTWOOD	11717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Balgemann	2255 E Balsam Circle	Mesa	85204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Dean	2509 Elder Lane	Rockford	61107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valerie	Heinonen	NY NY	New York	10009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Miceli	Lavee, AZ	Laveen	85339	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ming	Ong	1907 misty woods dr	DULUTH	30097	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Chasin	129 Rachel Carson Way	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Bruce	1635 Juniper St	Junction City	97448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Louvis	615 Valley Road	Montclair	7043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Nelson	9445 S 232nd St	KENT	98031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Nelson	12862 Clermont St Thornton	Thornton	80241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Samuel K.	Tennis	200 Third Ave, SW	Fort Walton Beach	32548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Niall	Hagan	1 North Princeton Circle	Lynchburg	24503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pete	Lester	N/A	Havertown	19083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Broer-LeRoux	1432 Shady Ln	Bedford	76021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy-Joh	Curran	39 Lewis Street	Canton	2021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
lynn	robinson	15113 marseille avenue	BELLEVUE	68123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jenry	Martin	3830 w 4 ave	Hialeah	33012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Metzger	4017 203rd Ave NE	Sammamish	98074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Joers	15149 Kimberley Ct	Houston	77079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Mehle	6634 Covington CV	CANFIELD	44406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hilary	Starks	2114 Fillmore Street	Wichita Falls	76309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Gallagher	50 GRANT ST	Attleboro	2703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Reed	Williams	19645 Paddlewheel Lane	RENO	89521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Wong	2400 Iris Ave	BOULDER	80304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jo	Fannin	Willoughbym OH	Willoughby	44094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pete	Lester	N/A	Havertown	19083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Leeling	829 Route 113	Souderton	18964	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Call	59 Paul Rene Dr	Melbourne	32904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Forker	35 Maine Ave, Whiting, NJ	Manchester Township	8759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thieu	Trum	Boxtel-NL		1234aa	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Maani	13100 NW 8th Ave #B	Vancouver	98685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	KERN	5 SHARON DRIVE	Spring Valley	10977	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Clemons	Florida	Englewood	34224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Grzegorzewski	1952 Laughing Gull Ln W APT 1414	Clearwater	33762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeri	Peratis	2695 Chadwick St.	Salt Lake City	84106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	KERN	5 SHARON DRIVE	Spring Valley	10977	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Klein	Portal	Cupertino	95014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Venables	7051 Dial Rd SW	CARROLLTON	44615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Kengere	8 seagate ct	Essex	21221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randall	Lyken	1736 Southbrook Lane	Wadena	56482	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Weston	Mays	8827 Trumpeter Dr	Indianapolis	46234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Shrader	1423 via marguerita	Oceanside	92056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Mitchell	400 Collins Rd. N.E. MS 164-100	Cedar Rapids	52498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Colleen	Perez	47611 Papago Street	FREMONT	94539	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Stafford	Champaign, IL	Champaign	61822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Swinehart	sarasota, fl	Sarasota	34233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rubi	Siblo-Landsman	165 Cornell St., Apt. 309	Kingston	12401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Whitehead	16 rivershore drive	Ormond Beach	32176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Kingston	PO Box 555	NEW CASTLE	3854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

frank	belcastro	285 north grandview avenue	dubuque	52001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jackson	Brand	Costa Mesa	Costa Mesa	92626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DAVID	BAUER	2215 OAKVIEW CT	SANTA ROSA	95403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Vota	2 Juniper Street	MOUNT HOLLY	8060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Especially since Verizon won't honor its unions: it wants to win the race-to-the-bottom? Let's see it compete with companies that pay their top execs less than seven figures per year!
Jon	Dhuyvetter	317 Prospector Road	Dayton	89403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Barker	23 13th Avenue	Kitty Hawk	27949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Faustino	Dunckhorst	5153 Villaview Dr.	PITTSBURGH	15236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Walker	406 Meadow Dr.	Macomb	61455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Tortorella	5611 Rocky Run Drive	CENTREVILLE	20120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Quam	1107 Cherry Dr	Watertown	57201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Williams	5251 Austin Street, Birmingham, AL	Birmingham	35235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anita	Heckathorn	5208 Ogden Street	San Diego	92105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Sherson	1200 Ellery	JACKSON	49202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brad	Purfeerst	8635 SW 83rd loop	Ocala	34481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virgil	Moore	4307 W. 70th Street, PV, Ks	PRAIRIE VILLAGE	66208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Coyne	3735 Armer Ave.	Boulder	80305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Hoyt	2409 Tustin Ave	Costa Mesa	92627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	Fontana	1710 Betsy Lane	Irving	75061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Tolleson	48 W Raleigh Rd., Asheville NC	Asheville	28803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Walker	6481 Lyters Lane, Harrisburg Pa	Harrisburg	17111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Billee	Mundorff	3199 Prairie Ridge SW	Los Lunas	87031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Carey	123 Any St	RIDGECREST	93555	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wilma	Wright	303 Forest Pl	Lawrenceville	30046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianna	Mullen	1813 8th Ave.	Kearney	68845	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Kanistanaux	1873 Birchwood Dr	Okemos	48864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alison	Zaharee	4503 W Main St Apt B23	Kalamazoo	49006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Seltzer	18408 Clifftop Way	MALIBU	90265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gena	Krieger	704 Connolly Farms Rd	Fallston	21047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Gunther	507 Moffitt Blvd	ISLIP	11751	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Lindsey	1102 Kennan Road	Austin	78746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Hill	511 Campsen Villa Ct	SPARTANBURG	29301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Eames		Sun City	85373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Rosenberger	356 E Holiday Drive	Decatur	62526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Bromer	25 Glen Crest Dr. Arden NC	Arden	28704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mona	Smith	148 Everett Ave	Grand River	44045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edwin	Lewis	1324 Conrad Drive	Winona	55987	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Wall	404 Western Drive	Rio Communities	87002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Forshey	9 1st St.	Port Royal	17082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fredric	Hefter	4011 N Janney Ave	Muncie	47304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Lewis	124 Elmcrest Dr.	Dallas	18612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Forshey	9 1st St.	Port Royal	17082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Wright	1516 Mariner Rd	LAKELAND	33803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Griffith	4028North Hills. St.	Meridian	39305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Adams	219 Williwrun WY	Indianapolis	46260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Lee	6131 N 16th St	Phoenix	85016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Forshey	9 1st St.	Port Royal	17082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Mackay	160 lamplighter park	North Conway	3860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Wise	4755 Pin Tail Ct.	Salt Lake City	84117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicole	Wasko	Lewiston, NY	Lewiston	14092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicco	Kunzmann	Stahnsdorfer StraåÕåªe 140c, 14482 Potsdam, Germany	Potsdam	14482	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Rutkowski	2527 Faxon Ct	TOPEKA	66605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Quentin	Fischer	2514 Sharmar Rd.	Roanoke	24018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Bell	7088 Ross Cole	Temple	76502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rj	Fuhrman	500 park sve	East Hartford	6108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	O'Neill	6400 Gilmet Dr.	Presque Isle	49777	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Sullivan	5749 Reington Circle	Fort Worth	76132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katrina	Smith	Stanley, NY	Stanley	14561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Sheldon	17362 S Indigo Mesa Pass	VAIL	85641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sonia	Meadows	4166 Nebo Rd.	Hiram	30141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lon	Jones	2891 S. Country Club Dr. Fayetteville, AR	Fayetteville	72701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marta	Wilcox	907 E Colorado Ave	Colorado Springs	80903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian and Joan	Oconnell	87d Dorchester Dr.	Lakewood	8701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian and Joan	Oconnell	87d Dorchester Dr.	Lakewood	8701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Schuyler	4888 Smiley Terrace, Clarence, NY	Clarence	14031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Tomassetti	4985 S. Honeytown Rd.	WOOSTER	44691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Dolly	2021 GLENDALE GDS	Tuscaloosa	35401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Albert	Coffman	Ridge Rd	PERKASIE	18944	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Carsten	8741 Dawson St. Unit 202	Denver	80229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Murray	1002 Graham Drive	FREDERICKSBURG	22401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Anderson	16540 NW 126th CT	Reddick	32686	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jarrett	Cloud	79 Central Avenue, 1st floor	Madison	7940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marvin	Armstrong Jr	11 Alvin Drive	INDEPENDENCE	41051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Mulcare	1110 Benjamin St	Clarkston WA	99403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Strom	4934 Shellridge Rd. NW	Olympia	98502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nan	Benedict	3100 Marion Ave	Evansville	47712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	English	100 sunset dr.	NEWARK	14513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Wietersen	27472, Coldwater Drive	Valencia	91354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Zickrick	926 W. Morton	Denison	75020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Rudek	8716 Forest Pond dr	Harrison	37341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Rudek	8716 Forest Pond dr	Harrison	37341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Noe	Rodriguez	3700 EDISON ST	Alexandria	22305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Carlson	1311 Grove St	Oshkosh	54901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Lane	418 S Oak St	McPherson	67460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Prostko	PO Box 54	CALEDONIA	49316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chuck	Itzkovitz	40 Hyannis Dr.	Asheville	28804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marla	Bottesch	41 River Road	Norridgewock	4957	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Adams	2660 Bow St	Jackson	49203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

robert	roth	15825 van aken blvd.#207	Cleveland	44120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ernie	Robeson	15504 N Fircrest Circle	Spokane	99208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Erickson	12718 138th Lane	Largo	33774	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Wilson	140 Loveland way	Sacramento	95838	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	deZutter	7521 Booth Drive	Prairie Village	66208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evelyn	Boeckman	702 W COURT	BELLE PLAINE	56011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Conn	1902 Londonderry Dr	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Schultz	825 Mystic Ct	De Pere	54115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Sverko	1002 W Summit St	Payson	85541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	McGinn	1199 Bahls DR	Hastings	55033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Sverko	1002 W Summit St	Payson	85541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Hilton	329 Quentin Street, Denver CO	Aurora	80011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charlesroberts	Roberts	8577 sorrento	Detroit	48228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Villarreal	1021 Ellen Ave.	TEXARKANA	75501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Roberts	High St	Littleton	80121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Durante	6602 Saint Clair Ave	North Hollywood	91606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Voet	4235 kehr rd	OXFORD	45056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathty	mulpas	5014 northfield dr	MONROE	48161	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	McNall	22804 Hilton Head Dr. Diamond Bar Ca	Diamond Bar	91765	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kay	Sturm	1348 Clubview Blvd N	COLUMBUS	43235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Caughlin	15554 Bristol Cir E	Clearwater	33764	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diarmid	Connell	310 Brook Village Rd APT 23	Nashua	3062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
scott	rogers	211 cherokee dr.	Loveland	45140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I am a time Warner cable subscriber and their cost have continually gone through the roof and I am tired of the price hike letters my, service started 3 years ago at 99.00$ and it is now well over 205$ monthly. Does this sound fair considering I've had the same bundle and services the whole time frame??? NO...
Tim	Sheets	648 Evergreen st	Jenison	49428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony	Holland	1250 chipper ln	Huntley	59037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Beno	6239 Greenhill rd.	New Hope	18938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Savage	1917 Sierra Oaks Lane	Las Vegas	89134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Zerr	5131 Jefferson Rd	NORTH BRANCH	48461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Tornabene	7400 Spring Hill Dr.	Spring Hill	34606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Hennessey	1107 Harvard Ave	Bradenton	34207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roger	Reese	5986 S FONTAINE BLEU DR	Salt Lake City	84121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Ahern	9984 Mayfield Road	Chesterland	44026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pierre	Fortin	19 Brewster Drive	Gales Ferry	6335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Albert	Fullerton	78 pleasant st	Cranston	2910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Santora	5408 Orchard Park Court, 613	Glen Allen	23059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Purvis	9438 Dogwood Garth Lane	Mechanicsville	23116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elisa	Wlofe	P.O. BOX 516	Granville	43023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kris	CocKayne	552 Leverton Place.	Richmond	40475	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Jennings	102 Barbara Avenue	Steubenville	43952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	Domito	126 Calle Patricia #2	San Clemente	92672	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Wellington	8682 N. Morning View Dr.	Tucson	85704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Niemiec	11491 Watson Road	Springville	14141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pierre	Curtis	5820 N.Plum Bay Pkwy	Tamarac	33321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	Davis	6020 SE Long St	Portland	97206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Benisch	512 w mackie st beaver dam	Beaver Dam	53916	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ray	Bartlett	17858 La Lima Ln	FOUNTAIN VALLEY	92708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	McDermott	1001 Evergreen Rd.	State College	16801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jurgen	Englert	132 Rick Road	Southampton	18966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S. Wolf	Britain	Post Office Box 4665, Whitefish MT	Whitefish	59937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
e	sawicki	xxx xxxxx	JACKSON	49203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean E.	DeLauche	3065 Autumn Shores Dr., Maryland Heights, MO	Maryland Heights	63043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

e	sawicki	xxx xxxxx	JACKSON	49203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Shabazian	16816 Simonds Street	Granada Hills	91344	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gozdzialski	1943 Ox Bow Ln.	St. Louis	63138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J	Esposito	897 E York Way	Sparks	89434	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doris	McDermott	3026 Oakmont Ct.	St. Charles	63301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Dickstein	7141 Creeks. Crossing	West Bloomfield	48322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	anderson	12160 grouse st nw apt 508 Coon rapids man	Minneapolis	55448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Pappas	8185 Whiteclift Lane	Grand Blanc	48439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Dickstein	7141 Creeks. Crossing	West Bloomfield	48322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arlene	Boyle	775 W Roger Rd Lot 132	Tucson	85705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Reilly	205 Oakbourne rd	West Chester	19382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eleda	Meadows	818 OAK HEIGHTS LANE	Livingston	38570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Helen	Colby	8615 SW 126 Terrace	MIAMI	33156	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Shelton	4000 Anderson Rd 55	Nashville	37217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Evans-Ford	3326 Stone Cave	San Antonio	78247	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Wueste	20 Mosshill Pl	Stony Brook	11790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kendal	Shaw	1305 W. New Hope Apt. F15	Rogers	72758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Thigpen	14408 American Kestrel	Austin	78738	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Bourke	Butler, MO	Butler	64730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Simone	Morgen	38 West Tulane Road	Columbus	43202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Martin	230 Foothills Lane, Morgantown, WV	Morgantown	26508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Johann	Wagener	3233 N MICA DR	Palm Springs	92262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Stover	23935 OUTER DR APT E9	Melvindale	48122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marlene	Powell	Gari	Carlsbad	92010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Zonda	Mercer	47 Cogswell Ave	Cambridge	2140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronnette	Norris	190 ogden rd	Wilmington	45177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
VALENTINO	SCARCIA	3625 PARK STREET	Whitehall	18052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Cohen	6405 Old Madison Pike	Huntsville	35806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melanie	Fleming	387 Madewood Ln	Chesterfield	63017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Pippin	811 Wacker Rd.	Peoria	85381	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allison	Bening	3638 Greenlawn Ct	Toledo	43614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Torrey	302 N 4th St	Hot Springs	57747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Skip	Houston	383 3rd street	Laguna Beach	92651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Smithe	78 Main Rd.	Tillson	12486	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Mullen	5800 NE Center	Portland	97213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dean	Zimpfer	AJ, AZ	Apache Junction	85120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jay	Stevens	517 Happy valley rd	Glasgow	42141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Brown	1701 Westminster Place	Oklahoma City	73120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lin	Waldron	4041 Ibis St Apt 1011	San Diego	92103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Galligan	4501 Patterson St	Bridgewater	8807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Thompson	809 N. 5th St.	KALAMA	98625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
cheryl	odeen	1160 Hillside Lane	Louisville	80027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Morris	6719 Pheasant Trail	Cary	60013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Benson	8411 Trenton Falls Rd.	BARNEVELD	13304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Vanderwest	5313 Industrial Park Drive	WHITEHALL	49461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Megan	Dempsey	1201 Dutch	Deer Park	77536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Cleary	88 Elm St	Mechanic Falls	4256	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JoAnn	Sorrell	263 8th Ave.	Collegeville	19426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chelsea	Hirtzel	243 Western Pkwy	Seymour	47274	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gayle	Burstein	126 W Sterne Pkwy	LITTLETON	80120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darlene	Edwards	505 W 30th Sreet	Vancouver	98660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Padgett	5719 S BERRY FARM DR	Rogers	72758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Lee	3124 Karen Lane	Monroe	28110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
VPietkiewicz	Pietkiewicz	276 Maya Road	Mountain View	72560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Werner	143 W 600 N	Salt Lake City	84103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Crickenberger	227 Doverwood Road	Casselberry	32730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Bachorski	PO BOX 3441	Truth or Consequences	87901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Bushur	3536 Five Oaks Court	Arnold	63010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Martinez	2263 East Spruce Drive	Chandler	85286	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mychal	Herron	178 S Stonebrook DR	Orange	92869	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lyle	Gerard	3908 Cascade Beach, Lutsen, MN	Lutsen	55612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Lomax	1703 E Sonora Rd	Palm Springs	92264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Hirelstein	3950 Greenhurst Dr.	Louisville	40299	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Johnson	2120 Evans St	Oshkosh	54901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
d	g	s	Framingham	1701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
thomas	mccreedy	711 patriots rd	Templeton	1468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Strowd	4845 Manns Chapel Road	Chapel Hill	27516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Earl	Rexrode	1069 Amber Ridge Drive	Charlottesville	22901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Green	1127 Millers Ct	Noblesville	46060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

duncan	still	1421 E. BrookdaleAve	LA HABRA	90631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Risner	W. Main Street	Mount Carmel	37645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Bryant	632 w elias st	Meridian	83642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clara	Gonzalez	2528 S Mendonca st	Visalia	93277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Williams	19048 N 31ST ST	Phoenix	85050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Althea	Harris	804 Summer Hawk Dr. #2104	Longmont	80504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Erker	5462 Compass Point	Oxford	34484	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clara	Gonzalez	2528 S Mendonca st	Visalia	93277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Zahorik	204 Autumn Villas Drive	Lorena	76655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beverly	Korby	208 S. Raven Rd.	Shorewood	60404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Tofflemire	2306 SE Baypoint Drive Unit 104	Vancouver	98683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erica	Brinker	25 Bedminster Rd	RANDOLPH	7869	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanna	Leary		140		American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Koehler	59 Evelyn Ave	Vineland	8360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	Yeager	8291 S 6335 W	West Jordan	84081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kennith	Lassalle	425 Riverdale Dr	New Orleans	70121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Hafner	3 Campsite Way	Warwick	10990	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sandra	covich	8508 116th st e puyallup, wa	Puyallup	98373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Packer	49 Bell Circle, Port Jefferson NY	Port Jefferson	11777	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Niko	Villani	1505 W Sherman Ave	Vineland	8360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Logan	2721 Forest Ridge Dr	Fernandina Beach	32034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Morris	1740 State Route 22A South	JACKS CREEK	38347	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kay	Becker	160 Sagemont Circle	Parachute	81635	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Cox	29W060 Wagner Dr	Warrenville	60555	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Torey	Scheer	32 Goodman Street N	Rochester	14607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Frey	30424 Marina Road	DAGSBORO	19939	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Logue	2150 W. Belmont Street, Unit B, Pensacola	Pensacola	32505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tricia	Oakley	101 Greenwood Circle	SMITHFIELD	27577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Lynch	865 S. Walnut St.	Saint Albans	25177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Santiago	24-13 88 St.	East Elmhurst	11369	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ilene	Moir	P.O. Box 2372	Carlsbad	92018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendi	Myers	2242 US Alt 19	Palm Harbor	34683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brant	Kotch	12302 Cobblestone Dr	HOUSTON	77024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Arighi	Oakland, CA	Oakland	94605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Fox	1423 Stuart	Helena	59601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Jones	6612 Statice Lane	NEW PORT RICHEY	34652	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marjorie	Berk		New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Judd	69 Hamiltonian Drive	RED BANK	7701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yvonne	Pritchard	705 Orchis Way	BRANDON	33510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diana	Brunswig-Bosso	2838 Rosewood Dr	Arnold	63010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	H	King Ferry	King Ferry	13081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Lockwood	600 Paseo Real Dr	Chaparral	88081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Evelyn	Penna	665 106th Lane NW 3	Minneapolis	55448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	McCelland	5202 Peacock Road	Whiteville	28472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronda	Wilde	2563 Marsh Ave #4	Cincinnati	45212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jabe	Breland	636 Tung Hill Dr	Tallahassee	32317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	MCKERNAN	3 Woodlawn Ave	SOMERS POINT	8244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Savard	5138 Spruce St	LAONA	54541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Robinson	6638 Wagner Way	San Antonio	78256	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Meagan	Landis	3335 Thames Place	Hephzibah	30815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Glaser	12173 McKelvey Place	Bridgeton	63044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kasib	Abdullah	15455 S. Park Ave.	South Holland	60473	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Hooper	PO Box 1004	Cedar Glen	92321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dean	Caminiti	Palatine, IL	Palatine	60074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Schutt	14 Gwyn Lane, Bloomfield NY	Bloomfield	14469	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gwyne	Bucher	125 Poplar Rd	Johnson City	37615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gwyne	Bucher	125 Poplar Rd	Johnson City	37615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kermit	Brown	398 Chunns Cove rd.	Asheville	28805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Arbabzadeh	1524 E Via Estrella Dr	FRESNO	93730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Hollister	10221 N. 58th Pl	Paradise Valley	85253	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	Young	8904 Easton Rd Box 517, Revere, PA	Revere	18953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
WALTER	OROURKE	275 EDGEWOOD DRIVE	Bartow	33830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Earl & Joanne	Morse	39 Whiting Ave	Waterford	4088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Cipollari	1137 2nd st	MANHATTAN BEACH	90266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	gilchriest	1422 Varnum St NW	Washington	20011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Bush	7 Ashlawn Rd	MALVERN	19355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Muir	19350 Magnolia Grove Square, #211	Leesburg	20176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Smith	1367 Harrington Road	Havertown	19083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MarionGalletti	galletti	1567arboravehighlandpark	Highland Park	60035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nick	bode	2219 Grelle Ave	LEWISTON	83501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sonmez	Sahutoglu	7132 Crabtree Ln	Sylvania	43560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexandra	Wahlstrom	604 Devenwood Way	Clinton	1510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shirley	Ward	13300 Bothell-Everett Hwy #6110	Bothell	98012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Irwin	S Hwy A1A	MELBOURNE BEACH	32951	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Christman	10694 ashville pk lot 62	Lockbourne	43137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denise	Blume	AtzpodinstraåÕ åªe 38		10365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MELVIN	ENGLAND	P O BOX 501	Oak Hill	25901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Devonia	Stein	1420 E Maxwell Lane	BLOOMINGTON	47401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Devonia	Stein	1420 E Maxwell Lane	BLOOMINGTON	47401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carrie	Tilton-Jones	1540 Visalia Lane	Austin	78727	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brianna Claire	Olson	P.O Box 7591	Surprise	85374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brett	Cease	4583 LaCroix Rd	Denton	76208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Jones	410 Thomas St	Scottsburg	47170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Van Ness	6 Trow Blvd	Red Hook	12571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Warne	1434 N Tomahawk Road	Peck	67120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Geis	4815 knickerbocker	houston	77035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Kross	6543 East Placita Elevada	Tucson	85750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Harris	11456 Enyart Road	Loveland	45140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	Cahill	2801 Yaupon Drive	Myrtle Beach	29577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JAMES	MLEKODAJ	712 S State St.	North Liberty	46554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emilie	Beard	4414 DODGE AVE	Fort Wayne	46815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Keep prices fair and dont forget the seniors who struggle with monthly bills all the time..
Roger	Manchester	1200 N. Walnut St. Lot 9A Kirksville, Mo.	Kirksville	63501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Porter	2810 Springfield farms Blvd.	BROOKLINE	65619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Canright	8 Deboer Farm Ln	Asbury	8802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lareine	Normandin	2860 Park Place	Laguna Beach	92651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Teschner	1217 S Beach St #2035	Daytona Beach	32114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorene	Carrel	15237 21st Ave. SW, Burien, WA	Seattle	98166	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Knight	407 N Main St	Port Allegany	16743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvis	Piskunov	107 Sherman ave	Paterson	7502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tammy	Ritchie	23815 Brushy Trail St.	Hockley	77447	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	Sullivan	Brightmoor	Henrico	23238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Schirmer	11317 w loop 1604 s lot 3	SAN ANTONIO	78252	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marie	Gary	40427 Cambridge St	Murrieta	92563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gene	Steiker	2 Arlington Ave Apt 16	CALDWELL	7006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Rudduck	2909 Dana Lane	Denton	76209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregg	Yeomans	5512 S. Cedar St.	Littleton	80120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Reed	Des Moines	Des Moines	50316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
george	mietelski	10702 misy hill rd	Orland Park	60462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	McGuinn	3972 Bishopwood Court East	Naples	34114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	McGuinn	3972 Bishopwood Court East	Naples	34114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Long	46 Garden Pkwy	Carlisle	17013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Williams	20335 Riverside Dr.	EAGLE RIVER	99577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
george	mietelski	10702 misy hill rd	Orland Park	60462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Sliger	9839 Bestin Lane	Houston	77065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Pazdro	1171 Neshaminy Valley Drive	Bensalem	19020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carla	Waldron	19 Hope St	Brooklyn	11211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julia	C	us 206	Vincentown	8088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Berenz	3312 Wildwood Dr	Maineville	45039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reggie	Hall	po box 308	Ozona	34660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Max	Bonek	7004 Liberty Hill Road, Camden, SC	Camden	29020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elvira	Arias	760 Lomita Blvd. #192	Harbor City	90710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathi	Gil	139 Clinton Street	Binghamton	13905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pam	Parisi	64 S Manor Ave	Kingston	12401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randolph	Payne	554 Benson Ave.	Milford	48381	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jennifer	soileau	1548 rozas rd	Eunice	70535	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Sciola	2608 Cedar View Ct.	Clearwater	33761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	Slade	4873 Linden RD	Rockford	61109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
G.W.	Cheney	315 Hickory Lane	BOONE	28607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raphael	Pristoop	7733 16th st, NW	Washington	20012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Keener	8834 Noland Rd	LENEXA	66215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Chaff	PO Box 245	Kingfield	4947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Patton	1909 W 4th Street	Roswell	88201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Moran	15906 4th Ave. S. #19	Seattle	98148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Mueller	409 Moonridge Rd, Chapel Hill, NC	Chapel Hill	27516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Neal	Mock	11580 Brook	TRUCKEE	96161	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Connie	Land	162 peru st	Paw Paw	61353	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Johnston	P.O. Box 16321	SAN DIEGO	92176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	McCullough	1035 EASTGATE RD.	Springfield	45503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Sharlock	128 West Liberty Rd	Slippery Rock	16057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Bergtholdt	4520 West Cypress Avenue, Apt 107	Visalia	93277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Bullock	2101 Christine St.	Modesto	95350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gaynell	Stone, Ph.D.	2332 N. Wading River Rd.w	Wading River	11792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	De Martin	165 N.Kings Ave.,Lindenhurst, NY	Lindenhurst	11757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Patton	1909 w 4th, Roswell nm	Roswell	88201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Randall	6615 E.3rd. Av	Spokane	99212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zach	Starr	4942 Corian Springs Dr	San Antonio	78247	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Roney	8071 Lexington Park Dr	COLORADO SPRINGS	80920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Connie	Woodard	170 Chilton ave	Mansfield	44907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlotte E	Rist	445 Ocean Road #5	Portsmouth	3801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Verlene	Lewis	192 N 2000 E	SAINT GEORGE	84790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carl	Mitchell	6746 West Shore Dr	WEIDMAN	48893	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cori	Bishop	617 S County Blvd	Egg Harbor City	8215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tina	Ann	p.o. box 265	Bolinas	94924	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dian	Tublin	12650 willow spring ct	Herndon	20170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lyssa	Mercier	1920 9th Ave W	Seattle	98119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Pasichnyk	2132 West 14th Court	Eugene	97402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric E.	Symborski Jr.	651 Old York Rd. Neshanic Station	Neshanic Station	8853	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melva	Lacher	8062 Cleveland NE<Mpls MN	Minneapolis	55432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	streza	3600w100n	Kokomo	46901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Timothy	Leahy	167 Hillock Ct	Appleton	54914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	McGrath	1921 Strasburg Road	Coatesville	19320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Sligar	440 Jillian Dr	Crestview	32536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

K	Watts	p.o. box 47581 atlanta, ga	Atlanta	30362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Dionne	1331 Bellevue Street	Green Bay	54302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carla	Bloom	6983 Huellmantel Lake Rd	Traverse City	49685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Litton	3249 upper little birch rd	Sutton	26601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Mudry	Box 40093	Denver	80204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Thompson	113 Brownlead Drive	Greenville	27858	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	McPherson	247 West Banner Street	LEBANON	24266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Earl	Roberts	4414 Briardale St.	SAN ANTONIO	78217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Drayer	3104 Redwood St.	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lee	Rottler	1446 N Fair Oaks Ave, Unit 105	Pasadena	91103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Ely	7109 46th Ave E	Tacoma	98443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mary	jones	Portsmouth Ohio	Portsmouth	45662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Van Arsdale	Leigh st	Clinton	8809	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John Jay	Kitchen	1700 Custer Ln Apt. 16	Augusta	67010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vittorio	Zammarano	1624 E Montoya Ln	PHOENIX	85024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shruti	C	500 Lee Dr	Baton Rouge	70808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shruti	C	500 Lee Dr	Baton Rouge	70808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Renov	3 Hundt Place	West Orange	7052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Peterson	26401 iL. Rt 125	Ashland	62612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mindy	Rouff	3726 Hartford St.	St.Louis	63116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjel	Zaldivar	3927 Corporal Stone St	Bayside	11361	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gì©rard	COUCHOUD	65, rue Marceau		91120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Sherwin	16650 246th PL SE	ISSAQUAH	98027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Morrison	4502 Brownsville Hartland Road	Windsor	5089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Abe	Levy	4875 Pelican Colony Blvd Apt 301	BONITA SPRINGS	34134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
james	sipocz	26700 darden rd	South Bend	46628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Maley	9960 Florence St	Pinckney	48169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Shorkey	3203 Coin St.	BURTON	48519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Zeimet	31 Heritage Way, Oxford, AL	OXFORD	36203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bailey	McQuillan	410 Azalea Drive, Hampstead, NC	Hampstead	28443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Bisschop	9921 E. Manassas Pl	TUCSON	85748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Leftly	red Mill Road	Glen Gardner	8826	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Whitted	6030 S Lewdingar Dr	Homosassa	34446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kassandra	Piotrowski	2070 Emery Ct	East Troy	53120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Turhan	Payne-Bey	211 Caldwell Lane	Clarksville	37040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joann	Ramos	64 Fiume St	ISELIN	8830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Bryant	6862 N Solaz Segundo	Tucson	85718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hugh	McElwain	3213 S Battlebridge Dr	RICHMOND	23224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Bauer	Bauer	New Hyde Park	11040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. We saw this before, when the only phone you could get was from AT&T. Don't let the cable companies prevent innovation and competition.

Lee	Richardson	Bradford	Bradford	3221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Brock	4015 David Rd	MADISON	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Lowber	31 N Annapolis Ave	Atlantic City	8401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lori	Smith	68437 Paseo Real. Cathedral City. CA	Cathedral City	92234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Rolland	4131 Spicewood Springs, Suite G-6	Austin	78759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Crowley	2127 elder ave	MORTON	19070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Mitchell	17227 Chardonnay Ct	CORNELIUS	28031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Barden	4o Thomas rd	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ragubathe e	Pather	15336 Dehavilland Dr	Charlotte	28278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrea	Nasca		Metairie	70003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Manda	PO Box 211	BRIDGEPORT	93517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	April	po box 446	East Freetown	2717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nat	Houghton	Woods Trl	Prescott	86305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Lawrence	10 Saxony Dr	Harrison City	15636	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Billy	Smith	1121 Allen Shore Drive	Lenoir City	37772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ben	Goodin	12846 Hereford Rd	DONNELLY	83615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
marvin	skipworth	808 E. Clemmonsville Rd.	Winston Salem	27107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JD	Smith	Po Box 812	Brentwood	37024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sean	Cosgrave	1511 Clawthorpe Avenue		23400	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	DiFante	460 Grier Road	Wetumpka	36092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Corinne	Ferre	1962 Three Sister's Way	Kodiak	99615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Greenwood	713 Rosewood Drive	Walnut Creek	94596	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Huey	1302 w oklahoma ave	ENID	73703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawnee	McCartor	14390 NE 189th Pl	Woodinville	98072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Minsee	3202 so 12th st lot 82	Marshalltown	50158	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Ward	18 Cermenho Court	San Rafael	94903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carmen	Chacon	Rt. 1, Box 85F	POCATELLO	83202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	McCarthy	200 Laurel Lake Drive Apt W304	Hudson	44236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Nackard	555 S. Blackbird Roost	Flagstaff	86001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Scheihagen	3341 St. Cloud Cir.	Dallas	75229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ira	Arden	40 Windham Ct	Flemington	8822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ellyn	mccue	9635 forest ridge drive	Clarkston	48348	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerome	Kremer	106 Parkway Dr	CARTHAGE	62321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ellyn	mccue	9635 forest ridge drive	Clarkston	48348	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mohamed	Khan	2911 Southern Pines Loop, Clermont, FL.	Clermont	34711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
chris	Squires	416 Stock Road	Hannibal	13074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	De Witt	2086 N.E. Linnea Dr., Apt. #1	Bend	97701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Whitmire	11507 Oak Grove Rd	Howell	48855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
judith	hazelton	1617 us rt 7	Bennington	5201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stevie	Jonak	1014 S 2nd St Apt 1001	Louisville	40203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Bouchard	2427 Cherry Valley Turnpike	MARCELLUS	13108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	St. Sauveur	43 Prado Road	SAN LUIS OBISPO	93401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jay	Raines	1800 Cooper st	Missoula	59802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Francis	2100 Spruce Lane	HOUGHTON	49931	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Vick	39 Finisterra	Irvine	92614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ollie	Grosclaude	102. Lillard	Sallisaw	74955	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Grimes	8313 Crestview Dr.	Des Moines	50320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Mueller	216 2nd Ave E	Luck	54853	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ralph	Raack	3521 HURON TRL	Columbiaville	48421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Karrmann	2870 Sand Castle Lane	Atlantic Beach	32233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	La Barre	P. O. Box 104	NORFOLK	13667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Each consumer should pay for services he or she wants. Most will request more services if treated respectfully.

Candace	LaPorte	4203 b Alabama ct	Silverdale	98315	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Black	101 North Long Street	Caseyville	62232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Abramson	31972 1/2 Virginia Way Laguna Beach, CA	Laguna Beach	92651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Grierson	337 Roosevelt Ave	Salt Lake City	84115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Perakis	963 E Lincoln Ave	Columbus	43229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clyde	Summerell	11536 Cricket Court	JACKSONVILLE	32218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Arthur	2209 W Gambit Trail	Phoenix	85085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Haugen	5813 36th Ave N	MINNEAPOLIS	55422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Lewis	112 Carrington drive	Garner	27529	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Henry R	Flatt	23907 E	96th st	Buckley	98321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brandon	Schooley	2008 Carol Lane		Cheswick	15024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christian Paul	Schneider	3 Tioga St.		Elysburg	17824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Gondak	528 East Court Street	Doylestown	18901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Waller	3737 NW 33	Oklahoma City	73112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Wronski	665 Evening Pine Ln	ALPHARETTA	30005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	McCormick	1540 Fulham St, St Paul MN.	Saint Paul	55108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Leonard	162 creek bank rd	ELIZABETHTON	37643	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mari	Echevarria	7114 W. Arbor Trace Dr, Apt 802, Knoxville, TN	Knoxville	37909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kent	Akselsen	3412 Blowing Oak ST	Valrico	33596	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Nettleton	1724 Woodhaven Circle	ROSEVILLE	95747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Wick	114 S 29th St	Billings	59101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Many years ago, the courts ruled that cable companies could not charge per TV hooked up to cable. These 'set top boxes' are a way for the cable companies to bypass this ruling and it should not be allowed!

M	Gulovsen	157 Madera Ave.	Ventura	93003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mary	barnett	2001 lot b brasher rd.biloxI ms	Biloxi	39532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Davis	404 Hermosa Drive, Roswell, NM	ROSWELL	88201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Dougherty-Shutek	5100 Preferred Place- Suite 113	Hilliard	43026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Gerred	1461 E. Montgomery Ave	Philadelphia	19125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Kubik	2115 Miami St	South Bend	46613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glenda	Emanuelson	326 Whispering Oaks Drive	Metamora	61548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
terry	vance	33	Middletown	47356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Bailey	705 Vallevista Ave	Pittsburgh	15234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nikki	Schipman	10307 stornoway ct	CHARLOTTE	28227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jackie	Stewart	3406 Kensington Court	Tuscaloosa	35405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Mills	302 Arrow Wood Trl. Apt. B	DELAND	32724	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ari	Meyer	4404 Travis Country Circle, Unit H-3	Austin	78735	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	Armstrong	301 7th street	Emlenton	16373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Acosta	845 N. 9th Street	Colton	92324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Fiamingo	100 Starmount Pk. Blvd.	Concord	28027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Ripley	1724 Crest Circle	OKLAHOMA CITY	73130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carrie	Watson	1515 22nd	Huntsville	77340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Csuhta	2130 NW 53rd St.	LINCOLN	68528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phylis	Merwin	36 Brookwood Ave N.E	Concord	28025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Houda	25599 N Canyon Creek Ct	Barrington	60010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Carr	4895 Pinecrest Rd Millport, NY	Millport	14864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charline	B	PO Box 238	Mahwah	7430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dean	Scott	949 OLD MILL ROAD	Auburn	36830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angela	Mohn	659 Lafontaine	SPRINGFIELD	65802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Mcdonnell	8942 Heil Ave.,#7	WESTMINSTER	92683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amber	Calabro	83 Hawthorne Ave Apt B Park Ridge,NJ	Park Ridge	7656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brandy	Meadows	103 Prosperity Lane	Marshville	28103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Hartman	Wild Rose, WI	Wild Rose	54984	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phil	Vanasse	16 colonial court	high bridge	8829	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Smith	37 PERRY LN	Pittsburgh	15229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Methot	885 Jaquelyn St	ASHLAND	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Lyons	3941 Orion St. NW, OH	North Canton	44720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria	Mattson	2216 Radcliffe Rd	Juneau	99801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Griffin	1523 Shenandoah DR	Cedar Park	78613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Becker	2514 Sharmar Rd.	Roanoke	24018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glen	Benjamin	140 Court Street 509	Portsmouth	3801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Miller	2807 Pyramid Cir.	Denison	75020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claudia	Shain	Brandenburg, Ky	Brandenburg	40108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Tracy	1118 Heatherloch Dr.	GASTONIA	28054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rev. Nagi	Mato	236 Washington Rd	Woodbury	6798	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Fodge	1022 West Broadway Street	Mishawaka	46545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sherman	Hoover	83 Appalachian Way	ASHEVILLE	28806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DONALD	SCHERR	1804 RIDGEMONT DR	Austin	78723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Schaefer	209 Crowell Square Ct. apt 302	Asheville	28806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Ball	110 Briarwood drive	Warner Robins	31093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Summers	411 East Main St.	Smithville	64089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Summers	411 East Main St.	Smithville	64089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beverly	Summers	411 East Main St.	Smithville	64089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Harris	Richmond, Virginia	Richmond	23235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Thank you.
William	lazinsky	611 Summerlane dr.s.w	Hartselle	35640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Teahan	175 Route 340	Sparkill	10976	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Wallace	P.O.BX19 CONNEAUTVILLE, PA	Conneautville	16406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
elaine	wolff	1510 lakeview dr	Cross Junction	22625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randall	Foreman	1051 Homestead Ave.	Metairie	70005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Green	117 Gillespie Ln	ELGIN	78621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jorge R.	JimÌ©nez AlemÌÁn	Alt. de Bucarabones, calle 48, 3L18, Toa Alta	Toa Alta	953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Davis	P. O. Box 1144	Powell	37849	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adrian	Fried	17 Raposa Vista	Novato	94947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Natalie	Velechovsky	4028 Broadriver Drive	Las Vegas	89108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Fost	24 ocean grove lane	Waretown	8758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Bove	325 Holly Road	West Chester	19380	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
karen	cherry	1131 via cielito	Ventura	93003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rachel	Chapman	87-05 166th St.	Jamaica	11432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Barton	ST	Carbondale	66414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Meehan	Libertyville, IL	Libertyville	60048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Ward	18 Cermenho Court	San Rafael	94903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Hanson	2721 Joyland Road	Lewistown	59457	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Baker	P. O. Box 205	Ivy	22945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrejs	Billerts	81 Main St.	Madison	7940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	L.	317 Phillips St	JOHNSTOWN	15904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Merrill	1036 Oak Grove Road #13	Concord	94518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Traci	Bradley	1108 E JIM MCVAY	Siloam Springs	72761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Downs	502 McLaws St.	Savannah	31405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Certa	2116 Beech Ave	Richland	99354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzanne	Bremmer	8 Springhouse Road	Dryden	13053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Holz	1175 Saxony Road	Encinitas	92024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Abreu-Arias	1249 K ST SE	Washington	20003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Nierenberg	365 Edgewood Avenue	Teaneck	7666	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wallace	Wild	14 swallow cir.	Bellingham	98229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Kosmides	1005 Timberline Ct	Henderson	89015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheila	Lomg	771 N 202nd St	Seattle	98133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Lindsey	3919 Cribbon Avenue	Cheyenne	82001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Burmester	2121 North Hills Dr apt I	Raleigh	27612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Craig	1781 spyglass dr	Austin	78746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Fisher	104 W. Riverside Ave.	Kellogg	83837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
debbie	mannion	Cheval Square	Chesterfield	63005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Norman	Bonin	180 Grove St.	Haverhill	1832	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Hurley	393 Palser Run Rd	Normantown	25267	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosemarie	Gonzales Nielsen	108 Mesa Verde St	Santa Fe	87501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Hoban	2351 Pasco Road	Cle Elum	98922	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	Lewis	PO box 31331	Santa Fe	87594	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shadhi	Morrow	10464 W Shadybrook Dr	BOISE	83704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony	mansfield	4309 north ball ave muncie indiana	Muncie	47304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brent	Bray	802 Parkview Dr.	PFLUGERVILLE	78660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carlos	AlÌ©n	2450 West Elm Street	Allentown	18104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	Cervene	365 W Burgundy St #522	Littleton	80129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Riddiford	9774 Coffee Av.	Las Vegas	89147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Burris	springfield	Springfield	45503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Smith	6756 S Dexter St	Centennial	80122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Krolak	38 Sunnyside Dr	Elmira	14905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
chris	davis	5923 mcbryde ave	Richmond	94805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

v	c	1 motorola plaza		11774	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacki	Masar	2624 Berringer Station Lane	KNOXVILLE	37932	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Richey	5629 Hempstead Rd Apt 6, Pittsburgh, PA	Pittsburgh	15217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Riley	Anderson	9872 Oak Grove Drive	DESCANSO	91916	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Naples	9 Benson Street	West Haverstraw	10993	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Haskell	PO Box 277	Harwinton	6791	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claudia	Kuehnl	23 QUOGUE STREET	Quogue	11959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Torres	41 North Orchard Avenue	Waukegan	60085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Monica	Espinosa	901 N. 5th St	MISSION	66205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

CM	Sabathne	12367 Whispering Winds Drive, Roscoe, Il.	Roscoe	61073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Blake	3027 ADVENTURE WAY	Ladson	29456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Krumm	1313 23rd Rd.	Kanopolis	67454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Drake	935 LONDONDERRY DR.	High Point	27265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rony	Torres	3752 n7th st	Philadelphia	19140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Regan	Remy	11761 Encino ave.	Granada Hills	91344	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Guzman	1290 Dawnridge Ave	El Cajon	92021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Lindberg	10903 NE 102nd Street	Vancouver	98662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joetta	Taylor	P O Box1975	Raeford	28376	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rodney	Hill	22250 W Hacienda Dr	GRASS VALLEY	95949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bahman	Izadmehr	550 Colfax Rd	Wayne	7470	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	cahill	6404 parkwood way	Paradise	95969	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bahman	Izadmehr	550 Colfax Rd	Wayne	7470	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Gallagher	303 Cleveland Lane	Rockaway	7866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Troy	Cole	2158A Lawson Creek Rd	Douglas	99824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Acascsac	gwgssds	bbxcsdsdz		24123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Jones	111 CR 4711	O Brien	79539	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	eubanks	110 convent ave	New York	10027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aeyrie	Eagle	16934 Lake Terrace Way	Yorba Linda	92886	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Chreene	6142 E Lovers Ln	DALLAS	75214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Klein	1181 Oakmont Rd #197 G, Seal Beach, CA	Seal Beach	90740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Oberlin	408 S. Michigan Ave.	Edgerton	43517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Tommelleo	310 4th Street, New Castle,PA	New Castle	16102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Feiler	71 Fairview Avenue	New Providence	7974	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Stevenson	2355 Brommer St. Santa Cruz, CA	Santa Cruz	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Nowak	400 Bent River Rd.	Clarkdale	86324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arlene	Hubner	1121 S. Shore Dr.	Southport	28461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelly	Caborn	530 Amigo	Soquel	95073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	de Laat	Akeleistraat 24		11111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Johanna	Schroth	11070 Mead Road, #2203	Baton Rouge	70816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Howland	176 Mountain Bluff Trl	Hendersonville	28792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geoff	Springett	Traralgon Australia		84150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Clerke	2891 Co Hwy 8	West Oneonta	13861	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Hickman	9315 34th Court East	PARRISH	34219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Landin	1107 38th Ave.	Seattle	98122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T	Troy	755 Forest street, #1	Kearny	7032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Webster	109 Colonial Drive	Reading	19607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sam	Majors	1604 N. Terrell St.	Midland	79701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Williams	100 Canterbury Ln	Toms River	8757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Faich	9400 Snowheights Blvd NE	Albuquerque	87112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carson	Martin	3513 Pinebrook Drive	Richmond	23225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Swanson	1121 W. Clay St., Lancaster, PA	LANCASTER	17603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kyle	Haines	2685 Swyers Drive	Hood River	97031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Costello	355 aurora st	Lancaster	14086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randy	Morrow	1309 S. Pershing	Wichita	67218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mindi	White	PO Box 481185	LOS ANGELES	90048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	Francis	4 privacy	Orange	92859	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cary	Howard	1545 Sylvan Ave SE Grand Rapids	Grand Rapids	49506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ren	Tuck	6310 bells ferry road #27	Acworth	30102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurence	Skirvin	1507 Syble Drive	Villa Rica	30180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	McGinnis	2713 Chisholm Trail Lane	Oklahoma City	73160	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Pulley-Chapman	1310 Butterfield Road Apt G	PRESCOTT	86303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Nielson	19194 Hunt Rd	STRONGSVILLE	44136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leah	Hunt	739 N 1200 E	MAPLETON	84664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Walton	302 N Park Dr	BELTON	64012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Holz	1175 Saxony Road	Encinitas	92024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Stong	425 rayford rd. # 1309	Spring	77386	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Pennell	2712 Shady Tree Ln	Edmond	73013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Fisher	1629 Mont Clare Avenue	Smithland	42081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jodie M	Echard	2923 Sussex Drive	Jamestown	27282	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shane	Freund	19915 19th AVE NE	SEATTLE	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maury	Schindler	1580 creekside rd	Amelia	45102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deysa	Torres	117 Carr #2 apt 12	Manati	674	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Robinson	703 impala dr	Onalaska	77360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wadie	Sgarlata	4030 Mary Circle	Santa Ana	92703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Black	2320 Wagon Wheel Drive	Easton	18040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Burnett	slc	Salt Lake City	84102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Soeren	Johnson	8680 fisher ave	Las Vegas	89149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Lee	407 E. Rapp Rd., Apt. C	Talent	97540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

G	Knight	305 sherry place	Manhattan	66502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caroline	Allen	12 211th Place SE	Sammamish	98074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Aguirre	315 n Normandy pl.	Anaheim	92806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thane	Ahrens	300 Leland St Apt 25	Spartanburg	29303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anita	Wald-Tuttle	6 Rockwood Drive #6	Grass Valley	95945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Guillory	P O Box 431	Mount Vernon	98273	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Why in Europe are the rates so much more affordable than in the US. Example 41,00 euros per month for telephone, TV and internet combined!!

Allan	Widmeyer	558 Oak Hill Circle	ASHLAND	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beatrice	Nelson	17090 Esteban Street	HAYWARD	94541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bert	Barry	725 Rolfe Drive	SAINT LOUIS	63122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

E	Beauregard	woodland ave	Malvern	19355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryan	Hester	3812 California Ave	NORCO	92860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Mandeville	9727 Channel Road, #75	Lakeside	92040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Barrett	250 Manor Drive	Buffalo Grove	60089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amelia	Bruehl	18032 Cedar Cove Road	Seneca	29672	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Petros	Giourelis	42 CHIOU st.		38445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Watson	108 Powell LN	Gold Bar	98251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Beverly	PO Box 1198, Orange, Texas	Orange	77631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiffany	Gratteau	7400 S. State St.	Midvale	84047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Perry	5032 College Corner Rd	Oxford	45056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesus	Gonzalez	Rio Verde 2423		67174	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Goslin	944 Heck Dr	Lawrenceburg	47025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Louis	Kravetz	3438 Clearview Villa Way	HOUSTON	77025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julian	Wocher	NeuhÌ__usle 19		88069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Anzalone	46437 Maple Street	Dodgeville	49921	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marty	Nelson	3584 Hidden Acres Dr	Atlanta	30340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Fraenza		Gallatin	37066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Kostis	261 W. 28th St. Apt. 2C	NEW YORK	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donia	Connell	2825 NE County Road 329	Anthony	32617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Congress is in for a shock, people are waking up to the corruption and lack representation you are inflicting upon us. Have fun while you can because, the party is nearly over.
Monica	Ravalico	Via San Vito	MONFALCONE	34074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kriss	Ricjards	1024 Slylark Dr	Palatine	60067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Stark	915 Sunridge Pt Dr	SEFFNER	33584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Om	2590 S. Main St. Soquel, Ca.		95-073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Luis	Andoro	9150 Fountainebleau Blvd.	Miami	33172	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Byron	Griffin	613 Shadowbrook Dr.	Grand Junction	81504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Wall	23 Hughey St.	NASHUA	3064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Hammel	2411 Pulaski Hwy. Apt E45	Columbia	38401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phoenix	Vie	15A Hopkins Court	ALBANY	94706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Shields	2009 Grist Mill Road	LITTLE ROCK	72227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Keller	7 Park Place	PHELPS	14532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Camacho	24 Corporal Burns Rd.	Cambridge	2138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randal	Vick	1603 Maxwell Rd.	Chattanooga	37412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Oscar	Revilla	Juan de Herrera	Cliffside	28024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	McCraw	321 Leeds Gate Road	Savannah	31406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Tuttle	1717 Ellis Court	SALEM	24153	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
wyman	Rice	325 colony Blvd	LEXINGTON	40502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Milner	104 Hilary Avenue	Mountain View	94040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ken	ross	7734 s. Rhodes Ave	Chicago	60619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Ritchie	204 W Front St	Roanoke	61561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Norrine	Halverson	2323 Tulare Ct	Madison	53711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Moore	218 Kevin Way	Clinton	37716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	brown	3357 nine iron ct.	North Fort Myers	33917	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Barrett	19 8th St. Downers Grove, IL	Downers Grove	60515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tess & Eric	Kindig	329 Roshon Drive	Medina	44256	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nestor	Gomez	2521 Ripple Way	Lawrenceville	30043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Davidson	197 Hagan's Road	Morgantown	26501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Sobecl	137 Pinnacle Point Drive Lancaster, pa	Lancaster	17601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Hirshorn	6069 Liberty Dr.	Groveland	34736	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

MJ	Zamorsky	191 Village Dr	Manahawkin	8050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	McGowan	2121 8 Mile Rd	Cincinnati	45244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
catherine	hislop	shaftesbury rd		wd17 2r	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Olis	3513 Amelia Ave	The Villages	32162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Gilliam	641 Sabal Lake Dr. Apt. 103	Longwood	32779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Kohlenberg	Ithaca, NY	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christelle	Stubbs	165 beechtree dr	Encinitas	92024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Kirchner	823 browning avenue	englewood	45322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Hinton	5343 Citrus Blvd	New Orleans	70123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Severino	113 Reedy Creek Dr.	FROSTPROOF	33843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harrell Dean	Swink	1401 N. Fordson Drive	OKLAHOMA CITY	73127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margo	Wyse	6086 hwy 152	Hanover	88041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rick	Wicks	NO postal mail please! RETURN to SENDER!	Anchorage	99517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Curt	Finger	3601 4th Street	Lubbock	79430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Fink	104 Castlebury Creek Ct.	Cary	27519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Wilbur	1982 Embassy Dr. Apt.A	Las Cruces	88005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Lucht	1804 Hawthorne Ave.	Janesville	53545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Duffney	7091 taft ave	Rome	13440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	Burgoyne	5978 SH56	Potsdam	13676	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bedford	Nieves-Sanchez	4500 Sherwood Commons Boulevard	Baton Rouge	70816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amber	Stocker	3995 S Dillon	Aurora	80014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wojciech	Rowinski	26 McKinley Avenue	Easthampton	1027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Tavares	30 carue dr	North Scituate	2857	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjory	Button	1013 Michigan Ave	Saint Joseph	49085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melina	Munoz	3385 McAllen Rd. Apt. 5202	Brownsville	78520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MK	Ranii		Pittsburgh	15238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Clines	7208 Green Meadow Dr.	NORTH RICHLAND HILLS	76180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorraine	Dumas	2681 Trailwood Lane	LEXINGTON	40511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Larimer	4611 Valley Road	Lincoln	68510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Monroe	7055 Flowering Almond Dr	Colorado Springs	80923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Thomas	96 Roping Lane	Durant	74701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Colunio	Elmira, NY	Elmira	14901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Hartwell	474 S Lima Circle	Aurora	80012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jon	Stein	8 hickory avenue	New Windsor	12553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marian	Perry	4103 NW 18th Place	Gainesville	32605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Morton	abilene,TX	Abilene	79605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry	Farbrother	40 Catullo Drive, Guilford		CT 0643	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MARY ANN	NAZITTO	9209 seminole blvd, seminole, fl	Seminole	33772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Huffman	1425 Locust Dr.	Canon City	81212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Taylor	144 W Mountain Rd	Sparta	7871	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Shumway	448 Parkview DR	Pittsburgh	15243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Robinson	349 Owl St.	Campton	3223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francesca	Martinez	Denton	Denton	76201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Kayi	55 Gordon Street Allston MA 02134	Allston	2134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Messer	Brittany pl	West Springfield	1089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	O'Bryant	521 North Julia Street, Unit 35	Urbana	43078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Ostrander	140 Lake Meryl Dr Apt 239	WEST PALM BEACH	33411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
eric	Weissman	8371 cloveridge rd, Chagrin Falls OH	Chagrin Falls	44022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Bradfield	4116 Breezewood Drive	Wilmington	28412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Ferguson	Edgewood, WA	Puyallup	98372	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mukund	Sharma	new delhi		110029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Dalrymple	3110 Regency	CARROLLTON	75007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Butler	1067 Harbour Drake Dr	PUNTA GORDA	33983	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Prycer	10510 six pines dr, spring, tx	Spring	77380	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Yina	Lacayo	763 NW 122 AVE	MIAMI	33182	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Mesa	1010 Palm Avenue Apt. 312	West Hollywood	90069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MaryAnn	Burch	Aurora, NY	Aurora	13026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Darleen	Cox	519 alden rd	Sellersburg	47172	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Smith	1425 NW 1st Ter	Cape Coral	33993	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Melzer	2100 Lake circle drive	Lima	45801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Waters	2000 SE 39th st	Ocala	34480	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. To the cable company it all about the money and what they can get away with, Ever time you turn around it go up and you get less on the T.V.
Jean	Ulrich	223 Foxcroft Drive	Winston Salem	27103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Myers	318 S. Glenwood Ave. Apt#211	Russellville	72801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

t	logan	3910 s ih 35	Austin	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicki	Elliott	1064 Delacy ave	MARTINEZ	94553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lazaro	Rodriguez	3489 Cedar Prairie Dr	League City	77573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Coomber	33 SWEETWATER LN	Ringwood	7456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daryl	Fenstad	42 Flamingo Rd	Hatboro	19040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Letendre	140 Cass St	Portsmouth	3801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. It's time to make ISPs common carriers.

Daniel	Schoen	Schoen	WINCHESTER	22602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Dasilva	4338 E Vista St	Long Beach	90803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maryanne	Owens	1918 46th st ct e bradenton, fl	Bradenton	34208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Schneider	10933 Chowen Ave. South	Bloomington	55431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Cutts	68 Bauer Ave	Roosevelt	11575	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Nakashima	9825 Gene Buckle Avenue	Denham Springs	70726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Brown	1315 bayport ave.	Marco Island	34145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leah	Hokanson	1118 N 800 W	Orem	84057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lucy	Ysais	6946 e Driscoll st	Long Beach	90815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Connie	Smith	907 W 1ST AVE	Lenoir City	37771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Mosquera	6515 Yellowstone Blvd.	Forest Hills	11375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrace	Duvall	2078 Oak Run Court	Indianapolis	46260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Hagens	1442 Topaz Lane	Gardnerville	89460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Lundquist	545 Terrace St.	Ashland	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Quiroz	5145 East Valencia Dr	Orange	92869	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Reynolds	5359 Little John Ln	Katy	77493	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Wright	5209 Grand Ave N E	ALBUQUERQUE	87108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	McLeod	2500 Rembert Church Rd.	Dalzell	29040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Reuler	6104 Tallsman Drive NW-4 Tallsman Dr. NW	Albuquerque	87120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sonia	Gonzalo	2223 Griffin Ave	Los Angeles	90031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Wiley	10622 W. DIana Ave.	Peoria	85345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lowell	Bushey	Pullman, WA	Pullman	99163	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Maniss	19 Abraham	Jackson	38305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Maniss	19 Abraham	Jackson	38305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Miguel	Gimenez	721 Santurce ave	Miami	33143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Baldwin	127 Madison Dr	Adrian	49221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anna	Van Damme	24741 Pine St	Elberta	36530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Loretta	Bengivenga	121 Garibaldi Ave.	Bangor	18013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Baldwin	127 Madison Dr	Adrian	49221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caryn	Cowin	317 Monterey Road Apt. 15	SOUTH PASADENA	91030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Lynn	27 Shearman Avenue		S61 3AG	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacob	Hash	825 Mckinley Rd.	Chelsea	48118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roy	Horn	1350 Collyer st.	Longmont	80501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

leonora	letchworth	110 Oakwood Lane	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Adams	1107 30th St. N.E.	Cedar Rapids	52402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Fladager	145 w 7th St	LEADVILLE	80461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Gould	7211 Gettysburg Drive	Richmond	77469	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	AQuino	18607 newland st hubtington beach ca	Huntington Beach	92646	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marian and Jim	Edson	14818 River Vista N.	San Antonio	78216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine	Kubiak	43 Whites Place	Bloomington	61701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Livingston	1403 Glenwood Rd	Vestal	13850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ginger	Andrews	4181 Central City Rd	Center Point	52213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

m c	kubiak	43 white pl	Bloomington	61701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Harrison	3660 Rosalinda Dr.	Reno	89503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bernadette	D'Angelo	126 Pinnacle Point Drive	Lancaster	17601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Shelton	Kingman, AZ	Kingman	86409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Fahringer	1009 N. Creek Dr.	Edmond	73034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elmer	Anderson	3684 Virginia Rd., L.A., CA	LOS ANGELES	90016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Florence	Miller	2369 Via Mariposa East	Laguna Woods	92637	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	McMahan	4892 Maui Circle	HUNTINGTON BEACH	92649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Gen	153 Vernon Ct	Lansdale	19446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Florence	Harty	1130 NW Baker Drive	WHITE SALMON	98672	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Fitchett	POB 214 Rainbow Lk	Rainbow Lake	12976	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Fitchett	POB 214 Rainbow Lk	Rainbow Lake	12976	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hilary	Back	225 S 8th Street	Carbondale	81623	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Greer	P.O. Box222411	West Palm Beach	33422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Fuller	3670 W Bellewood Pl	TUCSON	85741	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

M	Lanzas	1615 Wilder	Honolulu	96822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Wietersen	27472 Coldwater Dr.	Valencia	91354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Koch	10228 ROCKWOOD ROAD	CHARLOTTE	28215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frances	Pfohl	4500 Erin Dr, Haymarket, VA	Haymarket	20169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Coleman	12050 W. York House Rd.	Waukegan	60087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Efrom	4476 Cole Farm Rd.	Nottingham	21236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Perez	Nguekhokh		23007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gates	517 Center Rd	Akron	44319	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Ewing	101 Wilbourn Boulevard	Lafayette	70506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Mastin	2118 McGregor Cir	O FALLON	63368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Kuley	2541 Mercer St	Germanton	27019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	Hare Jr	2119 Sunrise Way	Jamison	18929	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Smith	5615 35th Ct E	Bradenton	34203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Miranda	1347 S. Victoria Ave, Ste F	Ventura	93003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DeLores	Nolan	12089 No Shore Dr	Hillsboro	45133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	McCollum	7421 Frankford Rd., Dallas, TX	Dallas	75252	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stacia	Geist	1518 west chelan	Spokane	99205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Olson	201 east 12th st. alturas ca	Alturas	96101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Marlette	1640 Ashby Ave Apt C	Berkeley	94703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
stacy	matern	1971 Siskiyou Blvd Ashland, Oregon	Grants Pass	97526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Hogan	1004 N Madison St Rome, NY	Rome	13440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

stacy	matern	1971 Siskiyou Blvd Ashland, Oregon	Grants Pass	97526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
dennis	goode	2350 winterrush	Lincoln	95648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kurt	Schneider	70th St	Bradenton	34209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jonathan	warf	422 gulf stream drive south	Lake Alfred	33850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian and Joan	Oconnell	87d Dorchester Dr.	Lakewood	8701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Staub	32 Karen Circle	Holliston	1746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexander	Boucher	97 Argyle Avenue	New Rochelle	10804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kilah	hollis	9000 pinto canyon way	Roseville	95747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joy	White	8722 SW 93rd Pl, Unit E	Ocala	34481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. When are the FCC and Congress going to start protecting Americans instead of allowing big business to run the country? DO YOUR JOBS!

Mike	Burkus	26 Leigh st	Johnson City	13790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Washington	605 Monaca Rd	ALIQUIPPA	15001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Santoro	285 Carmel Dr	MELBOURNE	32940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Zucker	906 Stoll Street	Brooklyn	21225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Price	Martha	1711 West Edgewood Street	Springfield	65807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Billy	Mattox	245 Co Rd 635	Pisgah	35765	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hans	Potters	Potters		11177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Franklin	PO Box 400940	Las Vegas	89140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Harrod	935 ocean ave	San Francisco	94112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alyssa	Rogo	1035 Celia st	Ironwood	49938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Jones	140 Nicholas Dr	Malaga	8328	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Kulp	9125 Sulkirk Drive	RALEIGH	27617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eileen	Terran	2619 Forest ave., Ste 150	Chico	95928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	McDougall	San Marcos, CA	San Marcos	92078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	Rainbolt	1343 Aspen Street	Medford	97501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dianne	Sullivan	2704 Majestic Oak Drive	Modesto	95355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Falconer	1950 Mendot Dr	East Lansing	48823	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Sheran	137 East 36th Street	New York	10016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Sheran	137 East 36th Street	New York	10016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zachary	Butler	5417 Hatteras Rd.	Virginia Beach	23462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brandy	Black	5260 W Vista Ridge Circle	Salt Lake City	84118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Belinda	Collins	420 Buttonwood Ln	Largo	33770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Williams	3294 willington dr	Dublin	43017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	carter	1246 narcissus ave	Rosedale	21237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Leitch	526 Reed St	PHILADELPHIA	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Trinkner	207 Cedarpost Dr.	Cary	27513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Mortensen	3430 East 7635 South	Salt Lake City	84121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Government is suppose to work for the people, not for the corporations!

Tay	Swenson	325 south 300 West	Smithfield	84335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	White	14 Garfield Street	Cortland	13045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Burnham	20 atkins lane	HARDWICK	5843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vincent	Prudente	1826 Fitzwater Street	Philadelphia	19146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Essex	2801 NE 252nd Ave	Camas	98607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miriam	Kester	175 Wedgewood Dr.	Eagle Point	97524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Arterbury	8102 briarwood ln	Austin	78757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janeene	Porcher	13568 W 23rd Pl	GOLDEN	80401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Gonzales	728-L Bering Drive	Houston	77057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Bolduc	5524 Sonnet Heights	Colorado Springs	80918	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Williams	215 E 26th Street	Covington	41014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cara	Schwartz	4814 18th AVE SW	Seattle	98106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Walter	Heim	74 pleasantview drive	Central Islip	11722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
walter	heim	74 pleasantview drive	Central Islip	11722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
walter	heim	74 pleasantview drive	Central Islip	11722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Granat	3781 Granada Drive, #12	PALISADE	81526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Reta	610 e. church st.	WAGONER	74467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Graves	11407 Jefferson Trace blvd	Louisville	40291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ian	Sherman	410 Clinton Heights Ave.	COLUMBUS	43202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	A	asfdsadf	Anchorage	99503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Jordan	3871Northside Dr	Macon	31210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeannette	Welling	2450 Pleasant Way Unit G	Thousand Oaks	91362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Morrow	10 Boyka Drive	Finleyville	15332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Olczak	737 Chestnut Hill Road	East Aurora	14052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randy	Green	281 Fairmount Ave.	Newark	7103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	ODear	4301 Bissonnet St apt 75	BELLAIRE	77401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Labanna	129 SE 23rd Place	Cape Coral	33990	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

*	Zentura	18415 State HWY. 487	Casper	82604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diona	Young	15661 SW 53rd CT	Miramar	33027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Day	56 Zuell Hill Road	Monson	1057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Keller	1148 Sturdivant Dr.	Cary	27511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Narrod	2004 N Ball Ave	Muncie	47304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Hoff	2840 Dewalt st.	Allentown	18103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Furman	1526 Greythorn Drive	Fort Wayne	46815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Beard	newton, nj	Newton	7860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
amy	van schijndel	7205 calabria court	San Diego	92122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Candice	T	6052 Riveroak Terrace	Atlanta	30349	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Candice	T	6052 Riveroak Terrace	Atlanta	30349	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ulisses	M.	OAK ST EXTENSION	Brockton	2301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Johnson	1622 Rustic Oaks Ct.	Green Bay	54301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Dunham	PO Box 423	Worthington	1098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Mcphearson-Kendall	3840 Gun Barn Rd. Anderson, IN	Anderson	46011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

s	b	don't ask for this	don't ask for this	94901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Maurer	3112 Canyon Terrace Dr	Laughlin	89029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Fingerman	PO Box 977 Monteagle, TN	Monteagle	37356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dhananjay	Joshi	PO Box 77377	Baton Rouge	70879	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gaye	David	614 Branch Hollow Cir	Garland	75043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Corradini	2130 Sebring	Simi Valley	93065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Statham	11550 bubbling wells rd	Desert Hot Springs	92240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	Palazzini	930 TUCSON STREET	AURORA	80011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Greek	2420 Taylor Mill Road	Elba	36323	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Van Grinsven	1906 E Lourdes Dr	APPLETON	54915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce and Wendla	Duncan	7248 Saffron Way, Citrus Heights, CA	Citrus Heights	95621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Holt	240 Stanbridge Ct	Alameda	94502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Foster	904 West Bosch Drive	Green Valley	85614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Mcdade	2322 Lavista Dr apt 24	Burlington	27215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clayton	Cantil	821 Wood St.	Bethlehem	18018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clayton	Cantil	821 Wood St.	Bethlehem	18018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	DiFrangia	4 wood	Stow	44224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Gasper	680 Tannery Dr.	Wayne	19087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roger	Harkness	5830 NW 32nd Street	OKLAHOMA CITY	73122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Towan	Jones	1901 Reagan Road	Henrico	23228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keri	Briggs	3215 parnell ave	FORT WAYNE	46805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Becky	Wharton	526 County Road 3202	CAMPBELL	75422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mihai	Grigoriu	kunzenweg 25	AMARILLO	79117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Wissman	6344 Huntington Ave	Lincoln	68507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Lyles	1319 Brandywine Ln	Saint Peters	63376	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	Case	501 W Holly St	Tuttle	73089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erik	Truelsen	1190 S Bellaire St.	Denver	80246	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jorge	gonzalez	4970 nw 102 ave	Miami	33178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Cooper	12701 Allendale LN	Tampa	33618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	OKonski	1000 Vine St	Pittston	18641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Vergauwen	6118 Old Harford Rd	Baltimore	21214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
A.F.	MONTEALE GRE	11130 SW 154 CT	MIAMI	33196	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Losey	2308 Monticello Circle	Plano	75075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Vannatter	320 poplar St. rear	Roslindale	2131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jules	Valencia	320 e 46 st	New York	10017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adnan	Sharabi	1388 S. Lake Dr., Watertown, SD.	Watertown	57201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	olson	200 Bluff Hollow San Antonio texas	San Antonio	78216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Loretta	Thomason	39521 Primrose Ct.	Palmdale	93551	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LIDA	SKRZYPCZAK	1664 Kalorama Rd, NW	WASHINGTON	20009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Marrs	94224 Templeton Rd	JUNCTION CITY	97448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	McKnight	203 Santa Cruz Rd	Tuckerton	8087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
How	Corpses?	410	Prescott	86305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keith	Roberts	108 River Trail Southbury, CT	Southbury	6488	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MJ	Toppen	10815 Walnut St.	Los Alamitos	90720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Albert	Ritchey	2101 Cloud Croft Circle	Vestavia Hiils	35216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jan	Loe	Loe	Sussex	7461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheri	Stamey	6025 Godwin Blvd	Suffolk	23432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russel	Egbert	434 E Cutshall Rd	Austin	47102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tonda	Tucker	940 17th street, #4, moline, il	Moline	61265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colleen	Kuminski	8771 Kortz Circle	Strongsville	44136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Andrews	3440 W 95 Ave	Westminster	80031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Stamm	11885 Twin Creeks Dr	FORT PIERCE	34945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremy	Gibbs	3 Sanger ave	New Hartford	13413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Dyner	3908 Falcon Dr.	Naperville	60564	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marjory	Trott	8 Dukes RD	NANTUCKET	2554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Neal	Peterson	5633 east drive	Loves Park	61111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Hurley	2010 Elm Street	Bel Air	21015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Rabinowitz	660 Ebersole Rd., Reading, PA	Reading	19605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Priscilla	Travis	220 Blenny Lane	Chester	21619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	W	parkway	WAYZATA	55391	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Baker	211 canal st	Tavernier	33070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clayton	Siem	204 Villa Drive	Osprey	34229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Jackson	435 S. 5th Street #2	BROOKLYN	11211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Graham	Evans	2719 Hillcrest Rd	RICHMOND	23225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Bowen	421 Neck Road	South China	4358	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lamia	AbiSamra	1623 Valence	New Orleans	70115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roy	Barnes	Ft Lauderdale	FORT LAUDERDALE	33309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Lewis	1555 Victoria Way	Winter Garden	34787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DrMaria	Rodriguez	P.O. Box 7814; N . Brunswick, NJ	North Brunswick	8902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sylvia	Forte	Aurora Park	Bel Aire	67220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Johannesen	4 Carleton Rd	ROCHDALE	1542	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Limperis	1194 Chesterfield Ln.	Grayslake	60030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alicia	bland	216 siesta key dr	Windsor	80550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vanessa	Carlson	45621 306th St	Wakonda	57073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	O'Lalor	Hooksett	Hooksett	3106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vincent	D'Amico	13 Jackson Rd	Burlington	1803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Reed	12 Pioneer Dr	West Hartford	6117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	McPherson	2211 Lakeside Drive	Orlando	32803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michela	Curtis	4338 Buckingham Place Duluth, Georgia	Duluth	30096	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tomas	Rodriguez	249 West 61st Street	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	mannarino	323 osprey point dr	Sneads Ferry	28460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Burrell	610 Dizzy Dean Circle	Shreveport	71106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	DelloRusso	1175 Highway A1A Apt 203	Satellite Beach	32937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty	Carpenter	407 N. Mendenhall Street	Greensboro	27401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Teresa	Mayorga	2006 S. 2nd St.	Kingsville	78363	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Fister	638 N. 12th St.	Allentown	18102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roxanne	deImus	7817 NE 200th street	Kenmore	98028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Flinkstrom	76 Wares Rd	ASHBY	1431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Nalls	9904 HOLMHURST ROAD	Bethesda	20817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Bangerter	19404 2nd Dr SE Unit A Bothell	Bothell	98012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shela	Hadley	244 Brattle St	Cambridge	2138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacqueline	Kozara	19426 Dawnshire Dr	brownstown	48193	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mollie	Mathes	27080 Blue Hill Dr	Sun City	92586	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Wallace	3 Danbury Ct.	Suffern	10901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Briggs	2056 west vista circle , De Pere, WI	De Pere	54115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Londa	Fowler	3001 Eubank Blvd NE	Albuquerque	87111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gordon	Miller	6 Union	Waterbury	5676	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Hunter	UEA	Schenectady	12345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Nosnik	5404 blackhawk	Plano	75093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James Parker	McComas	2885 Arrowhead Road	Venice	34293	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Kaufman	14717b drummond st	Cedar Lake	46303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harvinderjit	Saran	45605 Graystone Lane	CANTON	48187	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Spencer	Carroll	155 Hickory Lane	Closter	7624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Cascio	10 Juniper Lane	STONINGTON	6378	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Bonacker	3 Castleton Ave.	East Greenbush	12061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Stoeckel	2760 Arabian Trail	DUBUQUE	52001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Saundra	Balog	1163 E High Ridge Drive	Washington	84780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karl	Narasaki	2114 Glencoe Avenue	Venice	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glen	Eichenblatt	503 Green Ln	Redondo Beach	90278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Shulse	101 Bicknell St. Apt. A	COLUMBIA	65203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shanti	Whitesides	18 Cone Street	Hartford	6105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Kulemin	1331 W. 54th St., Davenport, IA	Davenport	52806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Attorney	Lawrence Abrams	3339 Taylorsville Road	Louisville	40205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Norlin	10008 NW 27th Avenue	Vancouver	98685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Coon	4207 Tommy Ln Mansfield OH	Mansfield	44903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	griva	Rural rt 1	New Smyrna Beach	32168	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Rowley	22259 F Ave	LINDEN	50146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Clark	1059 Clement	San Francisco	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Wilkerson	3469 N. Broken Bow Drive	BIRMINGHAM	35242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William Lee	Kohler	1238 Coburg Rd	Eugene	97401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justin	Small	5-B Notre Dame Street	Westfield	1085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Sage	10617 Great Arbor Drive	Potomac	20854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Rogers	316 W Columbia Dr	Newberg	97132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wendy	Manes	28 cannon rd.	Wilton	6897	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Iverson	980 Norman Ave	Gurnee	60031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Hoffman	128 Bella Vista Way	Vallejo	94590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Shirah	909 Valley Stream Dr.	MADISON	53711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Mendez	5 freskin	Diamond Bar	91765	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Roper	11741 Easy Street	Austin	78748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Licata	25 Eagle Street	North East	16428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberto	Sprague	26 Madison st	NEW YORK	10038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christinar	Hewt	11211 South Military Trail, Apt 1212	Boynton Beach	33436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Murray	951 Glenwood Ave SE #104	Atlanta	30316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dominic	Cappella	101 caroline ave	Ridgely	21660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Herbert	Johnson	1915 S Maple Street	Little Rock	72204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Flaumenhaft	35445 Highland Drive	Eustis	32736	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leighta	J	Orefield	Orefield	18069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Thurber	3900 Dartmouth Ave N	Saint Petersburg	33713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bart	de Cort	32 Reginald Street		L8P 3Y1	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Malone	P.O. Box 1314	Santa Fe	87504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melinda	Medina	3 Riverway suite 300	Houston	77056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Sampson	4435 Kent Ave	Metairie	70006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Comber	Princeton Pike	Lawrence Township	8648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Herman	Best	137 Northampton Blvd, Stafford, Va	Stafford	22554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kaia	Wells	9528 9th Ave NW	Seattle	98117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Josh	Stellrecht	6988 Bank Street Road	Byron	14422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
GRACE	SALAZAR	393 n bruce	Las Vegas	89101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jon	Laubert	6800 Vista del Norte Dr N E #825	ALBUQUERQUE	87113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alisa	Boyd	Springfield, MO	Springfield	65803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Menzies	1652 Kingstown Rd	Peace Dale	2883	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karina	Black	1023 Forest Ave	BOULDER	80304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Whitney	5231 S Lake Dr, Apt 2	Cudahy	53110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Abele	2521 N. CONNECTICUT	Royal Oak	48073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	Morman	6928 41st Ave Kenosha Wi	Kenosha	53142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Jarvis	8402 Quadrant Lane	BALDWINSVILLE	13027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	Whiteford	85 Butler Hall		AL10 9B	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Siegle	4129 S. Meadows Rd. #317	Santa Fe	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Morris	Jackson	2109 Churchill Drive	OWENSBORO	42303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Noreen	ONeil	1 Murray Place	Newport	2840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mollie	Schierman	4146 Zenith Avenue North	Minneapolis	55422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Smith	8800 Johnson Rd Apt 133	The Plains	45780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Rehn	725 N Shine Ave	Orlando	32803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Madans	825 Newport	Denver	80220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Herschlag	47 Saddle Rock Road	DANBURY	6811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frederick	Armani	5762 Chaucer Trail	Pleasant Garden	27313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Churchill	11439 Applegrath Way	Germantown	20876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Kornfeld	23 Boulevard de la marne		67000	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ARCWP	Dr. Rosemarie Smead	14 Martini Ln.	Bedford	40006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wade	Thomas	1609 Hwy 438	Centerville	37033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Mase	1141 W. Huron River Dr.	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Rogers	128 Hilltop Pl	New London	3257	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Josh	Wright	4249 Vista Walk Lane	Powell	43065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Holland	79 Tom Welch rd	Crossville	38571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	Erickson	4016 w calumet rd	Milwaukee	53209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bernard	Clegg	610 W 30th St	Austin	78705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Carter	12588-208 Tennyson Ln	Carmel	46032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Kamholz	105 Loring Ave	Mill Valley	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Andrews	815 6th St SE	Willmar	56201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Works	11160-C1 South Lakes Dr #810	Reston	20191	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamie	Heath	1525 Carlos Dr	GREENVILLE	27834	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

e	gaglia	24 terrace ct	Albertson	11507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Moore	Eagle Hollow	Middletown	6457	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sallie	Cook	258 Haversham Way	Davenport	33897	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Chiburis	17 Garfield Ave apt1	New London	6320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Pfister	776 Washington Avenue	Brooklyn	11238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	deFriesse	160B Brook St	Rehoboth	2769	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Redding	1006 Allgood Court	Stone Mountain	30083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Dale	1500 SW Park Ave. 302	PORTLAND	97201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Moschner	7130 Red Oak Lp	NEW PORT RICHEY	34654	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keri	Merriman	5044 s. youngfield ct.	Morrison	80465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mary beth	oconnor	119 Middaugh Road	Brooktondale	14817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
KC	Lehr	2302 Sunset Blvd.	Cedar Falls	50613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Chaffin	13 ritter drive	Martinsburg	25404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Lindquist	1666 Coffman St	Saint Paul	55108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Johnson	160 South Collingwood Ave	Syracuse	13206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	Melvin	7719 S. 94th St.	La Vista	68128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Fascione	528 Woodbine Ave	Oak Park	60302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Ennis	14141 NE SAN RAFAEL ST	PORTLAND	97230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jeff	Lofton	1890 east powell road	Lewis Center	43035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Campbell	5424 63 PL	Maspeth	11378	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Ringle	7113 Heather Road	MACUNGIE	18062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Dempsey	9047 Clarissa Dr.	ORANGEVALE	95662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Zajac	48 Beths Ave	Bristol	6010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Harper	2616 Garden Dr. North	Lake Worth	33461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anita	Brown	4598 Santee Trl	Mableton	30126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Stephens	510 East 200 North	Logan	84321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cecilyn	Green	4950 Wadsworth Dr	Dallas	75216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	Knowlton	321 Grant	Laingsburg	48848	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Finney	252 Elizabeth Drive	Monroe	30656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Korb	Camelot Apt 2N 18 Taft Street	San Juan	911	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Brown	116 Meadow Drive	Hightstown	8520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Casey	2213 Canary Court	Baltimore	21231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Schaefer	617 Brandy Way	Cincinnati	45244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	Kornfeld	23 Boulevard de la marne		67000	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Munger	588 NE Shady Oak Avenue	Cedaredge	81413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Zastrow	569 S Pacific Ave	Glenns Ferry	83623	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Powers	4210 Careywood Dr	Melbourne	32934	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harriet	Warne	22647 Canyon Lake Dr N	Sun City	92587	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Hegberg	1875 5th St	Saint Paul	55110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Booker	1733 San Francisco St apt 3	San Antonio	78201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vivian	Gufarotti	201A Heritage Hills	Somers	10589	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stefan	Brooks	2004 BALTIMORE RD APT C34	Rockville	20851	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Trees	139 Harper Rd	Aliquippa	15001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Will	Wedig	Brooklyn street	Brooklyn	11232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	VanDerhoof	127 Monarch Court	Martinsburg	25403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Moynihan	PO Box 1806	Decatur	30031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Bucks	19 4th Street NE	Washington	20002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Berenice	Cedillo	4506 village park drive	PASADENA	77504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Whitney	Cloud	5906 Farm Road 1082	Hawley	79525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
thomas	Jacob	oak st	Evanston	60201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Durbin	1705 N. Thorn Tree Road	Muncie	47304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Hollis	3840 Kenesaw Drive	Lexington	40515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Scerbo	1025 Post Rd.	Bowdoinham	4008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Agee	5204 Flounder Court West	Waldorf	20603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Samski	1422 N. Central Ave. #8	Glendale	91202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Hallisy	518 Bunker Street	Woodstock	60098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darin	Tummons	8323 Gateway Drive	Neosho	64850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adam	Barnes	1801 Honeysuckle Drive	Blacksburg	24060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Farrar	2510 Grand Blvd	Kansas City	64108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tammy	Negelein	2844 E 3rd St.	Long Beach	90814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dick	Norris	13204 Lincoln Rd	Riverview	33578	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Kiffmeyer	1425 Amberwood Lane	Painesville	44077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
N	Weiler	4601 Malsbary	Cincinnati	45242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Azlyn	Middleton	Portland oregon	Portland	97206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerard	Rohlf	503 Greendale Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania	Pittsburgh	15218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Forrest	3532 Kemptown Church Rd	Monrovia	21770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sj	Jacques	Schoharie, NY	Schoharie	12157	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Potthoff	1814 Pine Village	Houston	77080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Sweeney	10028 Emerald	Kelseyville	95451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Shea	5832 Foothill Drive	Racine	53403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Bryant	55 Spurwink Ave	Cape Elizabeth	4107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Wyeth	844 Charter Woods Drive	Indianapolis	46224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dianne	Easley	75 East Rd	Warren	1083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane/Margaret	Marsalis/Catches	P. O. Box 5042	PINE RIDGE	57770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Martin	112 Ox Yoke Ct	Custer	57730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Bradley	1423 West 47th Court	Davenport	52806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Gross	0	New York	10022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Thank you.
Jack	Dunham	3343 Wilawana Rd.	SAYRE	18840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria	DellaCorte	1862 Ridgewood Dr.	East Lansing	48823	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Weiss	9927 Redmont Ave	Tujunga	91042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Pavlak	Box 542	OAKS	19456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lauren	Haley	3779 Dillons Fork RD	FIELDALE	24089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Penny	Reeder	9504 Cape Anne Place	MONTGOMERY VILLAGE	20886	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ceri	Mcclellan	107 SCG Bridgemarsh Lane		0	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janelle	Hardy	1214 Southern Ave, SE	Washington	20032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Sinkiewicz	12 Olney Street	Mattapan	2126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Dulas	5311 Greenwood Rd	DULUTH	55804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Corvin	16 redwood rd.	Saugerties	12477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Miller	17311 Willowbrook Drives	SOUTH BEND	46635	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lloyd	Hedger	224 N G ST. #405, Tacoma, WA	Tacoma	98403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Goens	Beavercreek	Dayton	45431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marla	West	Marly2054@aol.com	Asheville	28804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
dennis	bentley	2717 n lakeview dr.	Sanford	48657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jodi	Polissky	43834 Laburnum Square	Ashburn	20147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Ordway	335 Winter Street	Norwood	2062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
L	Vuilleumier	4380 main	Cummaquid	2637	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Hare	484 West 43rd St., Apt. 11H	New York	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judson	Kilpatrick	1921 Newkirk Avenue	Brooklyn	11226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Davlin	327 Overbrook Rd	Baltimore	21212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Garfield	15 Monondach Avenue	Fairhaven	2719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eve	Shapiro	5373 N. Via Alcalde	Tucson	85718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremy	Hamilton	PO Box 126, Rochester, WI	Rochester	53167	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzie	Connelly	16695 SW Heceta Ct Beaverton, OR	Beaverton	97007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Piacenti	3233 Mangum Rd #131	Houston	77092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve & Nancy	Gould	94 christopher st.	new york	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Flock	PO Box 321	Coeur D Alene	83816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annelissa	Gray-Lion	258 Harrison St	CHELSEA	48118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eugene	Alex	101 divinity circle phoenix az	Apache Junction	85117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Palumbo	605 Boyer Ave	Walla Walla	99362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Lilley	49 w.plum st.	Westerville	43081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fran	Clarida	5151 E Bannock St	Phoenix	85044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wendy	McKee	730 N.W. Witham Drive	Corvallis	97330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Sorensen	333 W. North Ave.	Chicago	60610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Stetzer	380 Riverside Drive 5T	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Jimenez	2260 Mitchell Dr	Murray	42071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Ely	122 Central ave, Los Gatos, C	Los Gatos	95030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Boyd	326 Clayton Ave. Hillside IL.	Hillside	60162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A	Amodeo	Glenford	Glenford	12433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Thomas	Roosevelt	Falls Church	22044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Boget	2609 Carrington Way	Frederick	21702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Agee	5204 Flounder Court West	Waldorf	20603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Constantine	Kostianis	524 West 184	New York	10033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miriam	Baum	6532 Peridot Ave.	RANCHO CUCAMONGA	91701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erica	Toylar	2011 Coral Reef Dr	POMPANO BEACH	33062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Hoots	3455 Mountain View	Germanton	27019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Stover	5545 Canuncey Dr NE	Belmont	49306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Judson	4552 Brighton Drive	Santa Rosa	95403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thasin	Sardar	2822 Marfitt Rd	East Lansing	48823	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Rodrigues	9627 century dr	Spring Hill	34608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cathy	Castro	3565 linden ave.	Long Beach	90807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Kelley	64 Ocean Oaks Lane	Palm Coast	32137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Harris	2812 Newcombe Lane	Kissimmee	34741	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Miner	61 Prescott St.	Rutland	1543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Ferguson	510 Belle Ave Apt 308	Mankato	56001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fran	Terry	10837 Braeburn Rd	Columbia	21044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Csaszar	11 White Oak Drive	Fleetwood	19522	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Vidangos	19 Allemhurst CT	Gaithersburg	20878	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Bills	1203 state hwy 1654	Rush	41168	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kurt	Maciej	1604 Chowan Place	Round Rock	78681	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	Schwarz	7235 Guider Dr	Saint Paul	55125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Beach	611 Hillview	Rockford	49341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Flanery	1001 N. John Douglas Rd.	Van Alstyne	75495	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Miller	8540 SW 90th	Ocala	34481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Greer	6605 Wharton St	Houston	77055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lowell	Palm	419 Fifth Street	Washington Court House	43160	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Harris	5509 Brookdale Dr N apt 207	Minneapolis	55443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	MacMahon	1Riverwood rd	Kingston	3848	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	McEleney	123 Reservoir Road	Norris	37828	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rhonda	Fingerett	5221 Marmol Drive	Woodland Hills	91364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandy and Don	Callard	1348 Kensington	Ann Arbor	48104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	O'Hare	71 Ramshead Rd	MEDFORD	2155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Moby	Moby	P.O. Box 1739 Sugar Land	Sugar Land	77487	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victor	Rodrigues	9627 century dr	Spring Hill	34608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harold	Nemecheck	106 Raymond Rd No	Battle Creek	49014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Peterson	300 Celebration Circle, Unit 101	Franklin	37067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Rinehart	744 Brooklyn Ave	Sidney	45365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Chambers	Boise	BOISE	83704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Greene	10 Highpoint circle quincy	Quincy	2169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Box	1117 W. 9th St.	Austin	78703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Chasan	132 Washington Avenue	Plainview	11803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paula	Beltrone	30 River Road	New York	10044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
moni	kashef	700	Woodbridge	22191	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marie	Gazda	10757 Oakmont	Overland Park	66210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Nash	3535 el Portal Drive	El Sobrante	94803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jordan	Temkin	71-65 69 pl	RIDGEWOOD	11385	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	Lester	118 Cimarron Dr Effort PA	Effort	18330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Hunter	895 Trailside Ln	MARIETTA	30064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Chavez	14024 Marquesas Street, Unit C	Marina del Rey	90292	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Hagerty	3026 Sweet Pine Dr.	Melbourne	32935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Vidaurri	1829 S Calhoun St	Griffith	46319	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Brooks	2015 74th Ave. Phila, PA	Philadelphia	19138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sam	Mark	13848 Vail Cutoff Rd	Rainier	98576	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nikki	Shoulders	PO Box 9519	Hickory	28603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Raines	89 Glenmere Avenue	Florida	10921	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Wolf	Garner, NC	GARNER	27529	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Dales	1750 St. Charles Ave	New Orleans	70130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Hughes	221 N. Mesa	Wichita	67212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim	Tran	213 W. Columbine Ave.	Santa Ana	92707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Bruckman	421 Anglesey Terrace	WEST CHESTER	19380	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rev	Pruitt	109 Pine Drive	Milton	19968	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Proietta	1820 Napfle Ave	PHILADELPHIA	19111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Grimmel	50 Boulder Dr	Auburn	4210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Mensing	9200 Kentsdale Drive	POTOMAC	20854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dowdy	Lynne	3945 Grand Isle Drive	Chesapeake	23323	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Cutler	14742 Bridgeport	Tustin	92780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Guthrie	944 Summitville Drive	Webster	14580	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Piteo	85 James Rd	Durham	6422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sanchez	Charles	1590 SW 111th Ave. apt #504B	Miami	33174	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Dubey		Beaverton	97006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

bob	gutermuth	1900 sw 13th St	Gainesville	32608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Colby	2204 Lea Meadow Circle	Denton	76208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacqueline	Delarip	8905 Monmouth Ave	Margate City	8402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Orlin	Marcus	35160 Hillside Drive	Farmington	48335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	O'Donoghue	21538 16th Dr. SE APT D105	Bothell	98021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Ely	7109 46th Ave E	Tacoma	98443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	O'Hare	71 Ramshead Rd	MEDFORD	2155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Furtney	3405 Boxelder Dr	Longmont	80503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Schonfeld	16 Willowbrook Rd, West Hartford, CT	West Hartford	6107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amanda	Etheridge	526 WINDSOR CT	Alabaster	35007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanda	K.	3309 san mateo dr	Plano	75023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Finch	5618 Taylor St	omaha	68104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Josh	Berger	24010 IL Rt 173	HARVARD	60033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanne	Held-Warmkessel	110 Santa Anita drive	North Wales	19454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B	Marrero	243 Hawthorne St	Memphis	38112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeremy	Wegrzyn	12 Baileys Lane	West Newbury	1985	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Levine	941 Meda Street	Memphis	38104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Cave	5382 Candleberry Dr.	Lilburn	30047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Lesieur	384 Bridge St.	Manchester	3104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Dilley	503 Justin Way	Neshanic Station	8853	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Detlef	Joerss	821 Soundview Drive	Mamaroneck	10543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Regina	Bloisi	280 Easy st	Mountain View	94043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Green	735 Delaware Rd	Buffalo	14223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Altschuler	5151 State University Drive	Los Angeles	90032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip	Spohn	280 Summer Street	Boston	2210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Zoldos	60 Centerview Drive	Buffalo	14224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	Klubinski	859 Eaton Drive	Pasadena	91107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacqueline	Delarip	8905 Monmouth Ave	Margate City	8402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Schwartz	4041 Vincent Ave. S.	Minneapolis	55410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Smith	2920 Penn St	SAINT JOSEPH	64507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ana	Andrade	1021 Kavan	Omaha	68107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Parks	30 Swarthmore Rd	Scarsdale	10583	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kerrin	griffith	313 West 76th St	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keith	Koelling	492 Alice Drive	MELBOURNE	32935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	McClintic	805 cinnamon	Duarte	91010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	Feltman	325 Wiegel	Saint Louis	63135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sherman	Ritchison	7391 16th ST N	Saint Petersburg	33702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Rinker	303 Red Tailed Hawk Dr	PFLUGERVILLE	78660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Schubert	1598 Schmidt Dr.	Alpena	49707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Palmer	13824 6th Ave E	Tacoma	98445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Bryce	3324 Tulalip Ave.	EVERETT	98201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Kelly	43 Coppermine Vlg	Flemington	8822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarvenaz	Asasy	1455 beacon street	Brookline	2446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S.	Welch	603 W 23rd St	Lorain	44052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Chavez	14024 Marquesas Street, Unit C	Marina del Rey	90292	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anna	Novikov	#312, 10610 - 76 St.		20000	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Lorenz	3522 Concomly Rd. S.	Salem	97306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Bear	Midland	Nyack	10960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Cozza	2840 Sarles Drive	Yorktown Heights	10598	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
rawle	samuel	138 exerter rd unit 22	Epping	3042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	Forbes	Fayette, MO	Fayette	65248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

CHRIS	MORROW	507 W CHESTNUT ST	Chatham	62629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tonia	Deur	2105 Nw 2nd	AMARILLO	79106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Schmadel	7201 Princeton Ave., 10	College Park	20740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jodie	Eason	3243 N Ravenswood Ave	Chicago	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Stewart	3834 N Cherry Lane	Kansas City	64116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Lyness	4116 47th Avenue	SUNNYSIDE	11104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victor	Shelton	8875 INDIAN VILLAGE HEIGHTS	Fountain	80817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Lewis	162 West 21st Street	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Trefzger	2424 Hurley Way #67	SACRAMENTO	95825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Breczinski	120 S 15th St.	Lewisburg	17837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helene	Whitson	1824 Arch Street	Berkeley	94709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Swartz	349 Marshman St.	Highland Park	60035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Suzor	6420 Wadell Glenn Apt E	Imperial	63052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Chavez	14024 Marquesas Street, Unit C	Marina del Rey	90292	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Riff		Chicago	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leta	Dally	2424 W. Estes Ave.	Chicago	60645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jill	fish	2300 W Wabansia	Chicago	60647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Reed	115 paul ave	Syracuse	13206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Copple	14618 W Sky Hawk Dr	Sun City West	85375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kwakou	Shakur	614 Price Ave.	Durham	27701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edna	Mullen	1352 Richland Avenue,St Charles	Saint Charles	55972	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	Ely	7109 46th Ave E	Tacoma	98443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elna	Stratton	Orwigsburg, PA	Orwigsburg	17961	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Slater	2358 University Ave #543	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Carlberg	3537 Deerfield Drive	COLUMBIA	29204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Saeks	3452 S Beechgrove Rd	Wilmington	45177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jill	Wallace	10548 Stone Canyon Rd	Dallas	75230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	Neubert	214 W Happfield Dr	Arlington Heights	60004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Case	9215 sw 101st lane	Ocala	34481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Quintana	9863 espejo st	ALBUQUERQUE	87111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicholas	Vukmanic	2501 Autumnwood Dr	GLENSHAW	15116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Blaine	Nowak	302 Martin Drive	Theresa	53091	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Duane	Olson	9428 Rainbows End	Amherst Junction	54407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

rjmx	tech	3663 Lincoln Street	Schell City	64783	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thue	Rasmussen	1666 Coffman St., #219	Saint Paul	55108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Antion	1422 Stafford Ave	Ames	50010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robyn	Taylor		Gainesville	32601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Migdalia	Rodriguez	936B Union Ave	Bronx	10459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cara	Campenni	854 Manhattan Ave	Brooklyn	11222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clifton	Ware	2407 39th Ave. N.E. #311	Minneapolis	55421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Van	Welborn	5225 N Central Ave	Mesa	85212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nina	Aronoff	100 Bourne Street Jamaica Plain	Jamaica Plain	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Parry	1520 S Maple St	Escondido	92025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Stewart	3834 N Cherry Lane	Kansas City	64116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Oncina	1894 Dogwood Road	Ardmore	73401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Todd	Gillam	1906 Pinehurst dr.	Nashville	37216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annie	McCuen	1825 Fairmount Ave S	Salem	97302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Ebben	420 W Division St	River Falls	54022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amanda	Gonzalez	52ND 117 avenue	Miami	33163	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
L	A	501 S. Lewis Ave	KERRVILLE	78028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Norman	722 Hill St.	Santa Monica	90405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Siegel	776 South G Street	Livermore	94550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Dominick	1021 Black Rock Tpke	Fairfield	6825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Carroll	1375 Golf Park Drive	Lake Ariel	18436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Derek	Asher	5637 Chatfield Dr	FAIRFIELD	45014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Brown	916 Sun Valley Ave Silverton, OR	SILVERTON	97381	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trisha	Thevenot	10064 Jefferson Hwy APT D	Baton Rouge	70809	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Russ	Anderson	304 S. 2nd St.	Laramie	82070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Cosentino	13721 Fern Trail Dr., N Ft Myers, Fl	North Fort Myers	33903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
bob	granese	7 conrad circle	Wenham	1984	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Miguel	Diez	230 The Toledo, Long Beach, CA	Long Beach	90803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexander	Pappas	2334 S River Road Unit 73	Saint George	84790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Van Schaik	23 Weavers Lane	Whitehouse Station	8889	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Kaiser	41 W 96th St	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Pay	P.O. Box 2105	Petaluma	94953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Silvana	Tropea	109-20 Queens Blvd, Apt 6I	Forest Hills	11375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Frederick	412 S. Poplar	Leipsic	45856	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marion	Wilson	535 Sage Valley Dr	Richardson	75080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Cutler	4721 Travertine Dr	Tampa	33615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edith	Mann	2942 Coates Road	Penn Yan	14527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roy	Hyder	14602 N. 19th Ave Unit 105	Phoenix	85023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Parry	1520 S Maple St	Escondido	92025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carlos	Russell	5013	Capitol Heights	20743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
charles	Courant	59 cedar St	Belfast	4915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Evon	1760 Hennepin Avenue, #34	Minneapolis	55403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sherman	Ritchison	7391 16th ST N	Saint Petersburg	33702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Warner	41 Ehrbar Ave	Mt. Vernon	10552	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Joseph	104 Sunnyland Drive	San Antonio	78228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ian	Compton	6670 SW Wisteria Pl.	Beaverton	97008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	McGarrigal	41 East Gate Rd	Danbury	6811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francis	Pflug	1012 Wakehurst Dr.	Cary	27519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cortland	Steck	350 90th Ave NE	Saint Petersburg	33702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
robert	paulson	255 W 23 ST	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Willie	Haywood	510 Dedman St	Selma	36703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Pomeroy	193 Baltic St	BROOKLYN	11201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Millie	Willis	1011 Crain St.	EVANSTON	60202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Enythe	Green	3026 Harper st	Berkeley	94703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Buresh	7741 Menagerie Lane	Colorado Springs	80923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Piet	Slaghekke	119 Black Birch Trail	Florence	1062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Gerges	27 Alpine Street, Unit 2	Malden	2148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Ahern	1224 Cranford Ave	LAKEWOOD	44107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Petze	1411 Darley Row	Keswick	22947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leon	N.Zoghlin	1132 West Ave.Hilton NY	Hilton	14468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

F	Elias	2500 Jackson	Woodridge	60517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Antal	Kalik	1234 lawndale ave lawndale ca.90260	Lawndale	90260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Wenzel	240 bauman ave	Pittsburgh	15227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

timothy	Johnson	up the anal st	FRANKLIN	28734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	DELAWARE	7 carney st	Medford	2155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Hicks	4950 N. Via Entrada	Tucson	85718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marvin	Ward	15 Cottage St., # 413, Easthampton, MA		01027-6	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Scott	7688 West 95th StreetStreet, Apt A	Overland Park	66212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Nelson	2875 Palmer dr	LOS ANGELES	90065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Belkis	Lamar	44 VICTORIA ave	Montrose	10548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Dulan	1817 Old Orchard Rd.	Free Union	22940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
e C	c	123 4th st	HESPERIA	92345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Imler	227 Liberty Lane duncansville Pa	Duncansville	16635	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Newcomb	4460 Hodges Blvd	Jacksonville	32224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Larson	30 w pine	WALLA WALLA	99362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Bush	121 33rd Avenue NE	Hickory	28601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Vaughan	3501 N 64th St Unit 13	Scottsdale	85251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aditya	Chavali	7813 Riverwalk Trl	McKinney	75070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Lee	123 anywhere	Corvallis	97333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Davis	297 Union Hill Rd	Amherst	24521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	Saul	425 M St NW	WASHINGTON	20001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeremy	DeChario	131 Buckingham Ave	Syracuse	13210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Trowell	1017 S. Sterling	Tampa	33609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Gray	17 Victor St.	Pittsfield	1201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

robert	francis	5207 summerside dr	Tuscaloosa	35404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Lehr	2302 Sunset Blvd	Cedar Falls	50613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Georgeann	Hartzog	1170 Rattlesnake Ferry Rd	Alto Pass	62905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Miguel	Diez	230 The Toledo, Long Beach, CA	Long Beach	90803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Piper	69 Parlmont Park	North Billerica	1862	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Brown	9211 Dandelion Drive	Murfreesboro	37129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Knudson	117 Harding st	Madison	53714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristine	Tennyson	1550 Alki Ave SW #401	Seattle	98116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Meyer	30874-56th AVe Way	CANNON FALLS	55009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Norman	Emmons	p.o. box 1024	charlestown	3603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Bishop	154 Ogden Ave.	Jersey City	7307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Braunstein	827Union Street Brooklyn NY	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lee	Fahey	no	Charlotte	28269	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorayne	Heyler	2602 Fox Street	Hyattsville	20783	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Russell	325 1/2 S Church	BOWLING GREEN	43402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kirk	Templeton	309 Northview Drive	Richardson	75080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Weybright	2206 Central Blvd.	Rapid City	57702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Williams	1412 mallory sail place Brandon, fl	Brandon	33511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lucia	Maxwell	9601-54 Miccosukee Road	Tallahassee	32309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Stuckey	2439 Holmes St.	Rockford	61108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darren	Behan	3915 Idalia Dr.	AUSTIN	78749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Nelson	75 HIGH ST	Wilmington	1887	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samuel	Rodrigues	96 Fifth Street	Fords	8863	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	McNamara	2152 Torchwood Drive	ORLANDO	32828	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Freeman	PO Box 455	Bradford	3221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Hall	P.O. Box 182 Joliet MT	Joliet	59041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	Kunkel	58th St	Indianapolis	46208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Jessepe	P.O. Box 36	Browning	59417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Dick	8221 Versailles Pl	Macedonia	44056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Brown	5315 Bosworth Ave.	Gwynn Oak	21207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce M.	Bisso	16 Oak Hill Dr	Oyster Bay	11771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Miller	507 Elm Ave	Takoma Park	20912	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lou	Hunter	1460 Gulf Blvd	Clearwater Beach	33767	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sondra	Kesler	34926 Wood ST	Livonia	48154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rose	Boltz	3014 Dorian	Toledo	43614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lesha	Farias	116 Smithview Drive	Heath	43056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rodd	Ringquist	9661 221st St N	Forest Lake	55025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Jameson	711 University Drive North	Fargo	58102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Deltognoarmanasco	18132 E San Tan blvd	Queen Creek	85142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lars	Carlson	3520 156th St SW, D3	Lynnwood	98087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlene	Noel	412 Main Street Apt #3	WINSTED	6098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Nash	500 East 83rd Street, #10B	New York	10028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wm	Trent	babbitt, mn	Babbitt	55706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Seth	Beauchamp	5507 Hames Trace	Louisville	40291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Prince	Eugene, OR	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dawn	DiBlasi	52 Wood Street	Fairfield	4937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Fichman	5715 Solway Street	Pittsburgh	15217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	French	190 Elm St	Littleton	3561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karla	Osuna	73-63 260th St	Glen Oaks	11004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louise	LaFrancis	5810 Oakwood Dr #1A	Lisle	60532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
TIM	WILKINS	GARDNER	Gardner	1440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Danielsen	807 E. Normal St.	Springfield	65807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Stewart	5321 36th Avenue South	Minneapolis	55417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol & Malcolm	Faust	96742 Dillwood Rd	Oakdale	95361	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Cutting	150 Frances Street	Portland	4102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Hutchison	8114 Dart way	Orangevale	95662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarah	Cole	1820 Newland Court #313	DENVER	80214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brenda	Bergstrom	7 Coorte Pl	Delmar	12054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	rinaldi	17 Hickory Lane	BEDFORD	10506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jordan	Little	710 Neptune Ave	OXON HILL	20745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Rieske	1109 E First St	Greenfield	46140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Pavlica	52440 Indian Summer Drive	New Baltimore	48051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mary	hydro	12138 wichers Rd	SAINT LEO	33574	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Belajonas	Lakewood St.	Patchogue	11772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Athey	565 Milford AV	Columbus	43202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Rosso	PO Box 455	Bradford	3221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	Jaramillo	312 Titusville Rd.	Poughkeepsie	12603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Dales	1750 St. Charles Ave	New Orleans	70130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Souther	5250 N Sheridan RD., Apt 517	Chicago	60640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keith	Horn	328 Lovers Lane	Baton Rouge	70806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bridget	Sayles	2508 Alexander Avenue	Richmond	23234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alley	Stoughton	45 Custer St	Jamaica Plain	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	St. Pierre	1012 SAINT JULIEN DR APT E5	Kenner	70065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Marble	517 Sargent St San Francisco CA	San Francisco	94132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marty	Mason	371 E Glengary Cir	Cleveland	44143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Jackson	9454 W. Virginia Ave.	Phoenix	85037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Malone	36 Duke Street	New Brunswick	8901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B.	Rodriguez	143 Dartford Street	Hercules	94547	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Kowzan	13644 Deering Lane	MOORPARK	93021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Baeder	336 Persons St		us, 310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Christensen	14087 OLD 66 RD	Hinton	73047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rory	Byrne-Dugan	523 Hampshire Rd	Drexel Hill	19026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Dicken	2391 s thorp hwy	Ellensburg	98926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JC	Tinker	9730 Colleen Rd	Houston	77080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Humphress	204 N Hite Ave	Louisville	40206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zachary	Miner	800 W 38th St	AUSTIN	78705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	H	220 N Zapata Hwy #11, Laredo, TX	Laredo	78043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	O'Neill	10018 14th Ave. E.	TACOMA	98445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Standish	308 East 6th Street	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ester	Wynn	14518 Laurenwood Court	Humble	77396	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Southwick	P.O. Box 577	Newport	2840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Halpern	6904 nw 26 st	Pompano Beach	33063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Kaiser	fuck you, TX	Fredericksburg	78624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Zelle	120 Tyler St	Methuen	1844	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Baker	2563 S. Peoria St.	Aurora	80017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanda	Dunn	911 Leycester Drive	Baton Rouge	70808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Massimin	8706 Arley Dr	Springfield	22153	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosamond	Robbert	5235 Beech Avenue	Kalamazoo	49006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. In addition in order to get the channels I want I have to pay for hundreds I do not want including some very dubious sources. Let me select what I want not what the cable company selects for me.
Rick	Easton	270 S Merritt Ranch Rd	Cornville	86325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	DeAngelis	1455 Norkenzie Rd	Eugene	97401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	McKibben	2055 4th Ave SE	Cedar Rapids	52403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Yerton	17936 Hwy 190	Frakes	40940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	Immel	3301 Monroe NE #L126	Albuquerque	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Bull	5750 midnight pass #406 E	Sarasota	34242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colleen	Hamilton	62 Rivington Street	NEW YORK	10002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lola	Wilson	1121 3rd Ave. N, Columbus, MS	Columbus	39701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
steven	saunders	213 oaksprings dr.	Edmond	73034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mace	Welch	1517 Oak Knoll Street	Dallas	75208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nick	Gagnon	PO Box 332	Union	3887	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Grayson	2939 Bellevue ave	Los Angeles	90026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rose	Wood	1602 speedway rd.	Verona	53593	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	A.	306 w north loop blvd	Austin	78751	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Stump	50 Glenwood Avenue #904	Jersey City	7306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tess	Fraad	209 E 7 St	New York	10009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Trisha	Horan	316 E Corral	Kingsville	78363	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Loren	Foret	401 Simmons Ave.	Summerville	29483	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Mulvihill	1678 Goshen Drive	HUDSON	44236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Loren	Foret	401 Simmons Ave.	Summerville	29483	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawn	Firth	2110 MCKAY ST	FALLS CHURCH	22043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Payne	1814 cottonwood	ARLINGTON	76014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ivy	Chasan	132 Washington Avenue	Plainview	11803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Larson	2488 Decatur Street	DENVER	80211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Harris	810 West Columbia Ave	Champaign	61820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Thompson	252 Mill Street	Phoenixville	19460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
george	white	51 Orange Drive	JERICHO	11753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emma	Bradshaw	2868 Valley Forge Road	Lisle	60532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ramon Jaime	Conde Velez	154 Princess Ann Ave.	Viola	19979	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Kniat	12 Dongan Place, #401	New York	10040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Allen	15 Roland CT	WINOOSKI	5404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Naidich	603 4th Ave	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Wiljanen	650 Enterprise Blvd. Apt #6208	Charleston	29492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Swoboda	1 Arden Road	Watertown	2472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sue	Miller	2600 CLEARLAKE RD APT 9B	Cocoa	32922	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russell	Schnapp	7671 Northrup Place	San Diego	92126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Carr	83 Edgewater	WICHITA FALLS	76308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Higgins	4104 Oaklawn Drive	JACKSON	39206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Seisdedos	206 Grove St,	WINDSOR	95492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Culver	P.O. Box 264	Deerfield	1342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Cummings	1970 n. leslie st.	Pahrump	89060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jordan	Knobel-Piehl	13250 Galleria Ct.	Saint Paul	55124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tammy	Wright	3010 Crain Hwy	WALDORF	20601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Louis	Seretta	10 Jay Road	N.Billerica	1862	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Megan	Mooha	1437 W. Elmdale Ave.	Chicago	60660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Brown	Columbus	Columbus	43220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Royce	Withey	26 Captain Parker Drive	Lee	3861	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Grotzke	18136 Rita Road #2A	TINLEY PARK	60477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Buermann	10650 280th Ave Detroit Lakes	Detroit Lakes	56501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R	PALM	P	Dripping Springs	78620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norma	Becker	271 Terrace	High Springs	32643	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Schwarz	3149 Byberry Rd	Philadelphia	19154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S	Wigglesworth	55 Tenney Mtn.Rd.	Plymouth	3264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Adams	Great Neck	Great Neck	11021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Leader	1105 Huntington Avenue	Glendora	8029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angela	Porter	2 Barbary Lane	SAINT LOUIS	63146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Zachar	54 Westwood Dr	Queensbury	12804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Woods	13743 S Hickory Ln	PLAINFIELD	60544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Towse	148 Main St Apt F-345	North Andover	1845	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Efurd	41 Windsor Ct	Little Rock	72212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Araguz	1821 Cortez Dr.	Edinburg	78542	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shira	M	2268 35th	ASTORIA	11105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
heidi	zimmerman	12368 e. bennett rd	Grass Valley	95945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Bridgforth	2275 19th Ave., Apt. 11 San Francisco, CA.	San Francisco	94116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pratyusha	Reddy	4 Strawberry Ln Monroe, NJ	Monroe Township	8831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Pugliese	2019 TOLER rd.	Longview	75605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sonia	Banks	7465 Turkey Point Drive	Titusville	32780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Swan	310 West 80 Street 6C NY, NY	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Thompson	12406 Rochino Court	Glenn Dale	20769	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Nierstedt	320 hickory avenue	Garwood	7027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Jaffe	5109 Kingsessing ave apt 3		10144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Kjolsing	221 N Ash Street	Chaska	55318	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Isabel	Araujo	Central 37	Vienna	4360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Stanton	2900 James ave S	Minneapolis	55408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathan	Blaser	1208 E. 12th St	Lamar	64759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Campos	611 MILLER DRI	Davis	95616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hector	Garcia	2723 Skyview Downs Dr, Houston, TX	Houston	77047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Bauer	1046 S. Kenilworth	Oak Park	60304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Deen	94 Lexington Avenue, Brattleboro VT	Brattleboro	5301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Fazzina	Richie Rd	ATTLEBORO	2703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ramsey	Myers	1804 Martin Bluff Rd	Gautier	39553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christmas	Moore	24 Broad St.	Warren	2885	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pete	LeBoy	4 Parrot Place	Danville	94526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rodney	Gerber	3322 rowena	Los Angeles	90027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	Lentini	2905 Glynn Mill Court	Snellville	30039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Sargeant	7709 Creek View Ct	Rowlett	75089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S	L	wpb	West Palm Beach	33401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joceny	Leroy	20522 Nw 7th Court	Miami	33169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Johnson	107 Westwood Dr	TIPTON	46072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Evans	11586 Marshall St	Broomfield	80020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brock	Mitchell	10303 NE 98th Court	Kansas City	64157	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Gilchrist	6201 Hartsville Pike	Lebanon	37087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
April	Woolley	PO Box 391	Springer	87747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Stratford	8 Riverside Drive Greenfield, MA	Greenfield	1301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	Brown	3378 N McCall Ave	Sanger	93657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Griesedieck	PO box 9530	Denver	80209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Dunbar	40 Summer Street	Peterborough	3458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

MICHAEL	ORTICARI	8 Greenhouse Ave	Randolph	5060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Kind	8888	Montgomery	12549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
anti	gop	10585 e m 42	MANTON	49663	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cary	Hale	1422 Andover Court Evans GA	Evans	30809	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gaston	Nichols	2008 Halidom Way	Sun City Center	33573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brendan	Shaw	77 Peinkofer Drive	BUFFALO	14225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kay	Milne	343 SHROPSHIRE DR; SAN ANTONIO, TX	San Antonio	78217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Monica	Goodrich	6891 King Arthur Dr.	Myrtle Beach	29588	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Micocci	278 La Fonda Dr Houston TX	Houston	77060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julie	Kascal	1405 Browning	PITTSBURGH	15206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alejandra	Ibarra	5914 Willowcrest	North Hollywood	91603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexandra	Sipiora	40 E Chicago Ave 202	CHICAGO	60611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Denham	7251 SW 52nd Court, Miami, FL	Miami	33143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victoria	Jilote	1603 Langston Dr	Johns Island	29455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I think it is absolutely ridiculous, also, that I am forced to pay a recurring monthly fee that I agreed to and then have all of these extra charges such as a charge for EACH cable box and remote I am forced to use. There should be an option for me to not have to pay that on top of my already ridiculously over-priced bill.
Jairo	Angulo	2323 S BENTLEY AVE	Los Angeles	90064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Guy	Hancock	11371 122nd Terr	Largo	33778	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Wiley	316 lovell, pilot, va	Pilot	24138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nonna	Noto	1852 Columbia Rd NW Apt 302	Washington	20009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Armando A.	Garcia	16710 Orange Ave Unit F35	Paramount	90723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karl	Schintone	42 Esopus Ave, Ulster Park NY	Ulster Park	12487	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Davis	Montalvan	4207 Stalwart dr	RANCHO PALOS VERDES	90275	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

linda	crown	1540 n lasalle	CHICAGO	60610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Blackburn	5013 Tree Top	Garland	75044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerryldeane	Fielder	8914 Merrywood	UNIVERSAL CITY	78148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Krista	Jones	229 Wheatridge Drive	Clovis	88101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Devon	Kennedy	260 West End Avenue, Apt. 3A	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Steffan	10 Southbury Rd.	Clifton Park	12065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Nance	990 Piney Knob Road	Rutherfordton	28139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Reddy	28 Old Pierce Rd	Ridgefield	6877	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christian	Peters	5th	Venice beach	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Mansheim	50 Glenwood Ave. Apt. 205	Jersey City	7306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Monica	Goodrich	6891 King Arthur Dr	Myrtle Beach	29588	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hussein	Mourtada	2518 Glenrise Place	WESLEY CHAPEL	33544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Foote	200 Atlantic Ave	Lynbrook	11563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Methvin	7222 Fisher Road	Dallas	75214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Letendre	78 Granville Road, Unit 31	WESTFIELD	1085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Edwards	108 Decatur Street	Brooklyn	11216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Assia	Dimitrova	306 Palomino Dr	Newark	19711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Essex	1481 Lake Hills Dr	El Dorado Hills	95762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Helen	Sames	16500 yellow sage st	PFLUGERVILLE	78660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Smith	3625 Spring Grove Dr.	Bedford	76021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jo	Walters	PO BOX 80123	South Dartmouth	2748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ivy	Chasan	132 Washington Avenue	Plainview	11803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Mancuso	1130 N Dearborn St	Chicago	60610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Stahl	9850 Federal Blvd	Denver	80260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ella	Tepper	3318 Cambay Avenue	Orlando	32817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
peter	graham	4723 NE 54th st	Seattle	98105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sonja	Chan	944 w walnut st	Kankakee	60901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Braunwarth	105 E. Palmer ave.	Collingswood	8108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marie	T	504 columbus ave	Boston	2118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Leedle	772 Brownwood Ave	Atlanta	30316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janis	Farrell	3023 Dole St	Holiday	34691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Nitte	39820 US HWY 19 North	Tarpon Springs	34689	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	George	19610 290th Ave SE	HOBART	98025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Oriel	110 Heatherwood Dr.	Garner	27529	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Barta	209 Wilson St. S.	Wenatchee	98801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Danny	M.	305 Williams Ave.	Hasbrouck Heights	7604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzanne	Hesh	930 E. Foothills Dr.	Tucson	85718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Armstrong	Lafayette	Lafayette	80026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Pfeffer	155 east 76th Street/10G	New York	10021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Finkelstein	11113 Lombardy Rd	Silver Spring	20901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianna	Klau	601 Kappock Street, Bronx NY	BRONX	10463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Minto	133 Walnut St	Seymour	6483	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Light	305 Lisa	Pocatello	83202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Harris	P.O. Box 2704	Lodi	95241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Nelsin	4804 Forman Ave	North Hollywood	91601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephan	Harrell	206 Bear Dr	Richland	99352	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Kanter-Kennedy	8603 Mayridge Circle	Houston	77099	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Megan	Butcher	1916 Wickford Pl	Reading	19610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheila	Simonson	3714 ELAINE DR	BRYAN	77808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Peterson	1316 Pasadena Ave S	Saint Petersburg	33707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonardo	Sirios	3953 Finch Trail	De Forest	53532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Schneller	321 N Union Ave	CRANFORD	7016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Rogers	12423 Glenmeadow Dr.	Stafford	77477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Thomas	Box 207	Manchaca	78652	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Parker	8 donna dr	LISBON	4250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Jalbert	12 Danton	Locust Valley	11560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Schwarz	3149 Byberry Rd	Philadelphia	19154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tracy	Griswold	1360 Midland Ave., Apt TD	Bronxville	10708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Williams	8758 S Wind Pudding Dr	Hazelhurst	54531	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristina	Muncan	8128 Jeanes st	Philadelphia	19111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gabrielle	Newsam	9935 Cherry Creek Boulevard #106	Raleigh	27617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Kervick	92 Irish Hill Rd.	Shelburne	5482	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Davis	26 Beechknoll Rd	Binghamton	13903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Travis	Dreher	1884 Century Hill	Platte City	64079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
wilfrred	Joseph	PO BOX 226	East Marion	11939	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Jordan	8302 Kalb Road	Henrico	23229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Bowen	10580 NW 74th Street,	Miami	33178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zachariah	Love	13820 Victory Blvd. #203	Van Nuys	91401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	McGeary	129 Baltic St.	Brooklyn	11201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Prokop	821 center st	East Aurora	14052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Felisha	Nelson-McClain	1976 White Oak Lane	Ypsilanti	48198	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ashley	Winkler	2518 Cresterrace Dr	Corpus Christi	78415	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brent	Jatko	6410 Del Mionte, #126	Houston	77057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Heyer	2101 Scenic Highway	Pensacola	32503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Potvin	300 S Calle El Segundo Apt 45	Palm Springs	92262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	MacLamroc	1730 Tyler Green	Smyrna	30080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darrell	Robinson	701 Zion St.	NEVADA CITY	95959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Barry	1017 S. 10th St.	Philadelphia	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Hunter	3500 Forest Edge Dr Apt 2G	Silver Spring	20906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Purchase should also be an option so consumers don't end up paying for the box many times over through rentals. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Anne	11800 Forbidden Forest Circle 104 Fredericksburg VA	Fredericksburg	22407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
b	sim	1862 gormley ave.	MERRICK	11566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Wong	1201 Medical Avenue, Apt, 3207	Plano	75075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Truman	419 3rd Ave sw	Beach City	44608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tor	Nichols	191 Gypsy Rd	Las Cruces	88007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Mattan	164 Burrs Mill Road	Vincentown	8088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Perryman	10751 E. Colgate Ave	Gardendale	79758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mia	Savage	1863 Pleasant St. apt. 611	Fall River	2723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Curlette	530 Hartford Drive	BOULDER	80305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Coakley	2154 Benita Drive, Apt. 3	RANCHO CORDOVA	95670	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Jenkins	112 Nasson LN	Oak Ridge	37830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dwight	Cope	127 John Hall rd. watauga,TN	Watauga	37694	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Courtney	England	2331 Triway	Houston	77043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geo	Turner	2120 N. 51st Ave	HOLLYWOOD	33021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

judy	Browne	3034 J Lyndhurst Dr	Deerfield Beach	33442	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Meech	44 W Main St	Annville	17003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brendan	Edwards	2704 Waltham Dr	Grapevine	76051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adam	Amsden	3534 Buford Hwy. NE	Atlanta	30329	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Benitez	150 Hampshire Lane	Rockwall	75032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Meade	2725chestnut ave	Ardmore	19003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joshua	Angelus	67 Hillside Avenue	WATERBURY	6710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Posch	2131 N Ocean Blvd, Fort Lauderdale Fl	Fort Lauderdale	33305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Lyon	3779 NW 4th Court	Boca Raton	33431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Ritter	4405 Hedionda Ct.	San Diego	92117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eszter	Samodai	60 Jones Street	Amston	6231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Octavia	Pleas	13881 West 138th St. #104	Olathe	66062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheri	Henry	113 Rotonda Lakes Circle #8	ROTONDA WEST	33947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Enright	18 Upcrest Rd	Brighton	2135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dollie	Moir	1024 Santa Fe St	SAFFORD	85546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Braunwarth	105 E. Palmer ave.	Collingswood	8108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Dale	450 Bowline Bend Naples FL	NAPLES	34103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Luis	Rodriguez	901 N Richmond st	Chicago	60622	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Smith	593 South Main Street	Woonsocket	2895	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	View	115 Dewitt Ave 10R	ELMIRA	14901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Crocker	99 Pleasant St Apt A	South Weymouth	2190	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Tate	3805 Joycliff Road	Macon	31211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S	Scott	Edgewater	Chicago	60660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Manuela	Aguilera	17262 rinaldi st granada hills ,ca	Granada Hills	91344	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ishmael	Abram	avamere	Vancouver	98662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pam	Smith	Allentown, PA	Allentown	18102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Shipe	2568 Lacey Spring Road	Broadway	22815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Henry	White	11 Marble St. Apt. 515	Worcester	1603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Touchette	18 Mendel court	Irvine	92617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Frrdinand	56 Pratt Street	Tewksbury	1876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Cady	Brandywine Lane	Pleasant Hill	94523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Edelman	2410 wiley dr	North Myrtle Beach	29582	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Carter	PO BOX 377	PINE BUSH	12566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

G.Blake	Holloway	314 W. Main	Kerrville	78028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Gibson	39915 Mad Creek Rd	Gates	97346	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Stout	Panorama		v7g1v2	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Walker	10914 Ascan Ave Apt 6A	Forest Hills	11375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	McCullough	312 Devon State Rd	Devon	19333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Blasi	12 Demark Road	PITTSTON	18640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julia	McNally	568 Starboard Ct	Grafton	53024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Wingfield-Ritter	4405 Hedionda Ct.	San Diego	92117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caleb	Knutson	18827 Co Hwy D65	Hubbard	50122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leland	Long	1380 Detroit Street #130	DENVER	80206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Raishe	1021 Love St.	Jupiter	33477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
E	Rivas	Springridge Rd., Potomac MD	Potomac	20854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JL	Charrier	1910 Heritage Dr	Wayzata	55391	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Tinnon	1731 Ricketts Mill Road	Mount Pleasant	38474	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Li	457 FDR Dr	New York	10002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jessica	Taylor	3020 Roanoke Circle	LAFAYETTE	47909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Niblock	17 Munroe Ave.	Waltham	2453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Pugliese	2019 TOLER rd.	Longview	75605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hope	Eugene	13th St NW	WASHINGTON	20005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Shisler	2514 Shroyer Road	DAYTON	45419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
E. D.	Karper	Mariva Ave	Leesburg	34748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Herman	Hardy	100 Bryn Mawr CT. W	Pittsburgh	15221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	Sawyer	9 Chickasaw Pl	PALMYRA	22963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marya	McCloskey	100 Westberry Circle	Lafayette	70508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry	De Jasu	P.O. Box 422	MONTAGUE	1351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Herziger	292 P W Montecito Ave	Sierra Madre	91024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Griffith	Davies	3477 n. Myrtle rd.	Myrtle Creek	97457	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Maynes	25 Park Street	Pepperell	1463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Corr	6780 Cheryl Dr	Hiram	44234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Moss	21 Oak Street	Beacon	12508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Miller	9278 Woodworth Road, Unit 302, North Lima, Ohio	North Lima	44452	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Stilwell	1263 Plumleigh Ln	Concord	94521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Perryman	10751 E. Colgate Ave	Gardendale	79758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

B	Lemonik	Mahopac	Mahopac	10541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Faulkner	4921 Girard Ave S	MINNEAPOLIS	55419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Troyer	1738 Sterling Ln	Lewisville	75067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rodolfo	Arguelles	215 West 94th Street, Apt 617	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Schwarz	2 Kingsberry Dr.	Somerset	8873	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	Martin	329 Ward st	Wallingford	6492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gari	Hatch	4797 Hillsboro Road	MORTON	39117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Wiggleswort h	PO Box 603	Rumney	3266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Regina	Schiefer	4669A Greentree Place	Boynton Beach	33436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Fasca	419 N St Clair St APT 306	Toledo	43604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrance	McIntosh	9 Tracie Avenue	Adams	1220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Perham	638 main st	RINDGE	3461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angelo	Adams	65 Salmon street	Providence	2909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Felice	Swados	30 Brock way	South Hadley	1075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ivanka	Sarmineva	112 W 7th St	Bayonne	7002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Selquist	10530 SW Waterway Ln	Port Saint Lucie	34987	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Hoeschele	41 Arlington av	Hawthorne	7506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Guggenheim	422 Lake Drive	Murphysboro	62966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Ballou	1725 Albans Rd.	HOUSTON	77005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Kukullas	5455 N Sheridan Rd Apt 1706, Chicago IL	Chicago	60640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mateo	Anglascious	20 chlesea ridge dr wappingersfalls ny	Wappingers Falls	12590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Walter	Ebel	7108 Carriage Rd NE	ALBUQUERQUE	87109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Bestick	3640 Sebastian Circle	RENO	89503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Baltes	879 Burgess Circle	Buffalo Grove	60089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gayle	Rosenberry	703 Gorsuch Ave.	Baltimore	21218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Beacham	1599 Bellchase Drive	Marietta	30064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theodore	Burger	3370 Woodbridge Circle	Bethlehem	18017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Zloch	Scituate, MA	Scituate	2066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Ly	175 Centre St. apt. 1310 Quincy, Ma	Quincy	2169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chip	Fischer	21152 Dray Terrace	Ashburn	20147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. I urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Merrill	Frank	33-25 92 St	JACKSON HEIGHTS	11372	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rita	Schoenfeld	104 brookebury dr	Reisterstown	21136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Robinson	14145 W. 84th Pl	Arvada	80005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	Ebert	300 Centerview Drive	Brentwood	37027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rodolfo	Arguelles	215 West 94th Street, Apt 617	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Weiswasser	MI-09 voter resident in Canada		T4N2M1	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Rockwell	31 Cienega Canyon Rd	PLACITAS	87043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	McCullough	10716 Chicory Ridge Way	Roscoe	61073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gunta	Alexander	199 Midland Ave.	GLEN RIDGE	7028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Allington	4168 THORNAPPLE HILLS DR	Middleville	49333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Earl	Olson	4037 Cloverlea St	Pittsburgh	15227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Kyes	2120 SW Park Dr.	Boynton Beach	33426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Rock	29 Puritan Ln	Madison	6443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Richardson	577 Windover Drive, Brevard, NC	Brevard	28712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I'M LOOKING FOR OTHER OPTIONS, GIVEN THIS INFORMATION ABOUT CABLE. MOST OF WHAT I GET IS JUNK, ANYWAY.
John	Longballa	1015 Parker Ave	Saint Paul	55113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Alexander	6110 Tyne Street	Houston	77007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Nazzaro	19033 E. Cody Ave	PARKER	80134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lloyd	Trufelman	57 Edgemont Road	Katonah	10536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kiff	LaBar-Shelton	2512 Kathryn Ave SE	Albuquerque	87106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carl	Tyndall	5 fordham hill oval	Bronx	10468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Dreeszen	6324 Ashcroft Lane, Edina, Mn	Minneapolis	55424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Utica	Cason	6212 north hills dr	Raleigh	27609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanine	Center	618 Northside Avenue	Ann Arbor	48105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Krause	12726 Sandri Ln	HOUSTON	77077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lainie	Cooke	57 West 75 Street	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Mauck	77 Hook Drive	Martinsburg	25405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Hall	34 Pebblehill Park	GREENEVILLE	37745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Holmberg	1932 Burgundy Way	Hatfield	19440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Glandon	4004 27th Ave. NE	Olympia	98501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Natalene	Smith	7228 Donnell Place	District Heights	20747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Sullivan	5136 Beeler St	Pittsburgh	15217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard A	Perilli	6579 Osborne Tpke, Richmond, VA	Henrico	23231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Connell	51 Hudson Ave	Haverstraw	10927	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Norma	Cordero	537 new jersey ave	Brooklyn	11207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	kane	16904 Juanita dr ne Kenmore wa 98028	Kenmore	98028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Thomason	63-07 Saunders Street Apt 3K	Rego Park	11374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Craig	Weitzmon	1268 Brookline ct	Naperville	60563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Hood	1230 Walker Village Dr NW	Grand Rapids	49534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Bussard	331 Poplar Street	Roaring Spring	16673	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Goodwin	4813 East Foxmoor Lane	Lafayette	47905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I pay hundreds of dollars a year to rent these cheap cable boxes and it is a total ripoff! Please let us use cheaper alternatives and stop the cable companies from taking even more money away from consumers!
Cyrille	Phipps	Brooklyn	Brooklyn	11221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
GARY	BECK		Walnut Creek	94596	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Smith	9340 Carr Street	BROOMFIELD	80021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amber	Christenbury	1024 crescent falls st	HENDERSON	89011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gillie	McIntosh	908 Queens Terrace	Fort Washington	20744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scotty	Reid	PO Box 65	MOUNT HOLLY	28120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	Stack	8104 Gale Street	Annandale	22003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Boyd	Aebli	4376 Kingston Loop	SARASOTA	34238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Harrison	212 West 105 St.	NEW YORK	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Gillespie	13-13 Sperber Rd Apt D	Fair Lawn	7410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Natalia	Tune	Nope	Everett	98201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	More	6 SEALEY AVE APT 2C	Hempstead	11550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Kaplan	782 West End Ave New York, NY	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Ewall	22 linden st.,	Brookline	2445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	McLaird	2430 W 23rd Ave., Mitchell, SD	Mitchell	57301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Weis	1551 W Flora	Reedley	93654	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Teichler	2375 Lavender Hill Lane	Lafayette	80026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Koso	1617 terrace hgts auburn ne	Auburn	68305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Thrower	P.O. Box 184	Otis Orchards	99027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cliff	wernet	5221 cliff point circle	colorado springs	80919	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Scharf	435 West 146th St.	New York	10031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Welsbacher	1534 Yale Blvd.	WICHITA	67208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Field	7705 Lavergne Ave.	Skokie	60077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Caraway	63 Stardust Place	Spring	77381	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
marie	sheridan	259 lakewood road	New Egypt	8533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anda	Friedman	852 Massachusetts Ave	Cambridge	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nathaniel	Rugh	459 East Shoreline Drive	North Augusta	29841	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Cook	129 West Allenton Rd	North Kingstown	2852	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JoAnn	Williams	108 Judith Ln	Media	19063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Edwards	229 Tamworth Dr	Willow Spring	27592	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	T	1800 Evans Ln.	San Jose	95125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Keenan	108 Madison Rd.	Lansdowne	19050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elaine	Carmack	179 Patton Dr	Cheshire	6410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cassia	Charles	639 Sterling Place	Brooklyn	11238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Johnson	790 Washington St., #1103	DENVER	80203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karin	Davies	504 Eagle Ct	Schaumburg	60194	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Thompson	Poynette	POYNETTE	53955	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Alexander	115 Melancthon	Lutherville Timonium	21093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Moore	88 hummingbird rd	Acton	4001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Ebel	7108 Carriage Rd NE	ALBUQUERQUE	87109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Omar	Martin	3818 Byram Avenue	INDIANAPOLIS	46208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Manley	4610 Saloma Pl.	Austin	78749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tara	Basile	19735 183rd Way se	Renton	98058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Graham	1380 Park Place Apt1	UNION GROVE	53182	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Darleene	Snider	Camp Polk Rd	Sisters	97759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
julia	dashe	439 49th st. oakland, ca	OAKLAND	94609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Stopke	5680 Wrenwyck Place	SAINT CHARLES	63304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michele	Royston	733 Breakwater Dr	Belleville	48111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	k	Aiken	Aiken	29803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.Let's face it, the Asian made boxes are payed for in no time. Competition is needed.
Sandra	Alano	10220 E APACHE TRAIL	Apache Junction	85120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Needham	502 N Mckinley Avenue	Champaign	61821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dexter	Donham	25 Fort Ave	ROXBURY	2119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Porter	326 East Lake Drive	Sarasota	34232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marsha	Bradshaw	1779 Avenue B	SCHENECTADY	12308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	McKay	1806 Main St	Lynden	98264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
anony	mous	abc	Minneapolis	55406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry	Pekin	17232 PICKWICK DR	Purcellville	20132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Germain	PO Box 35	Nazareth	49074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	Stoak	1008 Paradise Road	New Bloomfield	17068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Story	6405 Edge O Grove Circle	ORLANDO	32819	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Beauchamp	6511 kansas lane	Takoma Park	20912	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlene	Howell	4713 Grindon Avenue	Baltimore	21214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	Clark	960 Mitchell Road	Sedalia	65301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Davidowitz	2316 Marlboro St	Orlando	32806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Hartley	6027 26th Street North	ARLINGTON	22207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Beaumont	543 Hillcrest Dr.	Camarillo	93012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gordon	Caldwell	2435 South 550 West	Brigham City	84302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ED	CIACCIO	248-15 RUSHMORE AVE.	Little Neck	11362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcy	Trager	1352 Tammy Ln	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlotte	Stiefel	289 E Falmouth Hwy	EAST FALMOUTH	2536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonard	Silver	271 Florence Ave.	Arlington	2476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

I	Berl	Dogwood	Saint Leonard	20685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bobby	LePire	1742 Sam Rittenberg Blvd.	Charleston	29407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Buss	5 Quarry Hill Road	Camden	4843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Stevenson	12 Garwood Blvd	Clayton	8312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	friedman	8946 hauser st	LENEXA	66215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Guay	429 S. Sanders St.	HELENA	59601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Boy;lston	105 Ventura Dr.	SANFORD	32773	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Lang	805 Race st	Cambridge	50046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marie	Abramo	30 Raymond Road	Salem	1970	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

anony	mous	abc	Minneapolis	55406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	Gallucci	Palm Springs	Palm Springs	92262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Holliday	306 Wymberly Road	Saint Simons Island	31522	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jorge	Trujillo	815 arciero dr	Whittier	90601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	McMahan	5636 Greenwood	Lincoln	68507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daphne	Thompson	2655 Sheffield Ct SW Marietta, Ga	Marietta	30064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Kelly	198 Oriole Drive	Evansville	47715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Simon	Garza	11225 Cashmere Woods Dr.	Arlington	38002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	MacNeal	94 Reposo Drive	Oak View	93022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	McKENDALL	1203 Marlboro Road	BRATTLEBORO	5301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Billy	Pistole	315 Crosscreek Dr.	Wylie	75098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	DeLellis	1991 Sky Drive	Clearwater	33755	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

K.	M.		Capac	48014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marci	Million	7548 Nova Dr.	Fort Lauderdale	33317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Lidov	545 W. 111th Street	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Oster	3179 W. Bridgeport	Anaheim	92804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bertha	Bikulcs	3518 Dey Ave	Cheyenne	82001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alice	Zelenak	288 Highview Dr.	Chapel Hill	27517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Doud	82 Linda Drive Lot 48	Mechanicsburg	17050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Trp	1361 fireside st pt charlotte, fl	Port Charlotte	33952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	McCalvey	2004 Lake Linda Cir	Lutz	33558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Zelman	1030 Euclid Avenue	Cleveland	44115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Bergamini	500 Bayview Dr apt 521Sunny Isles Beach,Fl 33160-4777	North Miami Beach	33160	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanne	Spellman	533 Edmands Rd	Framingham	1701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jk	anderson	319 hazzard	Bisbee	85603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mina	Pedersen	10840 Cornell St	Indianapolis	46280	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Workman	1303 Water Willow Dr Apt A	Deland	32720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorothy	Gillespie	7000 Phoenix NE #604	Albuquerque	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	McClure	036 S.W. Porter St. Apt. 4	Portland	97201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Mccarthy	2	Schenectady	12302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeremy	Pfile	1535 W. Lonnquist Blvd., Mt. Prospect, IL	Mount Prospect	60056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Trochim	435 Hamilton Drive	STEWARTSVILLE	8886	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Schwartz	26 Skylark Drive #12-A	LARKSPUR	94939	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

AJ	Conte	1372 coppelia court	Henderson	89052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Goodlove	10749 Escobar Dr.	San Diego	92124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Whelden	32 Rolocut Road	Broad Brook	6016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Luis	Lozano	225 Pomona #3	Long Beach	90803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Paladin	3185 Sparrow Flight Drive	Independence	44131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
April	Tarabocchia	42 Homestead Road	Lake Hopatcong	7849	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Koso	1617 terrace hgts auburn ne	Auburn	68305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Wever	1413 Monroe St NW, Apt B	Washington	20010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Victour	914 Manzana Ct.	SANTA FE	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sally	Elesby	555 Jean Street	OAKLAND	94610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Alward	10480 N Fenton Rd	Fenton	48430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Stelman	26 Cluf Bay Rd	Brunswick	4011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerard	Izzo	604 Foxdale Pl	Powell	43065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tristan	MacAvery	242 Chestnut St	Syracuse	13212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chad	Nelson	11200a Barnswallow Place	WALDORF	20603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Smith	3514 SW Austin st	Seattle	98126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Kelly	411 N Michigan Ave	PASADENA	91106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
April	Arrington	5637 Harpers Farm Rd	Columbia	21044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	Landress	P.O. Box 90778	San Antonio	78209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kerry	Drewett	9974 W Sunflower Ln	BOISE	83704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	McFarland	288 Ponderosa Circle	Parachute	81635	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregory	Ebeling	203 W Church St	Edenton	27932	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	McNeill	4373 Labatts Way	Liverpool	13090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sam	McKann	4646 Mueller Blvd #3046	Austin	78723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Cutler	5534 Basin Ct S	Salem	97306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brendan	Rome	7 Yellowbrick Road, West Tisbury, MA	Vineyard Haven	2568	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phyllis	Hendricks	2255 Burton Street #32	Beloit	53511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Young	5 Park Lane	POCONO MANOR	18349	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Tolley	4013 Wallace Ln.	Nashville	37215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annette	Levin	1039 MIDWAY RD	Northbrook	60062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Grant	189 Oriole St	Prince George	23875	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffery	Liuzzi	107 Westend ave	Shirley	11967	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Eller	5525 Hampstead Way	Duluth	30097	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sterling & Louise	Proffitt	3795 Whitetail Lane	KESWICK	22947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ross	Roberts	4623 194th Ave SE	Issaquah	98027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Ireland	20913 Brooke Knolls Rd	Gaithersburg	20882	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Goodman	609 Waggoner Drive	Arlington	76013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Zielinski	267 Wildwood Rd.	Elk Grove Village	60007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Bennett	2424 E T C Jester Blvd	Houston	77008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Holbert	189 Clay Lucas Dr, London KY	London	40744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Anglin	Cranbrook Dr	Boynton Beach	33436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Dabrowski	19824 Ashworth Avenue N	Seattle	98133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elise	Tollner	12 Charles St.	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Haney	129 Wardman Road	Buffalo	14217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Rutland	335 Mcgrady Rd NE	ROME	30165	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jay	Clarke	10 Seahorse Court	Isle of Palms	29451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathan	Wood	1709 22nd Avenue	Longview	98632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Chretien	2 Tray Hollow Road, Foster, RI	Foster	2825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Hall	50 High St., 316	New Britain	6051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Wigeland	201 E Hill St	Villa Park	60181	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Himes-Powers	1851 38th Ave	SAN FRANCISCO	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linnean	Davis	70 Irving Place	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	Bensavage	720 NE 4th Ave	Fort Lauderdale	33304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Rice	72 Holstrom Circle	NOVATO	94947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	LAUZE	CASTELMAURO U		31180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Leppo		Santa Maria	93454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Mihalko	53 Alexandria Dr	Hackettstown	7840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Awad	211 Glen Springs	Brandon	39047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Weber	1095 Coventry Ct.	Greenwood	46142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrie	Salvato	89 Colony Ln	New Hampton	3256	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry Joe	Rands	5048 Lantana Rd. #5109	Lake Worth	33463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Halm	106 Ridge Road	Mahomet	61853	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Halverson	419 Alex Moore St.	Sauk Centre	56378	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Wrencher	3450 N Lake Shore Dr	Chicago	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Krempa	7445 Eagle Road	DAVISBURG	48350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarah	Lacey	Box 306 90 MAIN ST	Marion	2738	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marvann	Covington	P O Box 852 Millburn NJ	Millburn	7041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JOHN	McCASKILL	15756 W. SPRING TREE WAY	Surprise	85374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheryl	Anderson	3201 Misty Oaks Way	Round Rock	78665	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Bolton	393 Belmont Street	BELMONT	2478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	fanrak	1889 ringing rocks road	Upper Black Eddy	18972	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marian	Cole	802 Grape Avenue	Sunnyvale	94087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Schwager	W4811 Main Street	Vulcan	49892	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	mayer	10 harbor hghts dr	Centerport	11721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charity	Moschopoulos	3617 Sprucedale Dr	ANNANDALE	22003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Gervasi	159 piedmont d	Delray Beach	33484	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Sleeper	24716 Carnoustie Ct.	BONITA SPRINGS	34135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kerry	Drewett	9974 W Sunflower Ln	BOISE	83704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Kennedy	PO Box 14128	Chicago	60614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anita	Shumaker		West Unity	43570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Cormier	xxxxxxxxxxxxxxx x	Marlborough	1752	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aaron	Davies	360 N. Harrison Blvd.	Ogden	84404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Visger	P.O. Box 1673	Auburn	98071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randall	Herz	Desert Isle Dr.	San Jose	95117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Orrico	206 Pine Creek Ave.	Fairfield	6824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DR. CURTISS	DURAND	115 RANDALL AVENUE	Port Jefferson	11777	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christa	deSanti	1365 York Avenue	New York	10021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julie	McCord	3402 Oxford West	Auburn Hills	48326	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deidre	Uchiyamada	10203 Fernglen Avenue	Tujunga	91042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Bright	1427 Larry Joe Dr.	Cincinnati	45230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Tom	2918 Franklin Avenue	San Diego	92113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jill	Brothers	47013 Tomahawk Drive	NEGLEY	44441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	falk	847 freeman	LONG BEACH	90804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beth	kohler	1637 oakwood drive		10072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terence	Carroll	700 Ardmore Ave., #524	Ardmore	19003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	McCartan	Cecilia, Ky	Cecilia	42724	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Green	624 Tall Oak Trl, Seneca, SC	Seneca	29678	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bjorn	Jensen	11 Hill street	Somerville	2144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juno	Ellis	834 N. Parish Pl.	BURBANK	91506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kirk	Robe	129 E. Jersey st.	Gladstone	97027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sydney	Wright	12 Stoneridge Court	Baltimore	21239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Graham	34531 violet Dr n	Pinellas Park	33781	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Rueda	5936 Sand Wedge Lane #1605	NAPLES	34110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
carol	smythe	3510 Tasselflower Ct	Bonita Springs	34134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Albert	Zook	2922 W 55th Ave	DENVER	80221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

c	Alsandor	8006 Upland Park Ct	Sugar Land	77479	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erik	Hansen	17 Cedar Avenue	Greenbrae	94904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ernesto	PelÌ±a	9970 nw 9 st	Miami	33172	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Miguel	Estrella	235 E 149th St	Bronx	10451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henrietta	Bertelsman	17368 W Sunset Blvd #405	Pacific Palisades	90272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Penny	3662 Noyac Rd	Sag Harbor	11963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gordon	Smith	1602 McClendon Rd.	Hot Springs National Park	71901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Austin	165 Overlook Drive	East Greenwich	2818	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
June	Egan	2297 Persimmon Dr	Ijamsville	21754	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Apfel	201 e 17 st ny ny	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Lazo	9534 Selby Pl	Norfolk	23503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bernard	Saftner	7 Dorchester Dr #619	Pittsburgh	15241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Lund	20273 Little Haney Rd	Gays Mills	54631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrie	Salvato	89 Colony Ln	New Hampton	3256	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Saunderd	685 humphrey st.	Swampscott	1907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Mucida	504 E 63rd St.	New York	10065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ward	Vanfrost	1620 Gershwin Avenue North	SAINT PAUL	55128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Liddle	1374 Weast Rd	SCHENECTADY	12306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	kohlman	254 park Ave south	New York	10010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wm	Seemann	3124 Dearborn Blvd	Sioux City	51104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Carson	3910 Tyndrum Drive	Durham	27705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnell	Walker	108 Francis Street	Elizabethtown	28337	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gwendolyn	Youngblood	8439 Duskin Ct	Jacksonville	32216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Miller	Mount Morris	Mount Morris	61054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deidre	Uchiyamada	10203 Fernglen Avenue	Tujunga	91042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Musselman	3315 N View Crest Dr	TUCSON	85745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Pilson	PO Box 371	Raymond	93653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

theresa	trahan	74 a lock st	Nashua	3064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Shafto	Portland, ME	Portland	4102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Perry	15970 Hwy. 271Tyler	TYLER	75708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carrie	Hooyman	4609 N 70th St	MILWAUKEE	53218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Smallbear	Rich	18 Pentucket St. Haverhill,Ma.01 830	Haverhill	1830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandy	Ethridge	8114 38th St Ct W	Tacoma	98466	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Attalla	PO Box 32868	OKLAHOMA CITY	73123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Rowland	8215 O'Donovan Road	CRESTON	93432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Otto	Palmer	708 Monterey Blvd., Hermosa Beach, CA	Hermosa Beach	90254	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ryan	Cole	1327 W 42nd St	Baltimore	21211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas J.	Cady	215 west 91st street #4	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Mieyal	6156 Stumph Road	Parma	44130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lori	Enblom	14755 113TH ST S	Hastings	55033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Rozelle	27 Oak Road	SANTA CRUZ	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Dukes	842 N. Eden Street	BALTIMORE	21205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	Shepardson	52 Franklin Valley Cir	Reisterstown	21136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Klocinski	491 Eastlook Dr.	Saline	48176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Lisowsky	10283 Michala Pl	Santee	92071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sherrie	Raymond	P.O. Box 1131	Knoxville	37901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. This seems similar to the telephone equipment & line access restrictions of the 1970's. Cable companies' fees for set-top box & modem rentals are also exorbitant. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vincent	Newell	2148 Morrison Ave.	Union	7083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Czajkowski	311 Pamela Circle	Brooklyn	49230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Levy	2018 Taylor St.	San Francisco	94133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Grill	37 Cherokee Rd.	Oxford	6478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	scahill	po box 10740PGH., PA.	Pittsburgh	15203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Lopez	2160 Burgener blvd	SAN DIEGO	92110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Mierisch	7355 N Kildare Ave	Lincolnwood	60712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Ray	500 birkdale way	Bakersfield	93309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Congdon	600 NE 36th St #621	Miami	33137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Blake	Mikesell	2984 indianola ave	COLUMBUS	43202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Federico	Subervi	6304 Colina Ln	Austin	78759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rev	Cline	2139 Centre Ave	BELLMORE	11710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	McClure	036 S.W. Porter St. Apt. 4	Portland	97201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Adase	1760 Big Wheeling Creek Road	Wheeling	26003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Falasca	6070 80th Street N., St. Petersburg, FL	Saint Petersburg	33709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Michaels	205 W 89 St	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Green	36 County Rd 4455 PO Box 1871	Grand Lake	80447	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jose	villanueva	805 N. 14th St.	Waco	76707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Abraham	Feingold	3050 N Palm Aire Dr	Pompano Beach	33069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjorie	Rathbone	B302 Summit Drive	Bryn Mawr	19010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joey	Barrios	po box 9	Ashland	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Weappa	813 W Mary St	AUSTIN	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Powell	66 s eagle road	Havertown	19083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Reding	1234 dahlia loop	San Jose	95126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jen	Bees	1811 Euclid Ave	Dallas	75206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Keller	1842 NE 169th	Portland	97230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

karen	Thiemann	1953 Lake Miona Drive	The Villages	32162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Melin	22013 Marjorie Ave	Torrance	90503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronnie	Mullins	135 Hampstead Avenue APT 1005	Savannah	31405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Manel	1514 SE 5th place	Cape Coral	33990	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heidi	Martek	111 Friendly Ln.	Hampstead	28443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandor	Pal	STREET ADDRESS	Seminole	33772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Gibbs	1282 Arrowwood Lane	Grand Blanc	48439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Nichols	2410 Oak Trail Dr.	Germantown	38139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Lloyd-Piralli	26 Whitney Lane	Oxford	4270	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Rodriguez	9531 state hwy 151 San Antonio, tx	San Antonio	78251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynda	Senn	3802 Sumantra Cliff	San Antonio	78261	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	murphy	84 Gainsborough st.	Boston	2115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Evans	161 Spring Lane Paramus	Paramus	7652	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Rudan	130 Northway	Greenbelt	20770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
e	Gibbs	32 Allen Raod	NORWALK	6851	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Murphy	609 E. 1st. St.	Redfield	57469	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Orta	809 Spring St	BETHLEHEM	18018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Kriner	737 Graydon Ave Norfolk VA	NORFOLK	23507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Lapinski	2233 N. Harrison St. Arlington, Va.	Arlington	22205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Sehne	6409 Raindance Dr	Temple	76502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Chischilly	POB 1285	Bisbee	85603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doyle	Rhoads	240 Country Club Rd N PO Box 462	PARIS	61944	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Webb	703 Royal Gardens Ct.	Madison Heights	24572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	McFeeley	116 Chestnut Street	Gloucester City	8030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alex	Mach	9242 Woodlawn Ave.N.	SEATTLE	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christian	von Schleicher	2111 Misty Meadow Court	CARROLLTON	75006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Haynes	305 Venado Ct	Laredo	78045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. This extra charge is especially burdensome to those who are retired or on fixed incomes.

Paul	Sandoval	14366 Clarion Way	Magalia	95954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	O'Neil	5555 n Sheridan	CHICAGO	60640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Waltner	9 North St.	WILLIAMSBURG	1096	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gene	Goff	767 Sherman	Ridgway	81432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Niyi	Aguaze	11 Harrison Street, Mount Vernon, NY	Mount Vernon	10550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Orta	809 Spring St	BETHLEHEM	18018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Squires	916 Duncan St	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Forester	408 Waller Street	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Sackett	8720 Perry Hwy	Erie	16509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Priscilla	Miller	223 Laws Brook Rd	Concord	1742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorraine	Warren	350 Thunderbird # 42	El Paso	79912	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Carr	3709 Buena creek Rd.	Vista	92084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Colleen	Kimberlin	6529 Ventura Dr.	Pittsburgh	15236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Trainer	19 Lafayette Road	Ipswich	1938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edna	Monett	1032 Appamattox court	Fayetteville	28305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann	Craig	3830 Roxbury CT	Colorado Springs	80906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Schietinger	1623 Kennedy Pl NW	Washington	20011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Channi	Sekhon	35171 Grand River, Farmington, MI	Farmington	48335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Yvonne	Pritchard	705 Orchis Way	BRANDON	33510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eliya	Gwetta	1952 W Leland Ave. #3	Chicago	60640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Larson	6553 25th ave nw	SEATTLE	98117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alex	Hendrickson	302 Russi court	Folsom	95630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Kramer	7705 Woodward	Woodridge	60517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nieba	Paige	1322 SE 60th Ave.	PORTLAND	97215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Teresa	Wlosowicz	ul. Wysoka 12B/25, Sosnowiec		41200	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Wlosowicz	ul. Wysoka 12B/25, Sosnowiec		41200	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Peltz	16005 Fernway Road	Cleveland	44120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maarja	Paris	7434 Sw Capitol hwy	Portland	97219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Tewis	1410 E 41st	Tulsa	74105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Rodriguez	9531 state hwy 151 San Antonio, tx	San Antonio	78251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carlos	Prada	22 Mount Morris Park West	NEW YORK	10027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Cummings	PO Box 1633	Pacific Palisades	90272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristin	Noel	79 Suncook valley Rd.	Chichester	3258	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Belisle	17 Mountain View St.	South Hadley	1075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paula	Kwakenat	7301 W 101st St Apt 112	Minneapolis	55438	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claudia	Kaplan	4911 Victoria Dr.	Durham	27713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eva	Langan	Orlando	Orlando	32837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martina	Strbuncelj	2412 Rutland street	Houston	77008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kahlil	Rintye	700 Lombard st San Francisco CA	San Francisco	94133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Kohms	302 8th St	Riverton	8077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	G. Rego	Vilella #18 Lares PR	LARES	669	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Apo	24005 Hawkins Creamery Court	Gaithersburg	20882	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Richard	214 MECHANIC ST 3	Leominster	1453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Nooft	752 Salt Lake Drive	Tarpon Springs	34689	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Lee	11777 N2240Rd.	Cordell	73632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carole	Seidelman	345 WW 58th st	New York	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Cammack	4314 Grainary Ave	Tampa	33624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Wilson	747 E Cache La Poudre St.	COLORADO SPRINGS	80903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

April	Schwartz	Andover, MA	Andover	1810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Miller	34740 w 8 mile rd. apt 8	Farmington	48335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Drew	Panko	14 Dunham Rd	Hartsdale	10530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

reinhard	ebner	9906 shelburne ter. #316	Gaithersburg	20878	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dawson	Crisman	868 W Michaels Ct	Fountaintown	46130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Kwiatkoski	School Road Bx. 4117	Broomes Island	20615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Darren	Showers	117 Wakefield Ave	BUFFALO	14214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Officer	2666 E 73rd St Apt 12W	Chicago	60649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Nichols	2410 Oak Trail Dr.	Germantown	38139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Nilsson	Skansgatan 2		31142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edith	Kusnic	2304 NE 113th St., Seattle, WA	Seattle	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Morris	Wortelboer	5407 menard ave galveston texas 77551	Galveston	77551	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Knost	11717 North Dr.	Tampa	33617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Dominguez	1443 Monroe St., NW	Washington	20010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Olga	Roper	14810 Willow Bend St	San Antonio	78232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elaine	Farris	PO Box 1936	LUCERNE VALLEY	92356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Marshall	453 Ingleside Dr.	THE VILLAGES	32162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Casciola	2138 union hill road	Malvern	19355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harris	Thanopoulos	33 Birch Pond Dr	Saugus	1906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Bennett	302 Cypress Court	Franklin	37069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ari	Wickramaaratchi	3 Esplanade Dr, E. Patchogue, NY	Patchogue	11772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mildred	waters	3Raleigh Dr.	Savannah	31406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Keen	1191 Meadowlark Dr	Iowa City	52246	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Caron	2516 Silver Creek Dr.	Franklin Park	60131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeanne	Suhr	152 SW Peacock Blvd	Port Saint Lucie	34986	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Green	2808 Mulberry	Pasadena	77502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Nelson	PO Box 872	TWAIN HARTE	95383	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

zachary	klein	5 oakview terrace	Jamaica Plain	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Elenbaas	p.o box 39	Irons	49644	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Birckhead	213 wild oak ln	CARRBORO	27510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	P	144 Salt Pond Road	Blue Hill	4614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tammy	Murphy	3424 Ainslie St.	Philadelphia	19129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Uribe	4839 Wesleyan St	San Antonio	78249	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JOHN	KLEPPINGER	PO Box 2863	Palm Springs	92263	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Smith	120 W LAZY ACRE RD	Wausau	54401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacqueline	Knable	878 Sandburg Ter.	HENDERSONVILLE	28791	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Campbell	440 Elizabeth St, Dacono, CO	Dacono	80514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Blumenstock	64 Vista del Oro, Cerrillos, NM	Cerrillos	87010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Norman	15 Davis Ln	Wellington	89444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ralph	Green	36 County Rd 4455 PO Box 1871	Grand Lake	80447	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Nooft	752 Salt Lake Drive	Tarpon Springs	34689	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Mecherikoff	3351 E 120th Ave Unit 25-102	DENVER	80233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raymond	DeBuse	3340 Lilly Rd	Olympia	98506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	McGinty	16415 Claire Ave	Cleveland	44111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	DeCarr	431 Pleasant Street	Minersville	17954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Scammahorn	6450 w 110th ave	Broomfield	80020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristen	Nelson	2931 middle sattre rd	Decorah	52101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dick	Corrigan	341 West 71st St	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Ryan	3636 16 St NW	Washington	20010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Reynolds	16942 N 1800TH ST	MARSHALL	62441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
G.	Wilcken	W. 8th St	Lawrence	66049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tawna	Farmer	36 Old Landing Road	Belvedere Tiburon	94920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	DeBuse	3340 Lilly Rd	Olympia	98506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joy	Morgen	1901 Dondee Road	Madison	53716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jessica	R	830 S Pecos St	Denver	80223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Junker	201 Calle Bello	Bakersfield	93314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gene	Hetz	54 stone lane	STATEN ISLAND	10314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony	Iwane	1001 46th St	Emeryville	94608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
TM	Dolan	PO Box 653	PIE TOWN	87827	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Annecone	551 Torrey Pine Lane	Santa Rosa	95407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Bond	9304 Lindsey Ln	Manassas	20111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Jones	769 Sarah Joy Court	Cincinnati	45238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Breehl	832 Blake Ave. SW	New Philadelphia	44663	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Brumann	6244 W Barry Ave	Chicago	60634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	Kunz	Riverton	Riverton	84065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrea	Cain	415 Linden Street	FALL RIVER	2720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. And get the high price that we pay just to remained informed. People cannot afford this. Our wonderful technology should not only be for the one's who can afford it which is some that wasn't even considered when the decisions where made regarding broadband. And the viewing is awful, commercial after commercial with a few minutes of viewing the actual content we are tuning in to watch in between.
Lindsey	Baldewicz	3871 E. Plankinton Ave.	Cudahy	53110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Priscilla	Martinez	5308 La Colonia	ALBUQUERQUE	87120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
reinhard	ebner	9906 shelburne ter. #316	Gaithersburg	20878	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Bohan	22 Sagamore Cove Road	Branford	6405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marc	Grindle	41 Tallman Street	Oswego	13126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Johnson	627 17th Ave NW # 7204	Altoona	50009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Hardin	1295 Perry Davis Road	GREENEVILLE	37743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

CHARLES	PORTER	PORTER	Lady Lake	32159	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremy	Monsayac	1311 Venice Blvd., Apt. 2	Venice	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerardo	De Luna	134 E 88th Pl	Los Angeles	90003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Hemm	1040 Mill Creek Rd.	Manahawkin	8050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Mullally	100 228th St SE, Bothell, Wa	Bothell	98021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Knost	11717 North Dr.	Tampa	33617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Wallis	512 E. 20th Ave, Spokane, Wa	Spokane	99203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darrick	Young	1665 Westwood AV SW	Atlanta	30310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Berres	3040 Silvern Lane	Bellingham	98226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	Elepano	7619 Clarendon Bend Lane	Richmond	77407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ben	Bryant	785 West End Avenue	NEW YORK	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stanley	Hix	5212A Deerhaven Dr	Raleigh	27606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tobi	Hoffman	58 Hilldale Rd.	Ashland	1721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jeffrey	surovell	2110 first avenue	New York	10029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcela	Silva	124 Warren Ave N. Apt 207	Seattle	98109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stanley	Hix	5212A Deerhaven Dr	Raleigh	27606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeannine	Crader	611 Hillcrest Street	Denton	76201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Cavette	1633 Bonita	Berkeley	94709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Personius	2138 State Route 89	Seneca Falls	13148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Field	1299 Ocean Ave Santa Monica, CA	SANTA MONICA	90401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Beitel	Villa Avenue	PITMAN	8071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Siegelman	4314 Brookview Dr.	Dallas	75220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Balaji	Ramanathan	1370 mayfield lane	Hoffman Estates	60169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Graham	411 E 9th Ave Collegeville Pa	Collegeville	19426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cindy	MacRafic	2923 8th avenue nw	Rochester	55901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjorie	Miller	6030 Benedict Place	Fort Mill	29707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clive	O'Donoghue	5 Huntington Cir	Longview	75601-3	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Lancaster	2801 Denton Tap Road	Lewisville	75067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erik	Nelson	4229 Sullivan Ave	Cincinnati	45217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Priest	1104 Oakland Dr.	Anderson	46012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Lambing	1246 W Pratt Blvd Apt 506	Chicago	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Morris	12135 Mitchell Avenue	Los Angeles	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Midkiff	530 W. Floradora	Fresno	93728	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

MIchael	Monsor	Plymouth, MN	Minneapolis	55447	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lennette	Meredith	10221 S. CHARLES	Chicago	60643	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Jensen	9828 e pueblo ave #58	Mesa	85208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Riggle	18021 Bal Harbour Dr	Houston	77058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liz	Krum	po box 345	Fords	8863	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fatima	baker	1236 chestnut place	CAMBRIDGE	21613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Miller	349 Westchester Sq. So.	BILLINGS	59105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold & Franca	Ehrenshaft	378 MANSFIELD Bldg I	Boca Raton	33434	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Parrish	1413 Bramble Way	Anderson	46011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Lewis	154 4th St.	Troy	12180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Huey	6603 B Deatonhill Dr	Austin	78745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Gill	6 Coventry Circle East	MARLTON	8053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Haney	5295 Orange Dr., SW	Atlanta	30331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	LaPorte	8563 Hammett Ave	Norfolk	23503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Dragon	187 Waterford St.	Gardner	1440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jarrod	Barthe	180 woodbury st.	MANCHESTER	3102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
philip neimark	neimark	4073 n. chinook lane	Ormond Beach	32174	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Rakowski	3431 Woodstock Ave	Baltimore	21213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Tonon	11 Bolfmar Avenue	Princeton Junction	8550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marco	Castellanos	8014 N 10th Ave	Phoenix	85021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ann	winship	726 ashley avenue	Woodland	95695	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Luis	Moran	12208 ravens nest	Riverview	33578	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frederick	Lucies	20611 Oahu Circle	Estero	33928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glen	Simmons	1673 Spring Water place	Littleton	80129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pinkyjain	Pan	725 5th St., Santa Rosa, Ca	Santa Rosa	95403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alana	Mawson	16G Estate Dorothea	St Thomas	801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theotrice	Gamble Jr	7001 Lyle St	Lanham	20706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Hartinger	20607 Dennisport Ln	North Fort Myers	33917	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamie	Fillmore	18770 SW Lisa Court	BEAVERTON	97006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith S	Anderson	3621 Gundry Avenue	Long Beach	90807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelly	Colvin	6832 Floyd Street	Overland Park	66204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Tamarin	38 Richmond Hill	Irvington	10533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Davidson	5 Alcine Lane	Burlington	1803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Clabo	235 Henderson Ave	SEVIERVILLE	37862	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Obie	Hunt	1150 grand concourse	BRONX	10456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Cohen	2375 e 3 st	Brooklyn	11223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Weldon	Greig	2345 Snelling Drive	Eugene	97408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Boime	7789 Club Ridge Road	Westerville	43081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Drummond	3520 Iroquois Plaza	Lake Havasu City	86404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Rolston	2727 Dauphine	New Orleans	70117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adrienne	Nichols	3400 Camelot Way	Loganville	30052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	King	406 E King St Gordonsville VA	Gordonsville	22942	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	LeBeau	Medford Oregon	Medford	97501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Metheny	321 main st	Cardiff by the Sea	92007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Miller	9953 Mills Ave	Montclair	91763	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Meyer	18 Cannon St.	Pittsburgh	15205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jeff	vondell	224 palmer st watertown ny	Watertown	13601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Iannuzzi	20512 Alderleaf Terrace	Germantown	20874	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexa	McMahan	4892 Maui Circle	HUNTINGTON BEACH	92649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tyama	Arawole	327 Gatewater Court	Glen Burnie	21060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	Comstock	1001 School Street NW, APT 119	ELK RIVER	55330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Beigel	4021 Foreston Rd	Beltsville	20705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Goodman	305 East Side Rd. Trevett, ME	Trevett	4571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Benson	4938 Garfield Ave S Mpls MN	Minneapolis	55419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Squires	134 Calle De La Rosa	Camarillo	93012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Bowen	11701 Metric Blvd. 313	Austin	78758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Everton	1104 Duckbill Ct.	Midlothian	23113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sanford	Pollack	7521 N Village Ave	TUCSON	85704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Gardner	1011 Grand Avenue	Keokuk	52632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Covelli	9910 W Sandstone Dr	Sun City	85351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Cochran	711 S. Niagara St Holden, Missouri	Holden	64040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Kauffman	4455 Los Feliz BLvd	Los Angeles	90027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Travis	Tindall	80 Apollo Road	Whitman	2382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sanford	Smith	1240 Hollywood Dr	JACKSON	38301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	G	6120 Oak Hill Drive	Sykesville	21784	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Santos	1447 So. Palmetto ave	ONTARIO	91762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicholas	Mantas	372 Wilson Avenue	Township of Washington	7676	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Schyler	helms	3720 N college ave	Warsaw	46581	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Natalie	Rabinowitz	474 48th Avenue	Long Island City	11109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. If only more Americans were smarter to KILL THEIR CABLE

Jason	potts	154 Harvard st	San Francisco	94134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jill	Grubb	4681 Twp Rd	Marengo	43334	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jess	Hamlin	824 Sawyer Street	SOUTH PORTLAND	4106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mathew	Metcalf	resident of Olympia, WA	Olympia	98501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Sideleau	226 Spring St.	Winchendon	1475	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Clark	510 Quebec Pl	Colorado Springs	80911	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clendon	Gibson	10059 Emerald Creek Dr.	Houston	77070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Prudden	3714 122nd Street Court, NW	Gig Harbor	98332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold & Franca	Ehrenshaft	378 MANSFIELD Bldg I	Boca Raton	33434	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Griesmeyer	909 San Pablo NE	ALBUQUERQUE	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	Kanterman	5311 Landcastle Ln	Mc Leansville	27301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. PLEASE!
Charlisa	Moore	17043 Upper Bay Rd. Addison, TX	Addison	75001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

g	pogel	petersburg	FORT LAUDERDALE	33325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
steve	hooper	329 glenstone dr	Mountain Home	72653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Conrow	11 MacArthur Blvd.	Collingswood	8108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wynn	shafer	18009 Chagrin	Beachwood	44122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Huisinga	10906 bill point court	Bainbridge Island	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
justin	mikach	449 serrano ave	Pittsburgh	15243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nusi	Kumar	203 Coggins	Walnut Creek	94596	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Aparo	37 Ivy Hill Dr	Smithtown	11787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Mendoza	2727 N. Amidon #109	WICHITA	67204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Shaw	11338 34th Avenue NE	Seattle	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mitchell	Orman	Chicago, IL	Chicago	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Stroupe	329 Raintree Dr	Matthews	28104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bobby	Merritt	730 Pino Way	SALINAS	93905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Ludes	606 S. 157th Cir	Omaha	68118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Malnak	8980 Palmas Grandes Blvd.	Bonita Springs	34135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Weir	Duncanville	DUNCANVILLE	75137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Morgan	113 Midvale Crossing	Staunton	24401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eddie	Daniels	327 Ghormley Ave	OAKLAND	94603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claudio	Naranjo	Box 141404	Coral Gables	33114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
rex	franklyn	146 stewart dr	BELVEDERE TIBURON	94920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Westfall	414 w. Markham Ave	Durham	27701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arthur	Finstein	9 Randy Road	Framingham	1701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Libby	Berman	413 E Muhammad Ali Blvd		A1020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heather	Chenevert	2001 NE 157th Avenue	Vancouver	98684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Earl	4650 S Butterfield Drive	Tucson	85714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Johnson	28W141 Liberty St.	WINFIELD	60190	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thor	Boode	1006 w fannetta	Dexter	63841	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Santoro	64 Mercer St. Jersey City, NJ	Jersey City	7302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sassy	Smallman	1 Florence Circle Kennebunk ME	Kennebunk	4043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Erwin	455 Vinegarten Dr	Cincinnati	45255	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dana	Schwartz	9325 Creekview Drive	Laurel	20708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Beeman	1218 E Cayuga St	Tampa	33603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Wagner	851 Grant Avenue	CUYAHOGA FALLS	44221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jared	Hinerman	1065 11th Street Waynesburg PA	Waynesburg	15370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanda	Bates	1117 KENNEBEC STREET Apt 2A	Oxon Hill	20745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Scherf	147 Barrett Lane	BEREA	40403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Craig	Emerick	221 NW 9th Street	Corvallis	97330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mikel	O	1349 McCauley St.	Crozet	22932	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	McCuller	McCuller	Burnsville	28714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	becker	3108 Surfside Blvd	CAPE CORAL	33914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Guma	270 Bronxville Rd, A35	Bronxville	10708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Davis	141 24th Ave. #1	San Mateo	94403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	Shapiro	6530 Schroeder Rd Apt 320	Madison	53711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Rose	6624 High Ridge Pl. NE	ALBUQUERQUE	87111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ernie and Sherry	Gross	3716 Glenmeade Rd.	LOUISVILLE	40218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

LOUIS AND PATRICIA	FITZPATRICK	410 e temple ct	Vero Beach	32968	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Heffner	17 Mangham Ct	Peralta	87042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erika	Schluntz	96 Waban Ave.	Waban	2468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

L	Michaels	31524 113th Ave SE	Auburn	98092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Berman	67 Carnegie Dr	Smithtown	11787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Mcqueary	4066 Cr. 4701	Wolfe City	75496	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	Hollingsworth	2903 Antares Circle	GARLAND	75044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M S	Dillon III	4100 Malaga Ave	MIAMI	33133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Ginn	3444 E Fairmount St	Tucson	85716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	King	2002 Convent Place Apt 9	Nashville	37212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Uhrhane	boston, ma	Jamaica Plain	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Matcho	C-1 Carver Place	Lawrence Township	8648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

orville	hall	103 WOOD CREEK CT	WEATHERFORD	76087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Erris	1010 Amherst Pl	Cheshire	6410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	White	4714 S Puget Sound Ave	Tacoma	98409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Gotvald	528 Monti Circle	Pleasant Hill	94523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Pinneo	4027 Sylvan Glen lane	ROSEVILLE	95747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Emery	1016 e 28th st	Houston	77009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynn	West	725-2 Tramway Lane	Albuquerque	87122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Meyer	413 S. Main St.	Attleboro	2703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
randy	kaufman	2801 yale st	Flint	48503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fred	Smith	92 Camino Encinas	Orinda	94563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Kern	PO Box 2306	Red Lodge	59068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gunhild	Ellerbe	3828 Steve Lillie Cir	STOCKTON	95206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Haegele	13032 townsend road	PHILADELPHIA	19154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Gallagher	8095 Walker Road	Colorado Springs	80908	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Saunders	1133 Delaware Avenue	BETHLEHEM	18015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	McKenney	972 Ripley Terrace	Palm Bay	32907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Kartman	W6746 West Club Rd	Fifield	54524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Ladd	518 Rose Ave.	Wilmington	28403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angela	T	P.O. Box 20828	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	Rodriguez	New York, NY	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	Hopkins	000 nosnailmail way	State College	16803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elisabeth	Null	7p6 Bonifant St.	Silver Spring	20910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcy	Wambach	5821 SE Monroe St.	Milwaukie	97222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Alger	325 Tweit Court	Gold Bar	98251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victoria	Randall	6211 Culberson St.	Houston	77021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Rossi	30-83 29th Street	Astoria	11102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Parrott	1640 N POINSETTIA PLACE	Los Angeles	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ben	Carden	51 Seaverns Ave	Jamaica Plain	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Nevins	1951 Forest Dr.	MILFORD	48381	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Miller	1299 Mt. Carmel Ave.	North Haven	6473	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Lawrence	PO Box 71, 71 Cedar Hill Rd.	High Falls	12440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Soos	8104 Bloomington Ave S	Minneapolis	55425	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juanita	McFadden	3821 Cambridge St.	Philadelphia	19104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Smith	2475	Port Charlotte	33952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Bourasso	105 Market St.	Rockland	2370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Kelly	177 Sunset Ave. N.	Salem	97303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Travis	Tabbal	12762 S. 6000 W.	HERRIMAN	84096	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vivian	Shevitz	46 Truesdale Lake Drive	South Salem	10590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randy	Vaughn-Dotta	1516 E. Browning Avenue	Fresno	93710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sue	Jackson	141 Aiken Rd., West Pennant Hills, Sydney, Australia	Dorchester	2125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Toni	Simmers	10 Countryside Ct.	CAMP HILL	17011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erica	Bruns	46229 Trillum Sq	Sterling	20165	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne	Simpson	712 tonstad pl pleasant hill ca	Pleasant Hill	94523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	Pendleton	241 Pauldine Way	Grants Pass	97527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Pearce	Delray Beach	Delray Beach	33446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rhina	Slobodny	18540 soledad canyon road	Canyon Country	91351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Keller	1842 NE 169th	Portland	97230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Babicz	316 East Armitage Ave	Melrose Park	60164	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Wardell	236 federal st	PHILADELPHIA	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rodrigo	Velazquez	702 west Avenue b	hutchinson	67501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Weekes	618 SaintNicholas Ave.	New York	10030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Miller	1820 Scenic View Drive	Dubuque	52001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Cooper	2220 Ibsen	Cottage Grove	97424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jermaine	Breslow	340 S. Clark St.	Mayville	53050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Feller	PO Box 82	Freeport	4032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stefan	Whiting	220 NW 195th Ave Pembroke Pines FL	Hollywood	33029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Ross	954 Buoy Rd	Houston	77062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kinney	Evitt	2514 Roper St.	ODESSA	79761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Howard	1928 Grande Rue Cir	Columbus	43229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Doubleday	37 B Jones Road	Amherst	1002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lawrence	Stoler	140 Grove Street	Stamford	6901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julia	Hudgens	38508 Plainview Dr.	STERLING HEIGHTS	48312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Pankoe	2100 N. Line St, Apt.#S201	Lansdale	19446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Bachelder	5423 Pepperwood	Santa Rosa	95409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Mackura	1338 Winston Rd.	South Euclid	44121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Cortese	259 Dean St.	Brooklyn	11217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adam	Easterbrook	206 Ridge Ave	Butler	16001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Ainsley	1227 Pine Needle Court	Altamonte Springs	32714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Chandler	1130 S 22nd Street	Lincoln	68502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gale	Meseke	754 N. 1400 St.	Shobonier	62885	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Oglesby	509 Parallel St	CLIFTON	66937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	stout	1200 Lick Ave.	San Jose	95110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Fetters	262 S 17th St	Columbus	43205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Titus	430 Cheyenne Dr.	Simpsonville	29680	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Diaz	14 Poplar Cove	Brownsville	78521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dona-Kay	McDowell	303 Mount Richmond Ave NE	Saint Petersburg	33702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MARVIN	FUSSELL	2226 HOLIDAY RD	Cordova	61242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
debbie	wilson	1205 9th Street Apt.411	VIENNA	26105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pedro	Mier	83-10 35th Ave	Jackson Heights	11372	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
McLean	Smith	224 Westwood Road	Annapolis	21401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charmaine	Powell	101 Bumper Crop Lane	Madison	35757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wylma	Davison	4219 O'Neill	Saint Louis	63121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
N	Garvey	Phillip Rd	Derry	3038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Keller	5435 College Av #201	OAKLAND	94618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Mitchell	4248 Glenview Ct	North Richland Hills	76180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gilberto	Rivera	19900 Nw 37th ave Lot F150, Miami Gardens, Fl	Miami Gardens	33056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Willard L	McMunn	220 buttonwood	Seminole	33777	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

DAVID	SUTHERLAND	12035 Bayonet Lane	New Port Richey	34654	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Hutchings	3729 English Oak Drive	Garland	75043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Juve	13813 NW Pali St	Seal Rock	97376	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Gonzalez	1401 Parkview Ave	Rockford	61107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Floyd	1938 Chase Commnon Ct.	Norcross	30071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Adams	630 20th Avenue NE	Saint Petersburg	33704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Foral	W211 N6889 Pleasant St.	Menomonee Falls	53051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Stukes	2637 Lee ANN DRIVE	Marietta	30066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Snyder	Buffalo, NY	Buffalo	14220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mauri	Miller	67 Glen Ave# 103	Oakland	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Semlear	633 Green Oak	Longview	75604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Soos	8104 Bloomington Ave S	Minneapolis	55425	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maryann	D'Aquino-Tearle	840 Bird Bay Drive, W; Unit 101	Venice	34285	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alana	Hommel	401 N Piedmont st Apt 1	Arlington	22203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Vanderryn	1825 Cedar St	San Carlos	94070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Hylkema	303 East Bay Avenue	Newport Beach	92661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Kempner	629 W. Cermak Rd.	Chicago	60616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Wells	40 Lucinda Lane	Middletown	6457	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victoria	Mack	795 Twin Rivers Dr N	Hightstown	8520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawn	Sukhu	2392 Cornaga Avenue	Far Rockaway	11691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
K	Eberlin	621Autumn Cr	Columbia	29206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martha	Wilson	3705 Warren Circle	Bryan	77802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine Dorough	Johnson	1419 Jamesway, Fort Atkinson, WI	Fort Atkinson	53538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Gifford	1234 Main	Star	83669	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lore	D	146 b	SCHENECTADY	12345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Wittneben	303 W 2nd St N	Estherville	51334	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Von Feldt	1758 Kingston St	AURORA	80010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristin	Sponcia	809 W Nevada St, Apt 2E	Urbana	61801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Allen	1356 Markoe Street	PHILADELPHIA	19143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Young	250 RIVERTRACE DR	Marion	72364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Palm	1412-2 W. Arthur Ave.	CHICAGO	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Burke	195 Coppermine Rd	UNIONVILLE	6085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	campana	9378 Co Rd3 Freedom NY	Freedom	14065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Stukes	2637 Lee ANN DRIVE	Marietta	30066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Genevieve	Raymond	13324 SW 220TH ST	Vashon	98070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jermaine	Breslow	340 S. Clark St.	Mayville	53050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Batt	brubatt@msn.com	Brighton	2135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorraine	Markoff	275 Brookside Dr.	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Nakamura	13451 Chase Street	PACOIMA	91331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beth	Jane		1265		American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	h	80-40 Lefferts Blvd.	Kew Gardens	11415	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Hailey	8709 FM 969 #6	Austin	78724	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Cheney	500 S UMBARGER ROAD	MUNCIE	47304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Roberts	2809 Lotus Drive	Harlingen	78550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Pare	5612 Starbrght Dr.	Orlando	32839	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Norris	142 Dalton Place Way	Knoxville	37912	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Moe	Gorsline	1544 Heather Ct	WHEELING	60090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Andersen	21233 CREEKSIDE DR	Lake Zurich	60047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allen	Whitt	7611 vista alta rd nw	Albuquerque	87114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Forney	Mumford	3440 Avalon	Cleveland	44120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Phillips	660 ENGLISH VILLAGE DR. Indianapolis, IN	Indianapolis	46239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Mahoney	96 CIDER BROOK RD	AVON	6001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rheta	Johnson	8033 Cobble Creek Cir	Potomac	20854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Frazier	37 clay pits rd	Scarborough	4074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Zaikis	120 s.e. 17th st	Cape Coral	33990	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Sequeira	126 Kenilworth St.	Philadelphia	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Cheng	57 Downs Ave	STAMFORD	6902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Jane	Tytko	306 Terrace Road	SCHENECTADY	12306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Cassato	2529 w medill ave	Chicago	60647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Fairchild	732b Brandy Circle	Bowling green	42104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Culmore	172 Cordoba Way	Windsor	95492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Verla	Johansson	29937 S Nicaboyne Lake Road, Webb Lake, WI	Danbury	54830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Slocum	1771-8 Golf Course Blvd.	Independence	50644	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Lozow	6461 Park Central Drive West	Indianapolis	46260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jenna	DiFeo	PO Box 3632	Incline Village	89450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Jaggi	210 West 500 South	Providence	84332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristin	Duff	4202 E CACTUS RD, #3202	Phoenix	85032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawn	Sukhu	2392 Cornaga Avenue	Far Rockaway	11691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Mattison	146 Seawind Drive	Satellite Beach	32937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Pinchefsky	240 West 73rd St.	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
SONJA	Bryant	15102 old corn lane	Charlotte	28262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tawana	Raney	15211 RED BARN CT	Bowie	20715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Ratkovsky	5461 Fernhoff Road	Oakland	94619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
An	Feig	396 vineyd pt rd	Guilford	6437	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Anderson	17760 Bayberry Drive	SPRING LAKE	49456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Kennedy	1774 Palm Dr	VENICE	34293	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Henry	3909 East Geronimo Street	Gilbert	85295	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Hipps	1796 S Goodlett, Memphis, TN	Memphis	38111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frederick	Bauman	106 Rupp Rd	Monticello	12701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anita	Laskaris	2331 Kratky Road	Saint Louis	63114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clifford	Johnson	1400 Laurel Ave	Minneapolis	55403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Hernandez	547 Buena Vista Ave	ALAMEDA	94501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Milyko	2536 Lisa Drive	WALDORF	20601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheri	Staley	6052 E Pickering Rd, Shelton WA	Shelton	98584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Metcalf-Watson	1116 Tony Sanchez Dr. SE	ALBUQUERQUE	87123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Andrew	414 Savannah Barony Dr	North Augusta	29841	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bobbie	Flowers	418 West 17th Street, Apt. 22A	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Handon	5902 Ford Road	Frederick	21702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Smith	1836 W 68th Ave	Denver	80221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Brzostek	523 32nd St	West Palm Beach	33407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

luciano	martinho	5700 NE 22 way	Fort Lauderdale	33308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hunter	Wallof	12340 SIR FRANCIS DRAKE; A	Point Reyes Station	94956	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Hunt	4087 Somerset Ridge	Birmingham	35242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rita	Bruin	branson mo	Branson	65616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Zoladz	131 Edgemere Drive	Rochester	14612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vanessa	Bragg	5 Murdock Road	New City	10956	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pierre	Piper	4301 Park Glen Road. apt 325	Minneapolis	55416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean-Maurice	Salomon	Payzac France		7230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nina	Gegenheimer	626 S. Cuyler Avenue	Oak Park	60304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Marsh	320 LOCUST ST	Modesto	95351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Tefft	317 Pacific Street	BROOKLYN	11201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scottish	McMillan	613 Laurel Ave	Des Plaines	60016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Delibos	One Turnberry Place	LAS VEGAS	89109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce and Johanna	Collins	4492 Whittier Street	Ventura	93003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Tyra	4555 Kimberly Ct.	Minneapolis	55446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Woodcock	1483 Andrea St.	Ypsilanti	48198	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. And add the internet 'box' we're forced to rent also!
Greg	Jensen	120 S Washington St. #E	Cloverdale	95425	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	wisniewski	25772 Rancho Lucero	Moreno Valley	92551	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chuck	Infantino	13084 concord	STERLING HEIGHTS	48313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Baruch	Weisman	1029 e 12 st	brooklyn	11230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Marona	6 Meadow Road Montrose NY	Montrose	10548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Smith	11376 Red Cedar Way	SAN DIEGO	92131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Handford	55 Kristee Circle	WEST WARWICK	2893	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Hunt	4087 Somerset Ridge	Birmingham	35242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Juan	Robey	5450 Settlers Terrace	Colorado Springs	80917	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Cornwell	625 Adams st #4	Davis	95616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	LeBlanc	1603 Canyon Parke Dr	San Antonio	78232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Holland	1248 Inman Street	Akron	44306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kay	Pierce	845 Kings Cliff	Saint Louis	63122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Vanderkolk	238 Skyline Dr	Coram	11727	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Lenz	P.O. Box 59	LEVERETT	1054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chas	Martin	4331 Southview Way Dr.	Saint Louis	63129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Vanderheiden	3217 21st St.	Columbus	68601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Connors	300 W. 145th St.	New York	10039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Lorand	1351 Tomah Dr.	Mount Pleasant	48858	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Mahoney		Boston	2114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leonard	Campanello	76 Anndom Court	North Babylon	11703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
PJ	gorski	217 Tulip Trail Bend	Cedar Park	78613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephan	Loubere	4829 N Winthrop Ave, Apt 2	Chicago	60640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Youngblood	8718 Memory Trail	Wonder Lake	60097	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jerry	ross	428 Patterson Ave	Clarkston	30021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Bates	104 Elizabeth Dr	Litchfield	62056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Keller	1429 Old Reliance Rd	Middletown	17057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evelyne	Lapouge	Paddestoelweg		0	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Clark	Overland Park, KS	Overland Park	66213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Reinhardt	933 BOUGAINVILLEA ST	San Luis Obispo	93401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T	Epps	1805 204th Street NW	STANWOOD	98292	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Nadelman	1825 East Gwinnett Street	Savannah	31404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ramon	Convia del montd	5407 Hughes Dr	Charlotte	28213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Sandler	33 Musiker Ave	RANDOLPH	7869	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Meyer	1268 Hendrix Ave.	Thousand Oaks	91360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryn	Mitchell	1332 N. Erie	Wichita	67214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
don	Vanduren	1007 Paradise Lake SE	Grand Rapids	49546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carl	Conser	56550 north bank rd	Blue River	97413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Hunt	4087 Somerset Ridge	Birmingham	35242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Brzostek	523 32nd St	West Palm Beach	33407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
j	mason	4415 pierce	Omaha	68105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Lewis	15493 E. Milan Drive	Aurora	80013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
luciano	martinho	5700 NE 22 way	Fort Lauderdale	33308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristin	McCrossin	111 Rosemary Lane	Glenmoore	19343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karl	Jennings	368 Pasquotank Blvd	Hertford	27944	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Hagele	222 N COLUMBUS	CHICAGO	60601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	Knox	14835 Brownstone Lane	Westminster	92683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ferris	Archie	16735 Forest	Oak Forest	60452	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Gaumer	23 tamarac	Champaign	61821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ROBERT	GREENWOOD	289 HANOVER CENTER ROAD	Etna	3750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Estevan	R.	1841 Luzern St.	SEASIDE	93955	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Martin	4047 w 132 st	Hawthorne	90250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Hunt	4087 Somerset Ridge	Birmingham	35242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Melcher	6779 Treeline Pl	Rancho Cucamonga	91701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Mills	533 E. 12600 S.	Draper	84020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	Karl	16180 SW Pebble Ct	Beaverton	97007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Tenney	441 W El Norte Parkway #306	Escondido	92026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Hanna	214 Sixth Avenue, #3B	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Howard	Smith	78 Pilgrim Road West Hartford	West Hartford	6117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Kinne	22877 Privateer Drive	Summerland Key	33042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Holler	14915 Windlea Lane	Houston	77040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cliff	Simpson	seattle, wa	Seattle	98118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Elfin	8206 Bryant Drive	BETHESDA	20817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Hutton	196 Palmer Road	Monson	1057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremiah	Revitch	41 Meadow Drive	Mill Valley	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elyse	Baggen	413 Smith Neck Road	South Dartmouth	2748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Melcher	6779 Treeline Pl	Rancho Cucamonga	91701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Fendya	516 West Ferry St	Buffalo	14222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Gage	4358 Ardmore Dr	Bloomfield Hills	48302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Duffy	505 luria ln	CHAMPAIGN	61822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Luke	Eckert	15257 Capstan St	Corpus Christi	78418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melynda	Elbennane	17641 156th Ave SE	Renton	98058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Barker	2550 Avenue I Spc 47, Lancaster, CA	Lancaster	93535	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Bateau	6039 Collins Ave. #1423	Miami Beach	33140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bennie	Woodard	208 E LAKE HOWARD DR UNIT #401	WINTER HAVEN	33881	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Zatorsky	241 Ridge Ave West Hazleton Pa	Hazleton	18202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Basilone	572 Grand Street	New York	10002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julia	Labossiere	11 Cullen Hill Rd Lincoln RI	Lincoln	2865	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Budzynski	po box242	NESCONSET	11767	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nilsa	Vazquez	466 Commodore Ave NW	Palm Bay	32907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dana	Luce	8003 Adrian Dr.	Rohnert Park	94928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Mercer	126 South Street	Granby	1033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Pirozzoli	3705 Jones St	Omaha	68105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ren	nurse	1111 adriatic ave	Atlantic City	8401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Renee	Deljon	11628 N. 65th St.	SCOTTSDALE	85254	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Babkowski	816 Linden St	Pittston	18641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Antonucci	3 Howard court	Plainview	11803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steward	LaCasce	5101 N Pinnacle Cove Dr.	Tucson	85749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	Whitmyre	4726 e. 14th street	Long Beach	90804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne	Carrara	280 Summer Street	Boston	2210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dieter	Beck	540 S Fairview DR	Harlem	30814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pierre	Piper	4301 Park Glen Road. apt 325	Minneapolis	55416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Bogosian	5007 Totem Trl	Anacortes	98221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liberty	Ford	9115 Chapel Valley Road	Dallas	75220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Char	Esser	505 Van Lears Run	Villanova	19085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carrie	Cole	31 NE 58th Ave	Portland	97213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Carr	2301 Severn Avenue	Metairie	70001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carola	slater	1604 Chelsea Cove	HOPEWELL JUNCTION	12533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarianna	Smith	116 Calle Nogales, Walnut Creek, Ca	Walnut Creek	94597	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Mayne	1136 North 700 West	Woods Cross	84087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Hoffman	1808 N. Larrabee St.	CHICAGO	60614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Poggiali	3746 Castle Dr	ZEPHYRHILLS	33540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Roberts	900 north third street	LOMPOC	93436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Chaplin	1802 Lancaster Rd	Birmingham	35209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Marshall	527 NE Sapphire Way	Jensen Beach	34957	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Stalls	1745 18th st	NICEVILLE	32578	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Charlton	10th Street SW	Faribault	55021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

john	shay	6400 east hillock #1	Sahuarita	85629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
cathy	staniunas	14 mill st	Northborough	1532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Phalen	1300 lombard street	Philadelphia	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Bandor	907 Fairview Av	South Milwaukee	53172	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joy	Duncan	74 Oak Creek Way	Dawsonville	30534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Tomaschik	2645 Fleur de LIs Pl	Atlanta	30360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Jones	31629 122nd Ave SE	Auburn	98092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eli	Ren	1800 S Jackson St Apt 149	Seattle	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Calvin	Johnson	1505 W Central St Apt E	Marion	62959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lawrence	Jacobson	1613 california ave sw	Seattle	98116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Ross	90 Michael Rd.	Honey Brook	19344	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bernard	Devlin	30 Wicklow Street, Malden, MA	Malden	2148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Delton	Johnson	14 McKevett	Santa Paula	93060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilee	Darby	1448 Madrona SE	Salem	97302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	J. Cassinelli	3708 Jo-Ann Drive	SACRAMENTO	95821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Holder	11552 Barranca Rd	CAMARILLO	93012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Deak	3307 Dartmoor Dr	TALLAHASSEE	32312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Corwin	6417 S Glencoe Ct	Littleton	80121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kris	Hoover	850 N Kemp St	Burbank	91505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kris	Hoover	850 N Kemp St	Burbank	91505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Francis	23060 Deziel st.	CLINTON TOWNSHIP	48035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Bishop	23 Belle River Cir	Maumelle	72113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Pagni	1290 Washington St.	Reno	89503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Christensen	9808 Kelly Road North	Prince George	V2K5V1	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Martell	87B Prospect Street	Gloucester	1930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Schaffer	8560 Bayberry Dr	WARREN	44484	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Grover	Strong	145 Golf Ct	TEANECK	7666	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Peter	2184 pellam blvd	Port Charlotte	33948	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Montgomery	124 Lindley Ln	POTTSTOWN	19465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	Brower	231 SW Palm Drive	PORT SAINT LUCIE	34986	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	McGowan	4436 Latimer Ave	San Jose	95130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Myers	10 Stitchberry Ct.	Reisterstown	21136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
steve	Landsman	117 Nelson Road	Baltimore	21208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deanna	Coleman	118 Tobey Street 3 Fl	Providence	2909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Scarborough	9466 S Fairway View Dr Aandy UT	Sandy	84070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kahla	Gentry	1217 E Cape Coral Blvd, Cape Coral FL	Cape Coral	33904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Izabella	Dabrowski	11805 Eubank Dr.	AUSTIN	78758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Greer	5800 Stacey St	Bakersfield	93313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Levier	218 Neptune Avenue	Beachwood	8722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Burkitt	Melbourne		20000	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Islas	4048 E Garland	Fresno	93726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sonja	Osborn	P.O. Box 280	Litchfield	6759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcello	Gucci	Prato, Italy		59100	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	borland	2511 caves camp rd	WILLIAMS	97544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	Dellinger	61 lancaster		Mount j	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Baran	2890 Waterfront Street	ASTORIA	97103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Galbreath	1308 E Lynn Blvd	Sterling	61081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Youngblood	8718 Memory Trail	Wonder Lake	60097	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Prima	Wayne	Wayne	19087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
rob	fursich	9 longfellow	HARTSDALE	10530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Cowder	Oakland CA	Oakland	94606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Theresa	Damicone	1230 W. Market St., Akron, OH	Akron	44313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bhavin	Shah	12954 Centre Park Cir	Herndon	20171	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
s	logan	1001 brickell bay dr	MIAMI	33131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Sneddon	1080 Berry Farm Rd	Madison	27025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trude	Kyle	P.O. Box 125	MORRO BAY	93443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Schnapp	40 1st ave	NEW YORK	10009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Michaels	1659 Fort Washington Ave.	Ambler	19002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Weber	13200 Van Buren St. NE	Minneapolis	55434	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
BJ	Smith	46045 W. Kristina Way	Maricopa	85139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Keller	1903 W 10695 S	South Jordan	84095	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jean	palmer	Lincoln MA	Lincoln	1773	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Ray	70 County Rd., Somers, CT	Somers	6071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Trainum	Windsor	Windsor	95492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Taylor	404 Hollywood Ave	Salt Lake City	84115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Cripps	576 Woolwich St.	East Springfield	13333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	OKeeffe	39520 Meridian E	EATONVILLE	98328	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
arthur	nazzaro	1719 yaupon ave, boulder, co	Boulder	80304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Leal	2230 45th Street	Pennsauken	8110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kyron	Fikes	5298 bel aire ln	LOWELL	46356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carles	Ruiz	C/ RamåÕ_n Rocafull nåÕ_m. 89 3r	Grenloch	8032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Marcus	87 Pearl st. apt. 1	Kingston	12401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ferenc	Csabai	Elm St.	Wharton	7885	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J.	Liptak	235 Tucker Drive	Contoocook	3229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Kraemer	po box 104, 557 manorville	Palenville	12463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Newton	More	3250 Chestnut St. NW	Washington	20015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Corina	Ravenscraft	1807 Warren Dr.	CLARKSVILLE	37040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juliann	Purcell	1510 n van buren st	Wilmington	19806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frankie	Painter	2205 Mason St.	Durant	74701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Deysher	21 Lackey Street	WESTBOROUGH	1581	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Wood	503 W 13th St	Sterling	61081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorothy	Hassett	My. View	Mountain View	94043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Taffee	600 Willow Rd Unit 10	Menlo Park	94025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Basileo	7733 Loudon Drive	FORT WASHINGTON	20744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheri	Haram	8013 6th St NE	Minneapolis	55432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Sneddon	1080 Berry Farm Rd	Madison	27025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	White	3525 Turtle Creek Blvd.	Dallas	75219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Earles	32510 Groat	Rockwood	48173	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marie	Mitchell	667 Cloverdale St	ANN ARBOR	48105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susanne	Primer	1782 Rounds Ave.	GRANTS PASS	97527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Warren	134 Miles St.	Santa Cruz	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dj	Merrill	Topsham	Topsham	4086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Perin	2055 Bluffside Terrace	Colorado Springs	80919	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patty	Buttliere	23 Autumn Ln	Streamwood	60107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greta	Aul	917 Columbia Ave	Lancaster	17603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Troiano	PO Box 993	North Andover	1845	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Wilson	10534 157th Ave NE	Redmond	98052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Morgan	517 Sides St	Rockwell	28138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Rapisarda	2556 E. Robb Ln.	Phoenix	85024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stan	Fitzgerald	8699 Lomas Azules Place	SAN JOSE	95135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Libeskind	2827 Central Blvd. Eugene OR	Eugene	97403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alena	Day	333 Prestonwood Dr #1708	Richardson	75081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anita	Jones	13 Allen Ave Ext	Falmouth	4105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Kirk	PO Box 303036	Austin	78703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Mahlau	12705 SE River Rd	Portland	97222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bernard	Devlin	30 Wicklow Street	Malden	2148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cylinda	engelman	370 Largo Ave.	Palmer Lake	80133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	McShane	6201 Barbados Ave	Cypress	90630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tami	Fleming	2862 Lothrop St. Box #5	OMAHA	68111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Garnier	33331 N. Indian Lane	Grayslake	60030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Schueth	3600 North Lake Shore Drive	Chicago	60613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shelby	Hood	500 Alexander Drive	FRANKLIN	37064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lloyd	Worley	1232 24th Ave Ct	Greeley	80634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Brisbane	1626 Claremont Ave	Richmond	23227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregg	Camp	230 Shoreview Drive, Aptos, CA	Aptos	95003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Creswell	2557 S Dover St 88	Denver	80227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Derrera	4005 W Arizona Ave	Denver	80219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	O'Neill	24 Scott Court	Allendale	7401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Katz	6680 W. 91st. Court, Apt. #5102	Broomfield	80021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erin	Haugh	Grist Mill Ln	Hampden	1036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Fandel	4570 252nd St	Forest Lake	55025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Sentenn	1626 Wardman Dr	Brea	92821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
k	pierce	1501 tomasita st ne	ALBUQUERQUE	87112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Bunde	1092 N Kellogg St	Galesburg	61401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Eye	1902 Amanda Ave	Gold Bar	98251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	radel	3777 Independence Avenue #7N	Bronx	10463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Voss	5718 Indian Trace	Madison	53716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Chestnut	1176 Church St Unit 4	Decatur	30030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Larson	P.O. Box 406	Basin	82410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francesca	McInnis	1127 N Vists st	Los Angeles	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	White	3525 Turtle Creek Blvd.	Dallas	75219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fran	Egloff	2552 cottage pl	Greensboro	27455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tara	Wilk	546 Norton Ln	Arnold	21012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russellm	kruta	112 Hallock ln	Rocky Point	11778	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bettemae	Johnson	1217 Kirby NE	Albuquerque	87112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nia	Cherrett	2243 Sorrento Circle	Winter Park	32792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Hunziker	Boulder, Co	BOULDER	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Herrera	9420 Bradner	AUSTIN	78748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Brickey	7223 winding creek lane	Corryton	37721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Gilliland	2089 Ronda Granada, #A	LAGUNA WOODS	92637	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Omar	shah		Columbus	43214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

michael	villines	516 Selle Dr.	Fayetteville	72701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Scholl	514 Prospect Ave	NEPTUNE	7753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Calloway	1703 Chelmsford Circle	NEWARK	19713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sally	May	59 Northfield Rd	Coventry	6238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I pay a monthly charge to my electric company for how much electricity I use, also the same for my water company but my cable bill is astronomical and I don't even watch half of the stations that I receive. It's like going to a restaurant and being told what I have to order and how much I can eat. I also don't like the fact that I have to buy my cable and internet from one company. Talk about monopolies. When are you going to break up these monopolies and allow us to choose what cable company we want to use and what cable channels we want to pay for.
Vito	Degrigoli	2292 E Belding Dr	PALM SPRINGS	92262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Pinno	110 law	New London	54961	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Vigneau-Britt	1045 Saint Johns Pl Apt B8	Brooklyn	11213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacob	Victoria	6024 Ogden Nash Way	Sacramento	95842	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. As a consumer, my refusal to support monopolies means I don't get access to almost any content aside from public television, as is the case with many of my generation. Breaking the monopoly and allowing competition and innovation into the market would encourage me and my peers to join the market, strengthening it and leading to greater prosperity and innovation. Finally, Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Forester	412 E. Green	Wyoming	52362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Hindman	108 Cooper Ave	Stratford	8084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	Nelson	620 So. Madison St.	Tacoma	98405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Brown	Links Drive	Reston	20190	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Mishkin	2 Freedom Rd	Forestdale	2644	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Brock	2110 Ashgrove Drive	Houston	77077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Sas	8525 SPENCER COURT	North Ridgeville	44039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Clevenger	1728 Newport Dr	Discovery Bay	94505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Stiffman	21 Ramsgate Drive	Saint Louis	63132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eugene	Adler	524 Desoto SE	Albuquerque	87123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carl	Olson	1971 Jackson Ave. SE	PORT ORCHARD	98366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Moir	5015 Roscoe	CHICAGO	60641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maggie	Haga	19314 Alcona St.	Rowland Heights	91748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Koval	3422 Arcadia St.	Evanston	60203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexi	Boado	3110 Lancer Drive	Hyattsville	20782	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Nied	9233 W. PINEVETA DR. 4648	Arizona City	85123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angelo	Dellolio	169 Stateway Drive	Milford	18337	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brianna	Goldberg	660 East 98th St apt 8D	Brooklyn	11236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Bisnett	Bainbridge Island, WA	BAINBRIDGE ISLAND	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Mayer	108 Rainbow Drive #825	Livingston	77399	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Lynch	23166 Deep Branch Road	Georgetown	19947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lyle	Henry	2474 Silver Ridge Ave	LOS ANGELES	90039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fred and rsoemarie	Sztukowski	219 Jason Dr	Sarasota	34238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Rizzo	2048 timberidge	Ypsilanti	48198	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Estor	Barragan	18063 w las cruces dr Goodyear, Az	Goodyear	85338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

john	stone	general delivery	Philadelphia	19104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
virginia	green	192reservior st	Holden	1520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chanda	Farley	117 Ford St.	CANTON	28716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Steppert	2204 Maple St	Longview	98632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Loss	9923 Kendale Rd, Potomac, MD	Potomac	20854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas W.	Cranston	114 Long Hollow Road	ELGIN	78621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	Monroe	222 Ruth Street	Calumet City	60409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Cohen	2617 Euclid Hts. Blvd.	Cleveland	44106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Stibolt	3816 NE Glisan St.	PORTLAND	97232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Long	247 East Corporate Dr.	Lewisville	75067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brent	Lund	240 Pleasant Street	Pasadena	91101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lyle	Henry	2474 Silver Ridge Ave	LOS ANGELES	90039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	George	1075 maple st	Rochester	14611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandie	Fowler	167 Pleasant St	Dunstable	1827	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Kirwin	1 Stannard Ave., Troy, Ny	Troy	12180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

irwin	arnstein	326 colonel dr	Garland	75043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Shuster	301 W. Superior St.	Fort Wayne	46802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim & Lil	Thuline	7932 Sailboat Key Blvd #203	Saint Petersburg	33707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maynard	Hirshon	9359 Blind Pass Rd #305	SAINT PETERSBURG	33706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jose	choquehuanca	1410 Caravelle Court	Katy	77494	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Binda	1888 N. Shaffer St.	Orange	92865	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jorge	rosas	5773 Woodway drive	Houston	77057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Brack	2741 N. Ridgeway Avenue	Chicago	60647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tatiana	Marquez	1373 Fillmore St	Denver	80206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Carle	5202 NW 30 LANE	GAINESVILLE	32606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	McCandlish	5542 Swift Creek Drive	MOUNT VERNON	98273	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Krall	6a E Mason Ave	Alexandria	22301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	Cotner	POBOX1822	Fayetteville	72702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russell	Brooks	1121 Dove Hollow Circle E	Memphis	38018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Simon	Carr	Bethesda, MD	Bethesda	20816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tamara	Saarinen	4418 Rosedale St NW	GIG HARBOR	98335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Wilmoth	290A Napoleon Street	SAN FRANCISCO	94124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heidi	Bean	100 Scholz Plaza	Newport Beach	92663	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francis	Dolan	6111 Murdock Ave.	SARASOTA	34231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Kloepping	48 south street	UPTON	1568	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Crawford	927 Montclair Dr	Poplar Bluff	63901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	Bean	1231 NE MLK Blvd. #422	Portland	97232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Johnson	530 Beaufort Street #7	Laramie	82072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chuck	Polley	1770 17th Ave. #38	Santa Cruz	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marc	Friedman	8212 Ripple Ridge Dr	Darien	60561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Burl	Covan	5333 N. Sheridan Rd.	Chicago	60640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Day	5012 NE 1st Court Renton, WA	Renton	98059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Sutow	109 S. Washington St	Crawfordsville	47933	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Geralds	55669 Serene dr.	MACOMB	48042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurent	Bedard	155 Conant St	Danvers	1923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Te-Chen	Hu	488 Ariel Drive	San Jose	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christy	Venn	4050 Gadsden Blountsville Rd	Walnut Grove	35990	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Ritchie	601 W 57 St	New York	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Johnson	P.o. Box 771	Greenlawn	11740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Armstrong	126 Elm st.	Hatfield	1038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kj	Dowds	2340 w farragut ave	CHICAGO	60625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carole	Johnson	530 Beaufort Street #7	Laramie	82072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Ryther	114 Spring Creek St.	Waco	76705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bobbie	Howard	9783 East Hidden Green Drive	Scottsdale	85262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karl	Petersen	3181 S Waterbury Ln	Boise	83706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Moore	90 W Bellefontaine Road	PLEASANT LAKE	46779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	St James	85 Viscount Drive	Milford	6460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Sakata	1825 Seaside Ln	Fernandina Beach	32034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Kithcart	694 Main Ave	Point Pleasant Beach	8742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Emory	37 Oak Island Road	Meredith	3253	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Ely	5724 Monticello way	Madison	53719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Herman	3213 Hewitt Ave #101	Silver Spring	20906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edmund	Correia	27230 Moody Rd	Los Altos	94022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Searfoss	3047 Friedensburg Rd.	Reading	19606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Parsons	7080 Donlon Way Suite 211	Dublin	94568	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Welshinger	440 92nd Ave W	DULUTH	55808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hunter	Whitener-Smith	6101 Saintsbury Dr	The Colony	75056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marlene	Toepel	7581 Shalimar Street	HOLLYWOOD	33023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Regina	Thomson	25 Lilac Avenue	Oakville	6779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R	Malebranche	Alexandria, VA	Alexandria	22304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
stephen	anderson	212 Develin Drive	Phoenixville	19460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kent	morris	2900 e. madison ave.	Fullerton	92831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Dorshorst	285 Grande Way	NAPLES	34110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	raibolt	728 Milwaukee Ave	South Milwaukee	53172	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Dixon	325 N. Easy st.	Missoula	59802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lee	Johnson	220 S. Griffin Street	Grant Park	60940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valentino-Ateo	Zamarron	148 Lasalle ave	Hampton	23661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Temur	Khakberdiev	12343 Brown Fox Way	Reston	20191	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jane	Bedford	3209 West William Cannon Drive Apt. B	Austin	78745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Jewett	P.O. Box 2381	Boerne	78006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mildred	Badlu	7109 Sutton place	Fresh Meadows	11365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Jacoby	17524 Sheldon Rd	Brook Park	44142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Prantl	10530 Wynbridge Drive	Alpharetta	30022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Peterson	1125 n 55	Lincoln	68504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Beauchemin	1411 Eastcrest Dr. Apt T2	Charlotte	28205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Schaffer	1100 Armory Road	Sparta	54656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
will	foster	10708 sycamore hills rd	Austin	78717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Denson	6175 N Figarden Dr Apt 134	Fresno	93722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bernardino	Gutierrez	36302 Shorehaven Place	Newark	94560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phelmon	Thatch	3505 Bapaume Ave	Norfolk	23509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. This is the main reason I opted out cable many years ago. I have DIRECTV and I LOVE IT. I WOULDNT GO BACK TO CABLE IF THEY PAID ME. IT IS A PURE RIP OFF. EVERY TIME THEY ARE FINED BY THE FCC, THEY FIND A WAY TO COME AFTER THERE CUSTOMERS TO FOOT THE BILL. THEY ARE SCHEMERS AND I WANT NO PART OF IT. TAKE THEM DOWN AND ALL THERE SCHEMES.
Diane	Krassenstein	7617 Fillmore St	PHILADELPHIA	19111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stewart	Shuster	PO Box 7121	Ocean Park	4063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Mitchell	1812 S Watersilk Pl	Boise	83709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	QUAMINA	21518 trumpeter dr	Land O Lakes	34639	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sally	Harrison	1065 E Prospect St	SEATTLE	98102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dr. Paul	Nielsen	2700 Point Breeze Dr	Wilmington	19810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Billings	P O Box 473	Ocean Shores	98569	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Per	Almgren			60368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
char	priolo	po box 1692	Provincetown	2657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Christner	418 East 4th Street	LOVELAND	80537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Lang	po 838	Erie	80516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stacey	Sharp	2007 long barrel lane	Missouri City	77489	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	DeBoni	16708 Coriander Lane	Fort Myers	33908	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Osborne	5118 Goodwin Ave.	Dallas	75206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Riggins	Charlotte, NC	Charlotte	28213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	Smith	1156 Russell Drive, Lot 18; Mount Pleasant, SC	Mount Pleasant	29464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dawn	Sass	356 Sugar Avenue	Belleville	53508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Kelly	2417 50th Street	Sacramento	95817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Simeon	Dreyfuss	9286-A SW 2nd Ave	Portland	97219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gail	Nichols	2153 Musson	Howell	48855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catharine	Garber	4109 Laurel Rd	ALEXANDRIA	22309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Farrell	5008 SAGE SPRINGS DRIV	Cornville	86325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amalie	Duvall	107 E Walnut St.	Boonville	65233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joni	Lindgren	Tahoe	Elgin	60124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Skip	Cross	7150 Windsor Mill Road	Windsor Mill	21244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harry	Smalley	2109 Meadow Sage	SCHERTZ	78154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Werner	354 Hastings Rd	Waitsfield	5673	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Jewett	P O Box 1792	Sausalito	94966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S	Payne	2350 Houston Lake Road	Kathleen	31047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Babbitt	319 South Tenth Street	Philadelphia	19107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Osbourn	1609 n 12th	LAMESA	79331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lawrence	LINTNER	23348 Painter Avenue	PORT CHARLOTTE	33954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Resnick	5315 Sentinel Ridge	Eagleville	19403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Osborne	6324 Baker Blvd Apt E09	Fort Worth	76118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vaughan	Greene	217 Walton Rose Lane	PANAMA CITY BEACH	32413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rocio	Zumbado	4512 Parks Ave #25 La Mesa CA	La Mesa	91942	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Watters	1940 Breyman NE	Salem	97301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Poulsen	108 Vista Prieta Court	Santa Cruz	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jillian	Sang	4434 NW 81st Ter	Pompano Beach	33065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bolesta	238 Freese Rd	Oxford	19363	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurel	Nottage	825 Coolidge Ave	Clawson	48017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
E	Ellis	PO Box 1701	Aberdeen	98520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Mays	37 Prospect Avenue	Middletown	10940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

elizabeth	Hegeman	100 Riverside Dr	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Hamilton	1111 N Hyland Ave	Ames	50014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Friedlander	11352	Whitmore Lake	48189	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jack	cook	hawkins	White Bluff	37187	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Windell	Hall	698 west 3400 south	Bountiful	84010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Sullivan	2955 Gohn Drive	Willow Grove	19090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randy	Gossett	1105 Washington av. apt. 20	Alton	62002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Turco	5825 Saloma Avenue	Van Nuys	91411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Gottlieb	464A Liberty Street #102	Little Ferry	7643	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karl	Mierzejewski	937 W Whitehall Rd	State College	16801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Coyle	23 Wellesley Avenue	Wellesley	2482	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christian	Morales	2526 Lucerne Ave	Los Angeles	90016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leon-Forrest	Caulkins	4416 SE HWY 101	Lincoln City	97367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Walls	1205 Raven Wood Ct. #303	Belcamp	21017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Silvestro	276 bishop's forest	WALTHAM	2452	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Latorre	P. O. Box 2202	Amherst	1004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Free	410 Church Rd	Wayne	19087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Davis II	6103 Forest Ridge Ct	Mc Farland	53558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Featherly	10798 Wolcott Rd. N. Rose NY	North Rose	14516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Shields	3033 calle rosales	Santa Barbara	93105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Savel	10244 wilson mills rd chardon ohio	Chardon	44024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Carroll	PO Box 408	Cocolalla	83813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Esteves	COLUMBUS PLACE	STAMFORD	6907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Luther	491 Dutton St. Lowell, MA	Lowell	1854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Fields	6701 113th street	SEMINOLE	33772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kent	McLellan	307 Washington Court	Morrill	69358	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lillian	Ferris	352 Dolphin Circle	Sebastian	32976	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Brass	312 Berkeley Ave.	Roseville	95678	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
paul	sheridan	88 hart rd	LINCOLNVILLE	4849	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Hutchinson	6501 North Fork Road	Deming	98244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Callahan	85 Rocky Brook Road, East Windsor, NJ	Cranbury	8512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Wright	1085 Tasman Drive Spc 748	SUNNYVALE	94089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Bona	138 south rosd	Enfield	6082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Martin	n/a	Las Cruces	88012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Jones	6912 69th Way	West Palm Beach	33407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Rafferty	West 113 St.	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victoria	Jensen	2310 6th St. #3	SANTA MONICA	90405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Gottlieb	464A Liberty Street #102	Little Ferry	7643	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Ivey	18714 Saticoy St.	RESEDA	91335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Gleason	5700 W. Grace St	Chicago	60634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Holman	8107 W Virginia Ave	Lakewood	80226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	Freeman	1750 N.E. 145th Street Apt # 222 Shoreline, WA	Seattle	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Williams	8669 Lillian Place	Montgomery	36117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Grathen	51837 Tall Pines Dr Elkhart In	Elkhart	46514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shanti	Copeland	12821 Cool Waters Way	Jacksonville	32246	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Francoeur	2032 Belmont Road, NW	WASHINGTON	20009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Gutting	4430 station ave	CINCINNATI	45232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	White	PO Box 125	LEWIS	67552	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Waters	Ambassador Drive	Tempe	85281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mimi	Rhys	21 Glenmont Road	Brighton	2135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Stone	5339 Prospect rd. #159	San Jose	95129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

j	Frick	788 Marion	DENVER	80218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ethan	Winogrand	102 Lincoln Pl.	Brooklyn	11217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Farrakh	Kazmi	3094 Aberdeen Ct	Marietta	30062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl	Braznell	Via Castel Maggiore 33		5016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Calfin	1410 Weatherly Ct	Thorofare	8086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ishwar	Dayabhai	814 covered bridge way	Fayetteville	30214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Freeman	4158 Larchview Dr.	Cincinnati	45236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Hennessy	6418 141st St SW	Edmonds	98026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cora Susan	Evans	611 E. Mountcastle Drive, Johnson City	Johnson City	37601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vincent	Paviglianiti	35555 Shangri-La Court	Clinton Township	48035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chaz	Antonelli	2065 1st Ave Apt 9E	New York	10029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Bell	44 CENTRAL BLVD	NORWALK	44857	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margo	Margolis	4915 Samish Way #7	BELLINGHAM	98229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Tennant	19 East St	Attleboro	2703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristy	Bouchard	659 Ventana Drive	Evans	30809	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Hoerner	805 6th ave. New York, NY	New York	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Star	Bogenschutz	9020 Constant Course	COLUMBIA	21046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Hibbard	61157 Greenwood Drive	South Lyon	48178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donl	Long	145 Forest St	Reno	89502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Healey	37577 Rd 55	Eaton	80615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. The Sherman Antitrust Act is still on the books. I suggest you read it and then ponder whether these huge monopolies are violating this Act. Competition is not a dirty word. The American public would welcome it so they didn't have to put up with the crappy service and crappy programs forced upon them.
Brent	Ladman	47 Bog Rd, G2	CONCORD	3303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Naomi	Scott	1354 Carpenteria	Thermal	92274	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Wolfram	1623 West Hayes Davenport, Iowa	Davenport	52804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Tristan	1881 Buchtel Blvd , Apt 407	Denver	80210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Johnny	Harris	404 11th Ave sw	Decatur	35601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Freda	Burroughs	2013 N Chevrolet Ave	Flint	48504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	McMullen	134 Karen Dr	Decatur	62526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Day	Copperhill	Okemos	48864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carl	Arnold	510 Turk Rd, E Meredith, NY	East Meredith	13757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Joseph	799 Florencia Circle	TITUSVILLE	32780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shawn	Scott	1995 E Coalton Rd	Louisville	80027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carter	Schleicher	carson city NV	Carson City	89706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Elliott	addison	Addison	60101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Weller	8 embassy square	TONAWANDA	14150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Kneip	3405 N. 16th Drive	Phoenix	85016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mitchell	Scholz	15 rockledge pl	Maumelle	72113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Beck	689 Northeast Dr	Milton	17847	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martinez	Dario	280 incline ave	Oroville	95966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Paraschos	G3544 MACKIN RD	Flint	48504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ryan	Hose	37 Hummingbird Lane	Garrison	10524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Meyer	106 N. Oakdale Ave.	SALINA	67401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Baird	Straughan	919 Blue Ridge Drive	Annapolis	21409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

d	johnson	10002 tezel	SAN ANTONIO	78254	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Gantos	8808 Maryland Court	Denton	76207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amr	Helmi	603 south rose street	Baltimore	21224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gloria	Wurst	3389 Van Buren	Ogden	84403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronn	Koester	5706 Bonsels Pkwy	TOLEDO	43615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Pierce	110 N. Ellwood Ave.	Baltimore	21224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Collins	3402 E. Paris Way	Appleton	54913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erica	Robinson	Raleigh, NC	Raleigh	27610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	Bailey	1216 31st St	Rockford	61108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Jackson	840 Esmeralda St.	Fallon	89406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Waltasti	Maricopa, AZ	Maricopa	85138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lyndia	Lydecker	P.O. BOX 1526	Fort Lee	7024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Northcutt	206 River Down Rd	Georgetown	78628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bernard	Hartwig	432 MOWBRAY ARCH, NORFOLK, VA	Norfolk	23507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nakia	Lilly	2701 Garden Dr.	Fort Collins	80526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Noreen	McCarthy	627 Central St	Manchester	3103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	Milliron	403 Wedgewood St	East Liverpool	43920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennie	Kyle	Estacada	Estacada	97023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Rhee	1355 buckingham way	Burlingame	94010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ethan	Middlebrooks	38-17 52nd Street	Sunnyside	11104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Averill	162 Centennial	Big Sandy	59520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Marquez	523 W. Loma Alta DR.	Altadena	91001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Smith	3944 Pollypine Dr.	Virginia Beach	23452	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Scardello	524 Maplewood Drive	Petaluma	94954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Grant	Gurley	509 Stratford Ave.	Shreveport	71105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Martin	1819 S. Lafayette St.	Denver	80210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paulette	Tansey	4960 sky	San Diego	92110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Hansen	664 Hawthorne Ln	Mount Joy	17552	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharyn	Scull	902 Birdie Way	SAINT AUGUSTINE	32080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty	Wentworth	5516 Bimini Drive	Hopkins	55343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katy	Taylor	225 E 4th St	New York	10009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Hersom	Keene, NH	Keene	3431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Towers	12811 Lakeview Dr	CLEARLAKE OAKS	95423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffery	Hogan	908 Carrie Ave	KILLEEN	76541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Murphy	20 Oak Street	Greenwich	6831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juan	Gonzalez	11168 NW 73rd St.	Miami	33178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Murphy	409 7TH AVE, APT. 2L	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Lebow	197 N. Mountain Trail Ave.	Sierra Madre	91024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jo	K	123 any old street	SIERRA VISTA	85635	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anton	McInerney	682 Sunset Drive N.W.	Stuart	34994	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Biff	Johnson	952 Pleasant St	OAK PARK	60302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Tello	22614 Orchard Ave	Carson	90745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tyler	Melton	15996 apperson blvd	Oregon City	97045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andre	Drouin	11 Alden Ave Apt A	ENFIELD	6082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	Bryan	4420 Topside Road	Knoxville	37920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicholas	Hyer	883 Benedetti Drive Apt #203	Naperville	60563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	McCreary	3737 William Daves Rd	Doylestown	18902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Pope	3421 S. Carter St., Unit F	Tampa	33629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy C	Chang	8414 Hartford Ave. Silver Spring, MD	Silver Spring	20910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elda	Luisi	225 Rector Pl	New York	10280	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Fisk	2523 Clubhouse Rd.	Henryville	18332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Stone	145 E 76th St	NEW YORK	10021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Rhoades	5909 Holmes	Kansas City	64110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexandra	Eaton	1602 Oak Spring Way	Reston	20190	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doug	Woods	999 Fell St. #7	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Freda	Burroughs	2013 N Chevrolet Ave	Flint	48504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Wines	1025 S Sierra Bonita Ave	LOS ANGELES	90019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Fowler	p.o.box 220	Arab	35016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Halay	128 Charter Circle, Ossining, NY	Ossining	10562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Freda	Burroughs	2013 N Chevrolet Ave	Flint	48504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

sandy	parbury	2055 Sierra Road 120	Concord	94518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Yarger	299 Owens St. Apt. C	MARION	43302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Twombly	1247 E Foxhill Drive #141	Fresno	93720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Therese	Lung		Boston	2114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Kurth	2415 N. Hubbard Street	Milwaukee	53212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tara	Braithwaite	73 Phillips Drive	Mabie	26278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Prinzmetal	5308 SW 33rd Drive	PORTLAND	97239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
F	Hammer	1490 Chestnut St	San Francisco	94123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arnita	Sutton	PO BOX 731	Tinley Park	60477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Ilan	108 Raliegh Drive	Macon	31210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Buck	W3601 Hunters Ln	Malone	53049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Lantzy	2237 Valencia St	Bellingham	98229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	McLellan	6223 Meadow Rd.	DALLAS	75230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Standish	PO Box 613	Geneseo	14454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	Phillips	4713 Hayford way #1 Sacramento ca.	Sacramento	95842	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Colleen	Curtis	1520 Chuckanut Cr Dr	Bellingham	98229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kent	swenson	225 dennis ln	franklin	28734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Atayev	18302 Tapwood Rd	Boyds	20841	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Pinno	110 law	New London	54961	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Jacobson	3324 65th Ave E	Sarasota	34243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Dust	1533 Maple Ave	Downers Grove	60515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Waak	Aurora, IL	Aurora	60505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Crockett	2892 E. Carr Canyon Rd.	Parker Lake	85615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kit	Long	2134 Clay Street	Napa	94559	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelly	Harrison	2957 S 9100 W	Magna	84044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
vivian	Junkin	po box 1593	SHELTON	98584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Welkowitz	1600 S. Eads St., Apt. 526N; Arlington, VA	Arlington	22202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Tillman	2721 popular rd.#401	Koloa	96756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paula	Davis	1935 E 3200 N	Logan	84341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Berger	669 Alma Ave Apt #103	Oakland	94610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erica	Feld	365 W. 25th Street - #15A, New York, NY	New York	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geri	Liberti	99 Ponderosa Drive	Southampton	18966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Sullivan	2850 twilight St.	Helena	59601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Percy	262 Back Road	Brooklin	4616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	Allard	405 Harvest Creek Rd	Bakersfield	93312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Boyd	federici	1207 berkeley lake	Houston	77062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

neal	rothman	250 nighthawk dr	Monroe Township	8831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Barber	15607 Redington Drive	SAINT PETERSBURG	33708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Campbell	1540 Spruce Street	Florence	97439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Kowalski	1295 Gage Ave.	Deltona	32738	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Halpern	5117 S. FIndlay st. Seattle WA	Seattle	98118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Tylczak	2120 S 279th Pl., Federal Way, WA	Federal Way	98003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Stone	145 E 76th St	NEW YORK	10021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Billingsley	1115 S. 3rd St.	Jacksonville	97530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Stepankiw	8014 Ridgeview Dr	Houston	77055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Brown	366 Sutton Way	GRASS VALLEY	95945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
dolores	jordan	97 derby st	Salem	1970	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Llewellyn	Pimentel	15754 SW 98th Street	MIAMI	33196	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice	Gibson	7613 La Ramba Dr	Sparks	89436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hope	Rodriguez	171 E.40th St.	HOLLAND	49423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
FAITH	VAN LUNEN	7413 BALTIMORE AVE	Takoma Park	20912	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Burrows	3536 Royal Tern Circle	Boynton Beach	33436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Golden	14 Tranto Dr.	Newport Coast	92657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
craig	buzzart	1116 margaret street	Key West	33040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Opaluch	576 Ryerson Avenue	Wood Ridge	7075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Campanie	2175 East 23rd Street	Brooklyn	11229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	H	1000 NW 14th St.	Miami	33136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

carol	kaminsky	101 middle st.	AMHERST	1002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shelly	Harvey	85 Harborview Avenue	Bridgeport	6605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
e	ralston	408 n calvin park blvd.	ROCKFORD	61107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nathan	Harling	710 Bair Island Rd	Redwood City	94063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Dumas	1166 Skyline Drive	FAIRBANKS	99712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marian	Crane	3145 E Chandler Blvd #110	Phoenix	85048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maxi ne	Stopfer	P.O. Box 294	Felton	19943	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	McPeek	3113 Buccaneer Ct. #001	Fairfax	22031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Kreisman	1005 Bridge Lane, Smyrna, GA	Smyrna	30082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Chatlosh	31012 Fairhill ct.	MENIFEE	92584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marianne	Cartwright	21833 93rd ave south	Kent	98031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
chuck	serafin	536 first street	Westfield	7090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Whitlock	202 Puckettville Dr.	Collinston	71229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Amirault	3305 Carolyn circle	Oceanside	92054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vivian	Johnston	7065 Zimmerman Road	Hamburg	14075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beverly	Kramer	5585 Spring Hill Church Rd	Lillington	27546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Werner	640A Pinebrook Rd	Eatontown	7724	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Spencer	12456 percival rd, walton, ky	WALTON	41094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Connie	Steinman	11469 W Slate Rock Street	MARANA	85658	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Neil	Kijek	6 Herron Rd.	Ripley	38063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Summer	350 Sherwood Forest	POTEET	78065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Greenberg	8430 SW 46th Street	Miami	33155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Molina	xxx	San Francisco	94131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Hinshaw	1573 Kirkley Rd.	Columbus	43221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Szymanowski	P.O. Box 74, Curtice, Ohio	Curtice	43412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jaime	Cardenas	1803 Kirklees way	Hanover	21076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Wallace	8017 n. meadowview cir	Tampa	33625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Huesman	130 Zephyr Place	DANVILLE	94526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Danny	Seaver	617 5th St. SE	Hickory	28602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T.J.	Gaither	407 Old Friars Road	Columbia	29210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Douglass	539 Power Dr	DUNCANVILLE	75116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Moriarty	po box 422	LEEDS	1053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Wheeler	1885 Flame Tree Way	Hemet	92545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Flores	1829 Cleveland Ave, San Jose	San Jose	95126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Roberts	3450 N Lake Shore Dr	Chicago	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Ruggeri	Po box 916	HOPLAND	95449	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Russell	Skinner	310 Paul Drive	KIMBERLY	54136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Greenwald	216 St. Charles	Pittsburgh	15215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Kline	21070 Sweetwater Lane	Boca Raton	33428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Geralyn	Leannah	522 Grant Avenue	Sheboygan	53081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Held	914 S. Hall Street	Princeton	47670	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arkady	Vyatchanin	501 SW 75TH ST	GAINESVILLE	32607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Regina	Flores	32016 Poppy Way	LAKE ELSINORE	92532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eli	Dumitru	3522 1/2 Alley Lane	MEDFORD	97501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Williams	10406 66th Ave. So. Seattle	Seattle	98178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	Williams	8341 Narcoossee Road	Orlando	32827	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Moncrief	1869 Langston Ave SW	ATLANTA	30310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Lemeris	2 hayfield lane	Broad Brook	6016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	e Cash	p.o. box 5141	Bisbee	85603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JOHN	SCHMITT	1912 Maplewood Pl	LOUISVILLE	40205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Wade	93 Davenport St	MILFORD	4461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Hoffmann	501 Lamarck Drive	Buffalo	14225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Whitten	1017 7th St	Las Vegas	87701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Mudd	9622 Randall Drive	White Plains	20695	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Billmeier	3222 Island Ave	Toledo	43614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Burrows	3536 Royal Tern Circle	Boynton Beach	33436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	bennett	3719 SHEFFIELD AVE	Los Angeles	90032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emilio	Parisca	250 Pharr Rd NE #415	Atlanta	30305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Golden	105 Solar Dr	Grass Valley	95945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	tramp	8440 Etienne Way	Sandy	84093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Kwass	180 Arborway	Jamaica Plain	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
June	Caminiti	26 Magnolia Ave.	SAN ANSELMO	94960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathan	Holder	919 Shellbrook Ct Apt 8	Raleigh	27609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Kurth	4902 Flushing Way	LOUISVILLE	40272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Sands	826 Annlau Ave SE	Huntsville	35802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Spencer	224 Merrimac Trail	Williamsburg	23185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donny	Persons	2341 nw everett st	Portland	97210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lani	Mysak	34-21 77th Street #301	Jackson Heights	11372	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Kelly	77 E 12th St, 8A	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alex	Vires	53 Foxmoor Dr	Maryville	62062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denzel	Gifford	18249 NW Heritage Pkwy Apt 55	Beaverton	97006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Dempsey	503 Glenville Rd	COCHRANVILLE	19330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Spanski	2154 S Coast Hwy	Oceanside	92054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Galen	Kidder	1509 Washington Ave.	SAVANNAH	31404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juliet	Drennan	3 Willowdale Court Amesbury	Amesbury	1913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Evans	PO Box 644	Kemp	75143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christen	King	4831 N Central Expwy	Dallas	75205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Haywood-Spencer	224 B Merrimac Trail	Williamsburg	23185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marlene	Puaoi	9 Josefa Court	NOVATO	94949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dalila	Schneir	621 SW 96th Ave		33025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Tendle	2435 brenner st	Saint Paul	55113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sherina	Aqeel	405 Fairburn Rd SW	Atlanta	30331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Crystal	Blackburn	3304 Royal Wood Rd	LEXINGTON	40515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Rader	13941 SW 112 St	MIAMI	33186	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Lemeris	2 hayfield lane	Broad Brook	6016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Siobhan	Miura	7717 Doneva Ave.	Fair Oaks	95628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Shirey	355 SE 16th Ave	Okeechobee	34974	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

gerald	schaefer	3417 roxanne ave.	long beach	90808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lanlan	Hoo	198 Danada Dr.	Wheaton	60189	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Tether	32435 OLD OCEAN CITY RD	PARSONSBURG	21849	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dick	Bennett	2582 Jimmie Ave.	Fayetteville	72703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Deeley	111 Torringford St. #45	Winsted	6098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jordan	Howells	318 16th avenue	SCRANTON	18504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Giancarlo	Zelaya	823 west ocean avenue	Boynton Beach	33426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	LaBrunda	3074 Valley Road	BASKING RIDGE	7920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Smith	2987 Ripplewood	Dallas	75230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Teresa	Mays	7030 W Morning Dove Dr.	GLENDALE	85308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Clark	1455 2nd Avenue #1105	San Diego	92101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
bill	moon	1350 27th. #321	Bend	97701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vaughan	Seifert	1129 W Main St Monroe, WA	Monroe	98272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Cunningham	1384 Waxwing	Louisville	40223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Wisniewski	farmingdale rd.	Wayne	7470	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ryanne	Marbley	9144 Wilcrest Dr.	Houston	77099	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bettie	Auble	Mariposa Ave	Citrus Heights	95610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Demos	52 Wilson Ave	Watertown	2472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	O'Connor	430 Keoniana St	Honolulu	96815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jude	Edmonds	2438 Commonwealth Ave	Madison	53711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Zittrain	1332 Russell St.	Berkeley	94702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl	Maples	6251 67th Ave	Pinellas Park	33781	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Delmer	Wilburn, Jr		Los Angeles	90047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Yelda	530 Rhode Island Street	San Francisco	94107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Lindelof	949 Palm Ave.	CARPINTERIA	93013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Limyao	6497 James Francis Pl.Johnston iowa 50131	JOHNSTON	50131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lewis	Gersten	350 W 24th St	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dgw	W	2918 Five Oaks Dr	Missouri City	77459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Stevens	5134 LaDorna Street	San Diego	92115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bobbi	Keck	85 W. UT Ave	Tooele	84074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erin	A.V.	595 Kent St	PETALUMA	94952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Lehmann	222 West Ortega Street, Apt B Santa Barbara CA	Santa Barbara	93101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gretchen	Van Pelt	2004 Emerald Isle Dr	LEANDER	78641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Naomi	Klass	136 West 24th Street, New York, NY	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
joan	cole	7 tulip dr	Fords	8863	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Ramsay	P.O. Box 162	Round Top	12473	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Evelyn	Wilson	5776 Maplewood Drive	Baton Rouge	70812	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Buring	284 N. Palm Ave Apt. C	Upland	91786	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Kokowski	1336 Methyl St	Pittsburgh	15216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Rolfes	14006 N Green Hills Loop	Austin	78737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Pelham	150 E 7th St #C7	New York	10009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Couture	10 Weeping Willow Drive	Rochester	3867	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Szasz	4000 Dove Lane	Evans	80620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Brown	323 Boer Hall	Grand Rapids	49546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Smith	P.O. Box 189	Capron	23829	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Caren	Diamond	5604 Ridgedale Ave	Dallas	75206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamison	Aycock		Houma	70360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Kling	345 Greenland Dr	LANCASTER	17602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Cahill	Westford Mass	Westford	1886	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Reid	8006 Earl Ave NW	Seattle	98117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Kramer	11431 Kathy LN	Garden Grove	92840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Will	Bratz	1418 Dew Bloom Road	Valrico	33594	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosemary	Henderson	142 Winding Way	Llano	78643	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gzim	Derti	5029 Farview Dr	Schnecksville	18078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christina	Tant	3941 Mary Ann Point Rd	Johns Island	29455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Chase	140 S Washington St Apt 303	Denver	80209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gretchen	Van Pelt	2004 Emerald Isle Dr	LEANDER	78641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Ballard	1604 Saint Ann Street, Jackson, MS	Jackson	39202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Whitacre	99 COTTONWOOD CMN	Brentwood	94513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Duke	1223 Arborgate Cir	Chapel Hill	27514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maureen	North	1857 County Rd. 19	Shortsville	14548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Rahbari	1717 Gregory St	Ypsilanti	48197	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harriet	Stein	4355 78th Ave. N.	Pinellas Park	33781	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Behrens	1500 Mount Vernon St.	Orlando	32803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Laabs	1041 N Plum Grove Rd	Palatine	60067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Davin	Peterson	2846 Lowell Street Eureka, CA	Eureka	95501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pam	Gerber	4450 Weber Rd	Saline	48176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Sutherland	523 S. Goodlett, Memphis TN	Memphis	38117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Becky	Forbes	560 Ralston Dr	Lebanon	97355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Miller	15 Abingdon Sq	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Laufer	17007 Smugglers cove	Clinton Township	48038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roy	Robinson	4615 N Hawthorne, Spokane Wa.	Spokane	99205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Noel	9313 234th St SW	Edmonds	98020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Sherman	4 Marcy Lane	Middletown	10941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	McGill	1947 Rocklyn Dr.	Brunswick	44212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ellen	Jessen	4534 Turquoise ln	MADISON	53714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Resner	7607 Middle Dr	Greensboro	27409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Green	2952 Forest Circle	Jacksonville	32257	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Caren	Rabinowitz	524 E. 79th Street	NEW YORK	10075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roi	Mitchell	5680 Starkey Rd, SW Roanoke, Va.	Roanoke	24018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	cox	681 s virginia st	Reno	89501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debbie	Schepis	302 Seaton Avenue	Roselle Park	7204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonard & Brooke	Pekkala	1422 102nd ave w	Duluth	55808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Gress-Wright	3324 Casselle Orange CA	Orange	92869	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheronne	Pickering	1509 Black Bear Court	Apopka	32712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	Ramsey	tamar dr	Columbia	21045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Read	283 GREAT BAY WOODS	Newmarket	3857	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	McGrain	1467 Monterey Drive	Charlottesville	22901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Delmer	Wilburn, Jr		Los Angeles	90047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bostjan	Dominc	Kungota pri Ptuju	Bridgewater	2325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gail	Payne	1208 Washington Drive	Centerport	11721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Esther	Negrin	2621 NW 26 place	Gainesville	32605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gierich	1152 Theodore Street	CREST HILL	60403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Romona	Barntley	1240 NW 7th Terr.	Fort Lauderdale	33311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Meghan	Mettler	105 W Madison St. Fayette IA	Fayette	52142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Stover	606 Moyer Road	SOUDERTON	18964	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Theunis	Botha	1823 Foxlake Dr	Houston	77084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bertrand	Giasson	2430 Summer St	Eureka	95501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Herrelson	6041 Brownridge Dr	Shawnee	66218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Ramsay	Marcott Circle	Sarasota	34233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Olatunji	Mwamba	294 Country Ridge drive Red Lion, PA	RED LION	17356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Will	Bratz	1418 Dew Bloom Road	Valrico	33594	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chas	Grant	po box 94	Silver Springs	89429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Cotter	11250 E. SR 69 Lot 1145 Dewey, AZ	Dewey	86327	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yol	Swan	59 Terrace Dr.	Weaverville	28787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lauren	Long	35 partridge	Novato	94945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Sokalski	3038 Clairmont Rd NE	Atlanta	30329	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Mackie	1000 Vickie Drive	Cary	27511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vaughn	Fritts	18 Thorman Lane	Huntington	11743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Vaillancourt	4 Liberty St.	Concord	3301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Weiss	1122 W Palm Ave, Burbank, CA	Burbank	91506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Freeman	6235 Chestnut St. Apt. L-304	Philadelphia	19139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Bishop	4827 Dentons Chapel Road	Morganton	28655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Fraidstern	540 Ocean Parkway	BROOKLYN	11218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Deerwester	3926 Criswell Drive	COLUMBUS	43220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Duane	Draper	321 Aspen Loop	Pawleys Island	29585	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mildred	Badlu	7109 Sutton place	Fresh Meadows	11365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Luke	Platt		Hollywood	29449	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Telega	5075 County Road 305	Bunnell	32110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norman	Levy	16 Koch road	Norwich	5055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorelle	Rawlings	PO Box 2174	Aptos	95001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Miller	1335 E 3rd St	Long Beach	90802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Cohen	669 Washington	Denver	80203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

robert	Weissfeld	1350 S. Monroe	Denver	80210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Noyma	Appelbaum	6608 N. 11th St.	Philadelphia	19126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Jensen	5953 State Route 53	Prattsburgh	14873	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Lawrence	8016 jester Blvd	Austin	78750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Monte	Mineard Sr	3223 S 164TH ST	Seattle	98188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	kramer	6	Cincinnati	45236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beverly	Westcott	152 Allen Rd	South Burlington	5403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarah	Fronk	1210 S Ivanhoe Way, Denver, CO	Denver	80224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Lefcourt	330 Cordova Street, unit # 134	Pasadena	91101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box and honor the Communications Act of 1934 which clearly states that the airwaves are a Public Resource belonging solely to the American People, and as such All broadcasters must act in the best interests of the public. The mega-industry of big cable box set top totally violates the law!

Oliver	block	1260 loring avenue	Brooklyn	11208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sebastian	Rothe	Rudolf-Schwarz-Str. 27		10407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerrold	Whaley	9518 Troon Village Drive	Lone Tree	80124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

dorothy	serfass	12 point ct. lawrenceville,nj	Lawrence Township	8648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Myers	107 Logan Ct	Berea	40403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Parry	137 Sandee Dr	Angier	27501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rich	Schnoor	17575 Bridle Ct	Jupiter	33478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarah	Apfel	201 e 17 st ny ny	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Vitola	72-4008 Mamalahoa Hwy.	Kailua Kona	96740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Thomas	558 Cameron ridge road	Shepherdsville	40165	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Frank	Frank	Lewisville	75077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Reyes	85 Druscilla Cir	Brownsville	78521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Schilling	5753 Hwy 85 North #3047	CRESTVIEW	32536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Bounds	9745 SW TUALATIN RD	TUALATIN	97062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond James	Thibault	232 Sycamore Rd	ELKTON	21921	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Brostrom	7530 N Highland Ave.	Kansas City	64118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Healy	4409 Usange Street	BELTSVILLE	20705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	Cowan	6316 Haviland Drive, Bethesda, MD	Bethesda	20817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chuck	Sheaffer	100 Mountain View Cir.	Port Angeles	98362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Freedman	85343 N. Hideaway Hills Road	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Youngblood	114 N West Ave Waukesha wi	Waukesha	53186	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Guy	Bingham	9214 Keegan Trail	MISSOULA	59808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trey	W	59th ave S	seattle	98118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Duffie	3325 Lanarc Dr.	PLANO	75023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Seth	Cramer	518 E. 16th	Hays	67601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Ingalls	64958 M43	Bangor	49013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angelika	Altum	902 edwards	Copperas Cove	76522	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	O'Carroll	11B Everett Street	Brunswick	4011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Montgomery	5009 Sandlake Ct	Myrtle Beach	29579	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Angelides	1853 Stablegate Ave	Henderson	89012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Hill	38158 SPRING LN	Farmington	48331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Lang	100 Farms Rd Circle	East Brunswick	8816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	King	51 Hillandale Dr.	Staunton	24401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bette	Freeman	131 Greenbrook Drive	Marlton	8053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Mahoney	17147 Ranch Country Rd	Hockley	77447	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gudelanis	1420 NE 28 PL	Fort Lauderdale	33334	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Hubert	6800 Virgil Way	Flagstaff	86001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Cretu	11489 Chews Branch Rd., Owings MD	Owings	20736	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Montano	1947 Castillo Dr SW	Los Lunas	87031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

clifford	Bobo	4885 Ilchester Rd	Ellicott City	21043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Price	1096 Cork Road	Victor	14564	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Petersen	4252 Bert Ct	San Diego	92117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Geoffrion	540 Indian Mound St., Wayzata, MN	Wayzata	55391	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
c	Weiss	10169 Mosby Woods Dr	Fairfax	22030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Ballinger	121 Ironwood Rd.	Alameda	94502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joni K	Lamb	239 Kelsall Dr	Richmond Hill	31324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Kenny	98 Penny Creek Lane	Okatie	29909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Danielle	Braun	3122 Bellewood Ave. #2	Cincinnati	45213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

sia	c	16 bourke st		3000	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Bagen	231 Valhalla drive	Harrisburg	28075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jevon	Martin	42645 North Walnut	Clinton Township	48036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Gowton	828 Banbury Dr	Port Orange	32129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rafael	Frias	44107 Paget Terrace	Ashburn	20147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Lupi	167 Summer Avenue	Reading	1867	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne	Taber	23000 Edgewater	SAINT CLAIR SHORES	48082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Talbot	16756 Simonds St	GRANADA HILLS	91344	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tina	Arnold	5739 Presley Way	Oakland	94618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victor	Barbieri	9 Ash Ave.	Corte Madera	94925	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Faye	Brandmaier	156 Pickett St.	S. Portland	4106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Hooker	304 Victory Lane	Mansfield	76063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephan	Anthony	482 32 1/8 Rd	Clifton	81520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	L	Bank St	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norman	Davis	7107 Hill Rd	Garden City	83714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

steve	shelley	332 Madison St. 3R	HOBOKEN	7030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ilene	Mondschein	4932 Calle de Tierra N	Albuquerque	87111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rita	Fitzpatrick	21 Gale, River Forest, IL	River Forest	60305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Pomeroy	114 Bordeaux Lane, Athens, GA	Athens	30605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Thompson	110 Shaw Street	MANCHESTER	3104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Barnard	9020 Radiom Dr. Affton MO	Saint Louis	63123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryn	Boyd	51 Edward St	Malone	12953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Howe	53 Crowell Ave	Fort Thomas	41075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rat	tracy	11412 terrace Meadow	Manor	78653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Knecht	251 Laurel St.	Avila Beach	93424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathon	HAWLEY	1555 Country Lane	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Corley	446 Kent Avenue, #8B	Brooklyn	11249	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

eugene	danielson	6213 Ballard Dr	Flint	48505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Levan	3905 Tall Pines	CLEMENTON	8021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Moore	6608 ardleigh street	Philadelphia	19119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Morley	13997 N 135th Dr	Surprise	85379	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Howie	1447A Johnston Drive	BETHLEHEM	18017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amey	Khole	5310 Keller Springs rd, unit 721	Dallas	75248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Whiteside	14509 Diplomat Dr.	Tampa	33613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Rickett	4140 Bonsal Rd	Conley	30288	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexis	Laine	P.O. Box 1415	PEBBLE BEACH	93953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Marx	7915 Ronaele Dr.	ELKINS PARK	19027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susanne	Turi	135 Putnam Avenue			American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Carstensen	2423 Indiana Ave	Columbus	43202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. I finally dropped my cable service because the cable boxes that they provided and charged me for were pieces of junk that didn't even work half the time - literally! Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Herman	Chaney	1461 Alice St.	Oakland	94612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty	Harry	2127 W 12th Ave #2	Eugene	97402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Adams	2818 NE Klickitat St	PORTLAND	97212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maggie	Joyce	11736 E Burnside St	PORTLAND	97216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	DeGruchy	3240A Anderson Rd.	Antioch	37013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heather	Allan	10852 Emerald Ln	CONIFER	80433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Geasland	19608 East Bails place	Aurora	80017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vlad	Lojko	60 Devonshire Dr.	Morganville	7751	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Stemmerich	370 Route 271	Ligonier	15658	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Agostino	Notarianni	17027 W Sonora Street		Goodyear	85338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
cw	curtis		5	San Jose	95118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry & Linda	Skaggs	519 Kent Circle		Glen Burnie	21060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Weingart	900 West 190th Street, Apt. 5J	New York	10040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Stek	29 River Rd	Oakland	7436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Rockliff	14 Berkeley Place	Cranford	7016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Noam	Kogen	70 La Salle Street, Apt. 6H	New York	10027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Willoughby	3514 Betterton Ln	CHARLOTTE	28269	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	Fights	802 Prytania Ave	Hamilton	45013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ANTHONY	GURA	39 HAMILTON AVE.	Youngstown	44514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Lawrence	1428 main st	kerrville	78028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Pomeroy	114 Bordeaux lane	Athens	30605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Evan	Elko	8420 1/2 Fountain Ave.	West Hollywood	90069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Ernst	9802 28th Ave E	Palmetto	34221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rita	Stolzenberg	300 E Ridgeland St	Tucson	85737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vadim	Azimov	125 gem lake dr	Maitland	32751	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Anderson	55384 Gross Dr	Bend	97707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Cantillon	62 Malibu CT.,	Willowbrook	60527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dina	Koehly	2511 Santiago	Santa Ana	92706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Ayers	1255 s Michigan ave # 2906	Chicago	60605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Walker	1601 Cherry Street	Panama City	32401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Austin	Rossi Ave	SAN FRANCISCO	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Scholten	404 Alishonak	Prescott	86303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Casper	1600 Sherman Ave	STEVENS POINT	54481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Burg	17 Old Wood Rd	Pomona	91766	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Wilson	50 West 106th St., #3B, New York	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Ogren	p.o.box 185	Albion	4910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Martins	175 Shawmut Ave.	New Bedford	2740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Lorenz	2031 N Devon Rd	Columbus	43212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
wanda	Chaney	1059 east ave #7 Chico,ca	Chico	95926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harold	Stanlick	9148 Sunny Ridge Ln	CEDARBURG	53012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristopher	Halverson	3711 Dauphine Ct.	Arlington	76016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Moore	6608 ardleigh street	Philadelphia	19119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doris	Miklitz	169 Chestnut Drive	Elkton	21921	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Travas	Young	800 W. University Pkwy	Orem	84058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Ward	3046 Martinsburg Road	Newark	43055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rosalind	Reynolds	21227 US Hwy 19 N 163a	Clearwater	33765	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Stanley	1826 Mount Vernon Road SW	ROANOKE	24015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jaron	Baxter	2354 E Lynnwood dr	Longview	98632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chad	Sell	2323 Old Rte 100	Barto	19504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Holcombe	103 Roosevelt Ln	Dudley	28333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Miller	880 SW Hamberland Avenue	Port Saint Lucie	34953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dinko	Tontchev	800 Obispo Ave.	LONG BEACH	90804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory Alan	Norton	7 Michigan	Dundee	60118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jewel	Grutman	3960 A1A South unit 502	St Augustine FL	32080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	George	1836 Locust Street	Napa	94559	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
E	Peterson	Colorado	Broomfield	80023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jarryd	Audette	890 VT RT 15	UNDERHILL	5489	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carmen	Guzman	3444 White Plains Rd	Bronx	10467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Tolton	2887 Tamiami Trail East #5	Naples	34112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Lyon	14866 Paris Court	Allen Park	48101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerard	Dunn	10625 Montrose Ave #203	Bethesda	20814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Cooney	3330 Calle PO AE PI Apt11.111	Santa Fe	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edwin	Sutton	56 Buell, Akron NY	Akron	14001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jo Anna	Price Hoppe	Jamestowne Professional Park, 1769 Jamestown Road, Office #209	Williamsburg	23185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clark	Colton	Newton, MA	Chestnut Hill	2467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rose	Diliscia	1809 ferdon road	Ann Arbor	48104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beth	birnbaum	61-42 150th Street	FLUSHING	11367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Therian	346 Merriman Rd	WINDSOR	6095	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger G.	Detillion	2560 Walnut Creek Rd	CHILLICOTHE	45601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ran	Davis	3060 e bridge st	BRIGHTON	80601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Cameron	103 birdie	Williamsburg	23188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bernard	Swierszcz	23 kenyon st., clifton	Clifton	7013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jon	Perusquia	4252 Hills Market Road	Felton	19943	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
randal	scott	19160 esterbrook road	Ponchatoula	70454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	D'Orazio	7717 N Siesta Sunset Ln	PRESCOTT VALLEY	86315	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justin	McAleece	7676 N. Palm Ave	Fresno	93711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Tico	1716 Stuart st	Berkeley	94703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Marr	6500 Montgomery Blvd NE	Albuquerque	87109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Favreau	427 Ruane St	Fairfield	6824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
renee	rivard	1925 virginia ave apt.803	Fort Myers	33901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Hopkins	3309 SE 5th St	Renton	98058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marilyn	Klingbeil	860 Leland	Roseburg	97470	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Somsky	714 Golf Club Dr	Castle Rock	80108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	G	1309 N. Cora St.	Ellensburg	98926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gloria	Shen	40 Rocking Porch Lane	Asheville	28805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helene	Kolisnichenko	5113 n. mesa b132	El Paso	79912	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trevor	Brummel	1100 Fountain View Circle	Holland	49423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roberto	Hope	555 Birmingham	Beverly Hills	90210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
stanley	angrist	5600 Munhall rd	PITTSBURGH	15217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Johnson	1572 Doncarol Ave.	EL CAJON	92019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	Gibson	2817 Buffalo Ct.	Arlington	76013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Tountas	20407	SEATTLE	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Cohen	780 Fawnhill Road	Broomall	19008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexì_s	Babineaux	712 Jefferson Heights Avenue	New Orleans	70121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Garron	4504 South 36th Street	Arlington	22206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
paul	gallimore	pob 369	Leicester	28748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Taber	PO Box 253	North Lakewood	98259	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
paul	gallimore	pob 369	Leicester	28748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cameron	Cook	1048 N. Main St.	Columbia	62236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carson	Monteith	429 Crescent Ct	Raleigh	27609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Silvia	Munger	200 Lake Ave, NE, Largo, FL	Largo	33771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Georgia	Brewer	5518 Ventura Canyon Avenue	Van Nuys	91401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Miller	843 Stewart dr.	Alpha	45301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cay	Fisher	PO Box 612	Big Sur	93920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Ackroff	25 N 8 Ave	Highland Park	8904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michele	Davis	4785 S Citation Drive	Delray Beach	33445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Wendel	724 21st Street	Sacramento	95811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Myra	Aronow	1 Haddam Dock Road	Haddam	6438	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carl	Skipworth	5715 Simms St	Hollywood	33021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carvonda	Young	1609 Lionheart Dr	Frisco	75034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Norkus	263 Boyer Ave	WEST BERLIN	8091	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Custer	Quakertown, PA	Quakertown	18951	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Fenske	1120 n 21st St, Milwaukee, WI	Milwaukee	53233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yvonne	Fitzner	231 East 76th Street, Apt. 4B	New York	10021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne	Chin	10162 Bilich PL	Cupertino	95014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Nagy	1728 Elm Ave	Torrance	90503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamie	Sengheiser	2834 E. Springview dr.	Imperial	63052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wes	Campbell	18 mile course	Williamsburg	23185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Hurless	1510 Stedham Rd	JEFFERSON	72079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emilio	Toro	161 Vernon Avenue, Brooklyn NY	Brooklyn	11206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marion	Glanton	7384 New Hampshire Dr.	Davison	48423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Moshier	4705 1st Street N.E.#337	Saint Petersburg	33703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Levine	2 Snowden Ln	Fairfax	94930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pete	Barron	1021 Waverly Street	Eugene	97401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Cleveland	417 oakwood court	Tehachapi	93561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Homburget	2950 Fox Valley Dr SW	Rochester	55902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Craig	Parker	4652 Park Bend Dr	Fort Worth	76137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Scott	426 Whispering Drive	Spring Hill	37174	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Wootten	552 Bean Creek Road	Scotts Valley	95066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Maxwell	2920 W. Shady Grove Rd apt.215	Irving	75060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Camille	Shandle	719 West 180 st	New York	10033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Duane	Johnson	2546 Garfield Street	Hoytville	43529	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pete	Skach	10783 Cape Cod Lane Huntley, IL	Huntley	60142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Nelson	1350 Franklin St #3	Denver	80218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Cook	209 Stewarts Lndg	Boiling Springs	29316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Bozio	879 Grand Strand Trail	Murrells Inlet	29576	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Perusquia	4252 Hills Market Road	Felton	19943	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Lussier	431 Harding Street	Danville	40422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phillip	McMurray	POB 300 Brewster NY	Brewster	10509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
lee	stone	521 23012 e morris rdN Young St	Newman Lake	99025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Schultz	472 Nile Street	AURORA	80010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Macdonald	151 W 7TH ST APT 310	CINCINNATI	45202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Popp	50 N. Main st	South Hadley	1075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carla	Abate	13561 west 87th drive	Arvada	80005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victoria	DeSarno	607 South Benson Rd	FAIRFIELD	6824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul E	Plummer	2094 Falcons Roost Drive, Prescott, AZ	Prescott	86303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Robbins	2055 Upper 45th St E, Inver Grove Heights, MN	Inver Grove Heights	55077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wendy	Hoffman	1561 Oxford St	Redwood City	94061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Mo	393 Glendale Ave.	Valparaiso	32580	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Kaske	9741 Bunker Hill Lane	CINCINNATI	45242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Toby	Reese	1117 West River Rd	Valley City	44280	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marco	Fanari	10216 Wickenburg st NW, Albuquerque, NM	Albuquerque	87114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tm	Stephenson	1084 W 2nd St	Xenia	45385	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	Monckton	179 Fairfield L	Carol Stream	60188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Musick	2991 Santos Ln	WALNUT CREEK	94597	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Manalio	1063 Evenstar Ave	Westlake Village	91361	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Yarbrough	574 Garfield Ave.	SOUTH PASADENA	91030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	DiMartino	48 Park Ave	Madison	7940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elmo	Dunn	208 Harrogate Pl	LONGWOOD	32779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

matt	van stone	512 ashbury ave	Santa Rosa	95404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Fosse	6551 Red Cedar Lane	WEST BLOOMFIELD	48324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	McEwen	Street	Austin	78726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ginny	Wedel	2485 Greenwood Rd S.	Independence	97351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger V	Engels	140 E. Cambridge Drive	Oro Valley	85704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. YOU WORK FOR THE PEOPLE, NOT BOUGHT AND PAID FOR CONGRESS, BUT THE PEOPLE OF THIS COUNTRY. DO YOUR JOB!
Benjamin	Whitehead	500 Beale St	San Francisco	94105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Nulty	24500 Dna Pnt Hrbr Dr	Dana Point	92629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Mays	Belmont 45224	Cincinnati	45224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carrie	Krauss	10510 creston drive	Los altos	94024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Miller	284 Lafayette St. #4C	NEW YORK	10012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
s	m	2600 Dickerson Rd	Reno	89503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marion	Glanton	7384 New Hampshire Dr.	Davison	48423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Agostino	Notarianni	17027 W Sonora Street	Goodyear	85338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Bruce	938 SW 26 Lane	Redmond	97756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kara	Canipe	1502 Chippeway Lane	Austin	78745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Lee	112 Wallhaven Dr SW	HUNTSVILLE	35824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marianna	Richardson	1223 Saugatucket Rd B105	Wakefield	2879	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Chandler	14218 Ruddy Court	Charlotte	28273	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victor	Cabot	San Diego, CA	San Diego	92103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paula	Eaton	1011 W. 121 St.	Kansas City	64145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	DiMartino	48 Park Ave	Madison	7940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roshelle	Boatman	2121 Minnehaha	Minneapolis	55404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Williams	140 Dogwood St	SIDMAN	15955	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Donohoe	3012 NE 181 Ave	Vancouver	98682	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Moses	20 Alexander Dr.	Morgantown	26508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Biel	30 East 85th St. NY NY	New York	10028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Dorian	233 West 99th Street 3B	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sylvia	Duncan	1117 Orlando Dr	PLANO	75075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Thompson	Names Dr.	Grass Valley	95949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Craven	1910 Illinois St	Orlando	32803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Osiel	Bonfim	3633 SE 27th Ave.	Portland	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Lipson	1495 N Sky Canyon Pl	TUCSON	85745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Amar	2920 luciernaga st	Carlsbad	92009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

lori	kurtz	141 GIRALDA BLVD NE	Saint Petersburg	33704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	McCrone	929 Bing Lane	Charlottesville	22903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Dedrick	1500 Federal Way Apt 20 Sunnyside	Sunnyside	98944	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Constance	Engle	244 Englewood Drive	Hendersonville	28739	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Shushan	26 Regent Rd.	Belmont	2478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Crow	631 W. Russell	San Antonio	78212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregory	Davis	28 Norwood Rd	Salem	3079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maurice	Nelson	11627 Gillette St.	Overland Park	66210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Yacino	22 Gilboa Ct	Douglas	1516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Allcott	41 Pine St. #51	Peabody	1960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Brunt	1111 Black Bear Ct.	Bushkill	18324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Dunham	165 Sparrows Cove	Fayetteville	30215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Gaddy	20860 Isherwood Terrace	Ashburn	20147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Banker	5112 Donovan Dr. #206	Alexandria	22304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tedd	Kawakami	3704 San Rafael Avenue	Stockton	95204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dylan	Nguyen	555 Willow Ave	MILPITAS	95035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Church	4688 32nd St.	San Diego	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Metzger	677 Ramapo Rd	Teaneck	7666	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dr. Douglas E.	Johnston, Jr.	6901 Culver Ave.	Fort Worth	76116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jarret	Stoner	29 Davids Way	Warrington	18976	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	kearney	216 Playground Dr.	Reading	19611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elaine	Cronin	150 Staniford Street, #423	Boston	2114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randy	von Steinen	8359 S. 24th St. Kalamazoo,MI	Kalamazoo	49048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ginny	Wedel	2485 Greenwood Rd S.	Independence	97351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kitty	Savage	P.O. Box 415	Tillson	12486	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Rubinow	19 Thatcher Street Apt. 5	Brookline	2446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Dieckmann	4614 Wisteria Drive	Alton	62002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Wolongevicz	102 Read Dr	Hanover	2339	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Tipton	810 Pedernales Estates Rd	Fredericksburg	78624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Simpsib	eaglerock	Atlanta	30340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	McLaughlin	19818 Castleberry Loop Oregon City, OR	Oregon City	97045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Newman	817 Washington	Tieton	98947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Matheson	8184 Turntable Ct.	Grosse Ile	48138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nidia	Santos	1569 Terry Lynn Ln	Concord	94521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Hunter	2211 Maurice	La Crescenta	91214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vera	Brown	6 Barcelona Circle	Redwood City	94065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

gordon	polen	299 fletcher st	Tonawanda	14150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	and Marya	2427 78th	Medina	98039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keannette	Perez	103 Cedarhurst Ave.	Charleston	29407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rhe	Kennedy	One University Place	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	McCormick	19 Ashbrook, Irvine, CA	Irvine	92604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Greenleaf	13416 Ne Sandy Blvd Apt#D3	Portland	97230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Marshall	1359 20th Ct	Oceano	93445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	M.	Yorktown	Yorktown	23693	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
wanda	Chaney	1059 east ave #7 Chico,ca	Chico	95926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kai Lie	Lau	3365 Caminito Gandara	La Jolla	92037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maggie	Murphy	2819 Bristol	Ames	50010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Ferris	3112 Iroquois Ave	LONG BEACH	90808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexis	Grone	5141 E Elena Ave	MESA	85206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brandy	Brown	1496 Park hill rd	CLEVELAND	44121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruby	Mitchell	10619 Farallone Drive	CUPERTINO	95014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Chadderton	124 Enchanted Way	San Ramon	94583	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynne	Levine	4 Muller Ct.	New City	10956	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Gowdy	3823 randolph ave.	oakland	94602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Corrigan	8085 Herder Road	Blossvale	13308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	McElligott	16501 SE Fairview Rd, Dayton, or	Dayton	97114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Carasea	4104 Imperial Eagle Dr.	Valrico	33594	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

stewart	Hurwood	2704 Ocean Av	Brooklyn	11229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra Denise	Johnson	5827 Beecham Dr	Dayton	45424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Gowdy	3823 Randolph Ave.	Oakland	94602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chad	Armijo	55 River Pines Ct #108	Edwards	81632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Art	Steele	310 Chisholm, Round Rock, Tx	Round Rock	78681	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Mutchnik	4222 Club Court	Ellicott City	21042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elisa	Elivo	13112 Olivers Way	Manchaca	78652	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	McLaughlin	1128 MUSTANG RIDGE DR	Haslet	76052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Monckton	179 Fairfield L	Carol Stream	60188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marc	Heilemann	PO Box 25268	Miami	33102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Bauer	201 Wyandotte St., Ste. 103	Kansas City	64105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
AbrahåÕå_m	Rozman	PO Box 472	ALBION	14411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Hebert	12835 Whistling Spring	Humble	77346	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Les	Francis	2065 Willowood DR	Grapevine	76051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Jensen	116 N. Brobst St.	Reading	19607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elinor	Daleiden	5046 Sheridan	Minneapolis	55410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leo	Reyes	990 18th St NW #128	Albuquerque	87104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Kittilson	3139 Quail Avenue North	Minneapolis	55422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Starr	8315 C J Land	Pinckney	48169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erin	Collins	PO Box 1771	Rocklin	95677	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Gonzalez	4917 Parkgreen Circle	ANTIOCH	94531	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Keough	639 NE 81st Ave	Portland	97213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Fentress	1429 lake dell	Charlotte	28215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Bowers	Sacramento	Sacramento	95831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Presti	78 WHITE-PINE CIR	Stafford	22554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Hattaway	1211 Gold St.	Calistoga	94515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reid	Priddy	401 Ridgeview Court	HURST	76053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carmen	Ramirez	2221 Shangri La Lane	Tallahassee	32303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Danielle	Dilworth	11905 Fairport Avenue	Cleveland	44108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nidia	Santos	1569 Terry Lynn Ln	Concord	94521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Nelson	1348 Laird Avenue	SALT LAKE CITY	84105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Bates	9 Hendrix Rd	Morrisonville	12962	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
PJ	Janowitz	7821 W 15 Ave	Hialeah	33014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Toth	110 Dorothy Street	Carteret	7008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Floyd	8618 Riverwood Farms Pkwy	CORDOVA	38016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JAMES	ZITIS	P.O. BOX 4101	Holiday	34692	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Veronica	Gonzalez	860 East 161 Street Apt 4A	BRONX	10459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	Bedrossian	6226 shirley ave	RESEDA	91335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elsie	Collins	125 Clifford Street #2	Pawtucket	2860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelly	Walsh	2085 Keota Lane	Louisville	80027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Gehring	Portland, OR	PORTLAND	97217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alison	Wasielewski	2000 N. Court	Fairfield	52556	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harold	Brecher	358 Glen Way	Elkins Park	19027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gay	Ferguson	30 Francis St.	Boston	2115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	hutchinson	Main St., Box 1860	Keene	3431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Zim	394 Alles	Des Plaines	60016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
AnnMarie	Wilson	420 Santa rosa dr	Garland	75043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Palmer	444 Lexington Ave	Stockton	95204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Tregidgo	1146 Sunnyside Dr.	Holtwood	17532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Wolfe	4071 Liberty Rd. S.	SALEM	97302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanette	Krokus	4 Styles Lane	Norwalk	6850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

john	hadden	700 Charles road	Yorktown	23692	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Hirschfeld	333 W Main St	Madison	53703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samantha	Bridges	114 Black Jack Ln.	Burleson	76028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	Cushman	247 Linden Ave.	Towson	21286	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Guest	24301 Brown Road	South Bloomingville	43152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Everett	4 Aldersey St	Somerville	2143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne	Andrews	472 S. Gilbert St., Apt H	CASTLE ROCK	80104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kay	Musser	1121 Hutchins Ave	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Pacula	5 Eucalyptus Knoll	Mill Valley	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gordon	Grant	2650 N Lakeview Ave	Chicago	60614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Goodell	6 Northern Ave	Beverly	1915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Suarez	48181 Nottinghill Ln.	Canton	48188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phil	Ramey	ramey	ATWATER	44201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Wells	5146 Bocaw Pl, San Diego CA	San Diego	92115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Palmer	808 E Salem Ave	Indianola	50125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Murray	1002 Graham Drive	FREDERICKSBURG	22401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Wagner	1408 G street #4	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Percy	Muetz	14 Aspen dr	Bailey	80421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randy	Jezierski	PO Box 31	Deer Harbor	98243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walon	Smith	1562 co. rd. 753	Clanton	35045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Al	Luque	Annapoli Rd	Philadelphia	19114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Blatter	1 Starboard Dr	SUISUN CITY	94585	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	Ledyard	147 Southfield Drive	Vernon Hills	60061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Wagner	1408 G street #4	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Bannon	1002 Graham Drive	FREDERICKSBURG	22401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tammy	Casteel	808 S. Overton Ave.	Independence	64053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sabina	Cohen	1555 Lakeside Dr	Oakland	94612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Zachary	Coggin	510 Berkeley Hill Dr, Apt 911	Charlotte	28262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Roberto	10746 N MAGNOLIA AVE UNIT 8C	Santee	92071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bethann	Barankovich	3317 14th Ave S	Minneapolis	55407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sue	Lockshine	5175 Park Side Trail	Solon	44139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Hartman	25962 Via Del Rey	San Juan Capistrano	92675	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jackie	Shea	31850 Highway 41	Blanchard	83804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joel	Monahan	2326 Wintermere Pointe Dr	Winter Garden	34787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gage	wilson	3775 Southridge Cir	Tahlequah	74464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alessandra	Colfi	1397 Temple Heights Dr.	Oceanside	92056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chithra	Keembiyehetty	18634 winding Creek Pl	Germantown	20874	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	Wolf	3050 paseo del descanso	Santa Barbara	93105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob and Leslie	Weinstein	452 N Alexander St	Monongahela	15063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nora-Adrienne	Deret	P.O. Box 350948	Brooklyn	11235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Lewis	PO Box 5569	Palm Springs	92263	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fernando	Ortiz	102 Hollow Rock Court	SLIDELL	70461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	werner	8395 Wyatt rd	Broadview Heights	44147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janine	Kondreck	799 Dahlia St. #201	Denver	80220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Robinson	2712 France Ave N	Minneapolis	55422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kiana	Rose	P.O. Box 1637	Sebastopol	95473	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Ahearn	490 Rantoul	Beverly	1915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Lyon	15031 SW 153 Street	Miami	33187	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

sandra	mckelvey		Palm Springs	92264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Murphy	1335 Columbia	Hood River	97031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juan	Gavilan	4710-meadowview ave	North Bergen	7047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry	Cutler	40797 Schafer Place	Palm Desert	92211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Howard	22 Ironwood Way N	Palm Beach Gardens	33418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Lopez	13435 Bixler Ave	Downey	90242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	Grace	722 Everett St S	STILLWATER	55082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
juan de la	torre	1715 heavenly Way	ceres	95307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ROXANA	HANSON	152 South Hayworth	Los Angeles	90048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Barrow	1531 SW Harrison St Apt 18	Portland	97201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Donn	7300 W McNab Rd	FORT LAUDERDALE	33321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	& Becky	16633 SE 40th Place	Bellevue	98008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Afflick	22 Hillcrest Ave.	Concord	3301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Beltz	193 North Vireo Drive	Mc Kees Rocks	15136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Sailer	1240 W Sims Way	PORT TOWNSEND	98368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alfred	Wilson	1449 Curtin Street, State College, Pennsylvania 16803	State College	16803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Neidig	1242 Park Ave	Charleston	25302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aime	Ouellette	324 west mc cabe street	North Dartmouth	2747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ROXANA	HANSON	152 South Hayworth	Los Angeles	90048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Yarbrough	5019 Peppertree Road, Clemmons, NC	Clemmons	27012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Burgess	359 Iroquois Ave.	Battle Creek	49015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jackie	Holmbeck	17620 25th Ave. No., Plymouth, MN.	Minneapolis	55447	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claire	Lewis	8412 SW 107th Pl	Ocala	34481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rose	Cody	373 N. Fletcher	Fayetteville	72701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

stephen	Stoker	1036 Ivy Lane	San Antonio	78209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Brault	5549 Burning Tree Ct	Indianapolis	46239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Rogala	18 Oakwood Rd	Candler	28715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Fehsinger	69 Dougherty	New Boston	3070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV nor change the access speed based on content or who the consumer is. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Cable Box and end this unfair monopoly.
Steven	Zemsky	18530 Kilt Terrace	Olney	20832	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Rodenkirch	9521 E Thomas Pl	Tucson	85748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Cusimano	18 North Cherry Street #2	Emmaus	18049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sonia	Goldstein	321 W 24 St. #13H	NEW YORK	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Montgomerie	3448 Hampton dr	Fort Collins	80525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Cusimano	18 North Cherry Street #2	Emmaus	18049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liane	Gayler	10987 - 117 Street		0	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Oliver	Bambrough	105 Park Creek Dr	Alpharetta	30005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arica	Edwards	130 South 33RD Street	Richmond	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Oluwadare	Ayodele	2121 Main Street, Houston, Texas	Houston	77002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Gorski	140 23rd St S	La Crosse	54601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzanne	Koury	919 Deforest Ave	Iowa City	52240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Iman	Shervington	6 Craigie Circle	Cambridge	2138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Dean	408 Lovett	Houston	77006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Our cable provider (AT&T) does not provide the service I am paying for and I am In Houston, Tx. . The other major service provider is not any better. So it is time you do something and give the consumer a break!!

Cicely	Wilson	8292 Annandale Ave	Desert Hot Springs	92240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carlos	Gomez-Moreno	925 Buchanan St	Hollywood	33019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Rafalak	144 6th Street	Schenectady	12302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Being locked into a single type of cable box makes no more sense then if we were locked into only one brand of radio or television. Multiple competing brands that all meet basic standards is what we do with other technologies. There is NO reason for cable boxes to do otherwise!Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ashley	Kyser	2 little harbor way	Deerfield Beach	33441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebate	battier	34 reposo oak view	Oak View	93022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dexter	Kimball	15121 Lazuli Road	Loveland	80538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. If Cable companies were not monopolies in their local service areas, as they are where I live, we would NOT have these issues. Comcast does not behave well in Larimer County Colorado! If there were choices then competition would settle some of these issues. As it is, please use your regulatory authority in favor of the consumer with respect to this issue. It is an unnecessary charge of ten to twenty dollars per month and I can get a better "Box" with better features for far far less. Thanks!
Muriel	Wentzien	2034 NE 40th ave apt304	Portland	97212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Myerson	3863 Bentley Ave.	Culver City	90232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Drewes	912 34th St	Bellingham	98229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Solondz		Livingston	7039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	McGuire	4306 Dover Dr	Frederick	21703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Brown	717 North Ave	Syracuse	13206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Krueger	730 Bayberry ct. E.	BLOOMINGTON	47401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Cogliser	380 Forest Glen Dr	Grants Pass	97526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
nicole	bos	2201 N. Ursula St.	Aurora	80045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Averitt	325 S Loudoun St	Winchester	22601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Campbell	23338 victory blvd woodland hills	Woodland Hills	91367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Omar	Mobayed	1057 Crimdon Dr	San Marcos	92069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Harrington	2307 Laverna	Los Angeles	90041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorraine	Waddell	5731 Pimlico Rd	Baltimore	21209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	Serrano	113 E 13TH ST, #8B	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Iovino	4669 Dunn Ave	Memphis	38117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Jordan	6026 Larchwoood Avenue Apt C1	Philadelphia	19143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jake	Petit	2808 Cleveland Ave.	New Orleans	70119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Campbell	23338 victory blvd woodland hills	Woodland Hills	91367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Stewart	7825 Patriot Drive Annandale VA	Annandale	22003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Strickland	317 Forest Hill Drive	Warner Robins	31088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Toler	2084 Tournament Dr	APOPKA	32712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anna	Myerson	77 Bayview St.	CAMDEN	4843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Myrna	Borus	160 e 89	New York	10128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jonathan	sanson	4916 giordano way	KELLER	76244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Filippetti	1520 Seling Ave	Rosedale	21237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Nickels	427 Regatta Drive	Avon Lake	44012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Atkinson	3525 Country Square Drive H101	Carrollton	75006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beverly	Janowitz-Price	3020 N. 14th St.	Phoenix	85014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darlene	Harvey	2011 Holland Avenue	Bronx	10462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Carroll	204 del gado road	San Clemente	92672	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Rand	16850 Interlaken St.	Tehachapi	93561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Reynolds	4874 Gage Ave #90	Bell Gardens	90201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Brink	441 Burnett Ave S	Renton	98057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mohamad	Mroue	5127 Orchard Ave	Dearborn	48126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	McDougal	19151 Polish Town Road	Barhamsville	23011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Balsara	6910 Kingston Drive	Lake Worth	33462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shirley	Kressel	Boston	Boston	2115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claire	Lewis	8412 SW 107th Pl	Ocala	34481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Schlesinger	25161 Jesmond Dene Rd	Escondido	92026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brad	Daniels	18315 S Grasle Rd.	OREGON CITY	97045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darlene	Harvey	2011 Holland Avenue	Bronx	10462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Weiss	245 Tallwood Ter	Roswell	30076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Chamberlain	133 Ashland Ave	Buffalo	14222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Coates	217 Brookmeade Circle	WHITE RIVER JUNCTION	5001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Gossett	2163 N 122nd St.	Seattle	98133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Tilert	413 Westbury Drive	Riva	21140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Gardner	2609 Juniper Ct	Bedford	76021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	lahey	1504 w farwell ave	Chicago	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Sills	15 Liberty St. Apt 14	Easthampton	1027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Macas	5736 W. 89th St.	Oak Lawn	60453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Alcorn	568 Pleasant St.	Belmont	2478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Myerson	3362 12th ave	Brooklyn	11218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nadya	Disend	5812 Fremont St.	EMERYVILLE	94608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Wallen	3438 Cockatoo Dr	HOLIDAY	34690	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Powell	275 N. Adams St.	Eugene	97402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Jackson	673 Larkin Ln	MONTGOMERY	36109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	Mendousa	20 cross rd	ORLEANS	2653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Morgan	422 centerville st. NE	Denham Springs	70726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
j	Frankland	1 Main St	Schenectady	12345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Szarek	93 Hillcrest RD	LITCHFIELD	3052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

joseph	morris	3136 Lakeview Dr	Canyon Lake	78133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eilene	Jenkins	130 Lakeside ct.	Fayetteville	30214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lamont	Keller	313 Lucky Ln	Reno	89502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Anderson	21920 Whitmore St.	Oak Park	48237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Duncan	21 Waller St, Apt. 1102	Austin	78702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Shinder	po box 371137	Las Vegas	89137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harry	Wohlsein	14724 SE Linden Ln. Milwaukie, OR	Portland	97267	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melanie	Goddard	3116 Post Road	Sarasota	34231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Both	776 Park Ave	Binghamton	13903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. And Time-Warner Cable is requiring consumers to rent a smaller box for Standard cable to be used on all your other TVs. This is an absolute money grab. Thank you Congress and FCC for initiating this "Digital" revolution. Do you think this was the plan all along??? They claim it is for increase bandwidth efficiency. BULL.

David	Lewis	267 Turners Falls Rd	Bernardston	1337	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juan	Canet	1922 Bennington Ct	Fort Lee	23801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elise	Gallant	339 e 9th St	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

EdD	Jeffrey Jenkins	210 Gunsmoke Dr.	Diamond Bar	91765	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Gold	6676 Windsor Lane	Miami Beach	33141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Keane	1020 De Leon Dr.	Dunedin	34698	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Campbell	23338 victory blvd woodland hills	Woodland Hills	91367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Chapman	133 Hobart Ave	TRENTON	8629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Miller	po box 74222	New River	85087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Vergara	6700 N Andrews Ave	Fort Lauderdale	33309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mark	rausher	298 state route 208	New Paltz	12561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Fincher	3818 Williamsburg Circle	Austin	78731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sef	Magrath	1419 e 7th ave	Spokane	99202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Colina-Lee	205 Galena	Bellvue	80512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Farah	Germain	1110 NW 140 St	MIAMI	33168	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marsha	Kelly	364 Summit Avenue	Saint Paul	55102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dagmar	Grabsch	Klausingring	DEER RIVER	13627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Rentzel	20912 Layton Ridge Dr	Gaithersburg	20882	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Maffie	x	Putney	5346	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	S.....	100 San Diego	San Diego	92107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Pena	223 E. Cullumber Ave	Gilbert	85234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kendra	Waddell	6995 E Mary Dr.	Tucson	85730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arnold	Ashley	1867 Whaley Avenue	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Snowden	3305 Calle Cuervo NW	Albuquerque	87114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Bergson	30 Preston Rd.	Somerville	2143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leah	Froemsdorf	1217 Boone St SE	Lacey	98503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Stoll	1405 East Prairie Drive	Bloomington	47408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Schwartz	32017 Kingspark Ct.	Westlake Village	91361	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Hanlin	Russia Rd.	Amherst	44001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Thomas	1701 Silver Court	Trenton	8690	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Donahue	44 Mayflower St.	Plymouth	2360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Cassidy	Philadelphia	Philadelphia	19131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
freddy	brummett	1964 old clyde road	Clyde	28721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Hayworth	PO Box 970628, Ypsilanti, MI	Ypsilanti	48197	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Gatcomb	2 Cedarbrook Village	Rochester	3867	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ailsa	Hermann-Wu	1306 Trapelo Rd.	WALTHAM	2451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Showalter	610 Sweetbay Way	HERSHEY	17033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Snowden	3305 Calle Cuervo NW	Albuquerque	87114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
steve	o	6911 shepherd st.	HYATTSVILLE	20784	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pablo	Voitzuk	5405 Broadway	Oakland	94618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andy	Ritter	695 Green Earth Drive, Apt. F	FENTON	63026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Neal	806 19th Street Court East	Bradenton	34208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jessica	Weber	6309 Amanda Lane	Ravenna	44266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Brown	PO Box 1055	Bailey	80421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carlos	Duarte	27703 myrtle lake lane, Katy TX	Katy	77494	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Cahill	34808 shasta st, yucaipa, ca	Yucaipa	92399	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Hanlin	Russia Rd.	Amherst	44001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Muller	120 Portland St. S. Berwick	South Berwick	3908	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Driscoll	4221 N. Arches Way	MERIDIAN	83646	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Donahue	44 Mayflower St.	Plymouth	2360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heidi	Hartman	691 Coppertree Ct	Simi Valley	93065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Steele	box 155	BATH	3740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leanne	Friedman	1576 Drake Dr.	Davis	95616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ashwin	Purohit	90 Fairview Ave, Apt 3-2	Kingston	12401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Rothrock	1745 Vallejo St.	San Francisco	94123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alberto	Velazquez	424 S Boyd St	WINTER GARDEN	34787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J.	Serrano	81 Barbara lane	Middle Island	11953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	Svec	4511 Woodlark Place	ROCKVILLE	20853	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Devine	1350 W Grand	Chicago	60642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Williamson	1930 Lawrence unit 40	Port Townsend	98368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Gadley	2800 Fleming Rd	Albany	31705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	von Berg	369 High St, Medford, MA	Medford	2155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Zimmerman	1527 Princeton Avenue	Salt Lake City	84105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Millard	Atkins	710 hill	GRAND JUNCTION	81501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Ryan	21 Arbutus Rd	Worcester	1606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Ford	304 Evergreen Ct	Canton	30115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Graffeo		Bethel	6801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Heiman	E6227 819th Ave	Colfax	54730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Janowitz	2220 NW 42 PLace	Gainesville	32605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	McLean	8908 Oakland Hills Cir	Portage	49024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maya	Zickler-Horn	1217 w 8th Ave	Spokane	99204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sofia	nimaleh	714 tinker road	Middle River	21220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolee	Kaplan	435 Orchard Street	Santa Rosa	95404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Dunwoody	4500 Scotts Valley Dr, Scotts Valley, Ca	SCOTTS VALLEY	95066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andy	Jaikaran	1420 Wood Road #10F	Bronx	10462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	Dwiggins	9845 Shoshone Ave	Northridge	91325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Rupp	1021 7th Street	Glen Burnie	21060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Millard	Atkins	710 hill	GRAND JUNCTION	81501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stony	Marsh	320 N Skinker BLVD	Saint Louis	63130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Malan	3642@comcast.net	Columbus	47203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sibylle	Kettering	210 Hicks Lane	Clinton Corners	12514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roxann	Carmean	915 W Landmark Trl	PAYSON	85541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Lindermuth	2749 MONROE ST	Carlsbad	92008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clarence	Berry	1028 robert derrick	Schertz	78154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martha	Miller-Hampton	9821 S 4206 Road, Chelsea, OK	CHELSEA	74016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
stan	hunter	410 Churchill Rd	Sierra Madre	91024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reuben	Wade	715 South 7th St.	Philadelphia	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary and Seraphina	Landgrebe	3081 Hannan Lane	Soquel	95073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Amundsen	556 Gifford Hill Road	ONEONTA	13820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarah	Forman	479 Central Ave	New Haven	6515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Rudner	5080 Laurel Ave.	Cypress	90630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ever	Angulo	6224 Menard Ave.	Chicago	60638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Conrad	3812 Jamaca Ave N	Lake Elmo	55042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Oluwadare	Ayodele	2121 Main Street, Houston, Texas	Houston	77002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juan	Lopez	BB-5 St. 27	Rio Grande	745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Hogben	712 Tamarack Way	Herndon	20170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Estey	314B N 8 st	Columbia	65201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
camille	cooper	9201 kanis road	LITTLE ROCK	72205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francine	Tyler	419 W. 48th St	New York	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelsey	Swann	2233 Granby Way	San Marcos	92078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ACJohnson	johnson	6101 Prince Frederick Ct	LEESBURG	34748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ric	Melton	530 N Edison Street, I-103	Kennewick	99336	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

james	crosheck	4025 crest view rd ne	Solon	52333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Timko	8516 Heather Dr	Willowbrook	60527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Ingram	110 Brentwood Ln. , So. Fulton, Tn.	South Fulton	38257	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Liz	Galst	360 West 22nd Street, Apt. 14B	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Young	2230 Sandy Dr	Eugene	97401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Lanigan	201 Timber Creek Dr	O Fallon	63368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melissa	Friedman	106 Ava Ava, Somerdale, NJ	Somerdale	8083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Jung	36 Quinn Street	Staten Island	10304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Beltran	5410 Sunshine Dr., Austin TX	Austin	78756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kendra	Brooks	249 16	Seal Beach	90740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Azevedo	Fairbanks ave	East Taunton	2718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Flannery	1027 Q St.	Sacramento	95811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karolyn	Burns	2848 SW 39th Ave	Gainesville	32608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Malone	426 Pleasant Ave. Piscataway NJ	Piscataway	8854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Constance	Kenny	1002 North Main Street	Greenville	29609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Foulkes	8 south main	Doylestown	18901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryan	Houston	888 7th street	San Francisco	94107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Duane	Taber	W.Palm Beach,FL	PALM BEACH GARDENS	33418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dawn	White	115 Chestnut Street	Swedesboro	8085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Einar	Thorsen	217 Dupps Avenue	Pueblo	81005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sofia	nimaleh	714 tinker road	Middle River	21220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tiffany	Heineman	5307 Devonshire Avenue	SAINT LOUIS	63109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gar	Benedick	425 Locust St	Laguna Beach	92651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. One of the six goals of the FCC is to regulate competition. Cable companies have a monopoly on what kind of boxes can be used to receive there signals. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV or how they receive the programming. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LiseMarie	Schleicher	301 Hal Muldrow Dr.	NORMAN	73069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Audrey	Gilchrist	15048 DEVONSHIRE ST	Mission Hills	91345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Skinner	505 Water St	Angola	46703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Wilder	2981 SE South Lookout Boulevard	Port Saint Lucie	34984	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Cavanaugh	43312 Modena Drive Temecula CA	Temecula	92592	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Diane	Livermore, CA	Livermore	94550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clinton	Vann	10016 161st RD	Live Oak	32060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Lee	59 Abby Road	Braintree	2184	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Hatcher	13201 Overcup Oak Court	Herndon	20171	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Micheal	Erickson	2515 south 9th street	Minneapolis	55406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Brown	3271 Woodcreek Drive	Charlottesville	22911	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	MacGuire	3951 south 211	SEATTLE	98198	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Wallen	3150 Water Oak Dr	Merritt Island	32953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Collins	32 Allen Road	Norwalk	6851	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Joe	3033 Wallingford Road	Pasadena	91107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Hunter	P.O. Box696	WOODACRE	94973	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victoria	Olson	118 Robert Street	Westport	2790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Francke	1314 Boulevard Way Apt B	WALNUT CREEK	94595	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Sachse	60531 E Twisted Snaffle Pl	Tucson	85739	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

stÌ©phane	dachy	rue de l'industrie 69		5002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jp	SMITH	9331 green meadows way	PALM BEACH GARDENS	33418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Arenales	7711 N 51st Ave Glendale Az	Glendale	85301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Devon	Griffin	19157 Westmoreland	DETROIT	48219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Jeffery	1212 OAKLAND ROAD #67	San Jose	95112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Harlander	104 E. Jennings Ave	Wood River	62095	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Manetric	Douglas	4452 N. Priscilla Avenue	INDIANAPOLIS	46226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R Dean	Barr	152 E Main St	Abingdon	24210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Alcorn Lobato	2509 Maryland Ave.	Baltimore	21218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cecelia	Benelli	1009 E. Carroll St.	MACOMB	61455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edwin	Martin	13600 Grand Ave, Burnsville, MN	Burnsville	55337	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Joseph	12340 83rd Ave	Kew Gardens	11415	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maeryn	Boirionnach	213 Porter Ct	WOODLAND	95695	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
F	Easley	311 E. Cedar Avenue	Burbank	91502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LaShanda	McKelvey	4179 emerald north drive	DECATUR	30035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adrian	Cuevas	476 Descanso Bay Ct.	Tulare	93274	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hugh	O'Haire	570 E46 Ave, Eugene, OR	EUGENE	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Autumn	Hickman	1152 N 1300 W	SALT LAKE CITY	84116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roxann	Snyder	413 Hemlock drive, burnsville, mn	Burnsville	55337	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Wasley	2434 4th Avenue N	Saint Petersburg	33713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Megan	Essman	235 Linden Road	Northbrook	60062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

G	Weis	1706 W Disney Pl	Sioux Falls	57104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Burns	2426 Glen Valley Dr NW	Grand Rapids	49544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trisha	Sherman	35 Rock Ave.	DANIELSON	6239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Feichtinger	2711 Riverside	Trenton	48183	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Imhoff	80 Rolling Wood Dr.	Stamfoird	6905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caroline	Johnsen	76 Alta Vista Drive	Dahlonega	30533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerald	Stansfield	621 40th Place	Everett	98201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Maschke	4802 Gedeon Avenue	Cleveland	44102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Wray	1300 Adams street	Longwood	32750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

lonnie	milton	29209 s. royal oaks dr	mulino	97042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Lam	621 Allen St.	MARTINEZ	94553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Collins	32 Allen Road	NORWALK	6851	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paula	Dow	P. O. Box 2963	Chelan	98816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
peter	fabris	61 south st	Marlborough	1752	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Wildt	329 SouthBrook Cir	Mankato	56001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Skinner	505 Water St	Angola	46703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Myles	595 Spring Avenue	Rumford	4276	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Hanners	4916 Ashleigh Dr	Dublin	43016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. We can already chose to purchase the internet modem instead of renting so why not the set top box too? Oh yeah - follow the money! Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gloria	Diggle	637 SW Magnolia Ln	FORT WHITE	32038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Lockert	5224 N. Maple St., Spokane, WA	SPOKANE	99205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gazurian	608 Craycombe Avenue	BALTIMORE	21211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	shaffer	430 fulton st. #511	Waverly	14892	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Savoie	908 Glenda	Bedford	76022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shiho	Fujii	PO Bxo 150532	Alexandria	22315	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

E.	Gallagher	1500 Broadway	New York	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lance	Sloan	8987 West Olive Ave	Peoria	85345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anita	A	0 Snail Mail Please	Denver	80206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jake	Mazulewicz	1304, Cedar Crossing Trail	Midlothian	23114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Mews	521 Curie Dr	San Jose	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bettie	Reina	Po Box 191	MILMAY	8340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Levesque	29 Pratt Ave	Lowell	1851	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Kearney-Hopkins	7233 E Ivyglen St	Mesa	85207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorelei	O'Malley	12 Sonata Cir	Wimberley	78676	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aaron	Young	4711 Belladonna Street	Middleburg	32068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theodore	Boley	1300 Donald Ave.	ROYAL OAK	48073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Panebianco	322 EDWIN ST	Chittenango	13037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Messick	46 Camino de Los Arroyos	RANCHOS DE TAOS	87557	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
L.	Schlansky	508 NW 62nd St	Seattle	98107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Boucher	11 Foxcroft Rd.	Enfield	6082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Carrillo	3672 san pasqual st	PASADENA	91107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
N	C	Lakeway Drive	Bellingham	98229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claire	Christie	48 Lannon Ave NE	Atlanta	30317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicole	Johnson	2339 n sawyer ave	Chicago	60647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Schultzberg	865 York street, Apt. 4	Oakland	94610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Comfort	918 W. Airy St. Norristown, PA	Norristown	19401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Carter	5525 Hill Way	Suitland	20746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Schwartz	610 Merlin Drive, #101	Lafayette	80026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Myello	1794 Stine Rd.	Peninsula	44264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ricco	Cox	1440 Wood Road	BRONX	10462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colin	Kellogg	95 West Saugerties Rd	Woodstock	12498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Jensen	7511 Cattail Court NE	Cedar Rapids	52402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	Astleford	5736 1st Ave S	MINNEAPOLIS	55419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Germaine	Gogel	15 Berkley Dr	Clinton	13323	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	Hart	P. O. Box 814	North Myrtle Beach	29597	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christian	Lambright	PO Box 586, West, Tx	West	76691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Crenner	4911 E. Lake Rd. Romulus, NY	Romulus	14541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Stead	255 Meadowslope Dr	Talent	97540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Carter	5525 Hill Way	Suitland	20746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrye	Peterson	312 East 16th, Costa Mesa, CA	Costa Mesa	92627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonny	Hahn	1916 Pike Pl., #12, Seattle, WA	SEATTLE	98101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doug	Krause	31 battleford bay	Fargo	58108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
dennis	gwynn	3255 dallas rd	Salem	97304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Monagan	3341 Fay Ave	Culver City	90232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeremy	Bourget	20 Mayfair Rd	Warwick	2888	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Goldenberg	6655 Jackson Rd #136	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Travis	Moore	473 Posada Way	Chico	95973	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Socrates	Calderon	938 Parkbrook St	SPRING VALLEY	91977	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Thrush	23605 96th Street East	Buckley	98321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Pickering	21409 SE 19th St	SAMMAMISH	98075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Makad	1324 SW 22nd Street	Troutdale	97060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lary	Graves	345 SE 28th Ave.	PORTLAND	97214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Klump	406 Abbott ST	OXFORD	53952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stacie	Slay	45 Road 1304	La Plata	87418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynda	Manning	5212 Clarendon Hills Dr	Fort Collins	80526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jo Anne	Westhoff	4325 EVERGREEN DR	Woodbridge	22193	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gloria	English	5212 Tierwester	HOUSTON	77004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	B	Mission Viejo	Mission Viejo	92691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Toni	Moore	1631 n Allen ave	Pasadena	91104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Albert	Kenneke	3031 Borge St	Baltimore	21224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Sherwood	1719 SE 35th Ave.		9721`4	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Schmeh	11201 w 106th	Broomfield	80021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Newbern	12 Ramblewood Circle	Newbury	3255	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JOAN	SOLANCHICK	260 VICTORY WAY	Bethlehem	18017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Myron	Wollin	3471 Lilly Avenue, Long Beach CA	Long Beach	90808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeri	Brydson	1390 W 6690 S #H101	Salt Lake City	84123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Carlsen	7 Noble Ct	Bridgewater	8807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Langston	10216 Maydelle Dr	Austin	78748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerritt and Elizabeth	Baker-Smith	338 Braeside	EAST STROUDSBURG	18301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beulah	Stagner	1515 Great Falls Street, Apt 302	Mc Lean	22101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Neville	49 Pinon Ct	Sedona	86336	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Johnston	930 Prospect	DEKALB	60115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Davies	3719 S. Chicago Ave.	South Milwaukee	53172	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacqueline	Pierson	4929 Mermaid Blvd.	WILMINGTON	19808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Meena	Karol	2737arrowwood	Ann Arbor	48105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jackie	demarais	2704 Casas Del Sur Court	Granbury	76049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Miranda	104 w plumosa		33457	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim	Kensler-Prager	5215 Secor Rd #8	Toledo	43623	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. The prices Cable charges are ridiculous, we should have a reasonable choice of how much we pay for cable.
Maria	Morehead	8815 Burke Ave. N	Seattle	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Raz	4445 SW Washouga Ave	Portland	97239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Barrett	6120 W Sweetwater Ave	GLENDALE	85304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Mestl	16431 grand ave	OMAHA	68116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Moyle	36 Woodside Dr.	Pataskala	43062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Collins	1051 S. Hayworth Ave	Los Angeles	90035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vaughn	Porter	20316 SW Kirkwood St Apt 308	BEAVERTON	97006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Lampke	Fort Collins	Fort Collins	80526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Shikuma	2785 Fickle Hill Rd. #C	Arcata	95521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barb	Scavezze	Amhurst	Olympia	98501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jose	Quintanilla	2216 pebble beach trl	Oxnard	93036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dawn	Kimble	3980 St. Petersburg St.	Boulder	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Hunklet	142 W. Main st	Barnesville	43713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	k	204 E Clinton, atwater, ca	Atwater	95301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Flannery	1027 Q St.	Sacramento	95811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. We can't let cable and internet providers dictate this policy. Providers will always pursue profit over all else. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beulah	Stagner	1515 Great Falls Street, Apt 302	Mc Lean	22101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heather	Hoyer	2821 May Avenue	Redondo Beach	90278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Curley	20 Chestnut Street apt 2	Waltham	2453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyron	Fikes	5298 bel aire ln	LOWELL	46356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexis	Agostini	184 Sunnylands Rd	Milford	18337	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nora	Farr	369 Old Town Road, Port Jefferson Station	Port Jefferson Station	11776	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shay	Gooding	190 S Forks Ave	Forks	98331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Price	880 Forest Ave., Apt. 10-2	Portland	4103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raymond	Pidgeon	25 crystal brook dr	spfld	1118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Schachner	22 Claremont Ln	Suffern	10901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Or at least, consumers should have the right to buy instead of rent an HD cable box. After perhaps a year or two, that is sure to save the consumer money. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frederick	Johnson	427 page st	San Francisco	94102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cornelia	Shearer	Auburn, Wa	Auburn	98092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Snyder	610 Pine Street	Hamburg	19526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S. E.	Williams	12707 Murphy Rd., #70	STAFFORD	77477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keith	Morgan	PO BOX 868	LAKE STEVENS	98258	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeannette	Barclay	Po box 616	West Branch	48661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brooke	Prather	902 Del Paso Blvd #31 Sacramento Ca	Sacramento	95815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maureen	Guido	83-18 60th Avenue	MIDDLE VILLAGE	11379	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Thibaudeau	P O Box 1823	Great Falls	59403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Boorsma	513 E 11th St	Duluth	55805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Holdaway	3955 VISTAPARK DR APT 108	San Jose	95136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Kavanaugh	3121 W ERIE AVE	Lorain	44053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Avram	Eisner	3641 Francis Ave N, Apt 4	Seattle	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

RenÌ©	Flores			92902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Praneetha	Brila	14 hay st		91420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	A	10305 Village Rd.	Gratiot	53541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Johnson	2080 West 25th Avenue	EUGENE	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Pfister	703 Misty Hills Lane, Carmel, NY	Carmel	10512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Snell	7591 W F Ave	Kalamazoo	49009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Chu	20668 VERDE VISTA LN	Saratoga	95070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Nachtsheim	460 Elizabeth Rd	Sanibel	33957	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Bodine	Phoenix	SUN CITY	85351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Prove me wrong - I don't think you have the spinal fortitude to do right by the general public.

Margaret	Simonson	2607 S Manito Blvd	Spokane	99203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Coffman	923 NW Bishop St, Grants Pass, OR	Grants Pass	97526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andre	Rodriguez	825 Volunteer Blvd	Knoxville	37916	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eileen	Sponzo	15 Mystique Ln	Cromwell	6416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Aronson	707 Beverly Road	Ambler	19002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	LaPointe	4645 E. Edgewood Ave.	MESA	85206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pam	Jones	10012 Regal Park Lane	Dallas	75230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Sadowsky	4225 SW 84 Avenue	Miami	33155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Cruise	4202 Bromley Ln	Richmond	23221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rita	Wilson	1109 Sherwood Drive	Carlisle	17013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. We used to be able to watch our own television sets without the boxes. Along with the boxes there is a fee for the remote to use the box. When the cable company (Comcast) began requiring the boxes and remotes to watch our own television sets the fee was $2 each over two. The first two were at no charge. Suddenly the fee was raised to $3 and now it has been raised to $4 each. We are using the same remotes that were $2 and free. What possible justification is there for charging more without even replacing the remotes?
Jean	McCauley	6766 E Called la AZ #A	Canjilon	87515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Harkenrider	11728 Hendy Hollow rd	Corning	14830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Renee	Carlson	2th ave	Portland	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Nachtsheim	460 Elizabeth Rd	Sanibel	33957	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	deLima	12601 SE River Rd., Apt. 318	Portland	97222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Freeman	100 Lincoln St Unit 15	Duxbury	2332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roxie	Powell	6356 Windharp Way	Columbia	21045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pearl	Greenberger	255 West 88 St., 8A	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Dunham	165 Sparrows Cove	Fayetteville	30215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Word	600 General Goodwin rd	CERRILLOS	87010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Dutkowsky	700 Washington Ave	BROOKLYN	11238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trudy	Lackey	PO Box 1226	Murphys	95247	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Clarke	999 N Doheny Drive 1202	West Hollywood	90069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francis	Roberts	326 I Street # 116	EUREKA	95501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Rodriguez	Southwood Blvd	Incline Village	89451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gullett	PO Box 206 S Ysrmouth MA	South Yarmouth	2664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sylvia	Woodard	1120 N 9th Street	Lafayette	47904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarah	Schmidt	24 Caincrest Rd	YORK	3909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Hillen	Po Box 437	ROMNEY	26757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paula	Goffe	332 Salford Station Road	Perkiomenville	18074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	McKinnon	13 San Bar Drive	Lake Hopatcong	7849	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Lazar	1340 Ivan Blvd.	LaBelle	33935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Sutton	3508 BOGSIDE WAY	Las Vegas	89129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Crystal	Mitchell	309 Misty Woods	BERTRAM	78605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Robinson	213 Alton St	BICKNELL	47512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Landa	Pittsboro, NC	Pittsboro	27312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Leonhardt	14 Cortez Ave	Burlingame	94010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maripat	S	24 centenial way wcl nj	Woodcliff Lake	7677	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jasna	Grujic	28965 Silver Saddle Circle	Canyon Country	91387	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Whang	801 Florence Avenue	FORT WAYNE	46808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Goleman	7028 Penn Ave	PITTSBURGH	15208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip	Johnston	10 Carriage Lane	SCOTTS VALLEY	95066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Truhon	48 Gleason Drive	Thiells	10984	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janie	Walker	3630 N. 97th St.	MILWAUKEE	53222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gilda	Garcia	5625 Rose Mist Ct	Elk Grove	95757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Mccormick	6311 S E 90th	Portland	97266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. The BEST WAY to get the BEST for your money is to just LET The MARKET decide what is the BEST business or company to do business with, because the public WILL use what is BEST for our usage of our money. If a company can give us what we want for a cheaper price than another then they will make money where a BAD business will LOOSE most of the time.
MariaElena	Chavez	2 Lebanon Arc	Las Cruces	88005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Felicia	Williams	4201 Mass. Ave. NW	Washington	20016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
george	rissell	1131 ben franklin hwy. apt.109	Douglassville	19518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Bunk	48 Highland Ave.	Franklin	3235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Biggs	19713 California	Saint Clair Shores	48080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mac	Poe	2634 Reagan St	Houston	77009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Uhing	2619 Arnold Rd	Des Moines	50310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry	Solomon	591 Fairview	Ashland	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Bobeck	west wyoming pa		18644	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Blaisdell	Little River Rd	EXETER	3833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

republicansareassholes	forever	123blow	Somers Point	8244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Grimes	3630 Vance St	Wheat Ridge	80033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Marshall	7149 Park City Dr	JACKSONVILLE	32244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tracy	Ewing	11520 East 183rd street	Artesia	90701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anna	Patton	4836 W Bayberry St	TUCSON	85742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Smith	Bloomsbury	Bloomsbury	8804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Virginia	Douglas	133 Brandtson Ave.	Elyria	44035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Johnny	Kopsi	1032 5th Street	Menominee	49858	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Riley	Wilson	1405 Yellowstone Road	Cleveland	44121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Abel	144 Lindbergh Blvd, Bloomfield, NJ	Bloomfield	7003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Baldwin	419 Strawberry Lane	Ashland	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Speakman	2104 1/2 Barker Ave.	LAWRENCE	66046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Collette	Sell	Mill Valley, CA	Mill Valley	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	Franklin	6312 Dupont Ave S	Minneapolis	55423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Baranowski	171 Discovery View Drive	Sequim	98382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harold	Lazar	1340 Ivan Blvd.	LaBelle	33935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
meg	kettell	114 india street	BROOKLYN	11222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrie	Waterstraut	709 Willow Springs Dr.	Owosso	48867	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melissa	Heithaus	301 South Sherman Street Suite #100	Richardson	75081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Heithaus	301 South Sherman Street Suite #100	Richardson	75081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Weaver	3066 Terramar Drive	ATLANTA	30341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

amy	l		5 New Haven	6515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosemary	Agonito	4502 Broad Rd	Syracuse	13215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
steve	bidigare	23224 beverly	Saint Clair Shores	48082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melanie	Walker	400 Meadowbrook Drive	McDonough	30253	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elias	Gardner	405 Culver Hill Road	Middlesex	5602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Nichols	213 E Power Ln	Tahlequah	74464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Lilly	403 Skyhill Rd	Alexandria	22314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary M	Paster	638 Lindero Canyon Rd., #312	Oak Park	91377	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Kay	219 N Broad St W	Angier	27501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Reynolds	3 S. Iowa Ave, Apt #1-A	ATLANTIC CITY	8401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean-Pierre	Swennen	6437 Stine Bridge Road, Santa Rosa, California	Santa Rosa	95409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hildie	Cuddigan	3841 ne 68th ave	Portland	97213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Finley	MARLBOROUGH		MA.	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liz	Kruidenier	3005 Cadencia St, Carlsbad , CA	CARLSBAD	92009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Morrison	2074 Ulster Ave Lake Katrine NY	Lake Katrine	12449	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

AJ	Home	3868 Berry Crt	Studio City	91604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	James	465 greenwich st	New York	10013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	Lemke	7544 Barsfield	Grand Ledge	48837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Browning	206 Dewberry Drive	Lake Jackson	77566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Walls	po box 21	Jamestown	27282	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	McCarthy	32 South St	Marblehead	1945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephany	Brennan	42 Wilan lane	Albany	12203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Babb	1720 beeler av	INDIANAPOLIS	46224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rodger	Burnich	9080 Willow Brook Drive	Sarasota	34238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Lisa	10257 n Calle del carnero	Tucson	85737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Reid	2830 Winegard Dr #32	Burlington	52601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Hopkins		Charlotte	28226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Harney	4155 3 mile lane	McMinnville	97128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Muse	4934 Orcas Pl. NE	Olympia	98516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Irving	10607 Mt Brow Rd	Sonora	95370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Hofmann	4310 N. Amherst St. Portland, Oregon	Portland	97203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Lee	441 N Harbor City Blvd Apt A11	Melbourne	32935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Weston	Stringham	1514 S 850 W	Woods Cross	84087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rita	Wilson	1109 Sherwood Drive	Carlisle	17013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. This has been a big money maker for the cable company (Comcast). We are being charged $4 apiece for remotes to watch our own television sets. First they were free, then $2. The fee was raised to $3 and it is now $4 for the exact same remotes that were once free or $2. They have not even replaced the remotes. There is no justification for this other than greed.
Mark	Martin	1220 Tasman Dr	Sunnyvale	94089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Harris	810 Sunset Ave	Manhattan	66502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	ballou	3 tsienneto rd	Derry	3038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Self	1204 Brinsmayd Arch	Chesapeake	23322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Eggleston	33 Charmwood Rd	PITTSFORD	14534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adam	Freezy	123 Main	San Diego	92110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shelley	Nathan	4807 Alta Loma Drive	Austin	78749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Kramer	475 Commonwealth Ave	Boston	2215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laetitia	Patterson	Colonial Village	Somersworth	3878	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Earl	Helms	12007 fairbury	Houston	77089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Zuehlke	5526 Murietta Avenue, Sherman Oaks, CA	Van Nuys	91401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

john	paradise	17179 timber dunes dr.	Grand Haven	49417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Mihay	4206 74th Ave SE	Olympia	98501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Lees	41Topsfield rd	IPSWICH	1938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Athlan	10374 rue Clark	Montrì©al	H3L 2S2	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Luis	Medina	775 Teodoro Aguilar		923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Sykes	7206 Kempton Road	LANHAM	20706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorothy	BROWN	Islip	Central Islip	11722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Amberson	3391 S. Walkup drive		86005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cailey	Sweatt	236-C Melrose St	Winston Salem	27103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Miller	1801 Buttonwood Street	Philadelphia	19130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heide	Coppotelli	383 Seldon-Emerson Rd	Cedar Mountain	28718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
thomas	hayes	68080 bahasa Cathal city ca	Cathedral City	92234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Morales	2072 South Point Road	Belmont	28012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I do NOT HAVE CABLE. THE way they have treated my neighbor who is an ex-marine and lives on a very, very small monthly SS check is a CRYING SHAME!!!!!!!!!!!!
Robert	Ryan	525 W. Deming Pl., Chicago, IL	Chicago	60614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Droman	Lockport, N.Y.	Lockport	14094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Dreasler	5515 W Giddings	chicago	60630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arlando	Smith	432 Santa Mesa Drive	San Jose	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Josh	Miller	2908 Fort Point Ln.	Carrollton	75007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joshua	Kolbus	315 N Senate	Indianapolis	46204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanda	adams	438 Vikki Lane	Mount Morris	48458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
b	DITILLO	2153 VAUXHALL ROAD	Union	7083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Paterline	13 Valley Vue Dr	Irwin	15642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Palomino	16552 Near side St.	Whittier	90603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	Edwards	7153)ak Leaf Drive	Santa Rosa	95409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice	Solek-Tefft	14 Blakey Rd	Underhill	5489	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Tredwell	85 Van Reypen Street, Jersey City, NJ	Jersey City	7306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cintra	Warden	32 Low St., #403, Newburyport, MA	Newburyport	1950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandy	J.	253 w51 st.	NEW YORK	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Romesburg	7326 N. 21st Avenue	PHOENIX	85021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tanya	Field	1224 3rd St SW	Albuquerque	87102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Yvette	Murphy	3250 Mary St #303	Miami	33133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	borusas	116 carriage way dr	Willowbrook	60527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Garret	Fritts	222 cole st.	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Naomi	Uyeda	4841 Ryland Ave	Temple City	91780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Engle	19946 Archwood Street	WINNETKA	91306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Serena	Scott	PO Box 7002	Santa Cruz	95061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jay	Atkinson	63 Orion Court	EL SOBRANTE	94803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Harney	4155 three mile lane	McMinnville	97128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Johnny	Wilson	1503 NW 4th ST	Gainesville	32601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeri	Altman	1337 Northwestern Road	LONGMONT	80503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Hertzel	14868 High Valley Rd	Poway	92064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Goguen	325 nw Webb st. Pullman,WA.	Pullman	99163	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Barbus	301 Heritage Dr., Apt. 303	Canton	30114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christa	Neuber	728 N. Doheny Drive	WEST HOLLYWOOD	90069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Burton	Cazden	2901 Verona Ct.	Arlington	76012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Molly	Glenn	239 W 148 Street	New York	10039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Zrust	Zrust	Lincoln	68506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Frehs	6547 Winston Court West	Columbus	43235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Paine	12315 Deerbrook Trail	Austin	78750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Schwalbe	314 East 24th St #R3	Chester	19013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Hammond	12518 Capstone Drive	HAGERSTOWN	21740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jia-Jia	Zhu	136 22nd Ave E	Seattle	98112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Abrahamson	11850 Caminito De Las Missiones	San Diego	92128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Leavitt	3002 Cascadia Ave.S	SEATTLE	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	McCleskey	2106 Elder Ol	Round Rock	78664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randy	Reaves	23 Livingston St.	Buffalo	14213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacob	Marienthal	4824 Edison Ave.	Boulder	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sara	King	6647 Montevista Dr SE	AUBURN	98092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jocelyn	Stowell	2022 Lawson Road	Tallahassee	32308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Pentecost	32 south main street	Sharon	6069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cary	Bland	3738 Military Rd, NW	Washington	20015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Waldman	2221 Live Oak Street	Commerce	75428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Parker	5011 Harness Ln	COLFAX	27235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Horwitz	1326 23rd Avenue, SAn Francisco, Ca	San Francisco	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
feliz	nunez	79-092 Lake Club Drive	INDIO	92203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Edelstein	3038 N KENMORE AVE UNIT 3N	Chicago	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carlene	Dumont	9218 W Wesley Dr	Denver	80227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Feitelson	726 Bernice Court, Toms River, NJ	Toms River	8753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margery	Williams	152 Apple Avenue	Grass Valley	95945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roger	Hart	190 Lenny Road	Potsdam	13676	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Baraz	1817 Hawthorne Ave	Westchester	60154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Connor	174 Kings Hghway	West Springfield	1089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

D	Braund	17 Coopers Close	Burgess Hill	rh15 8a	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scarlett	Shockey	164rock valley rd	Holyoke	1040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Schoetker	12075 N Golden Mirror Drive	Marana	85658	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Luis	Goyzueta	2655 fieldview dr	Macungie	18062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacob	Raitt	15 Durando Place	Bridgeport	6605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	waters	P.O. box 1411	Havre	59501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

KJ	Ugrin	165 Blossom Hill Rd San Jose CA	San Jose	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Rosten	240 Strawberry Hill Circle #3	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarah	Khatib	4527 11th Ave N	Saint Petersburg	33713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J	Munson	Stokes Av	Cupertino	95014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Thorne	511 Pike Ave.	Canon City	81212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Riggs	3667 S. Cheryl Dr.		86005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim	Pinkley	4054 Old Orchard Rd.	YORK	17402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timathy	Bequette	4427 Wilcox Avenue	SAINT LOUIS	63116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Bosworth	1405 20th St	Anacortes	98221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ben	Key	9417 Great Hills Trail Apt 2016	Austin	78759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Eldredge	35 Woodland Dr	Wilmington	45177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jose	figueroa	920 Venice Blvd	Venice	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Wolf	510 Lake Shore Drive	BREWSTER	10509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Payne	136 California Ave	Santa Rosa	95405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trudy	Carlson	235 Winona Drive	Henderson	89015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rob	Kulakofsky	1520 S Desert Crest Dr	Tucson	85713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Presley	!729 Skyline Dr	Johnson City	37604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adrienne	Pritchard	812 S Wandering River Road	Cornville	86325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

RedLion	York	2001 Creekwood Drive	FORT COLLINS	80525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sant Subagh	Khalsa	161 Iroquois Tr.	Ona	25545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlie	Trapp	Harvest Knoll Cv	Memphis	38125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randy	Bernard	18 Plateau Rd	Asheville	28805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Campanelli	645 CR 120	Gaylesville	35973	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Jonen	4475 Arthur Rd.	Slinger	53086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Moore	150 Houndstooth Trail	Boone	28607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathan	McGee	4701 W Linda Vista Blvd Apt 17203	Tucson	85742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julian	Calzada	6505 Westheimer Rd, Apt 337	HOUSTON	77057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Triplett	30 Barclay Ct.	Lawrence Township	8648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Thacker	949 Eagle	Fayetteville	72701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Deignan	2216 N Cleveland Ave, Chicago IL	Chicago	60614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Rambo	45 High Holborn Street	Gardiner	4345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Presiyan	Kostov	2053 SW 6th St, Miami, FL	Miami	33134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Macy	12550 Piping Rock	Houston	77077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Grams	1735 E. Front St.	Traverse City	49686	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lou	Mayhew	39997 405th Lane	Saint Peter	56082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Bobroff	14326 Creme Rd	Homer Glen	60491	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Hargosh	79 linden st	FROSTBURG	21532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peyton	Johnston	6711 Havenoak Rd. Rosedale,Md	Rosedale	21237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Mills	314 Locust St.	Danvers	1923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Hathaway	5107 Passons Boulevard #313	PICO RIVERA	90660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Arroyo	14197 E Kansas Pl	Aurora	80012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Schweitzer	11 Rimma Way	Roseville	95661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Theresa	McEvoy	910 Gateway Blvd.	Westville	8093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debora	Sayre	38132 Cambridge Court	FREMONT	94536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamie	Lokken	120 Hazelwood Cir	Willingboro	8046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Poole	641 NW 24th St	Fort Lauderdale	33311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Bogdanoff	954 N Humboldt St, San Mateo, California	San Mateo	94401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Geise	3501 NE Loop 820	Fort Worth	76137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	Sanders	319 East 50th st	New York	10022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Springer	370 N East Camano Dr 5-231	Camano Island	98282	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Wonn	Sarasota	Sarasota	34232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sara	Smith	347Maple street	Indiana	15701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Wilkie	8611 Zircon Drive SW	Lakewood	98498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R. Scott	Dyer	27 Blackwell Hill Road	Madison	4950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Elwood	5725 Elmhurst Ave N	Minneapolis	55428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ceacy	Henderson	107 Hillman Rd	Colrain	1340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
david	karchem	20000 romar st.	CHATSWORTH	91311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stanley	Wecker	122 SW Kelliche Glen	Lake City	32024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	lewis	12390 green meadow drive	Columbia	21044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vern	Marersh	420 Florida St SE, Albuquerque, New Mexico	Albuquerque	87108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Wojtalik	3723 Green Oak Court	Baltimore	21234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Smith	Box 41252, N			American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Rose	413 E Floral Ave	Portland	47371	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicolas	Linscott	1840 Rhodes Rd	Kent	44240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Nelson	109 E 3rd Ave	Ritzville	99169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexander	Barnes	Greenbelt, MD	Greenbelt	20770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Elwood	5725 Elmhurst Ave N	Minneapolis	55428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catie	Derryberry	1752 Federal Avenue	Los Angeles	90025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Kramer	1002 Port Daniel dr.	Leander	78641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rit's	Sheehan	719 Schoolhouse Road	Brielle	8730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	DiGiovanni	1313 Henry	Ann Arbor	48104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marina	Cramer	683 Ridgebury Road	Slate Hill	10973	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Bolman	602 S. Poplar St.	LEIPSIC	45856	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Rosa	BOX 12212	Portland	97212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geoffrey	Horn	505 Oak St	Ardmore	73401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	Bauer	501 S Evergreen St	Chandler	85225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mae	Johnson	1541 GROOVERVILLE RD	Dixie	31629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	White	475 Beach 44th St	FAR ROCKAWAY	11691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Harlow	1152 E Purcell Ln Pueblo CO	Pueblo	81007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Harkins	19849 River Rd. Apt E	Gladstone	97027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sterling	Griffiths	4521 N Blue Sky Drive	CEDAR CITY	84721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Riggs	143 Cedar Grove Rd	Somerville	8876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chad	Johnson	719 E. 19th St.	Long Beach	90806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Curtis	Flowers	445 E 34th Street	Brooklyn	11203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Marcus	2211 W. Grace St.	Richmond	23220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Ennis	3006 Calle Caballero	Santa Fe	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Arango	275 Santa Rosa Ave., Sausalito, Ca.	Sausalito	94965	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Siples	4105 JUDE CT	Olympia	98516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Bodwin	8180 Park Ave	Forestville	95436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Phillips	2550 Dana St 3C	BERKELEY	94704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raphael	Gal	1571 East 36th Street	Brooklyn	11234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. I urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Johnson	1205 Hartford Drive	Boulder	80305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynda	Mattison	234 Alta Vista Dr	Candler	28715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beverly	Poncia	P.O. Box 971	LOWER LAKE	95457	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diann	Rose	830 Post Street, No. 8	SAN FRANCISCO	94109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Bernstein	22777 lyons Ave #204	Newhall	91321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angelique	Stockler	2100 Lake Circle Dr Apt C	Lima	45801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. A Stockler
Robert	Scheelen	732 Ellendale Drive	Medford	97504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Dyer	770 west hills way nw	Salem	97304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Cook	Arlington, VA	Arlington	22209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Tyler	3920 SW 192		97078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Foster	89 Meyer Road	Middletown	10940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rose	Collins	20047 Castlemaine Ave	Estero	33928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Rinehart-Nelson	109 E 3rd Ave	Ritzville	99169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Lynn	6 Commodore Dr.	EMERYVILLE	94608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Rohdenburg	3208 N. Sheffield Ave., Apt. 303	Chicago	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Frankfurter	98 Turkey Hill Rd	Haddam	6438	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	Fischer	2927 McKinley St NW	Washington	20015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alfred	Buono	8630 NW 10th Pl	Fort Lauderdale	33322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Cook	4319 Athens St	San Diego	92115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Baker	2256 October Ridge Dr	COLUMBUS	43223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frederick	Wheeler	Dublin, OH	Dublin	43017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	May	4765 Torrey Pines Drive	Medford	97504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JERRY	DYKHOUSE	4838 MEADOWVIEW CT.	Hudsonville	49426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

LAWRENCE	Nelson	55 Friend Street	Beverly	1915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Johne	Cook	221 W. MADISON AVE	Milton	53563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Lankford	5536 Williams Hwy	Grants Pass	97527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fred	Mundy	21 morelos ave.	FOREST KNOLLS	94933	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Welch	2202 Trede Dr.	Austin	78745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Boyd	3931 N RALEIGH ST	DENVER	80212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shawn	Thompson	5213 Cervantes dr		50024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Burkart	145 Town Center	CORTE MADERA	94925	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Zanol	2204 S Columbus St	Arlington	22206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rodolfo	Cardona	6 Gerry Road	Chestnut Hill	2467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I am forced to subscribe to a box from Comcast so that I can watch one station: TCM!!!!
Paul	Staab	4849 Pembroke Drive	Manlius	13104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Page	9204 Hendrix Rd NE	Albuquerque	87111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nate	Ross	5335 White Cliff Ln	Orlando	32812	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Stark	3770 Onyx St.Eugene OR	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bottenfield	260 N Lewis Street	Staunton	24401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Dyer	770 west hills way nw	Salem	97304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karin	CLayton	1821 17th Ave	Seattle	98122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maryann	Roby	PO Box 109	Nunda	14517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Bullwinkle	117 Shaffer Road	KING OF PRUSSIA	19406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Howard	133 Sandy Springs Ln	Berry Creek	95916	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Bailey	8 W Crockett Street	Seattle	98119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Luchman	1519 Ranier Drive	IOWA CITY	52246	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Kormendi	17 Chittenden Avenue, #3-D	NEW YORK	10033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melinda	Lusk Zuerlein	1097 Chestnut Ave	CARLSBAD	92008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Bachelder	1598 Sir Francis Drake Blvd #2	San Anselmo	94960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty	Cohen	903 Pinehurst Blvd.	Kalamazoo	49006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arlene	Morgan	48 Harvester Rd, Canton, IL		61520Y	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rachelle	Woods	120 Spruce St	SANTA FE	87501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	klitzke	132 Ireland st	West Chesterfield	1084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Thank you.
Lawrence	Page	9204 Hendrix Rd NE	Albuquerque	87111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcus	Mulkins	159 Bahia Circle	San Rafael	94901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lucas	Jensen	4082 S 3670 W	Salt Lake City	84120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valerie	Bolden	32 Terry Plains	Bloomfield	6002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Cooper	5521 17th St W	Palmetto	34221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Levy	6815 royal crest dr.	Dallas	75230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Trudeau	12518 Gable mills Drive, Cypress, Texas	Cypress	77433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Virginia	Yates	801 Edith St	Missoula	59801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Houser	1 Daniel Burnham Ct	San Francisco	94109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	DiMaria	9037 West 24th Street	Los Angeles	90034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lee	Brown	420 S. B Street	Lake Worth	33460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sheryl	olson	290 crystal park road	Manitou Springs	80829	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katrina	Wesson	515 Valley Mede Dr	Durham	27713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jane	wiley	16233 Pebblebrook Drive, TPA FL	Tampa	33624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosemary	Lantagne	9472 Whippoorwill Rd.	Diamond	44412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Bisanzo	33 Eastry Court, Charlotte	Charlotte	5445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Renee	Mulhare	556 Shawsheen Street	Tewksbury	1876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Summers	1111 San Vicente Boulevard	Santa Monica	90402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Neill	140 Camden Street	ROSELLE PARK	7204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Theresa	Billeaud	515 S.W. 24th ST.	San Antonio	78207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Dearborn	18 Old Coach Lane Amherst, NH	Amherst	3031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Johnson	322 Meadow Dr		17275	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joann	Nicoletti	5730 Dunbar Court	Bensalem	19020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Keim	5940 W 87th Place	Oak Lawn	60453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	stone	2076 piccadilly circus	NAPLES	34112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Lee Allen	612 W Franklin St 10B	Richmond	23220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Thompson	11 Blackstone St, #7	CAMBRIDGE	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dana	Levitt	2272 lombard	San Francisco	94123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	McGuire	-	NEW KENSINGTON	15068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Orva	Gullett	1922 Victory Rd Lot #116	Marion	43302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rafal	Dobrowolski	245 Bonair St	La Jolla	92037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Biegun	56 Cherry Ave	West Sayville	11796	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	Dunn	10366 Bar Hill Road	PENN VALLEY	95946	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mandy	Barre	550 1/2 hoover	Oceanside	92054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Campbell	713 W Spruce st	Deming	88030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Gladstone	3591 Environ Blvd	Fort Lauderdale	33319	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Stark	366 Union Street, Apt. 3J	Brooklyn	11231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Connie	Springer	1642 Noreen Drive	San Jose	95124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Hall	P.O. Box 452	Mountlake Terrace	98043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Hardnett	679 Hennepin Ter	McDonough	30253	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Gatling	Lorton	Lorton	22079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Blake	McVey	1334 Woodston Road	MEMPHIS	38117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Holliday	8023 Via Latina	Burbank	91504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Cowan	6670 74th Street	Middle Village	11379	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Pitts	Belden Drive	Los Angeles	90068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Hall	6336 W Parapet Ct	Boise	83703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Bodie	126 Countess Dr.	WEST HENRIETTA	14586	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anton	Grambihler	2008 Davison Ave	Richland	99354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Severson	15414 35th Ave W.	Lynnwood	98087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hal	Cohen	5 Rhymney Road	Fishkill	12524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
richard	henry	17960 shavers lane	Wayzata	55391	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Anderson	3518 Hillgrove Rd	Valrico	33596	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

RICHARD	Merlini	545 S. 68th St	Boulder	80303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Bauder		Las Cruces	88011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Ezell	6710 Burnet Ln	Austin	78757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Diendorf	18755 Mingo Lane	Apple Valley	92307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frederick	Wurst	11722 Bay Vista Rd	Panama City	32404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	kight	11886 LINDEN DR	SPRING HILL	34608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Turlak	3317 Big Bend	Austin	78731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Waldron	6323 Bengal Circle	Boynton Beach	33437	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gabriella	Green	515E Lewis	Livingston	59047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcia	Hopkins	8535	Indianapolis	46260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liz	Spencer	7660 la cosa dr	DALLAS	75248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Fisher	7174 Creeks Crossing	West Bloomfield	48322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lucas	Girven	5155 Melwood Ct	Decatur	62521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	King	239 Rawson Road, #2	Brookline	2445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Kohrman	4253 Nokomis Ave	Minneapolis	55406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Taylor	Owen	2320 Taylor Street	Dallas	75201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Mathis	5814 Catoctin Vista Dr	MOUNT AIRY	21771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frankie	Winchester	7070 Cradlerock Way Apt 427	Columbia	21045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Louisette	Pochat	1071 Puckett Bend Rd.	Mount Ida	71957	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	Kriss	Sausalito CA	Sausalito	94965	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Sirt	2119 N. Sedgwick St.	CHICAGO	60614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Hovey	21818 Cushing Avenue	Eastpointe	48021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LaVaughn	Rynearson	5259 Whiskey Hill Road	Wolcott	14590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Boyle	16 woodside dr	ALBANY	12208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A	H	box 454	Port Townsend	98368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Harris	8735 SW 75th Ave	Portland	97223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	Rollins	622 park ave apt6a	New York	10002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marilyn	Maurer	538 Ballytore Road, Wynnewood, PA	Wynnewood	19096	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carmen	Nichols	McQueen Rd	Chandler	85225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kaitlin	Raver		Powell	43065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tracey	Fleming	5017 Monterrey Manor Drive #310	FORT WORTH	76116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Bell	2770 Roosevelt Blvd #1653	Clearwater	33760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	McLaughlin	780 Main Street	Fremont	3044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

anne	grady	. ...	Natick	1760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sybil	Lefferts	33 Old Coach Rd	East Setauket	11733	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Kimble	1154 Olde Cameron Lane	Franklin	37067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Parslow	350 east 5th st		V7L 1L9	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Faye	Turner-Johnson	3102 Concord Street	Flint	48504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Swallow	75 Summer Road, Flemington	Flemington	8822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Reed	59 Main Street	PHILMONT	12565	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norman	Patti	7431 SW 131 Ave, Miami, FL	Miami	33183	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
SGT	Freeman	Snellville Ga	Snellville	30078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erick	Ehrhorn	254 Kaha	KAILUA	96734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	shaw	710 ne 29th st	Miami	33137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianne	Walsh	4125 ALPINE DR	Gainesville	32605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Spacek	1215 Ashbey	Seguin	78155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Bisker	4298 N. River Rd W. Lafayette, IN	West Lafayette	47906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gilbert	Mata	558 N.23rd St.	GRAND JUNCTION	81501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Ashe	14 Holmes Street	MALDEN	2148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
richard	henry	17960 shavers lane	Wayzata	55391	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Boucher	30 seaport dr	Rockport	4856	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alice	Nicholson	775 Long Street	Sweet Home	97386	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Taylor	1525 Gardenia St.	Lompoc	93436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yogi	Clinton	7723 S Lakewood Ave	Tulsa	74136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Smith-Barrell	7 Stafford St	ALBANY	12211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Machann	1420 Cloverleaf Dr	Austin	78723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Kessinger	6727 Willow, Everett WA	Everett	98203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

P	Wright	2596 MOUNTAIN DALE RD	Vilas	28692	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Duane	Balinski	8000 E Jefferson	Detroit	48214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Karasek	323 Saint Clare A	Sandpoint	83864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Miller	1512 Spruce St., Apt. 809	Philadelphia	19102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlie	Wright	50108 State Hwy 72	Lyons	80540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beatrice	Lewis	9130 Gramercy Dr. San Diego, CA	San Diego	92123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Winkler	715 Windham St	SANTA CRUZ	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Greenhalgh	8261 S. San Juan Range Road	LITTLETON	80127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Kluck	800 S. Westland Dr. Apt.#2	Appleton	54914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Nagelkirk	3378 Maple St	Holland	49424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	Smith	1413 W. Farwell, Chicago, IL	Chicago	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
SGT	Freeman	Snellville Ga	Snellville	30078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarrah	Hayword	5249 Ostenhill Ct.	Cincinnati	45238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sandra	Fiffick	1112 camelot ct	Johnstown	15904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
K	Hutchins	537 17th ave	Saint Paul	55112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Richard	Sylvania, OH	Sylvania	43560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Mescher	200 Westview Dr	Athens	30606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Nelson	3707 SW Canterbury Town Rd	Topeka	66610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alice	Francis	894 Blake Ave.	Brooklyn	11207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Dorrance	964 Overlook Rd, Berkeley, CA	Berkeley	94708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kay	Levin	24110 Jumping Jay Ln.	HOCKLEY	77447	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Borgerson	3165 N. Winchell St.	Portland	97217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jody	Ford	101 belles way	New Bern	28562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ezra	Levinger	37 Laurel View	Inverness	94937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

N	Terry	2nd ave	brentwood	11717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Ledsworth	442VtRt12	Montpelier	5602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randy	Smith	102 brandon dr	SUMMERVILLE	29483	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nathan	Lansing	709 East Dayton Street	Galesburg	61401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randi	Justin	3341 N.W. 47th Terrace	Fort Lauderdale	33319	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Holley	1155 Third Ave	New York	10065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Petricca	180 Sandwich Rd	Wareham	2571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theodore	Boley	1300 Donald Ave.	ROYAL OAK	48073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Parowski	361 Eaglebrook Ln, Richfield, PA	Richfield	17086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catharina	VanderWaal	2514 Audrey St	Jenison	49428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harrison	Carlton	2273 Warren Dr.	Austell	30106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dacia	Murphy	4255 E Pecos Rd	GILBERT	85295	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marge	Carnahan	564 Laughbaum Drive	GALION	44833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Jones	23332 Hartland St	West Hills	91307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joubert	Jones	2292 WOODSIDE LN UNIT 2	Sacramento	95825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Knight	Dave	12138 NE 166th PL	Bothell	98011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tommy	Miller	2620 Gold Creek Lane	Cumming	30041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Evans	1613 Lamar St.	Florence	35630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Spacek	1215 Ashbey	Seguin	78155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edwin	Arroyo-Cid	305 Hyde Park Lane	Mauldin	29662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colleen	McCluskey	521 23rd Street East	Bradenton	34208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Reese	3014 Folsom St., Apt. A	Boulder	80304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Siglin	1988 E. Gunther Avenue	Coeur D Alene	83815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maggie	Schafer	4371 Pali Way	Boulder	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. WE ARE TIRED OF GOVERNMENT AGENCIES BENDING OVER TO WHORE TO SPECIAL INTERESTS! GET OVER YOURSELVES AND STAND FOR THE PEOPLE!

Sean	Sullivan	3131 Exacta Lane, Apt. 1107, Raleigh , NC	Raleigh	27613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lanny	Sterling	11841 Orchard Hill Drive	Empire	49630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tommy	Miller	2620 Gold Creek Lane	Cumming	30041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Zike	1535 S 121st East Ave	Tulsa	74128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Peters	508 Portwest Ct	Henrico	23238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	McKibben	23296 Sonnet Drive, Moreno Valley, CA	Moreno Valley	92557	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry	Smith	8840 villa la jolla	la jolla	92037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helena	Unsinn	6449 Rhodes Ave	North Hollywood	91606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Ford	Hoffman st	Philadelphia	19148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Timothy	Clay	7121 James Ave S	MINNEAPOLIS	55423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Renee	Rosignoli	6C Hillside Terrace	White Plains	10601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Fox-Schreiber	152 Elliot Road East Greenbush, NY	East Greenbush	12061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Goldstein	2 Roberts Court	Danville	94526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Donin	PO Box 80653	Portland	97280	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Corpolongo	7819 Braile St.	DETROIT	48228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A.L.	Steiner	1299 Cornwallville Rd.	CORNWALLVILLE	12418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Maddox	none	Frankfort	40601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Cronas	2572 Privada Drive	THE VILLAGES	32162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sherry	McConnell		Clyde	28721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pela	Tomasello	621 Windham St	Santa Cruz	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Milano	1831 Buchanan Ave. Las Cruces, NM	LAS CRUCES	88001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Willie-Lloyd	Reeves	1250 4th Street S. W. #W406	WASHINGTON	20024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Ross	21915 White Oak Rd.	Hagerstown	21740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Allen	3533 Avalon Dr	HOOD RIVER	97031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Tinker	1435 Stratford Way asheboro nc	Asheboro	27205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Newman	11 Doris Dr	Latonia	41015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Mueller	5706 sendero spg	San Antonio	78251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Cartwright	29 Upper Idlewild Dr., New Castle, Pa.	New Castle	16101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marian	Weaver	16 Manzanita st.	Bisbee	85603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	Carling	305 E Mill Plain Blvd	Vancouver	98660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Herbert	Sayas	4618 Laurel St.	New Orleans	70115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Lyman	1200 chicago	Evanston	60202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Casey	3652 Gleneagles Drive	Silver Spring	20906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Hohn	244 Hayts Road	ITHACA	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Hill	11541 Piermaj Ln.	Lutz	33549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Suthers	10304 Tujunga Canyon Blvd	Tujunga	91042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lenore	Sheridan	1531 UNIVERSITY AVE UNIT 418	Berkeley	94703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Broughton	6157 Seminole Gardens Circle	Palm Beach Gardens	33418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barb	Crumpacker	1015 Lakeside	Coeur D Alene	83814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

james	myers	1010 Graybar Lane	NASHVILLE	37204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tait	Freestone	319 Alpert Avenue	FORT COLLINS	80525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Schmidt	Portland	Portland	97219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Yenco	18 Matthew St.	Fitchburg	1420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wesley	Derr	39 Lerner Court	Nottingham	21236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Mayes	605 Alston Rd	Santa Barbara	93108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Stella	529 Elizabeth Street Unit 1	KEY WEST	33040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Galvin	304 CARROLL ST	Brooklyn	11231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carmen	Ruiz	987 Warder Avenue	Saint Louis	63130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Meely	4512 Las Hadas	MESQUITE	75150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	King	1 Brookfield	SWARTZ CREEK	48473	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Wordlaw	3004 Allister	Dallas	75229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mathew	Schwar	8986 N Clarendon Ave	Portland	97203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Swedlow	125 Littleton Road	Ayer	1432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Mensching	3064 Red Barn Rd	Crystal Lake	60012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julie	Moylan	6440 Anslow Dr.	Troy	48098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Fuentes	1811 Whitley Ave	Los Angeles	90028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Horton	3612 SE 16th St	North Bend	98045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Bruce	628 Brentfield Lane	GREENCASTLE	46135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	zollars	505 Scottlynn ct	Asheville	28806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
L.	Glasner	27 W. 96 St.	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorothy	Muir	2535 Churchill Downs	CUMMING	30041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Holly	Garland	22085 SW Augusta Lane	HILLSBORO	97123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Haun	2624 Standifer Chase Dr.	Chattanooga	37421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Roth	Newberg,OR	Newberg	97132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Christian	960 White Avenue	GRAND JUNCTION	81501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Findlay	815 Chippewa St	Ontonagon	49953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine	Szuszkiewicz	307 Smith Neck Road	South Dartmouth	2748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alec	Herr	Boulder, CO	Boulder	80303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Probyn	Gregory	10877 Deliban St	TUJUNGA	91042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Bowling	6100 SW 36 Street	Lincoln	68523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sam	Poikail	1939 Westchester Drive	SILVER SPRING	20902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Annabi	111 Harvard Dr SE	ALBUQUERQUE	87106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robb	Mottl	263 E 1st Ave	Salt Lake City	84103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Tebbs	13620 115th ave ne	Kirkland	98034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Humphrey	21 Brussels Dr. Nashua, NH	Nashua	3063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Candace	Brown	22775 Pacific Coast Highway	Malibu	90265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Hohn	244 Hayts Road	ITHACA	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Fredrich	779 La Para Avenue	Palo Alto	94306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patty	Conrad	2335 Canterbury Road	Cleveland	44118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Daitsman	2775	BROOKLYN	11224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
K	Powell	6480 knots island rd	Virginia Beach	23457	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	White	55 Bow St	Arlington	2474	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Moskal	16235 Maple Rd	Joliet	60432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
V	Balewitz	435 McIntosh Drive	CINCINNATI	45255	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Steinman	1502 55th ST NE	Tacoma	98422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Raines	Sagemark Ridge Dr7934	Cypress	77433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Bryant	224 Jefferson Ave #6	Elgin	60120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Sonderleiter	3239 SW Corbett Ave	Portland	97239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Mensching	3064 Red Barn Rd	Crystal Lake	60012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
STACY	D'AGUIAR	2206 Adams Ave Apt. I	San Diego	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Duane	Gustafson	9245 Burris Drive	COOK	55723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Georges	LeNoch	177 Putnam ave	Cambridge	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geoffrey	Ogden	23347 Potts Mill Road, Middleburg, VA	MIDDLEBURG	20117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margo	Salone	71 Matherville-Frostbridge Rd	SHUBUTA	39360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Leake	11624 Tomahawk Creek Pkwy	Leawood	66211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Mackey	261 Saint Marys Street	Martinez	94553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Neil	Quarles	106 e 30th st	Austin	78705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	Morris	314 SE 41st Avenue	Hillsboro	97123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tad	Dadisman	Columbia	Columbia	21044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	Stringer	230 Reedy Springs Ln	Greenville	29605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Kanner	1364 Acton St., Berkeley	Albany	94706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Stockton	580 murnan road	Galloway	43119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	Ryan	2724B Highlands Bv	PALM HARBOR	34684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Reese	PO BOX 98048	Lubbock	79499	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Jones	1225 Calle Pimiento	THOUSAND OAKS	91360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Dawson	1974 Avon Street	Los Angeles	90026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Hill	4600 S Burlington	Muncie	47302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sergio	Pavon	270 W 17th Street	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jane	Carl	10212 Rosewood	OVERLAND PARK	66207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Hatch	5375 Wellesley St	LA MESA	91942	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Garrick	Updyke	10924 heilman Rd	Levering	49755	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tawfik	Barhoum	1175 E Kennedy Blvd N137	Tampa	33602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Newport	1231 Downing St	Denver	80218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Kuhn	3715 Parliament Road SW #14	Roanoke	24014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alfonso	Soto	Po Box 564263	COLLEGE POINT	11356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Kaspark	68 Spring Garden	WARWICK	2888	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Lomaka	76 Monument Street	Portland	4101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Greenwell	46 Waterbury st	Saratoga Springs	12866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Chamberlain	38 Bretton Woods Drive, Cranston, RI	Cranston	2920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bender	16832 mooncrest dr	Encino	91436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

D	B	100 belmont Road	SAINT PAUL	55124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betsy	Malcolm	300 Central Park West, NY, NY	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberta	Bushman	PO Box 1620	Ranchos de Taos	87557	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

william	mazza	2515 Maitland Crossing Way	Orlando	32810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	Krohn	441 W 51st Street, #5W	New York	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellery	Pennock	2237 Castle Rock SQ apt. 1B	Reston	20191	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peggy	Edison	8989 Mission Blvd. Riverside, CA	Riverside	92509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Bowden	8714 Bennington Street	San Diego	92126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
rodger	hudson	182 Old Mill Way SW	Conyers	30094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Grant	Woodard	215 Fuchsia Way	HEALDSBURG	95448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	McKenzie	2141 Miles Rd.	Cincinnati	45231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Golick	1010 Alder St.	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harold	Keller	16 Cambo Place	WILMINGTON	45177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	PRESCOTT	1140-23 Savannah Rd	Lewes	19958	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. End the Monopoly
John	Ritchie	5628 Lodi St., San Diego	San Diego	92117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Zachare	Sylvestre	937 Vineridge Run Apt 207	Altamonte Springs	32714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dana	Good	4638 34th ST Bettendorf, IA	Bettendorf	52722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Keegan	1338 N. 152nd St.	Seattle	98133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.