Andrew	Axelrod	200 W. 79th St	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Lawrence	4500 NE 5th AVE	Delray Beach	33444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Wright	1516 Mariner Rd	Lakeland	33803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margrit	Wagner	230 Johnson Lane	THOMASVILLE	31757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Brown	157 W. 79th St., Apt. 1E	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Natalie	Quiet	3140 Webster St.	Wheat Ridge	80033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maureen A	Absten	187 E Cooke Rd	COLUMBUS	43214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Bissonnettte	Calle Rica	San Clemente	92672	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Neumann	17 Worcester Street	Boston	2118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Elvers	13179 W Vaqueros rd	Tucson	85743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tirso	Moreno	1050 S Hawthorne Ave	Apopka	32703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yvonne	French	322 E. Kirkwood	Bloomington	47408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Kisling	7725 Horner Hill Rd.	HILLSBORO	45133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Nelson	1408 GrandView CT	La Grange	40031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiffany	Conchiniha	106 Clara St	New Bedford	2744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorothy	Newhouse	9 egret lane	Aliso Viejo	92656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eleanor	Dowson	2007 Millpointe Drive SE	Bothell	98012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S.	Chapek	845 Euclid Ave Apt 4	San Francisco	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rick	Teplitz	7567 Midfield Ave.	Los Angeles	90045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	McGunagle	1727 e olympic	Spokane	99207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Woodbury PhD	8579 Darnel Rd	Eden Prairie	55347	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerald	Kelly	1137 18th St.	Santa Monica	90403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Hunstock	4142 Eisenhower Lane #1	Ames	50010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
NLesley	Lesley	Po box	Kennesaw	30156	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bradley	Falk	6160 Packard St	LOS ANGELES	90035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carl	Richardson	8739 Boone Trail	PURLEAR	28665	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randall	Lowe	Windsor Spring Road	Augusta	30906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dominique	Edmondson	10706 Wyld Drive	UPPER MARLBORO	20772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liliana	Garcia	3028 N. Nagle Avenue	Chicago	60634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Fair	271 Vernon Street	Oakland	94610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Penny	Raco	2 Jeanne Jugan Lane Apt 307 Latham NY	Latham	12110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Woods	P O Box 28 Ferrum VA	FERRUM	24088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Randell	136 Round Hill Road	Voorhees	8043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrea	Mengel	73 County Road	Huntington	1050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Semprevivo	853 NE 90th Avenue	PORTLAND	97220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Tobias	1750 30th St. #603	BOULDER	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sherry	Bowles	901A Greendale Dr.	Charleston	25302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bevan	Calo	600 World Trade Center	Norfolk	23510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Corpas	588 harcourt pl	Marietta	30067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelly	Pigney	514 Hardin Avenue	Aurora	60506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russ	Ziegler	22 est 61st street	Downers Grove	60516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kirby	Wohlander	3711 Herman Ave., #9	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Russ	Beebe	1220 Tasman Drive	SUNNYVALE	94089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Finnell	107 Elliot St.	Brattleboro	5301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Mancini	4126 Woodhaven St.	HOUSTON	77025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keith	Sopp	25877 W State Highway M64	Ontonagon	49953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexa	Kelly	248 W 35th Street, 15th Floor	New York	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cecil	Strouth	322 Aoloa St Apt 1309, Kailua, HI	KAILUA	96734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brad	Riemann	164 greenway trail	Carol Stream	60188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Dobson-Frueh	1808 N Miles St	Elizabethtown	42701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Miller	13863 E Lehigh Ave	Aurora	80014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	McCallum	1720 E Indiana	Wheaton	60187	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bly	216 N Geneva St	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Turrentine	200 Makemo	Kemp	75143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francis	Huppe	12695 Inverary Cir	Fort Myers	33912	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Harris	2944 Clemson Trail	Murrells Inlet	29576	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	McDermott	2638 Skyview Ct. Stillwater, MN	Stillwater	55082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Keich	3324 Web 105th St	CLEVELAND	44111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MaryEllen	Brisbin	7080 Assyria Road	NASHVILLE	49073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	O'Byrne	2666 Saklan Indian Drive #7	Walnut Creek	94595	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Garbacz	5590 Spring Valley Rd C101	Dallas	75254	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Vucetich	23280 Rensselaer St	Oak Park	48237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adrienne	Fong	750 Presidio Ave., Apt. 207	SAN FRANCISCO	94115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Launois	131 W. 85 St. NYC	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miriam	Harrington	3800 Fairfax Dr. #1302	Arlington	22203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	manning	65 Nassau	New York	10038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

MJ	Arrington	113 Stewart Ave	Kissimmee	34741	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ian	McCullough	8219 parkside ct.	Sebastopol	95472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Blosser	30 franklin st	Uniontown	15401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Aubrey	4433 E. Broadway #210	Tucson	85711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Reilly	644 1/2 Granada St	Santa Fe	87505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Stromgren	711 W. Lake St.	Minneapolis	55408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorraine	Hartmann	10627 Durland NE	Seattle	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Johnson	Moores Pike	Bloomington	47401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Herwig	1808 Loch Shiel Road	Parkville	21234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nate	Delvecchio	1027 Shippan Ave, #1	Stamford	6902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maurice	Hoover	1812 Hardy Dr	Edmond	73013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Haven	McClure	1239 Spaight St, Madison WI	Madison	53703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Healey	8975 Lawrence Welk Drive, #454	Escondido	92026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Carr	4360 Berkford Circle, NE	Atlanta	30319	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Berman	2424 Spaulding	Berkeley	94703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

roxanne	donohue	21 columbia ter	Weehawken	7086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ivan	Mendizabal	1840 Bilt	Washington	20009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bly	216 N Geneva St	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Stowers	5 Mecca Lane	DERRY	3038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Finch	1231 NE ML King Blvd	Portland	97232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Baumgartner	2912 Custer Dr	San Jose	95124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marianne	Rosenzweig	1704 Dearing Pl.	Tuscaloosa	35401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Riley	20 canton rd	quincy	2171	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Eichleay	2823 Homewood Drive	Troy	48098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffry	Reese	Fond du Lac,WI	FOND DU LAC	54935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annette	Ancel-Wisner	61 Ridgeway Dr	Shell Lake	54871	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Krause	1829 West John St., Champaign, IL	Champaign	61821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Lusk	3850 SE 21st Ave.	Portland	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Giovanni	Perna	30 Kings Park Blvd		M4J 2B8	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tina	Gallaway	2458 Baker St.	Harrisburg	17103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Velde	115 Woodrow Ave. Dunkirk, NY	Dunkirk	14048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Thomas	1745 Slide View Way	Washoe Valley	89704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Rabinowitz	63 Greenbrook	Bloomfield	7003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peggy	Wright	540 Hwy 95 S	Elgin	78621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Schlesinger	7789 W Griffin Ave	Glendale	85303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Elvers	13179 W Vaqueros rd	Tucson	85743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Crimmins	16500 SE 1st St #120	VANCOUVER	98684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Riedman	16220 SW Muddy Valley Road	McMinnville	97128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
la	Lowe	8TH STREET	Coralville	52241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pip	Palmer	3550 N Knox Ave	CHICAGO	60641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adrienne	Fong	750 Presidio Ave., Apt. 207	SAN FRANCISCO	94115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Kleeman	4651 Forest Trail Lane	Hamilton	45011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Thomas	4211 Castleman Avenue	Saint Louis	63110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Boggs	137 East Vine Street	Chambersburg	17201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	Beatie	3301 Nicol Avenue	Oakland	94602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Todd	Halbert	9024 Muirland Drive	PLYMOUTH	48170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julio	Nolasco	3930 Silver Meadow Ln	Grand Prairie	75052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Davis	67 Mallard Lane	Winthrop	4364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marlene	Koik-Cestone	P.O. BOX 13354 Columbus, OH	Columbus	43213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	Hall	214 Forest Ridge Ln	Zavalla	75980	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Alber	3156 Tunisia Dr	Deltona	32738	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

SSgt	Milroy	11039 Miners Place	NEVADA CITY	95959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Carney	1000 ste anne, detroit, Mi	Detroit	48216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Hollander	3539 Via Picante	LA MESA	91941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kate	Kizer	4817 36th St NW	Washington	20008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerome	Williams	10224 Pondwood Dr	Dallas	75217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Brewer	5524 Iris Lane Box 310	Kalamazoo	49009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

janet	beatty	1600 toro street, apt. 5c	San Luis Obispo	93401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Berry	66 Middle Road	Amesbury	1913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Richardson	Redmond	Redmond	97756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Wilson	43227 Clearnight Terrace	Ashburn	20147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Laabs	8193 Via Mallorca	La Jolla	92037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Logue	3609 Ridgewood Drive	Hermitage	16148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeanine	Terranella	800 w Elk Grove Blvd Elk Grove village Il 60007	Elk Grove Village	60007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Black	Madison WI	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Diggs	6440 Hazel Cir	Simi Valley	93063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

bruce	bauer	po box 1604	Medford	97501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bridget	Borer	3052 11th Ave S, Apt 9	Minneapolis	55407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jill	Zaklan	520 se columbia river dr	Vancouver	98661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Luckay	1320 Kennedy blvd. apt.106	Cuyahoga Falls	44221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Rice	1807 Kansas St	Baytown	77520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Wallingford	306 E 96th St Apt 2J	New York	10128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Shaffer	205 Rockingham Meadows Drive	Johnson City	37615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dolores	Andersen	1204 Ponderosa Dr	Missoula	59802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Lowell	411 Taylor Ave	Rochester	48307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justin	Gerstner	947 E. Johnson #1	MADISON	53703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Homka	157 Campbell Ave	Yorkville	13495	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Haddix	3 Essex Dr	Bear	19701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Donnelly	55 South Main Street	Manchester	3102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Vogel	6645 W Mississippi Pl	Denver	80232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cyndi	HUnt	960 Towhee Road	Tallahassee	32305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony	Fantini	4480 portofino way	west palm beach	33409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angelina	Garcia	5861 Compass Drive, L.A., CA 90045	LOS ANGELES	90045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Hartley	23191 Meadowbrook Cir	Lake Forest	92630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sherwin	Kannukkaden	11 Latimer Ln	Kennesaw	30144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Schmidt	5186 NEW SWEDEN RD NE	BAINBRIDGE ISLAND	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robyn	Class	703 E. Sycamore Ave	ORANGE	92866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dominick	Ogrodowicz	129 McGuinness blvd	Brooklyn	11222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Bates	1818 carrillo	Santa Barbara	93101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Webster	26754 Calle Gregorio	Sun City	92585	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Olle	Andersson	2479 Unicornio St.	Carlsbad	92009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	Wimbish	1960 S Locust St	Denver	80224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis M.	Meyers	19 Village Drive	Montville	7045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Dunn	4055 Lasher Rd	Drexel Hill	19026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geary	Yelton	38 Lookout Rd	Asheville	28804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	R	350 S. Jackson St	Denver	80209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Stack	137 Sterling St	La Salle	61301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darla	Cartwright	6625 Steamboat Island Rd NW	Olympia	98502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	O'Connor	6 Capano Drive Apt B 2	Newark	19702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

V	Iyer	1255 town center rd.	Vernon Hills	60061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karin	Shea	8126 winthrop dr	PORT RICHEY	34668	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexander	Brydges	2220 Avenida La Quinta St, Apartment 612	Houston	77077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Dushin	9000 Palmetto Drive	Isle of Palms	29451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Mahoney	PO Box 133	Hebron	4238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Ketchum	721 Runnymede Rd.	Raleigh	27607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Colleen	Sheppard	9 Music Square South	Nashville	37203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Wallace	13712 Sunrise Dr.	Whittier	90602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlene	Reader	1300 Canyon Road	Santa Fe	87501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ernest	Banis	PO Box 368	Folly Beach	29439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurent	Hourcle	12 Breakwater Way	Saco	4072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Bell	Glyndon Ave	Venice	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Russ	Kane	226 Roosevelt Way	Westbury	11590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Maghakian	175 Ridgeview Terrace	HERCULES	94547	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Scott	5148 S 275 W	North Judson	46366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Cooke	61 Providence Street	Rehoboth	2769	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Swift	PO Box 13638	Portland	97213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosie	Truscott	11155 Crater Dr	San Diego	92126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Ammerman	363 W Kanawha Ave	Columbus	43214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	margowski	8802W dartmouth pl lakewood, co	Denver	80227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Lusch	PO Box 750382	TORREY	84775	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria	Palamarchuk	1300 Lombard st	Philadelphia	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
geri	stephenson	7657 Stones River Ct.	Indianapolis	46259	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Saucier	316 Morgan St	Fall River	2721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Maghakian	175 Ridgeview Terrace	HERCULES	94547	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Carter	300 Los Robles Rd	Soquel	95073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raul	Coelho	140 Mountain Road	Holyoke	1040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Patton	5000 California Ave	Seattle	98136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Williams	136 Sloop St	JAMESTOWN	2835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ap	Butler	1090 EUCALYPTUS AVENUE	Petaluma	94952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Seyfried	22 Jefferson St	New Hyde Park	11040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stan	Levin	310 Spring Lake Hills Drive	Altamonte Springs	32714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	K	berwyn	Berwyn	60402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Roth	925 11th St	MARION	52302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Davie	1020 Summer Hill Dr. denton MD	Odenton	21113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Humphrey	170 S Hickory Blvd	Pleasant Hill	50327	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry	Holzer	1508 Brockman Pl NE	Seattle	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Casseday	2115 N 75th St	Seattle	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doris	White	138 S. Rebecca Ave.	Scranton	18504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Menicucci	279 Hornsby Ct	Folsom	95630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Hempen	17 Perley Lane	DURHAM	3824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Goss	2108 Denniston Avenue Roanoke VA	Roanoke	24015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christian	Elliott	1156 Block Dr.	Santa Clara	95050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Al	DeRoy	94 Ridgecrest Drive	Pittsburgh	15235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anita	de Haan	2050 Royal Drive	Santa Clara	95050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Zech	1139 S Church St.	Hastings	49058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Polsky	3414 Emerald Oaks Dr., Hollywood,Fl.	Hollywood	33021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sam	Craig	1204 norman st	Anchorage	99504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Weiss	939 Greenwood Ave	Ann Arbor	48104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Fallows	800 Heartwood Lane	Bayfield	81122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Howe	5634 Denver Street	Montclair	91763	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerry	Williams	3024 Potter Ave,	Thousand Oaks	91360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Goldsmith	710 Independence Pl Unit 503	Raleigh	27603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Floyd	1848 Fir Tree Court	Hemet	92545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Todd	O'Buckley	2572 Barwick Drive	DURHAM	27704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Tatiner	403 Donaldson Street	Highland Park	8904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lael	Jackson	B ox 424	Del Mar	92014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dylan	Fusillo	1890 Stockholm St	Ridgewood	11385	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Soto	51685 Avenida Ramirez	LA QUINTA	92253	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Finzel	420 E 13th Ave, Apt A	COLUMBUS	43201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Kandel	3825 Warren Street, NW	Washington	20016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Durrant	23324 295th ave	Long Prairie	56347	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Levy	15 Colonel Robert Magaw Place	New York	10033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Story	115 E Kings Hwy	Maple Shade	8052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Jones	211 Summit Ave E # N303	Seattle	98102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
April	Ambrose	2404 Durwood	Little Rock	72207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Walker	122 Espana Park ,Waveland,Ms.	Waveland	39576	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Kay	101 Main St 2nd fl.	Red Hill	18076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connor	Illian	22659 pacific hwy s	SEATTLE	98198	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzanne	Kiffmann	19 Palm Forest Drive East	Largo	33770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
craig	reinarman	108 Dufour St	Santa Cruz	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rudolf	Dankwort	8121 N 8TH AVE	Phoenix	85021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glen	Lemley	4320 Banner Dr	Houston	77013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Riccio	1725 E Camellia Lane	SCHAUMBURG	60173	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Harris	2840 S. Vallejo St	Englewood	80110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Azarian	1 Elm St	Dover	3820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Afzal	Hussain	18750 Colima RD. #B	Rowland Heights	91748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Cardi	66 Atterbury Dr	Smithtown	11787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Mitchell	18 Schoolhouse Road	Conway	1341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	McGlone	1013 67th Street	Brooklyn	11219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Porter	2761 Gertrude Dr.	LOS ALAMITOS	90720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Meredith	West	911 N. Wood St	Chicago	60622	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Caldwell	PO Box 167	Cedar Crest	87008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Marnie	175 Glenmont Road, River Falls, WI	River Falls	54022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maxxcell	Higdon	2634 wildwood ct	Lake Orion	48360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Shafer	158 Estelle Park Dr	Asheville	28806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	He	3130 Ala Ilima St. Apt 5C	Honolulu	96818	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Berry	205 N Rainbow Bridge Dr	Cedar Park	78613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Edwards	3050 E. County Down Dr.	Chandler	85249	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jess	Graffell	374444 Ironwood Drive Yucaipa, CA	Yucaipa	92399	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Walter	Pirie	3344 Mt Zion Rd	BLACKSBURG	24060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Larkey	2403 Everton Road, Baltimore, MD 21209	Baltimore	21209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brent	Bills	448 Kingslake Dr.	Debary	32713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sage	Johnson	1730 Kearny	San Francisco	94133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Igor	Tandetnik	6979 113th St	FOREST HILLS	11375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Guillermo	Lindsey	Austin, TX	Austin	78749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Racine	2308 N. Old Hicks Road	PALATINE	60074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Myrna	Gomez	Kovey Road	Hyde Park	2136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carlo	Centore	9 bayview place	West Haven	6516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Rumpf	915 Koloa Drive	Merritt Island	32953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marshall	Thompson	504 S. Institute	Richmond	64085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sam	Brewton	206A Lake Ave	SARATOGA SPRINGS	12866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Grimmer	1240 Meadowlark Ln	Grayslake	60030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Nardi	134 Elden Rd	Buxton	4093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patty	Armstrong	4650 N. Verde Vista Dr	Prescott Valley	86314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karl	Makela	60 Newell Rd	Holden	1520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Balogh	12721 166th Ave Ct E	Puyallup	98374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Than	Hansen	11-02 49th Avenue	Long Island City	11101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Weber	160 Sherman Ave	Cedar Grove	7009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Wilkerson	1904 Donna Dr	VESTAL	13850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zar	Athustra	1 the street	Brooklyn	11234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Blaise	Brockman	370 Campus Dr.	Arcadia	91007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Osama	Al-Masri	1601 beacon st.	Brookline	2446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
richard	Adams	1030 Maple Avenue	Williamstown	8094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Forman	1743 Axenty Way	Redondo Beach	90278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phill	Hinds	5 Baltus ln	San Anselmo	94960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Bails	21221 Thiele Ct.	SAINT CLAIR SHORES	48081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Wensauer	2502 Riverhills Road	Two Rivers	54241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alana	Javois	400A Lisk Avenue	Staten Island	10303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Smarzinski	108 Arias Way	Hot Springs Village	71909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Appleton	994 Hillside Dr.	SOUTHAMPTON	18966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evelyn	Gomez	411 Denow Road	Pennington	8534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Tollick	117 W Eggleston Ave	ELMHURST	60126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Flanagan	6 Roethal Drive	Hopewell Junction	12533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zar	Athustra	1 the street	Brooklyn	11234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Lawrenz	10248 Farley St	OVERLAND PARK	66212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claire	Cohen	5051 Foothills Dr.	LAKE OSWEGO	97034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Monaghan	45 Irving Rd	New Hartford	13413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carmen	Mitchell	308 59th southwest road	Bushnell	33513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Zach	Mansfield	3827 Fogle Drive	Owensboro	42301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thornton	Rose	3842 Howell Ferry Road	DULUTH	30096	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marshall	Hinton	14535 Robert I Walker Blvd	Austin	78728	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Andrus	200 West 16th Street #15C	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Rod	2636 Virginian Colony Ave	La Place	70068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kristina	clayton	1234 main st	Monitor	98836	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

D.	Flynn	730 Bennett Way, Newmarket, NH	Newmarket	3857	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. By removing this artificial barrier to competition, the cable companies will have to either provide a better product or lower their prices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Moore	1749 Pentuckett Ave	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Alston	4715 Walnut Street	Philadelphia	19139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katya	Lobanova	514 19th Ave E	Seattle	98112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremy	Lindstrom	5525 Sundale Dr	Flower Mound	75028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Memory	Greene	1366 Royalwyn Dr	Macon	31220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edgar	Russell	148 Louise Ter.	GLEN BURNIE	21060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Bains	1721 Myrtle Beach Drive	Lady Lake	32159	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Wrobbel	1428 Merriman	Livonia	48150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Treffley	BedrAd	1749 n sycamore Ave apt 1	Los Angeles	90028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Reminga	909 Joslin ST SE	Grand Rapids	49507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Orozco	1096 Fulton Street	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Owczarz	5928 Monadnock Way	Oakland	94605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Eichhorn	46 Overlook Drive	RHINEBECK	12572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Dick	4378 Via Padova	Claremont	91711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Harder	N108W16173 Carriage Ave	Germantown	53022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Memory	Greene	1366 Royalwyn Dr	Macon	31220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D.B.	Pope	2083 Rock Spring Road	Varnville	29944	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Holsey	Moorman	56 Broookside Lane	Palm Coast	32137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Mitchell	1489 Coufalls Rd. S.W.	Swisher	52338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
E. M.	Fetch	23 Delaware Lane	Somerville	8876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Howard	Miller	96 Laffert Rd	Lakeport	95453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gordon	Hait	2216 Lakewood Dr.	OLYMPIA	98501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Delia	Enright	14195 Terrace Ct	Plymouth	48170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gabriel	kirkpatrick	2620 Coffey Dr.	Denton	76207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Kane	8528 Ridgefield Place	SAN DIEGO	92129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Stults	11 wildwood DR	Carmel	46032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ash	Milliken	63 Oak GroveRd	Goose Creek	29445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
F.P.	Cooper	1631 Creed St	Pineville	71360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Scanlin	3901 Don Diablo Dr	LOS ANGELES	90008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Gazdzik	6029 n Mason	Chicago	60646	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Davis	42 Guys Way	Eliot	3903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Watkins	1676 Fairmount Blvd. Eugene, OR	Eugene	97403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Latiff	107 orchard hills dr. #128	Jeffersonville	47130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Woodhull	ave	SANDSTONE	55072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LeRoy	Vigil	7327 Rockwood Rd SW	Albuquerque	87121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terri	Sartoris	1197 Route 3	Plattsburgh	12901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marya	Friedman	315 8th Ave	NEW YORK	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamie Lee	Brennan	5 Oriental Court	STONEHAM	2180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

james	brady	4734 marlborough dr	SAN DIEGO	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Schwartz	Box 722	Hallandale	33008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Lindemann	Lindemann	Winfield	60190	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

marc	gordon	29600 bolingbrook rd	Cleveland	44124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	AndrÌ©-Pickel	6 rue de Verdun		88500	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bhinda	Keidel	570 44th street	BROOKLYN	11220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Gaudette	106 Belgrade Ave	Roslindale	2131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Turns	East	2339 W Plymouth Circle	Coeur d'Alene	83815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Seifert	5483 Ottman Road	Vernon	13476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicholis	Bills	35 Berkley Blvd	Iselin	8830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	VanWinkle	2420 Hardy Road, Hardy, VA	HARDY	24101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emily	Herb	PO Box 742	Volcano	96785	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Samuel	Allen	1246 W Hood Ave	Chicago	60660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ben	Hollingsworth	11 C Rd, Eagle, NE	Eagle	68347	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carlus	Covert	306 Marsh Run Road	New Cumberland	17070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	O'Rourke	2410 Kansas Ave	Santa Monica	90404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. On a personal note TWC offered a free box than pulled a bait and switch to get channels that were not broadcast over the air up charging me significantly. In addition they tried to charge me for the cable box I had already returned upon canceling my service out of disgust. It took many months to straighten this out. Many of my friends and neighbors report that they were not so lucky.
Linda	Whetstine	13423 Silver Lake Dr	POWAY	92064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bernadette	Freedman	8837 Rising Sun Ave.	Philadelphia	19115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edmundo	Chaparro-Barriguete	4017 Devonshire Dr.	Nashville	37207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Haigney	675 Sackett Street	Brooklyn	11217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Rice	11419 S Talman Ave	Chicago	60655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Larrimore	8305 County Route 13	Bath	14810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Taylor	4914 E. 24th Street	Tulsa	74114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

RuthAnn	D'Angelo	532 Park Overlook Dr.	COLUMBUS	43085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Marino	225 Briargate Ter	Medinah	60157	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marie Meigs	GLIDEWELL	3810 SPYGLASS HILL ROAD	Sarasota	34238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sean	Smyth	17059 sw lynnly way	Sherwood	97140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. The FCC is supposed to help the American people not big cable companies. You work for us not them. They do not have voting rights and we do. Help the American people from getting ripped off.
Margaret	Brown	1150 Cove Edge Rd	Syosset	11791	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Sherburne	6810 Pershing	SAINT LOUIS	63130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

richard	acosta	8320 sw 31 st.	miami	33155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kerry	McNeil	2806 W 21st Ct	Panama City	32405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helene	Harrison	1233 Topaz Ave		55555	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lindy	Eck	16N725 Sumter Drive, Dundee IL	Dundee	60118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Achim	Hupka	PO Box 90702	Portland	97290	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Taggart	1705 Valparaiso Ave	Menlo Park	94025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carlos	Torres	3102 W Palmer Blvd Unit 1	Chicago	60647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Nelson	Moorhead	Moorhead	56560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarah	Neale	P.O. Box 197	Sandy Hook	41171	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jenalee	Joslyn	6516 NE Alameda St	Portland	97213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Pedrick	12047 Glenway	Houston	77070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T	C	16 H ST	CREST HILL	60403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Calvin	Robinson	320 Meadville St	Edinboro	16412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Schlinger	1755 W. Mountain St.	Glendale	91201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Kim	16509 Akron St.	PACIFIC PALISADES	90272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marla	Wyatt	12865 Lantana Ave	YUCAIPA	92399	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Gryn	1510 Davis	Pittsburgh	15212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Moon	P.O. Box 65472	Orange Park	32065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Stern	11 Riverside Drive	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Lim	609 W. Pitkin	Pueblo	81004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Jenkins	139 Kinsman Rd	JAMESTOWN	16134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jorge	Sotelo	1730 W Washington St	Weslaco	78599	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Eells	210 E Mountain St	Worcester	1606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Sullivan	1231 SW Kalama	OAK HARBOR	98277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wendy	Freedman	3960 Moselle St	West Bloomfield	48323	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Oshrin	105 Dovercliff Road	Hattiesburg	39402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Harvey	18 Dickerson St	Lyons	14489	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Warren	Green	514 West 110th Street	New York City	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Marlewski	20304 East Canary Creek Rd	Cataldo	83810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arnold	Eudell	9513 Baroness Ct.	Laurel	20723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mariela	Wilkes	4280 Lilly Ave SE	Salem	97302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Wagner	470 Crestmoor Rd	Canon City	81212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annette	Raible	6163 Bodega Ave.	Petaluma	94952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Burke	9124 S Sacramento	Evergreen Park	60805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Hendrick	109 Cleveland St	CLINTON	29325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Naomi	Ages	2727 29th St NW Apt 216	Washington	20008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Owen	Hall	16118 N. 170th Ln	Surprise	85388	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Distad	1684 Westridge Circle	Casper	82604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ivan	Nelson	56 Warner Ave	Springfield	7081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Turner	20829 12th Ave W	Lynnwood	98036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Keller	430 Allentown Road	PARSIPPANY	7054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Forrester	Rupp	2825 Hemlock Morro Bay CA	MORRO BAY	93442	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jolene	Pope	9 C Birch Lane	New Haven	6513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Wilkin	7740 EL PASTEL DR	Dallas	75248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Long ago, the FCC ended the monopoly that telephone companies had on providing telephone handsets. This change is long, long overdue.
Chris	Stanfield	9681 Reeder ST	Overland Park	66214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denny	Blum	3536 Heatherstone Ridge	Sun Prairie	53590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Ramani	11081 Grant Way, Stanton, CA	Stanton	90680	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Long	620 S 1st St Apt 111	Austin	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Grasley	3530 Jericho Dr	Casselberry	32707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Butler	741 Danecroft Ave	Glendora	91740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clifford	Provost	140 7th Avenue, Apt 1B	NEW YORK	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bill	Warnes	7498 rt 28	Shandaken	12480	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marco	Marroquin	5275 Gains Mill St.	Las Vegas	89122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. The sad thing about this, is that it also applies to cable based internet as well.
Ralph	Collier	6632 Van Buren ave. Hammond	Hammond	46324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kate	Holland	11165 E Alameda Ave	Aurora	80012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
james	harris	15000	Plano	75023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Haupt	1518 Minor Ridge Court	CHARLOTTESVILLE	22901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jesse	Dubinsky	162 Rolling Way	Peekskill	10566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doris	Karnila	20 Benson Ave.	WORCESTER	1605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Hess	19 Rosecliff Street	ROSLINDALE	2131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

dorothy	dane	4910 English Dr	Annandale	22003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Drelios	6018 N. Washtenaw	CHICAGO	60659	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Lahorgue	12 Mount Susitna Court	SAN RAFAEL	94903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Romanowski	3349 Crystal Circle	Simi Valley	93063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mirta	Cotto	154 Radford Street, Apt. 3A	Yonkers	10705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Lomax	2618 Page Ct	Ann Arbor	48104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randall	Bredell	1258 Caperton Way	Charleston	29412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
manmeet	toor	1030 Tiverton Ave	Los Angeles	90024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Reynolds	1427 Rock Glen Avenue, Apt 16,	GLENDALE	91205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Colleen	Lenihan	PO Box 4	Beaver	98305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tristan	Vukosich	W5312 Mielke Rd	Menasha	54952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Markowitz	151 West 86th Street	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Cipora	422 Emerson Falls Road, St. Johnsbury, VT	Saint Johnsbury	5819	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremy	Nikolai		Portland	97209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Chagnon	252 Cedar Lane, #158	Vienna	22180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roger	jalali	3913 michaele	Glenview	60026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Spiewak	66 Harbour Heights Drive	Annapolis	21401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Shaw	16 Varney Lane	Barre	1005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doug	James	6315 Hopewell Rd	Hampton	29924	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Jonaitis	2027 N Curson Ave	LOS ANGELES	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Krauser	223 H	Lowell	1850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eriks	Richters	8800 Stonehouse Dr	Ellicott City	21043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Fitzgerald	15245 Upper Ellen Rd.	Los Gatos	95033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Daly	4653 Chatham St	boulder	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Sherman	918 w 11 mile	madison heights	48071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Willis	2311 s 5th st	Austin	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Piccirillo	6135 Spring Knoll Drive	Harrisburg	17111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sabrina	Vicente	1 pierce rd	Watertown	2472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Miller	6 Abel Rd.	Rindge	3461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yves	Decargouet	6824 Virginia Dr, Lucerne, CA	LUCERNE	95458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Williard	596 Duke St	Northumberland	17857	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Nolan	4250 Shields Rd	Canfield	44406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Rogers	3575 Ahi St.	Kailua Kona	96740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Scott	P.O. BOX 2677	Lake Arrowhead	92352	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brandon	Ciaccio	2341 Grafton Street	El Cajon	92020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barnet	Love	7790 SW 84th Ave.	Portland	97223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice	Weeks	3301 Timberbrook Ct	Danville	46122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Sims	20526 Eastwood Ave	Torrance	90503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Schroll	305 Tremont Road	Pine Grove	17963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

david	augustine	6813 Ticonderoga rd	Downers Grove	60516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcel	Belisle	1224 Latona St	Philadelphia	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonid	Korogodski	3416 Stafford Place, Southampton, PA	Southampton	18966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Cooke	264 Montgomery Ave.	Haverford	19041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynda	McMillan	1444 Fetters Loop	Eugene	97402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Grove	1714 Lakeland Trail	Fort Mill	29708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Moad	Burnham Court	Mundelein	60060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Dunn	7748 16th Ave NW	Seattle	98117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marlene	Marinaccio	910 Stuart Ave. Apt. 1A	Mamaroneck	10543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lee	Stafford	15212 NE 16th Place	Bellevue	98007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bell	21416 Lakefront Dr	Leander	78645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Shorts	411 Franklin St	WAUKEGAN	60085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Novetti	302 W Flint St.	Ventura	93001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Rule	1962 Hamersley Lane	Lincoln	95648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Oberdorfer	7224 N Albina Ave.	Portland	97217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	Taylor	4666 W Gatehinge Ct	Tucson	85741	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Bakane	1081 Parsonage Road	Madison	30650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	White	1470A Redwood Circle Grants Pass OR	Grants Pass	97527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Faisal	haroon	1490 Old House Rd	Pasadena	91107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Francis	40 van ness ave	ASHLAND	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tristan	Petraglia	1228 Sycamore Street	Connellsville	15425	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Emery	34 Mountain Avenue	LARCHMONT	10538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
barry	sparks	41 suffolk st.	Worcester	1604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Hendricks	49 Tennessee Avenue	ALBANY	12205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	Kelly	1511 Cypress Street	PUEBLO	81004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Guy	Zahller	146 Creek Drive, #C	APTOS	95003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Persico	388 Voorhees Ave	Buffalo	14216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Bailey	6300 Millwood ct	Springfield	22152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Meghan	Sutherland	137 17th Street NE	Atlanta	30309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alesia	McCarthy	1234 Country Mill Dr	CRANBURY	8512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Hecht	300 Falmouth Rd 8E	Mashpee	2649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	COLLINS	1935 NAULT ROAD, DOVER, DE	DOVER	19904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Arnold	Barboursville, VA	Barboursville	22923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Silver	222 S Figueroa St Apt 1611	LOS ANGELES	90012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Gold	4937 SW Hollyhock Circle	Corvallis	97333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Vitek	14 East Center St	Oakland	21550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eileen	Evans	201 N. Scott Street	New Castle	16101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Behnam	Behzadi	1042 Celilo Drive, Sunnyvale, CA	Sunnyvale	94087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alice	Bailey	626 Sw. Sandbar Terr	Port Saint Lucie	34953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

john	SHOCKLEY	3152SUMMIT RD.	Ravenna	44266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LJ	Lanfranchi	311 Hardwick Road	New Braintree	1531	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
rosina	inlender	160East97Sr	New York	10029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Krauss	PO Box 57	Bethel	12720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Blank	531 Napa Avenue	Rodeo	94572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Sungenis	600 Bennett St. Apt.417	LUZERNE	18709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kris	schluderman	5517 link ave	austin	78751	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alicia	Graves	17273 McCracken Road	Maple Heights	44137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Crawford	938 Huntington Rd	East Lansing	48823	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Fox	13331 Cecil Ct.	Spring Hill	34609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sondra	Birkenes	21 Camino Manzano	PLACITAS	87043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Ruffer	2714 Bonnie Drive	Santa Clara	95051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aaron	Brunette	1045 13th Ave. SE	Minneapolis	55414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Fifie	1 stonebridge court		20000	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jaya	Fairchild	4118 Monterey Street	Los Angeles	90065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jane	Sloven	367 Summit Street	Portland	4103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Webb	247 Pinewood Trail	Trumbull	6611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
emma	perry	6 cedar street	Keyport	7735	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Timothy	McLaughlin	38 B Braley Lane, Plymouth MA	Plymouth	2360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Winstanley	4018 Squilchuck Rd.	WENATCHEE	98801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M.T.	Reposa	Curtis corner road	Wakefield	2879	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Current	137 Tahoma Dr	PARIS	40361	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Foster	3710 Windsor Ave	Colorado Springs	80907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandeep	Bhatt	117 Green Avenue	Madison	7940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ross	Kelsonpetit	7330 Ocean Terrace	Miami Beach	33141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Hauprich	POB 321	Islesboro	4848	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Cameron	12970 Hwy 8 Business #81, El Cajon, Ca	El Cajon	92021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melvin	Wilson	1120 Meridian Ranch Dr	RENO	89523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Pollock	520 W 153rd St.	New York	10031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Miller	2727 s Quincy st	Arlington	22206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Jose	4523Sw201stAv		97078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jo	marlow	457 Elm #C	BURBANK	91506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Howard	Lazoff	11W. Canterbury Court	WENDELL	27591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl	Laos	1327 SE Harney St	PORTLAND	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
marios	psomas	1013 connecticut rd	TARPON SPRINGS	34689	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norma	Munn	1300 Queens Rd. #304	Charlotte	28207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Radu	Bogdan	3992 East Blvd. 201	LOS ANGELES	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Frances	118 F	Salida	81201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. kim	silva	Hartford	Hartford	6114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fred	Granlund	5619 Lankershim Bl. #102	North Hollywood	91601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annecourtney	Davis	2567 progress park	Stow	44224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marion Y.	Schmidt	640 winnetka mews, #406	Winnetka	60093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eileen	Macmillan	1550 Rancho del hambre	Lafayette	94549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gustav	Sallas	2600 N Flagler Dr	WEST PALM BEACH	33407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Rowney	3036 Blue Bell Dr	Redding	96001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emma	Justes	5171 Pebble Brook Drive	Englewood	45322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Murray	300 Southern Blvd.	East Marion	11939	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Nahigian	9570 Harvest View Way	Sacramento	95827	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Schroll	305 Tremont Rd.	Pine Grove	17963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bernard	Conda	6204 Sunnyside Drive		23574	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julia	Meadows	4222 43rd Street North	Saint Petersburg	33714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ralph	Drake	8012 NW 11th CT	Vancouver	98665	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Zorc	1823 Ridgewick Drive	WICKLIFFE	44092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Alpern	29354 MASTERS DR	Murrieta	92563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

P	M	Dewitt	Chicago	60611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexander	Miller	10922 E Cannon Dr	Scottsdale	85259	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy and Dan	Fischer	14712 Prince John Ct.	Burtonsville	20866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marj	Darling	1624 Park Street	Palmer	1069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frederick	Haynes	125 Graystone Drive	Hummelstown	17036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gilbreath	408 Washington Ave.	Sand Springs	74063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justin	McAleece	7676 N. Palm Ave	Fresno	93711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Long	989 Bidwell St.	SAINT PAUL	55118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Hause	7975 Nicholson Road	Cumming	30028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dean	Robb	1118 Hillside Ave	Plainfield	7060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emil	Reisman	16025 Ventura Blvd., Apt. 211	ENCINO	91436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Ranelli	126 Melrose Av	San Francisco	94127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Dow	37 Parsons Street	West Newton	2465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ariel	Calmes	231 Toponce Dr.	Evanston	82930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Probst	16207 Summer Wind Dr.	Houston	77090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Lydon	PO Box 700, Pescadero, CA	PESCADERO	94060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juan	Perez-Otero	5931 E. 27th St	Tucson	85711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M.T.	Reposa	Curtis corner road	Wakefield	2879	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Turken	4020 S Dexter St	ENGLEWOOD	80113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Stafford	15212 NE 16th Place	Bellevue	98007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
EDWARD	PICCIUTI	963 JAMAICA BLVD	Toms River	8757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julia	Young	18 N Broadway	Tarrytown	10591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Craychee	1210 Savannah Ave.	Pittsburgh	15218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Coble	4001 Singletree RD	Charlotte	28227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lewis	Kemper	800 Saverien Dr	Sacramento	95864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Moore	11719 Laurie Circle	EAGLE RIVER	99577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Atwell	9242 W. Charleston Ave	Peoria	85382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Weber	1260 Meridian Ranch Dr	Reno	89523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Jose	4523Sw201stAv		97078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annie	Katzman	Katzman	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Stults	11 Wildwood DR	Carmel	46032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Stringer	2761 happy valley rd	WOOSTER	44691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sabrina	Wojnaroski	30 W Chapel Ridge Rd	Pittsburgh	15238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I don't understand why these providers have so much autonomy over what we can have and do with our devices. Except that they give huge donations to elected officials, of course.

Henrietta	Vigil	7295 e 75 th Ave	Commerce City	80022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mitchell	Harty	137 Circle dr.	Hayfork	96041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Iris	Moore	16937 Port Orford	Yelm	98597	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicholas	Wyatt	3501 Southpointe Hl Dr.	Buford	30519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Douglas	13 FootHills rd Bermuda		0DV05	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
elizabeth	birchflower1@verizon.net	16 woodbrooke drive	Coatesville	19320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Jones	12617 SW Snow Brush Ct	Portland	97223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arnold	Schoeck	2211 Lenrey Ave	El Centro	92243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Schiff	10327 Highway 238	JACKSONVILLE	97530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

K	Whelchel	10608 direct river dr nw	Minneapolis	55433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Roscoe	3 Garden Cir.	Ashland	1721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Bockover	703 Turtle Creek Dr	Rogers	72756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mariel	Wozniak	48 Kessel Ct.	Madison	53711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Kaler	420 East St.	Easthampton	1027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Esther	Leonard	154 Cedar Street, Huntington, WV	Huntington	25705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Davis	5327 Andasol Ave	Encino	91316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean-Luc	Mercier	42, Woohull Rd, Huntington, NY	Huntington	11743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
lisa	bergerud	2122 Drew Ave S	MINNEAPOLIS	55416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dean	Kay	659 Oakridge Dr.	Rochester	14617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Frohn	425 Congress	OSHKOSH	54901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Olson	4455 Y Way, Eugene, OR 97405	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dwight	Dorsett	glenville dr	Whitsett	27377	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Turiano	3754 Blue Ridge Road	West Palm Beach	33406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
thomas	mccormack	9500 s. ocean dr apt 806	Jensen Beach	34957	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wanda	Slaughter	676 Hamilton Street	Monroeville	15146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ALYCE M	Johnson	400 CENTRAL AVE	Albany	12206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Roe	177 Canterbury Rd	BUSHKILL	18324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Darlene	Lane	954 Excelsior Street	Pittsburgh	15210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gene	Burke	p o box 95, woodland hills, ca	Woodland Hills	91365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Neil	kologie	73 castle rock rd se	Rio Rancho	87124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Loya	12 Adirondack Circle Apt B	Gansevoort	12831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Blackford	5443 College Oak Dr, #51	Sacramento	95841	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Clough	6033 N Sheridan Rd	Chicago	60660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Efrain	Pagan	2037 Grand Brook Cir apt 1021A	Orlando	32810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Ramus	1106 Superior Ct	WINTER SPRINGS	32708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	White	42852 SW Dudney Avenue	Forest Grove	97116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Riley	735 Clubhouse Drive	Aptos	95003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	LaRue	3703 Hackett Ave.	Long Beach	90808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Anderson	2554 Pierce Mill Road	GARFIELD	40140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amanda	Anthony	1169 Lake Vista Ct SW Apt 2B	Byron Center	49315	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vanessa	Salazar	6066 A Street	Lakeside	85929	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	McCloskey	1764 Weldon Ave	Columbus	43224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Joline	1033 Isle of Palms Lane	FERNANDINA BEACH	32034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ron	hatcher	1903 lourdes ct.	Lansing	48910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Merrill	Cole	421 S. McArthur St	Macomb	61455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Aktay	9 Colonial Terrace	Pompton Plains	7444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Searle	7322 Quill Dr #140	DOWNEY	90242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Spencer	12400	Clio	48420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stan	Kaluzny	9926 Cedergate, Waterford, Mi.	Waterford	48328	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
BJ	Anderson	612 Cedar Level Rd #10	HOPEWELL	23860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	SHOCKLEY	3152SUMMIT RD.	Ravenna	44266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Krista	Topp	125 Birdsall St. Endicott, NY	Endicott	13760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lou	Has entire kel	15143 215 av	Spirit Lake	51360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Cutler	121 Mount Lebanon Blvd.	PITTSBURGH	15228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Charlton	1170 Chruch Rd Springfield PA	Springfield	19064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	LeClaire	31 Amherst Rd	Massena	13662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Fairfax	846 Park Ave	OAK HARBOR	98277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Liz	Helenchild	Box 1276	Mendocino	95460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Craig	25006 Flying Arrow, San Antonio, TX	San Antonio	78258	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Thomas	Shadow Hills Village, Albuquerque, NM	Albuquerque	87111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Lucas	18397 Vanderbilt Dr.	SARATOGA	95070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carmelo	Acevedo	49 Holly Hill Drive	WINGDALE	12594	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Loretta	Doyle	10910 S. Kilpatrick Ave., #1NE	Oak Lawn	60453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Wilson	642 McCoys Ford Rd	Front Royal	22630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Felicity	Devlin	2417 N. Washington St	Tacoma	98406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
nick	leventis	817 brunswick st.	DALY CITY	94014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Will	Wroot	1428 adams ave9	Loveland	80538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Kornmann	1735 Van Buren Avenue	SAINT PAUL	55104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phoebe	Turner	360 marlboro road	KENNETT SQUARE	19348	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria	Gonzalez	5117 N East River Rd Unit 1G	CHICAGO	60656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Zuegel	35 Minocqua Dr.	Rochester	14617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dallas	Traeger	Kalispell, MT	Kalispell	59901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lois	Heaston	10820 S Eberhart Ave	Chicago	60628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heidi	Behnke	9483 Vista Drive	Spring Valley	91977	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William Mark	Casebier	1351 Poplar Street	Sweet Home	97386	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Koritz	12104 Ashford Gables Drive	Atlanta	30338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kamesh	Rao	1402 Graywood Dr	San Jose	95129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Camillo	7 Dale Drive	Rockville	20850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Russ	Buchanan	7411 Kelly Dr	NORRISTOWN	19401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Roxby	5820 State Road	Gibsonia	15044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Roman	208 Tudor Road	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jan	Hurwitz	100 Avenue L	Matamoras	18336	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Bieak	25 Barberry Lane	Levittown	19054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Parsons	7905 Della Rosa Court	Pasadena	21122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

G. Mark	Spitalny	595 Edgewood Ave.	Mill Valley	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mari	McShane	333 Lucille St	Pittsburgh	15218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Salzgeber	19-17 21st Dr	Astoria	11105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rhoda	London	8517 Little Swift Circle	JACKSONVILLE	32256	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Paxson	2618 Cypress Avenue	East Meadow	11554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Vicini	1129 West Main St Unit 11	Franklin	37064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Wolf	1401sw67th terrace plantatiom	Fort Lauderdale	33317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
vida	bossinas	12338 hillcrest dr	Chesterland	44026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Longley	719 SW CHIEFLAND LN	Fort White	32038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Kennedy	1009 Redwood Lane	Davis	95616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marco	Escobar	13611 La Pat Pl.	Westminster	92683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Petro-Roy	12 Pinewood Rd	Chelmsford	1824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John J	Paulhus	319 Stroll Ln	SUN CITY CENTER	33573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sumeet	Batra	2901 Bledsoe	Fort Worth	76107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynne	Brimecombe	525 Galen Circle	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melissa	Riley	264 Kathryn Dr	LOVELAND	80537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
marios	psomas	1013 connecticut rd	TARPON SPRINGS	34689	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Cardosi	3 Sarah Jane Ct	Acton	1720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Noreen	LaVallo	360 School Street	RUMNEY	3266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Stockwell	607-3 Popes Store Road	OCHLOCKNEE	31773	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Harding	7004 River Birch Dr	Raleigh	27613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dominic	Marino	3 Greenhurst Road West Hartford	West Hartford	6107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mari	McShane	333 Lucille St	Pittsburgh	15218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicky	Blank	3856 Requa Ave.	Claremont	91711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Matson	1 Meadowlark Ln	Lake Oswego	97034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Woodford	51 River Street	Hudson	1749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	MacRobert	260 Davis Rd., Bedford MA	Bedford	1730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roy	Murphy	291 8th Street	BROOKLYN	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Cummings	3959 S. 1st St.	Milwaukee	53207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Medaris	1608 Red Leaf Fr	San Antonio	78232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michele	Paxson	2618 Cypress Avenue	East Meadow	11554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Sherman	30 waln ln	Langhorne	19047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Daniell	1403 Oakridge Circle	Decatur	30033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nelson	Johnson	P.O. Box 289	GUERNEVILLE	95446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
marianne	noller	1376 viva way	NIPOMO	93444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harvey	Forman	6509 Stockton Avenue	El Cerrito	94530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

sherry	luciano	550 east 12th ave #708	Denver	80203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanne	Hevener	2500 W. Wittstruck Road	Martell	68404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Dufour	285 Nonopoge rd	Fairfield	6825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Joyner	55 Crown Royal Drive	Buffalo	14221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Megan	Wood	900 Eastbrooke Lane	Rochester	14618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James and Judith	Smith	5033 PEBBLE BEACH BLVD	Winter Haven	33884	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Dunn	520 NE Roth Street	Portland	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	Rasch	14080 Payne Forest Ave	Grand Haven	49417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claudia	Moorman	6316 S Vermont Ave Apt 10	Los Angeles	90044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Locatelli	4777, rue Adam	Chicago	60641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Jackson	8201 Trumbull ave se #d	Albuquerque	87108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Fassett	1702 Colina Terrestre	San Clemente	92673	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Colleen	Bradley	18749 Marsh Lane Apt 1111	Dallas	75287	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianne	Judd	951 Stonewall	New Braunfels	78130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandy	Bell	3330 Blue Heron Dr N	Chesapeake Beach	20732	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Falconer	3937 NE Glisan Street	Portland	97232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Alley	1924 N C St	Elwood	46036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Walker	1002 North 18th Street	Harrisburg	17103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Cantrell	1301 Jonas ave	SACRAMENTO	95864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jared	Calhoun	1855 n. 38th place	Phoenix	85008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Bailor	2612 E White Pine Lane	Spokane	99223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lara	Marshall	1368 Stoneybrook Lane	Boone	28607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Tindill-Rohr	P.O. Box 131115	Birmingham	35213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
amanda	pearl	banks street	Houston	77006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

CHRISTINA	BALLINGALL	1787 S. CROOKED LAKE DR.	KALAMAZOO	49009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Ellis	274 Murtagh Hill	West Chazy	12992	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hansol	Lee	908 s ardmore ave	Los Angeles	90006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Gregory	3538 NE 86TH ST	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andy	Venneman	180 NE 161 ST	Miami	33162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Weinberg	45580 Via Corona	Indian Wells	92210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emery	Paine	225 East Lakelawn Place	Madison	53703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Bohner	38 St Luke Dr	Saint Peters	63376	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margie	Borchers	401 e micheltorena	Santa Barbara	93101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ryusuke	Hasegawa	29 Hill Street, Morristown, NJ	MORRISTOWN	7960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Fait	7614 North 46th Drive	GLENDALE	85301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Hunter	1630 S Main St. Dayton, OH	Dayton	45409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Mansfield	5 Turkey Hill Rd., Newburyport, Mass.	Newburyport	1950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Oles	2579 Clara Avenue	AURORA	60502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Golden	26210 Cross Hollow Lane	Cypress	77433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Caryl	Sawyer	13 Raines Ave. Sandston	Sandston	23150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ameha	Keskessa	germantown, TN	Germantown	38138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carl	Howard	1736 East Long Street	Columbus	43203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Bal	6717 Friars Road #85	SAN DIEGO	92108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MaryLouise	Kelly	984 No. Village Ave.	Rockville Centre	11570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
neil	farbstein	4 CROME RD	Syosset	11791	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clifford E	Darden	4008 Desert Sand Way	Bakersfield	93311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melodie	Johnson	7511 Sonatta Court	Lincoln	68516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clarisse	Shechter	pleasant st	Bristol	5443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Benzinger	17812 Cypress Falls Dr.	Dallas	75287	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Williams	550 Terrace Drive	ELM GROVE	53122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ROBERT	GRIFFIN	p.o. box 132	Reedsville	45772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patti	Armstrong	5702 congressional dr Arlington tx	ARLINGTON	76018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Tyler	611 Mohawk Dr	Erie	16505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Kreines	3549 Main Street	Millbrook	36054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Wisniewski	Wisniewski		Lexington	40509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffry	Yaplee	2817 34th Ave S		Seattle	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yolande	Agble	175-06 Devonshire Road	Apt. 6 J	Jamaica	11432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chilton	Gregory	1104 Marquette PL NE	ALBUQUERQUE	87106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Max	Baird	3033 San Juan Dr	Decatur	30032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
crystal	foster	112Heights Ave	Lexington	29072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

allen	chazin	150-10 79 ave.	FLUSHING	11367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brittny	O'Connor	2039 35th ave	San Francisco	94116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Ramirez	4 Sioux Place	Greenwich	6831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Friessen	2640 Portage Bay E #16	Davis	95616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leland	Hoch	152 Stone Oaks Drive	Hartsdale	10530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pierre	Del Prato	11 Park Place Ct	SACRAMENTO	95831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexis	Crumbaker		Zanesville	43701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
evie	frost	14 thayer street	brookline	2445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cedric	Reuter	8548 2nd Ave	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryn	Fenn	250 Pantops Mountain Rd.	Charlottesville	22911	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Chauncey	1416 Whittington Dr.	RALEIGH	27614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Davis	2238 W Cullerton	Chicago	60608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonadine	Randolph	8853 E Fruit Tree Dr	Tucson	85730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Zafis	2911 CHESHIRE RD	Wilmington	19810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LIZ	WALLACE	47121 SE 131ST PL	North Bend	98045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cassandra	voss	19065 killoch way	Porter Ranch	91326	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	McKee	1600 Glenarm Pl Apt 803	Denver	80202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Erickson	9815 Quakertown Ave.	CHATSWORTH	91311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

VickyLou	Sharer	4172 Hinsdale Rd.	Cleveland	44121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Lloyd	118 N High St.	Deland	32720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Durbin	1251 rickover dr	COUPEVILLE	98239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eva	Mullan	19529 Morrie Dr	Oregon City	97045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Spitz	Laytonville, CA	Laytonville	95454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cassandra	Sweet	6823 W Shade Ln Apt 103	Wichita	67212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Holliday	14 SW McCabe	McMinnville	97128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elliot	Silverman	19 E 88th St	New York	10128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Wolfe	184 Berkshire ave Southwick ma	Southwick	1077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dove	Shientag-Betts	536 E Morrow Dr.	Phoenix	85024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theodore	Berg	3929 N Monadnock Rd.	Hernando	34442	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Beringer	225 238th St SW	Bothell	98021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Toni	Seger	4 LOVELL LANDING RD	Lovell	4051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lou	Has entire kel	15143 215 av	Spirit Lake	51360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DORIAN	ROONEY	pob41518	SANTA BARBARA	93140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Belz	703 2nd st N	Nampa	83687	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Carey	1202 Hideaway Dr. N.	Saint Johns	32259	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Lo	930 w. Winona St	Chicago	60640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Holly	Brown	45 Vista	Sherman Oaks	91403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
tina	horowitz	4701 pine street m8	PHILADELPHIA	19143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Cammilleri	725 S. Harlan St. Lakewood, CO	Denver	80226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nalei	Kahakalau	POBox 1764	HONOKAA	96727	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Thompson Jr	1766 Ninevah Rd	Knox	16232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	mISKELLY	218 N Tyrone Rd	Baltimore	21212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Osborne	30 Ackerman Place	Nyack	10960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Bowen	North English, Iowa	North English	52316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Carolus	7429 Montgomery Rd, Apt 305	Cincinnati	45236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sean	S	12649 N 29th Ave, Phoenix, AZ	PHOENIX	85029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Camhi	4 Fallen Leaf Way	Novato	94949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Schlueter	7000 Mercy Road	Omaha	68106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rich	Carrasco	4425 Issaquah Pine Lake Rd SE	Sammamish	98075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Ramirez	4 Sioux Place	Greenwich	6831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Frantz	225 E Walnut St	LANCASTER	17602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

shawn	johnson	951 stratford dr	ENCINITAS	92024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Woodward	135 Avenida Lysanne	Anaheim	92807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Dermott	525 Eugene Ave.	Pittsburgh	15202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Lincoln	93 Raven Rd	Lowell	1852	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marco	Escobar	13611 La Pat Pl.	Westminster	92683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julene	Weaver	5201 22nd Ave NE #201	SEATTLE	98105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniela	Leonard	3620 W. Roscoe St.	Chicago	60618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Williams	8038 Bienville Drive	Nashville	37211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Fry	6415 Cincinnati Dayton Rd	Middletown	45044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Terry	14400 W Viking St	TUCSON	85736	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Hildebrant	1370 west way nw	SALEM	97304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lou	Turk	618 Pacific Ter	Klamath Falls	97601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Tenerelli	86 South Antelope	TERRE HAUTE	47802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	Anipen	3211 W. Swann Ave.	TAMPA	33609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joy	McConnell	po box 1211	Black Mountain	28711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fannie	LeFlore	4954 N. 72nd St.	MILWAUKEE	53218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bhavana	Lymworth	PO Box 459	Langley	98260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Gordon	4832 Wendler Blvd.	Columbus	43230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David A	Lawrence	51 Davenport Ave	MORRIS PLAINS	7950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Andrews	514 FLANNERY ST	Santa Clara	95051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary L	Cagle	22855 E CountryVista Dr. apt 378	Liberty Lake	99019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adrian	Harris	650 Bedford St	Johnstown	15902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Andrews	7382 MURRAY RD	NEENAH	54956	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Strempke-Durgin	428 Gwendolyn Dr. NE	Cedar Rapids	52402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ric	Evans	54 Stoney Creek Drive	CLIFTON PARK	12065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stacy	Hall	2859 Lincoln Avenue	SAN DIEGO	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Pellegrino	1910 2nd. Street North	South Saint Paul	55075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Tribble	1215 Spruce Street	MYRTLE POINT	97458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Schwall	PO Box 481	Highland Mills	10930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
paula	Minklei	896 Orchard Pk Rd	Buffalo	14224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Benner	1 Stoney Lane Drv, Goshen, IN	Goshen	46528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Isis	Knight	900 Martin L King Jr Blvd S Apt i237 Pontiac Mi	Pontiac	48341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dana	Ginsberg	301 Home Ave.	Oak Park	60302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lydia	Rogers	1037 Mt. Vernon Rd.	Bethpage	37022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Kaminski	2170 Manchester Rd	San Leandro	94578	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Burris	6150 Canoga Avenue	Woodland Hills	91367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Helen	Humfleet	3248 Laurel Lake Rd N	London	40744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Schuyler	Gould	21 Maple Grove St	Barre	5641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Parr	199 Silver Fox Court Loveland, OH	Loveland	45140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Gehres, Jr.	3148 Gracefield Rd.	Silver Spring	20904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Estell	12 Lawson Rd.	Stafford Springs	6076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marissa	Harding	710 N 46th St	Killeen	76543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelly	Bishop	2309 McIlhenny St	Houston	77004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melanie	Garcia	4832 mission street	San Francisco	94112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Shepton	253 Kings Road	Brisbane	94005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Blastos	1681 garden st	Redlands	92373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	McEntire	2293 E Fisher Ln	SALT LAKE CITY	84109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Baird	1118 E Court St	TARPON SPRINGS	34689	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eve	Ilsen	1720 Lehigh St.	Boulder	80305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suhas	Malghan	1-110 Stone Place	Melrose	2176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patty	Conrad	2335 Canterbury	Cleveland	44118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brenda	Lee	16 quarry dr	WAPPINGERS FALLS	12590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Boettcher	7113 Coulson Dr. NE	ALBUQUERQUE	87109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Anderson	125 River St	North Weymouth	2191	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kate	Sherwood	96 Barnes Street	Long Beach	11561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henrik	Eberhardt	Mokleiva 4d	Groton	1450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberta	Guthrie	690 Mason Headley Rd.	Lexington	40504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wesley	Harriss	391 N Main St.	Lexington	38351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Dominiak	201 E. Mineola Ave.	VALLEY STREAM	11580	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Padgett	3612 Greenfield Dr	New Albany	47150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A	Puza	720 15th St	New Cumberland	17070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Watts	357 Jockey Club Drive, Athens, GA	ATHENS	30605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Miller	5616 SW Orchid St., Portland, OR	Portland	97219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mitchell	Goheen	5401 McGrath Blvd	ROCKVILLE	20852	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Sheldon	5007 Ponderosa Ter	Campbell	95008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Salerno	447 Iron Horse	Grayslake	60030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dominic	Libby	63 Middleton Rd., Milton, NH	Milton	3851	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brett	allison	4901 S Calle Los Cerros Dr	TEMPE	85282	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	VonBenken	8296 Avery Rd	BROADVIEW HEIGHTS	44147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mitchell	Goheen	5401 McGrath Blvd	ROCKVILLE	20852	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Sadler	1840 N Monte Vista Dr Apt A	Palmer	99645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Stolpe	3007 Fleet Rd	Columbus	43232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Greenwell	49 Lower Browning Ct	JASPER	30143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Garcia	33-37 New York Ave	Newark	7105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Hilgartner	608 Shady Lane	Charleston	25314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larise	Boughner	816 Russet Valley	Cedar Park	78613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Swann	24 Road Less Traveled	SEDGWICK	4676	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Mondry	28456 Del Lago Way	Bonita Springs	34135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bill	Gilbert	811 Boyer ave	Walla Walla	99362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raelyn	Michaelson	14244 29th Ave S	Seattle	98168	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Williams	4409 Hillview Way	Rohnert Park	94928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Fisk	2105 Redwood Cir. NE	Palm Bay	32905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Dickinson	8613 Cresthill Ave	Savannah	31406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Crystal	DeCell	5201 S Rogers St	Bloomington	47403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

paul j	stetz jr	300 Carnation St	Johnstown	15902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Minda	THORWARD	5447 25th Ave S	SEATTLE	98108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	bobek	1617 W. Highland Ave	chicago	60660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregg	Johnson	1346 The Alameda Suite 7 #221	San Jose	95126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Corey	Schade	11 Buena Vista Court	Allenhurst	7711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Holub	446 Sausalito Blvd.	Sausalito	94965	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Zahnle	314 S Randolph St	Macomb	61455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Mende	33 Brookside Dr	Howell	7731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bert	Calafell	4326 Wallace Street	Philadelphia	19104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzanne	Wight	7603 East Aster Drive	Scottsdale	85260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Jaeger	5 Calle Cristiano	Santa Fe	87508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	McConnell	1910 Springdale Lane, Encinitas CA	Encinitas	92024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joshua	Allen	4249 145th street west	Rosemount	55068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	D'Onofrio	25118 Smith Grove Rd.	Petersburg	23803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Manny	Garcia	514 steele	DENVER	80206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jesse	Greer	6 Seaside Ct	Sacramento	95831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doris	Bandel	1574 Cohansey Street North, Unit #101	Saint Paul	55117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Young	646 W Lake Park Dr	Addison	60101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eugene	McDowell	3837 Glen Oaks Manor	Sarasota	34232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frances	Dennis	101 Cashwell Drive	Goldsboro	27534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Snee	1321 Quarter Line Road	CENTER RUTLAND	5736	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rhonda	Peters	1610 S Valentine Way	Denver	80228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Dosser	4615 Willa Way	Durham	27703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Dziubanek	2255 S 17th Ave Apt 1r	Riverside	60546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Serena	johnston	19290 S Badger Dr	Oregon City	97045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberta	Hendrickson	5551Grand Ave S	Minneapolis	55419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edi	Beilin	1065 NE 39th Ave	Homestead	33033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marilyn	Young	2194 Zang St	GOLDEN	80401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Koch	67 S Main	Lebanon	97355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonard	Edwards	604B Pressler St	Austin	78703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Burt	Jurgens	2025 SE 59th Ave	Portland	97215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stan	Alderson	1895 3200 Ave	Chapman	67431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Reynolds	502 Russell St.	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Norland	3300 Cornell Road	Agoura Hills	91301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marti	Nerenstone	500 Willow Ave, Ste 212	Council Bluffs	51503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. It is nothing but a rip-off. Can't see TV any more just by plugging it into the wall. it's bad enough we have to pay for channels we don't care about to get the ones we do. Having to rent another apparatus forever just to see these channels that the cable company is ripping me off for in the first place is criminal. While you're at it, stop letting the cable companies rip us off by putting in channels that I don't want. I should be able to pick and choose a variety, and then pay a subscription.

Greg	Stawinoga	1247 E 168th Pl	SOUTH HOLLAND	60473	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Bentley	725 W Quinalt St	Springfield	97477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Kildall, Ed. D.	533 E.Vashon Ave Apt A-1	PORT ANGELES	98362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Travis	McFarland	1219 longbranch rd	Grover	28073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. This should apply to satellite television as well. I was recently going to go to satellite, but was unwilling to pay more for the box than for the service. I could buy a capable box online for the price of two months equipment rental.
Shawn	Gustafson	7802 W 90th Ave.	Westminster	80021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Egger	15649 Flight Lane	Saint Paul	55124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J	Jordan	24966 Independence Dr.8116	FARMINGTON	48335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andra	Heide	2653 Tulip Hill Road	MILTON	32571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Cooper	27109 SW Aden Ave	Wilsonville	97070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raymond	Stevens	3355 W. Grandview Rd.	Phoenix	85053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Burch	56965 Gladewood	Coquille	97423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Richardson	11944 Black Mountain Road #31	San Diego	92129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Wadkins	1015 Ripley St	Silver Spring	20910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynne	Weiske	wilshire bl	Los Angeles	90048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Wiley	2063 Merrill Rd	Kent	44240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jamika	James	7422 meadowlark lane	Texas City	77591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Witte	POB 17333	Tucson	85731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ana	Chou	3256 Ramona St	Palo Alto	94306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Craig	Holmes	15611 N Daisy Pl	Catalina	85739	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	Schreiber	9431 126th Ave NE	Kirkland	98033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rama K	Paruchuri	2245 Glencoe Hills Dr	Ann Arbor	48108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony	Mojica	9709 Trinidad Dr	El Paso	79925	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Hay	Haverhill MA	Haverhill	1835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MIKE	GILMORE	2304 LINCOLN RD	BELLEVUE	68005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ryan	Fitzpatrick	10415 Lamon	OAK LAWN	60453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christi	DeMark	1 Marineview Plz	Hoboken	7030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hillary	Ostrow	5835 Hesperia Ave	ENCINO	91316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Buckley	715 Brooklyn Mountain Road	Hopatcong	7843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
andreas	ohland	6855 abbott ave	Miami Beach	33141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Kadlec	12670 Sunrise Drive NE	Bainbridge Island	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joy	thomoson	7290 w Ellsworth Ave	Denver	80226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary jane	Kupsky	4224 North Paulina St	Chicago	60613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vanessa	Duque	40-05 Ithaca Street	Elmhurst	11373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry D	Kitchen	1508 Cedar Ln	Knoxville	37918	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Stein	7335 Utopia Pkwy	Fresh Meadows	11366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Calame	77 7th ave	SAN FRANCISCO	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Mattice	124 Michigan St	Negaunee	49866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victor	Zampa	7995 Forrestal Rd	San Diego	92120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theron	Gilliland	2801 Penn Avenue, Apt. 2, Pittsburgh, PA	Pittsburgh	15222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Graham	Metcalfe	4991 Arcadia Drive	Santa Rosa	95401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Fedrick	106 Water St Apt #105 Leominster MA	Phelps	14532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Lang	317 Mt. Alverno Rd.	Media	19063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Rogers	6072 Hillbrook Pl.	Dublin	94568	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Waldrip	7960B Soquel Dr. #210			American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carla	Walls	518 N Flora Rd unit A	GREENACRES	99016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Hall	3203 SE Vineyard Rd. Unit 45	Portland	97267	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geoffrey	Sommersell	115 1ST Street	Brentwood	11717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Davis	PO Box 387	ORLEANS	2653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Firth	10111 Holly Road	Mechanicsville	23116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Rosin	80 no Euclid avenue	Pasadena	91101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claude	Poliakoff	4832 NW Promenade terr	Portland	97229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Doty	411 Holly Road	Vero Beach	32963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Shorten	21 Montclair Avenue	Verona	7044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Jenkins	634 E 14th St	New York	10009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kris	Kelleher	705 W Washington Ave, Lake Bluff	Lake Bluff	60044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Rittenhouse	2810 Brigata Way	OCOEE	34761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Bellsey	3028 porter st, DC	Washington	20008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allen	Gundlach	451 North Drive, Rochester NY	Rochester	14612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Park	8110 Catalpa Street	Texas City	77591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Engonidis	4860 Carnation Circle #101	Myrtle Beach	29577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keith	Butterfield	17 Haskell Ave, Raymond, ME	Raymond	4071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Phelps	150 W Village Pl #116	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James A	Thomas	5242 Granny White Trace	Nashville	37220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Ricci	6186 Silver Wood Dr	Morrow	45152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Meyer	8620 Windjammer Dr	Raleigh	27615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Feran	.	Littleton	80121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

MICHAEL	MELINCOFF	PO BOX 18-1098	Cleveland	44118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlotte	Pirch	9826 Lewis Avenue	FOUNTAIN VALLEY	92708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	heinbeck	10 park lane, jamaica plain, MA 02130	Jamaica Plain	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robb	Ivey	4203 Cabell Dr. Apt 316	Dallas	75204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Bowers	Sacramento, CA	Sacramento	95831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rex	Barker	1017 Excel Ct.	Frankfort	40601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Graham	50 F St, NW CSC	Washington	20001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Notarnicola	745 Home Grove Dr	Winter Garden	34787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Farnaz	Edwards	18680 Queen Elizabeth Dr.	Brookeville	20833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Mason	15 Kimball Dr	NEW BRITAIN	6051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
angela	fox	16725 bubbling wells road	Desert Hot Springs	92240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Fluor	4715 Surrey Drive	Corona del Mar	92625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shoshanah	Stone	1705 Morningtide Ct	ANCHORAGE	99501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Satriano	4060 Porte de Palmas	San Diego	92122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jorge	rivas	1661 s. Oxford	Los Angeles	90006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marion	Lebo	2734 Grebe Lane	ENGLEWOOD	34224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Nowicki	2324 14th Ave	SAN FRANCISCO	94116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Meyerson	2477 Front Street	Easton	18042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	Perry	4300 Lake Ridge Dr	Raleigh	27604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christian	Hernandez	13622	MIAMI	33182	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	van Voorhis	1865 Flat Shoals Rd. SE	Atlanta	30316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bridget	Blackwood	534 Emerald	Chicago Heights	60411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ricardo	Bartelme	1200 Brooks St	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Knapp	777 Longacre Ln	KLAMATH FALLS	97601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jodi	Alexander	4129 Warner Blvd	Burbank	91505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Heater	111 Mockingbird Ct	Lexington	29073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	MacDaniel	2211 East Arbor Drive NW	Huntsville	35811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Get to work and do your job!

Jeff	Hight	Ivors Lane	Winston Salem	27106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	Alfano	1257 Western Pine Circle	Sarasota	34240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
W.T.	Huff	3180 ATLANTA RD	Smyrna	30080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

MICHAEL	SEGRETTO	90 ridgeway sites ave	Oswego	13126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chrisie	Negrin	4355 N. Bonita Vista St.	Las Vegas	89129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Joy	PO Box 1302 Los Alamitos CA 90720	Los Alamitos	90720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rama K	Paruchuri	2245 Glencoe Hills Dr	Ann Arbor	48108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Holtzman	11342 SW 69th Ter Miami, Fl	Miami	33173	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	McFarlane	257 W River St	Edgerton	43517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	Freitag	1710 Lake Point Dr.	Madison	53713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Wojtas	1229 W Foster Ave	CHICAGO	60640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dana	Rockwell	28 Cantaberry Lane #151	COVENTRY	2816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeanne	Lesniak	1324 Bayport Ave	Marco Island	34145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Park	8110 Catalpa Street	Texas City	77591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Byrne	1 SMETON PL APT 600	TOWSON	21204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Lippincott	94 Forshay Rd	Monsey	10952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annie	Lukasik	3573 Kendra St Eugene Oregon	Eugene	97404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelley	Cudd	3156 Mount Zion Road	STOCKBRIDGE	30281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sally	Jackson	2 Osceola Lane	BILLERICA	1821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rodolfo	Aguilar	4642 Commander Dr. apt. 912	Orlando	32822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
SANDRA	CRONIN	8540 TOWNLINE ROAD	Forbes	55738	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Micieli	29 Cambridge Cir.	Smithfield	2917	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Parker	724 n.e. sumner	Topeka	66616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Graham	21442 Lake Forest Drive	Lake Forest	92630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kyle	Cohenour	1010 26th St. N	Saint Petersburg	33713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kymberlee	Harris	75-148 Lunapule Road	Kailua Kona	96740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Allen	260 Westview Drive Unit 303	Saint Paul	55118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phil	Neri	4756 N. Lamon Ave.	Chicago	60630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Dugan	5 Station Ave	Haddon Heights	8035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Katzman	8006 Kelok Way	CLAYTON	94517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maurine	Canarsky	1977 SE 22nd Ave.	Portland	97214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Watkins	22 Jersey St.	Rehoboth Beach	19971	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
A. Darnell	Montgomery	490 Hillsdale Dr	Fayetteville	30214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

grace	nasseh	1211 Heather Lane	Wilmington	19803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Tweedale	16445 Collinson	EASTPOINTE	48021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Baclija	82544 Yuba River Ct.	INDIO	92203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Clark	2184 Washington Street	Holliston	1746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	DiFatta	1901 Peyton ave	Burbank	91504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kari	Hirvi	Suupankuja 4-6 A6	VENUS	33960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marla	Zimmerman	7601 Newport Bay Dr.	Indianapolis	46240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Clymer	1237 165th ave se	Bellevue	98008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Heeschen	1905 N. Park Dr	Saint Paul	55119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Moricca	2618 Sonoma Way	PINOLE	94564	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rudy	McDaniel	5464 White Heron Place	Oviedo	32765	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Penta	10601 E Marchetti Loop	Tucson	85747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Ghelfi	730 24th St NW	Washington	20037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	McIntosh	3945 Ridgmaar Sq	ANN ARBOR	48105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Vazzano	1473 winslowe dr	Palatine	60074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry	Wolfe	1012 mound St.	Alameda	94501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lyle	Najita	3021 Campbell Pl	Davis	95618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	Dallas	8415 Karlov Avenue, Skokie, IL	Skokie	60076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julia	LaPlante	117 Five Crowns Way	Encinitas	92024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Dominick	22467 SW Pinto Drive	Tualatin	97062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Smoot	3524 cass st apt 1	Omaha	68131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rudy	ahumada	9643 boxwood ave	Fontana	92335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miriah	Reynolds	1430 Golf Course Road	BIRDSBORO	19508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Cross	4020 NORTHWEST AVE APT 306	Bellingham	98226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Domingo	Hermosillo	9547 Mary Ave NW	Seattle	98117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brooke	Zerrlaut	1237 Seminole dr	Arnold	21012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Malcolm	Clark	PO Box 43	OCCIDENTAL	95465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Charbonneau	24 Condesa Rd	Santa Fe	87508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Sizemore	102 N Victor St	Champaign	61821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J Ann	Johnson	565 Shorely Dr	Barrington	60010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Popiel	311 TRITES AVE	Norwood	19074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Boland	South Yarmouth	South Yarmouth	2664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	McDonald	51 E Elmwood	Leonard	48367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cathy	Ploughman	51 old oak south	Palm Coast	32137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carrie	Black	2766S Adams St	Salt Lake City	84115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jim	hartzell	box 30868	Laughlin	89028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Callie	Stilwell	9071 E Mississippi Ave	Denver	80247	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Dutton	51 Bateman Avenue	Newport	2840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teal	Hyman	8602 Grubb Rd.	Chevy Chase	20815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brett	Robert	1295 NW 87th Avenue	Coral Springs	33071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Franklin	P.O. Box 628	Jamul	91935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Brinich	601 W Rosemary St Unit 804	Chapel Hill	27516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mei	Mailou-Santos	823 Makaala Drive	Wailuku	96793	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Gillespie	103 Lindenwood Ln	Kissimmee	34743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ginger	Leishman	1060 S 3rd St #379	San Jose	95112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kimberley	Vought	5951 Bay Hill Circle	Lake Worth	33463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Davis	1519 Union Ave 175	Memphis	38104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marty	Haley	4456 US Hwy 90A E	Gonzales	78629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Calder	hudson	street	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Shaub	566 Cleardale Avenue	Trenton	8618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
barbara	edmonds	3305 vintage street	Houston	77026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mercy	Drake	4704 E Halifax St	MESA	85205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ana	Kirola	1050 Franklin St	SF	94109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Dollberg	52 Iolanthus Ave	Novato	94945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

NORRIS	ROBINSON	4103 SE 11th St	Oklahoma City	73115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gertrude	Crowley	60 ODonnell Ave	EAST FALMOUTH	2536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Carter	340 north miller ave	Burley	83318	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristy	Collins	248 Mahoning Drive	Lima	45806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Hall	17 Perrion. Ave	Weaverville	28787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Max	Coleman	10 E Gorham St. Apt B, Madison, WI	Madison	53703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ashley	Brown	6 Walnut Street	Tioga	16946	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Craig	216 Parkway Dr.	Warrensburg	64093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	McMillion	P.O. Box 1012	BOWIE	20718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Abigail	Crespo	4748 Tandem DR	Tyler	75708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Shanklin	1313 Capri Dr.	BOULDER CITY	89005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Taylor	546 Granberry	Houston	77007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Derek	Andersen	Portland, OR	PORTLAND	97212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	McGrann	219N 22nd St	Murphysboro	62966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
dusty	kennedy	210 SW heights Rd	TOPEKA	66609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gene	Lawson	4615 191st. St. S.W.	Lynnwood	98036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosemarie	Bundy	147 Hathaway Road	Syracuse	13214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Smith	1408 Devonshire Ct	Edmond	73034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allison	Alberts	129 milan way	Green Lane	18054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Benioff	519 N 20th ST	Allentown	18104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Wacaser	3336 S Ammons St	Denver	80227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Williamson	44 hickory way	Mount Arlington	7856	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Kudelka	4308 W. 55th Street	Chicago	60632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Schroeter	8 Smith Farm	Stratham	3885	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Adams	305 Kilborn Dr	Grants Pass	97526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ravi	S	924 westwood blvd	Los Angeles	90024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marianne	Zito	1401 Pennsylvania ave	WILMINGTON	19806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	DeMontigney	4652 Scenic Point Dr	Louisville	37777	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
alan	kaniarz	1604 clay ave	Detroit	48211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Wilson	10540 e contessa st	Mesa	85207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ben	Rutkevitz	1614 york avenue	New York	10028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patsy	Lowe	942 Breton Ave	Simi Valley	93065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Vazzano	1473 winslowe dr	Palatine	60074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shane	Brindley	107 Frances King Drive	Smyrna	37167	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Rhines	po box 85	Dighton	2715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Holtan	1428 Rutledge St.	Madison	53703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frederick	Jackson	4378 30th St	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JOHN A	MILLER	1139 ROBB HILL RD.	MARTINSVILLE	46151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Sher	4421 webster st	Oakland	94609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	McKelvy	26201 Plantion Dr NE Atlanta, GA	Atlanta	30324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jaszmene	Smith	67 Lee Avenue	MILLVILLE	8332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colin	Smith	249 Buttolph Dr, Apt.#201 MIddlebury, VT	Middlebury	5753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcus	Sellers	5259 Trout Run Ln	SPRUCE CREEK	16683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Vee	1East River Road	Emigrant	59027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	B	Canyon View	Sierra Vista	85650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jon	Thomas	1336 Wood Ave	Colorado Springs	80903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joey	McCUTCHAN	428 Howard Hts	EUREKA	95503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
A	Gardner	154 Ridgeview Dr	Mount Airy	27030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Bugg	1455 Alcan Dr. Apt. #4	Menasha	54952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Myrna	Pearl	6387 Country Wood Way	Delray Beach	33484	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vickie	garcia	767 s oak st Gilbert, az	Gilbert	85233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Higgins	Watts Rd	MORRIS	74445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Watkins	2497 Gardenia Drive	Columbus	43235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Lontz	1084 NW Oosterhoudt Lane	Lake City	32055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Fortune	Summit NJ	Summit	7901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry K	Durie	2424 East Blvd	Bethlehem	18017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ric	Melton	530 N Edison Street	Kennewick	99336	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shekinah	Johns	16245 Lakewood Blvd.	Bellflower	90706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Perla	769 Crestridge Dr. NE, Atlanta, Ga 30306-3620	Atlanta	30306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Felix	Black	25 Newport Court	Sterling	20164	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Gallagher	15866 36th Avenue NE	SEATTLE	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Vann	462 Racine Drive 302A	Wilmington	28403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Roets	711 N Euclid	Pittsburgh	15206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carmelita	Thornton	34 Greendale Road	Mattapan	2126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maaike	Davidson	319 8th Ave E	Gooding	83330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Brown	246 Emmaus Cir	Elizabethtown	42701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	Dines	426 Lakewood Avenue	DANVILLE	61832	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dana	Chase	166 West Pond St	East Bridgewater	2333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	ortiz	874 Manida st	Bronx	10474	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Cunningham	9551 E 42 St	TUCSON	85730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	McCauley	505 Honeydale Road #66	Brownsville	78520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Blake	1010 Peden Street, #3	Houston	77006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susanna	Levin	1255 North Ave. #3I	New Rochelle	10804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trisha	Broeke	5609 SE 65th Ave	PORTLAND	97206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Elson	P.O. Box 821	Fremont	94537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Workman	10 Bridge Street	Kittery	3904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	Hayden	765 Aurura Dr.	El Centro	92243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kaari	Groscup	394 Metacom	Bristol	2809	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Hainey	3510 19th	Washington	20020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yolonda	Harper	17751 Panama City Beach	Panama City Beach	32413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacques	Fauteux	360 Revere Beach Blvd.	Revere	2151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joey	Stevenson	105 Linda Lane	Leitchfield	42754	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Thomas	1015 North Kings Road #208	West Hollywood	90069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claire	Gallimore	1203 N 110 Plaza	Omaha	68154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jill	Grimes	899 Steele St	Craig	81625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Ercolano	78 W Hill Rd	Woodcliff Lake	7677	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trevor	Hall	1023 Walnut St	Grand Forks	58201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Whitaker	14537 NE 40th St #H201	Bellevue	98007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robertino	Fillari	537 RONALD AVE	Glassboro	8028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Franklin	Ray	PO Box 4045	MIDDLETOWN	2842	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Tweedy	10 Adams St	Taunton	2780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Harmon	3718 N. Rock Road	Wichita	67226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ned	kavanagh	6 t	rochester	14616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Teri	Pisha	17451 Macarthur	REDFORD	48240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Crittenton	50 La Palma	NEWBURY PARK	91320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Yao	500 College Avenue	Swarthmore	19081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ellin	Stiteler	3001 Watsabaugh	Gillette	82718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	E.	PO Box 230582	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Duerr	6637 W 95th Pl	Westminster	80021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	borowski	8402 Christopher ln	Brooksville	34613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
j	talbot	305 w milton	austin	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ana	Belle	Homestead, sc	Santa Clara	95051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice	John	1911 NW 86th Terrace,	Hollywood	33024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gilia	Humrich	9887 HILLSIDE DR	FORESTVILLE	95436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Shelley	491 Ashland Loop Rd, Ashland OR 97520	Ashland	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Grania	Marcus	31 Warrington Dr.	Rochester	14618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Heffern	602 Salisbury St	Meyersdale	15552	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Acebo	2915 Carlsen Street	OAKLAND	94602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

K	Cronk	811 S 25th St	Laramie	82070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	Black	11511 SW 39th Ave.	Portland	97219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Degara	209 N. Atlantic Blvd. #12F	Fort Lauderdale	33304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Virginia	Bowers	411 High Street	MEDFORD	2155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	K	90 Arverne Rd	West Orange	7052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Lesko	28 Avenue B, New York, NY	New York	10009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Savary	25 Amethyst Way	San Francisco	94131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharla	Stevens	721 Waterglen Dr.	Fort Collins	80524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Morgese	98 Clarendon Ave.	SAN FRANCISCO	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Geoffrey	Hybel	84 Dingley Rd	CARMEL	10512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Hurmence	518 Spencer Farlow Drive	Carolina Beach	28428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	Conner	111 Curtis Pl	Grand Prairie	75051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Brent	57 Vera Ave S.	LEHIGH ACRES	33976	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Toni	Mesplay	1234 Any St.	Portland	97214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marty	Erhart	6610 Robbie Creek Cove	Austin	78750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Gilbert	3917 Benje Way	Louisville	40241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colleen	Johnson	9222 30th Avenue SW	Seattle	98126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John A	Becker	7667 W - 350 N Road	Michigan City	46360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ovina	Feldman	13021 127th DR NE	Kirkland	98034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Franco	21534 Wild Timber Ct	ASHBURN	20148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vincent C	Formanek	2319 Westwood Dr.	HILLSIDE	60162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry	Sato	98-810 Moanalua Road	AIEA	96701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Kovac	127 Victory Drive., Waco, TX	Waco	76711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janis	Green	179 Campbell	Lewisville	75057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carl	Oliveira	3333 164th Street SW	Lynnwood	98087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Dwyer	Hollyberry Lane	Boulder	80305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Swanson	1834 Lake St.	Glendale	91201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kimberly	Duncan	2334 Idavere Road, SW	Roanoke	24015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Martinez	291 Pine Arbor Circle	SAINT AUGUSTINE	32084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Bevil	1315 Peterson Road	Russell	16345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shawn	Liddick	8 Gorczyca Place	South Amboy	8879	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sister	Kinney	93 Park Ave., Albany, NY	ALBANY	12202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Kishman	308 W. Mohawk Dr.	Malvern	44644	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Will	Condo	74 Demeter Drive	Rochester	14626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Riley	902 Bent Rd.	Hatfield	19440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Myriam	Plante	Victoriaville		G6P2P6	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cindy	Parsons	PO Box 6106	Bellevue	98008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claude	Berman	1518 Province Lake Rd	Effingham	3882	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Holmes	292 Killian Way	Mount Juliet	37122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	McIntyre	16660 Winchester Rd	Colorado Springs	80908	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gene	Chorostecki	1405 vegas verdes #218	SANTA FE	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kirk	Chapman	6373 Downhill Rd	Salt Lake City	84129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Billie	McKibben	20306 SE 268th St	Covington	98042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Stenerson	2924 SE Madison St	Portland	97214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Mathews	2001 Alameda #169, San Mateo, CA	San Mateo	94403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marjorie	Faust	6 Old State Road	New Ringgold	17960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Stewart	Solitude Way	Wilmington	19808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Montgomery	436 15th Ave NE	Saint Petersburg	33704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arthur	Connor	54227 Pine Crest Avenue, PO Box 3317	IDYLLWILD	92549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Newkirk	5400 Harbour Pt. Blvd.	Mukilteo	98275	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Scilluffo	30W111 Fairfax Ct	Warrenville	60555	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J	Wilson	4505 18th Street	SAN FRANCISCO	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chelsea	Grubbs	1212 NE Mason	Portland	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lenore	Fogel	35 harvest hill lane	STAMFORD	6905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

GW	Hoffman	350 W 56th St, Apt 1C	New York	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Morton	Walco	43138 Chestwood Acres Terrace, Apt 103	Ashburn	20148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rj	Amzler	102 East 15th Street	Tempe	85281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beth	warner	4145 elmer ave	NORTH HOLLYWOOD	91602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Georgia	Shankel	15 S Homan Ave Apt 212	Chicago	60624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JOYCE	LUCHTENBERG	249 EAST 48TH STREET	New York	10017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Joseph	425 Stone Mill Trail NE	Atlanta	30328	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
A	H	241 Dahill Road	Brooklyn	11218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Potiah	260 Arlington St	Mineola	11501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brad	Jolly	15355 Gadsden Dr.	BRIGHTON	80603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Scholes	314 Kingsland Ave	LYNDHURST	7071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Hawkinson	11 Heritage Cove Ct., Casselberry, FL	Casselberry	32707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheri	South	766 White Pine Rd, Buffalo Grove, IL	Buffalo Grove	60089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Noel	Mazar	46 Wickley Avenue	Piscataway	8854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	CRUZ	2009 Outrigger way	FORT COLLINS	80524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Cicalese	16 W. Montgomery Ave.	Ardmore	19003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norma	Camp	P.O. Box 906	Shelter Island	11964	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Black	1523 Langridge	OLYMPIA	98502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Nall	1800 atlantic blvd.	Key West	33040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emma	Mc Aboy	2259 Sere St	NEW ORLEANS	70122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Zadanoff	P.O. Box 219	Land O Lakes	34639	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Darren	Dale	1844 Brittlebank Ln	Lawrenceville	30043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
shirley	miller	miller	Phoenix	85027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Treanor	Richland Road	Yuba City	95993	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jausen	Hyldahl	333 30th Avenue South	SEATTLE	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	Stoner	1001 Qn An Av N	Seattle	98109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
CDR and	James Key	169 Skagit Avenue, Camano Island, WA	Camano Island	98282	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann Baldwin	May	1401 High St.	Santa Cruz	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Russo	47 Fairmount Terr	WEST ORANGE	7052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Thompson	1457 Peninsula Circle	Castle Rock	80104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Cormier	4750 Woodard Way	Liverpool	13088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Silverman	1303 Mockingbird Rd	WAUCHULA	33873	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Holmes	11426 elmwood av n	Champlin	55316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Hoffman	1227 Flora Glen Dr.	SPARKS	89434	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Cunningham	205 W. Reindeer Dr	Powell	43065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Flaherty	Wilder st	Lowell	1850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Ball	Howkins	729 Center Street	North Dighton	2764	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vikki	Burns	127 Stuart Ave	Norwalk	6850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Stradtman	700 Elkins Avenue, Unit B-3	Elkins Park	19027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

p	freda	16 elliott ave	Bryn Mawr	19010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Stone	box 10	TOLEDO	98591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bette	Zdan	5650 Poppleton Ave	Omaha	68106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hannah	Bishop	79300 Treetop Drive	Cottage Grove	97424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Seamus	MacCallum	6 Twin Circle Dr	Beaumont	77706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Sosnowski	1302 Bob Pettit Blvd	Baton Rouge	70820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Hughes	856 Angel Valley Ct	Edgewood	21040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norman	Malkin	2040 Inglewood Rd., Holland, OH	Holland	43528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Steuer	San Francisco	San Francisco	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Cohen	6071 E. Avenida Arriba	TUCSON	85750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nc	Mason	#16276016278 El Evado Rd	Victorville	92394	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	MacVittie	365 N.W. 42 Street	Fort Lauderdale	33309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Griffin	5715 Vineland Ave #4, North Hollywood, CA	North Hollywood	91601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
s	logan	1001 brickell bay dr	MIAMI	33131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fawn	King	11 West 8 Street	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Gray	1430 S. Orange Dr.	LOS ANGELES	90019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Forrest and Shirley	Rieben	1520 Lynne Ct	Redlands	92373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
P	Rajagopal	1862 N. 2050. E	Logan	84341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Florenzen	218 Center St.	Healdsburg	95448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Charbonneau	2990 S Power Rd Apt 1151	Mesa	85212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randy	Pape	4 Erdmann Lane	Wilton	6897	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Adlum	10200 47th Ave SW Seattle, WA	Seattle	98146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leo	Brown	20 Valley Road	GLEN ROCK	7452	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	D.	(in Streetsville/ Meadowvale)	Mississauga, Ontario, Canada	0	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Herndon	2130 Elysium Ave	Eugene	97401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Richard	214 MECHANIC ST	LEOMINSTER	1453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Townill	24037 W Oak St	PLAINFIELD	60544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Steger	3865 N Main	FALL RIVER	2720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Woller	P.O.Box 4641	Lawrence	66046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Wilson	2116 N 89th St	SEATTLE	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Seymour	3614 S. 95th St.	Milwaukee	53228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bradley	Parker	6505 Windy Grove Ct	Fayetteville	28314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darlene	Wolf	1705 Gordon DR	NAPLES	34102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shannon	Williams	Lafayette	Lafayette	47905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Fehring	455 Hilltop Ave	Springfield	68059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	CRUZ	2009 Outrigger way	FORT COLLINS	80524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maureen	mcdonald	5873 Locksley place	Los Angeles	90068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chuck	Daly	5587 Sidehill Dr.	Sun Valley	89433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Biro	6350 Desert Flame Drive	San Jose	95120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Ballin	1468 16th Avenue	San Francisco	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Forsythe	2416 Sarah Street	Pittsburgh	15203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Hunter	3436 Orion road	Philadelphia	19154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	Boston	1117 Spring St. NE #2	MINNEAPOLIS	55413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tarrie	Coselman	1028 Juneau Rd.	Ypsilanti	48198	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
don	elliker	2 lakeview road	Sparta	7871	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Vanrossum	1560 N Prospect Ave	Milwaukee	53202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	McKeever	2523 Brewster Avenue	REDWOOD CITY	94062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wincent	Liang	30 hedge ave	Norwich	6360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Sansone	5300 Sutton Place, South	Milwaukee	53221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryce	Verdier	334 Vista Roma way	San Jose	95136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Stanley	8629 137th Ave. NE	REDMOND	98052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arnold	M	San Marcos	San Marcos	92078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Brink	W162 S7362 Gloria ct.	Muskego	53150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Cern	19 Redstone Ridge	Voorhees	8043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Edner	1226 Braun Rd	Bethel Park	15102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Hughes	8211Via Hermosa	Sanford	32771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Morton	Walco	43138 Chestwood Acres Terrace, Apt 103	Ashburn	20148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frederick	Freiheit	1715 Ivywood	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Gregory	14 River Road	DEEP RIVER	6417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
stan	levin	levin	San Diego	92123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	Wegher	1211 Kupau St.	Kailua	96734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Sawyer	627 Stratford Avenue, Stratford, CT	STRATFORD	6615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joy	Sullivan	16 Linmor Ave	Newton	7860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Americans should also have the option of a TRUE Chinese menu of TV stations they want to pay for, from a minimum of 5, in increments of 10 or 15 to however many they wish to pay for! Senior citizens don't want to pay for hundreds of channels they don't ever watch, even with ' basic ' service! I want REAL CHOICE for my money, especially now that I'm on a fixed budget!Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Erbach	9 Chelsea Dr.	ARDEN	28704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Hakes	12370 SW 48th Ter	LAKE BUTLER	32054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiffany	Markey	2609 east aloha street, Seattle wa	Seattle	98112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marjorie	McRae	3222 NE 14th Ave	Portland	97212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Bordenave	951 n adoline	FRESNO	93728	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Shepherd	521 Thayer Ave	Ashtabula	44004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	Adams	4931 Turnberry Ln	Columbus	31909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Sidman	3385 Rio Rd	CARMEL	93923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Curtis	Hammock	3300 Sands	El Paso	79904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Johann	Wagener	3233 N MICA DR	Palm Springs	92262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rev	Brown	Orlando FL	Orlando	32822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Collin	Lichtenberger	726A Chandalar	Fairbanks	99775	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	Meagher	77 Autumn Road	Lunenburg	1462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Hale	22740 Acari Rd.	Bakersfield	93314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Melton	4649 Schimmel Court	Whitehall	18052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nawal	Tammimi	11 Shoreline Court	Richmond	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lora	Meisner	1347 Spyglass Court SE	Salem	97306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Hubbard	210 S. Whitney Way	MADISON	53705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

E	McKenna	928 First Ave	Croydon	19021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Harbulak	523 Elwood Road	East Northport	11731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrance	Hyk	6341 Zane Ave N	Minneapolis	55429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Louis	Fry	4 Renata Court	Novato	94947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Osborne	9119 Hill Road	Knoxville	37938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Sanders	Austin, TX	Austin	78759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wm.	McCauley	167 Ralph Av	Wyckoff	7481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Robillard	34 Scenic View Dr	TURNER	4282	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Ripley	2630 Portola Drive, Space 9	Santa Cruz	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dana	Spiegel	85 N 3rd Street	Brooklyn	11249	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maryellen	ramsey	606 Chatham dr	Midland	48642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francis	Joy	1608 186th Ave. East	BONNEY LAKE	98391	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Bowie	6984 NW 5th Ct.	Pompano Beach	33063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liduvina	Alvarez	50 SE 6th. Ave	Homestead	33030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fern	Stearney	58 Cobb Ln	TARRYTOWN	10591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Feras	Alhamdan	8101 Solano Ave	Hollywood	33024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gail	simon	3003 s holden rd	Greensboro	27407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
WILLA BING	Harris	P O BOX 231162 MONTOMERY, AL	MONTGOMERY	36123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deidre	Steiert	6391 norfolk dr	REYNOLDSBURG	43068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Weinberg	28 Vine Road Apt. i 2nd Fl.	Stamford	6905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Clark	5765 Brockton Dr	INDIANAPOLIS	46220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Zaeh	30 Willow Place #4	Brooklyn	11201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Tudor	356 Five Islands Rd	Georgetown	4548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Lee	907 Tombstone Canyon Rd	Bisbee	85603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeremy	Badessa	17 Redcoat Ln	Lexington	2420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frances	galasso	3609 somerville dr	Sarasota	34232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Flyer	24 Country Road	Callicoon	12723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rose	Coleman	5403 S Junett St	Tacoma	98409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	DiFrancesco	78365 Highway 111, #301	La Quinta	92253	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Gibas	4239 Abbott Avenue South	MINNEAPOLIS	55410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I am tired of overpaying for something that a competitor would make available at a more reasonable rate.

Christine	Tobey	440 1/4 S. Cloverdale Ave.	LOS ANGELES	90036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C. L.	Doyle	293 Bronxville Rd	Bronxville	10708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Twaddle	Columbia, MO	Columbia	65203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Walter	Sandell	301 3rd Ave	HADDON HEIGHTS	8035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Little	PO Box 6332	Santa Fe	87502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Melton	4649 Schimmel Court	Whitehall	18052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doug	Lockman	P.O. Box 2174	Salt Lake City	84110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	brown	1133 race st-suite 15N	Denver	80206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anna	Klene	10750 Cedar Ridge Rd, Missoula, MT	Missoula	59804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joni	Hunt	170 Devonia Avenue	Lexington	40505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Harrison	709 25 Street	Union City	7087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Downes	5807 Liebig Ave	Bronx	10471	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rocco	Pedatella	4 Far Hill Lane	Pleasantville	10570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Westlake	3577 NE Independence Ave	Lees Summit	64064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rodger	Reed	231 Kennebec Ave	Long Beach	90803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Wildes	10364 Shropshire Street	LAS VEGAS	89178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Cipolla	114 Monroe st	HASKELL	7420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Manon	Rieden	P.O. Box 8713	La Jolla	92038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angel	Ruiz	1895 Del Rio CT	Deltona	32725	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Austin	McDougal	551 Iris Ave,	Boulder	80304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Reifke	589 pigeon creek rd	Pottstown	19465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Megan	Denis	109 Linden St	WALTHAM	2452	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Albert	Stiver	4213 Rhawn St	Philadelphia	19136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
f	o	620 s silber ave	NORTH PLATTE	69101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	r	3611 Corte Segundo	Concord	94519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
RitaSue	Siegel	17 West 54 Street, 9B	New York	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Humphries	P.O. Box 777995		89078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alex	Keir	6915 Vanalden Ave	Reseda	91335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
H Clarke	Gentry	481 60th St, Oakland, Ca 94609	Oakland	94609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Headley	4006 Vallonia Drive	Cary	27519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Trent	Balzer	9648 Queenscliffe Drive	LITTLETON	80130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Mcclain	PO Box 342	Fremont	46737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Vogel	1961 Newmark Circle SW	Vero Beach	32968	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Kistler	25260 Chase Drive	North Olmsted	44070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Snow	615 Viking Road	King of Prussia	19406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ira	zuniga	24926 camino de oro way	Moreno Valley	92557	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

E	C	5500 Fortunes Ridge Dr	Durham	27713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Kuhn	Alconbury Cir.	Pensacola	32514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Titone	16 E 4th St	Cortez	81321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Schwartzburg	PO BOX 3507	Oakland	94609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeannine	Leffel	161 Waylands Mill Road	Culpeper	22701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Noble	PO Box 231	Goodrich	58444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rose	Curcio	420 East 51st	New York	10022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Smith	123 586 Street	New York	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Anderson	11322 W National Ave, Apt 209	Milwaukee	53227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Brexel	12085 Wexford Overlook	ROSWELL	30075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Stein	24 Knollwood Rd.	Medfield	2052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Sanchez	963 oso rd ojai ca	Ojai	93023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Marston	114 Hudson	Eau Claire	54703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Bailey	1433 Glastonbury Rd	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Raha	209 Garth Road	Scarsdale	10583	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Buncom	2835 Topaz Avenue	Simi Valley	93063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Jackson	9242 Northlake Pkwy #107	Orlando	32827	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Gersh	57 Lake Drive	Lake Peekskill	10537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shawn	Rohrbach	5700 Campanille Way	San Diego	92115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Boling	1242 N Howard St	PHILADELPHIA	19122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ravin	Carlson	117 Avenida Lucia, San Clemente, CA	San Clemente	92672	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	Ingersoll	10556 Cornell drive	Viola	54664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Hansen	3867 Campo Ct.	Boulder	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	C	124 Ross Rd.	KENNEBUNK	4043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	MacKinnon	1603 S Elm St	GEORGETOWN	78626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Butterman	428 laurel avenue	Modesto	95351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cerlette	Lamme	460 Columbia Pl.	Oxnard	93033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Raber	1115 7th Ave	HOUGHTON	49931	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ellen	johnson	105 Maebeth st	Springfield	1119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	DeLia	991 sw 15th street	Deerfield Beach	33441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diana	Ward	2401 - 41 Street North	Saint Petersburg	33713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Seiter	203 main st	Virgil	66870	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angel	Ruiz	1895 Del Rio CT	Deltona	32725	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martha	Calvinperez	17 cove ln	Redwood City	94065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Barbero	835 Bush St. #19	San Francisco	94108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Ruby	18 Tiffany Road #10 Salem NH	Salem	3079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Covganka	211 S. Southport Road	Mundelein	60060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kellen	britt	7503 e pleasant run	Scottsdale	85258	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Mohning	3213 Long Blvd	Nashville	37203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Antimuro	1000 Purusha Pl	ROMNEY	26757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Art	Rosenberg	12 Clinton Ct	Plainsboro	8536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frederick	Parrilla	1007 hastings ct	Lutz	33548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne	Williams	15423 Sutton Street	SHERMAN OAKS	91403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Koenig	8744 lindberg bay		802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Novasic	205 2nd Ave	San Francisco	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Firoozeh	Taherpoor	2325 Nees Lane	Silver Spring	20905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Scudder	9180 N. Douglas	Juneau	99801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Beedles	2705 Rockefeller Ln # A	REDONDO BEACH	90278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Rivard	55 E Long Lake Rd #307	Birmingham	48009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	Hart	5810 Cowen Pl NE #107	Seattle	98105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Avigdor	Orr	208 Grant Ave	Highland Park	8904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ben	Drechsel	1450 W Tanager Ave	Hayden	83835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Murray	4857 S Quiet Way	Gilbert	85298	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
VickyLou	S.	4172 Hinsdale Rd.	Cleveland	44121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine	Chmielewski	4 Green Street	Greenfield	1301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stan	Anderson	367 Fresno Ave.	Morro Bay	93442	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phuc	Pham	7231 21st Street Apt. 8	Westminster	92683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maxwell	Chaplin	26250 Rinconada Drive	Carmel Valley	93924	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melanie	Ehrlich	1450 Crescent St.	New Orleans	70122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mckie	Giles	3417 Aster Ln	Rowlett	75089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Lyda	P.O.Box 1928	CAVE JUNCTION	97523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sally	Kaufmann	10499 sw 122nd ct	DUNNELLON	34432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Murry	701 King Farm Blvd	Rockville	20850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Cervantes-Gautschi	22455 S Beavercreek Rd	Beavercreek	97004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Eggen	951 Ammerman Pike	CYNTHIANA	41031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J'Ulene	La Que	7400 Edinborough Way	Minneapolis	55435	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deb	Thatcher	Po Box 433	Idaho Springs	80452	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Bryant	2671 N Lake Cushman Rd	HOODSPORT	98548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nico	Napolitano	6645 ira	Bell Gardens	90201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Knight	Summit, NJ	Summit	7901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Bailey	1433 Glastonbury Rd	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	maxey	20059 dequindre 48234			American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	clay	1500 S IH 35 apt 703	Round Rock	78681	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MJ	Carroll	Strafford,NH	Strafford	3884	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Bielaus	6912 Breezewood ter	Rockville	20852	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A	Wolf	P.O. Box 9478	Cardiff by the Sea	92007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Church	3911 Blakeford Dr.	Durham	27713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mahendra n	Duraisamy	5405 Chapel Trace Ct	Rosharon	77583	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nina	Cline-Ziolkowski	4421 Old Wood Court	Kernersville	27284	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Frost	209 e 4th st	SPRINGFIELD	31329	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	HEit	3 sunset ave	Lynbrook	11563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry	Luttrell	600 Legacy Dr	Plano	75023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Natalie	Mayorga	2339 N. Springfield	Chicago	60647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gina	George	5355 W Pinehurst Dr	BANNING	92220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kay	Grace	2030 centennial drive	Louisville	80027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
joe	rico	RICO	MONTEREY PARK	91754	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Walker	133 s 11th street suite 240	SAINT LOUIS	63102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jay	Kruemcke	11313 Deadoak Lane	Austin	78759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Faiza	Salter	600 Appian Way	El Sobrante	94803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerome	Byrnes	6500 Hathaway Lane	Downers Grove	60516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Candace	Batten	2431 Altman St.	LOS ANGELES	90031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Burt	11757 S. 700 E.	Draper	84020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Lubetkin	15 Robinhood Drive	Mountain Lakes	7046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patty	Daugharty	19732 Big Diomede Circle	Eagle River	99577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Skala	7210 Indiana Avenue	Cleveland	44105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Biggane	8332 Cannon Knoll Ct.	WEST CHESTER	45069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

antonina	licastri	127 East 31st. Street #1B	New York	10016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wilberta	Woodson	2225 S. Jasmine St, B-215	Denver	80222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Reiser	869 Green Lawn Avenue	Camarillo	93010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Lara	1735 East Avenue H-12	LANCASTER	93535	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Candace	Dietsch	225 Silvertree Ln	Redlands	92374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Steger	3865 N Main St	Fall River	2720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	Spangler	3614 Jenmar Ct	Dublin	43016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Jenkins	124 Sutliff Avenue	RHINELANDER	54501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gail	alford	5420 corbett circle	SANTA ROSA	95403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Turner	10033 Glade Ave	Chatsworth	91311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Corey	820D Hiawatha Place S.	Seattle	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Williams	246 Sugar Hollow Road	Jonesborough	37659	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jervie	Brown	8003 Corporate Drive, Nottingham, MD 21236	Nottingham	21236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Guidry	1409 Velma St.	METAIRIE	70001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Leitel	517 McNair Street, 1R	Pittsburgh	15221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Poland	4802 glenwood ave	La Crescenta	91214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Shaffer	1922 spring chase way	Dalton	30720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Birkenshaw	22 Beacon Ave	NEWBURYPORT	1950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tiffany	Rapplean	4528 W 110th Cir	Westminster	80031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ivan	Rhudick	251 5th Avenue	San Francisco	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Harwood	9059 W. Friend Ave	Littleton	80128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beverly	Hammond	100 Club Drive, Suite 17	Burnsville	28714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Trachy	312 Dartmouth Court Bensalem,PA	Bensalem	19020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	stanley	Indianapolis IN	Indianapolis	46278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacqueline	Atkins	837 S Main St	Red Lion	17356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andy	Zamenes	11	Redwood City	94061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eugene	Gillis	121 Seminary Dr	Mill Valley	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

penelope	Poehlmann	35023 Carnation Lane	FORT MILL	29707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lucia	Drumgould	75 Oakland Rd	Maplewood	7040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tricia	van Oers	382 Reservoir Road	Pawling	12564	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jill	Kellogg	4104 N Elston Avenue	Chicago	60618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Goodwin	141 S 17th St Unit 35	Independence	97351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
richatrd	scott	2200 fuller court 1109b	Ann Arbor	48105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	maxey	20059 dequindre 48234			American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sidney	Sisk	745 emerald street	BROOMFIELD	80020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	Lagasse	2082 quaker st	Eureka	95501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Garfinkel	26895 Aliso Creek Rd	Aliso Viejo	92656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Arentoft	1001 State Route 36	Atlantic Highlands	7716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanne	Sipahigil	301 N. Market St.	LIBERTY	47353	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim	Taylor	43 School Street	WINDSOR LOCKS	6096	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maurya	McCall	PO Box 26025 Christiansted VI	Christiansted	824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Sparks	24033 SE 127th St.	Issaquah	98027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Davanzo	722 S. Manhattan Pl.	Los Angeles	90005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Hays	2206 Soniat St.	New Orleans	70115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Osborrn	3064 Parker Place Dr	Traverse City	49684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Domenici	1329 Sandy Creek Dr	ALLEN	75002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lucas	Botan	20 Maxwell Avenue	Geneva	14456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Taylor	Aiken	20829 Walker South Road	DENHAM SPRINGS	70726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Smith	PO Box 1051	WESTCLIFFE	81252	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Disanto	2008 Fieldbrook Ln	Mount Airy	21771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Habich	140 Grand Canyon Dr	Madison	53705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Warren	Ingber	435 E 77 St, NY, NY	New York	10075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chad	Barnes	629 Valley Forge Drive	Newport News	23602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B	Bergeron	zzz 1	Tulsa	74128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frederick	Parrilla	1007 hastings ct	Lutz	33548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Floyd	O'Brien	33 W Alder St, Stockton, CA	STOCKTON	95204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Wiley	3805 Bunker Hill	Middleton	53562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Grace	Strong	E4635 Lake Road	IRONWOOD	49938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Perkins	582 Parker Head Road	Phippsburg	4562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Della	Hamlin	2711 Mississippi	Joplin	64804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Sage	4466 N Morrison Rd	Morgantown	46160	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
tj	kenny	east saint james st.	San Jose	95112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	Parsons	S 1538 75TH ST	MILWAUKEE	53214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Page	Schorer	625 Liberty St.	El Cerrito	94530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
karen	mccarter	259 1/2 Garfield	Ashland	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cf	Massey	2306 beverly rd	Brooklyn	11226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Monica	Ohrberg	13148 Endresen CT	Beaumont	92223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Kelsey	16602 126th Ave NE	Woodinville	98072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	butt	112 Fearrington Post	Pittsboro	27312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dr. Cairo	D'Almeida	19019 International Blvd	Seattle	98188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kay	Childs	26921 Johnson Mill Road	QUAKER CITY	43773	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Allbee	4028 Westmont Ct.	Bedford	76021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sona	Rejebian	2334 Hastings	Evanston	60201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Field	Eastlake	Seattle	98101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Wade	104-27 214 Street	Queens Village	11429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doris	Cruz	15616 71ST AVE APT 38A	Flushing	11367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Brendler	Bridgewater, NJ	Bridgewater	8807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Sheldon	2723 Bamlet Road	Royal Oak	48073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peggy	Mallory	943 Washington Ave.	Shasta Lake	96019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Zartuche	296 sherry	Chicago Heights	60412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harriet	Jernquist	Main St	MILLBURN	7041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Norcross	18 Shore Drive	HARWICH	2645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Mackey	2127 SW 162	Seattle	98166	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	McMANUS	8019 Gera Emma Drive, Charlotte, NC	Charlotte	28215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cyprienne	Schroeppel	10210 Hopkins Pl	Anderson Island	98303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roxann	Pool	108 E Y St	Belle Chasse	70037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Bulling	PO Box 113	Corvallis	97339	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dawn	Casella	36520 Ladywood	LIVONIA	48154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Root	25 Greenleaves Dr. #513	AMHERST	1002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Richker	14436 93rd Ave SE	Yelm	98597	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julius	Fazekas	Blaine	Blaine	37709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Schiavone	5640 N. Marty #124	Fresno	93711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Ragsdale	3040 Mountain Lion Dr. Apt. 103	Loveland	80537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maxwell	Amoh	10 Clark Street, Apt. 2	New Haven	6511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
W.	J.	3907 Tamil St	Austin	78749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Holly	Photenhauer	2656 Barry Ave	Los Angeles	90064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kitrina	Lisiewski	270 Federal Road	Monroe Township	8831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Fister	5428 west 112th ave. crown point, IN	Crown Point	46307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tara	Grandberry-Tillman	1702 Edgebrook Dr.	Marshalltown	50158	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryne	Cassis	1500 Park Ave, Apt 225	Emeryville	94608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Maynard	7611 jared way	Littleton	80125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	McCaughey	7609 Hadley Street	Overland Park	66204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Smith	207 South Columbus Avenue, Apt. D9	Mount Vernon	10553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darynne	Jessler	4408 gentry ave	VALLEY VILLAGE	91607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Pierson	1537 Leonard av	Santa Rosa	95405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eugenia	Cabiedes	900 MESILLA ST NE	Albuquerque	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Smith	5834 E Jasmine St	Mesa	85205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Verzosa	7913 Tangerine Dr	Tampa	33637	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chuck	Plymire	13270 SW Glenhaven Street Beaverton, OR	Beaverton	97005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Comstock	2704 Granbrook Court	Johnson City	37601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caleb	Rush	7102 Central Ave	El Cerrito	94530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Miller	2946 Golden Eagle Cir.	Lafayette	80026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Clark	14015 Wolcott Drive	TAMPA	33624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Krech	3005 Centerville Rd	SAINT PAUL	55117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Rudd	1 South Park	Cambridge	12816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Thomson	1017 Arizona St. SE	Albuquerque	87108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chip	Burch	2341 Ashly Dr, Oklahoma City	Oklahoma City	73120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Rutishauser	540 somerset	Golden	80401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Jackson	6940 Creekside Lane	Las Vegas	89145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Salamon	18 Shore Drive	HARWICH	2645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Carley	14 Morgan Lane	KEENE	3431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Lamppert	PO Box 5787	Tahoe City	96145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zachary	Kanfer	284 Monroe St Apt 3	Brooklyn	11216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Makoto	Takashina	17 Perry Walk	San Rafael	94901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Manuel	macias	1174 crespi	Sunnyvale	94086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristin	Samuelson	3806 Octavia Street	New Orleans	70125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rick	Caldwell	150 SE Crescent Dr, Shelton, WA	Shelton	98584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Val	Zampedro	1752 Pine Tree Street South	COLUMBUS	43229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Kestella	1604 Club Trail Drive	WESTERVILLE	43081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

mary ann	Hanselman	2930 nw 1st ave	Pompano Beach	33064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandy	Imhoff	55 Ann street	New York	10038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roxann	Pool	108 E Y St	Belle Chasse	70037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	simmons	711 Upper Ulumalu Rd	Haiku	96708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ggz	mattson	2770 genesis	Boyne City	49712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	JOYNER	8 sylvan at	WEST BABYLON	11707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Nguyen	7203 Evanston rd Springfield va	Springfield	22150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Benvenuto	10 Clinton st	Sea Cliff	11579	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Bennett	629 Pinebrook Blvd	NEW ROCHELLE	10804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dana	Timms	1920 33rd Street	San Diego	92102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dari	Best	10570 Kumquat St NW Apt 1	Minneapolis	55448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Wittbrodt	1458 Concord St	Framingham	1701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	P	street	Sterling Heights	48313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	McHugh	1127 Brumsey Ct	Corolla	27927	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacqueline	Pilan	5150 Robert Street, Shelby Township, Mi	Utica	48316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Cable companies already charge for what used to be free to view. Consumers need more choices -- and more budget-friendly options.

Edward	Collaku	1511 denver	Bay Shore	11706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanneth	Sangurima-Quiles	36 Manetto Drive	Plainview	11803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hollis	Kim	12610 Jefferson st ne	Minneapolis	55434	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Repak	1053 Beach Ave	Beachwood	8722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Bushatz	9808 S Buckner Tarsney Rd.	GRAIN VALLEY	64029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Mulder	28 Sachson Pl	WAPPINGERS FALLS	12590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Russell	Thorp	44 Moffett Ct.	Novato	94949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Kamlet	Ogden Drive	MOUNTAINVILLE	10953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pauline	Malcolm	9461 North Heron Place	Tucson	85742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Evans	2740 Pontiac Drive	Walnut Creek	94598	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Aziz	4931 Flame Ln.	SARASOTA	34232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Badus	680 Bode Road	HOFFMAN ESTATES	60169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert J	Wakem	26 Sunapee Street	Springfield	1108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Berry	1172 Kit Way	Santa Maria	93455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Gervilla	4100 Roosevelt Rd	Hillside	60162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Cramer	125 N 3RD ST APT 2	Platteville	53818	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Gemmell	69815 Bluegrass Way	CATHEDRAL CITY	92234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lindsey	Thomas	3616 16th Ave S	Minneapolis	55407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Manuel	macias	1174 crespi	Sunnyvale	94086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Quihuis	8954 w monroe st	Peoria	85345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Werzinski	208 Deerfield Court	NEW HOPE	18938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

linda	v..	690 riverside	Vancouver	98664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Howard	8917 S. old State Rd	Lewis Center	43035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ewald	de gregorio	via soderini 19	ASHBURN	20146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Torrez	1002 Pearl St	Martins Ferry	43935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be abloe to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
anne	ehmann	2853 harbor road	Merrick	11566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Knutsen	PO Box 134	NAKNEK	99633	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Longsworth	4551 NW 49th Street	Gainesville	32606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gayla	Cremin	400123 W 3974 Way	COLLINSVILLE	74021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Basile	2220 Maitland Ave	CUYAHOGA FALLS	44223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Hoffstrom	110 West Grant St	Minneapolis	55403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
K	Coron	S E 31st Avenue	Portland	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Iris	Guzman	14818 32nd Place S	Seattle	98168	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peg	Lombardi	1377 Nightshade Rd	Carlsbad	92011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Senhen	4841 55th St.	San Diego	92115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Saks	Pittsburgh PA	Pittsburgh	15217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

mike	arthur	2713 LAKELAND DR	Urbandale	50322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	DeGoeas	13602 Drieser Pl	Cerritos	90703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Wagner	21 Auburn Street	Framingham	1701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Jose	1021 Omar Pl	Cincinnati	45208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	DDS	1343 Greenbrier Rd.	SAN CARLOS	94070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Mc	Los Gatos	Los Gatos	95032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Sullivan	98 Bay Avenue	Patchogue	11772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Tweed	6700 Sandwell Ln	Raleigh	27607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Eliou	868 Middle Road	Pittsburgh	15234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Kennedy	2305 Newcastle Avenue	Cardiff by the Sea	92007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Monty	Boyer	24675 Heather Heights	Saratoga	95070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Clark	15 Jones Ave.	Kittery	3904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	MacKrell	737 N Washington Pl	Long Beach	90813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Bates	1735 Brantley Road Apt 413	Fort Myers	33907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dean	Rocissono	1014 Brook Rd.	Wolcott	5680	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Mathis	3133 N Madera Mesa Pl	Tucson	85749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Griffith	7054 Meeting Street	Charlotte	28210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Yeske	9456 Gipson Rd	Collinsville	39325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marvel	Stalcup	25 Sierra Roja Cir.	SEDONA	86351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn Ellen	Martin	plano tx	Plano	75074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Wershba	16 Crossbar Road	Hastings on Hudson	10706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Estelle	Clark	4131 Begg Blvd	Saint Louis	63121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Miller	po box 747	COTATI	94931	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cici	Campbell	1301 Brockton Ave	Los Angeles	90025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Carson	408 W. 34th St., #1B	NEW YORK	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Nesline	4 Yarmouth Way	DOVER	19904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Serena	Nyikes	104 segura st	West Palm Beach	33411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryn	Burns	12610 Riata Trace Pkwy, #1018, Austin TX	Austin	78727	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Customer choice should be regarded as an important right. Don' t hand this over to giant corporations. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Dugan	135 Valley Road Sewickley	Sewickley	15143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kye	Quickel	PO Box 763	Roland	74954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Trevor	Rogers	6310 Clemson St	Houston	77092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	McDonald	1140 portland place	Boulder	80304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Meyer	11644 Parsippany Ter	North Potomac	20878	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Romeo	Kormanic	Dobrise Cesarica 25	New York	10090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mr. Kevin D.	Corriveau	33 High Street	PETERBOROUGH	3458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristine	Bock	6868 Wrigley Road	Cordova	38018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephanie	Seymour	41 Cheshire Lane	RINGWOOD	7456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanne	Stillman	166 Edgars Lane	Hastings on Hudson	10706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Rosenberg	12458 Longacre Avenue	Granada Hills	91344	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Bailes	1718 E. John St.	Appleton	54915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Knopp	2970 NE 16th Avenue, B208	Oakland Park	33334	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Rosenberg	123 North Street	Norfolk	2056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Bogolub	1424 Lincoln Ave	Saint Paul	55105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Trampe	Thomas Ave St. Paul	Saint Paul	55104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emma	Thomas	325 W Park Ave	ADDISON	60101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jo	Kenney	4719 Groveland	La Canada Flintridge	91011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Sturges	19 Peters Ave.	San Francisco	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T.L.	Lawrence	475 N 400 W	Orem	84057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandy	Russo	625 Greenwich Street	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Seebart	1730 Rancho Hills Court	Gilroy	95020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Powell	14190 NE US Highway 301	Waldo	32694	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Hamilton	PO Box 312 Dublin OH	Dublin	43017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Geyer	1029 hughes lane	FALLBROOK	92028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Ruiz	TCPress 525 W 120 Bx303 Wk	NEW YORK	10027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Jennings	6433 Topanga Cyn, Blvd.	CANOGA PARK	91303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Willie	Edwards	1619 S 73rd Street	TACOMA	98408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ulysses	Lateiner	15 Chandler St	Somerville	2144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Himes	8030 Beverly Dr. #13, Rohnert Park, CA	Rohnert Park	94928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Willie	Edwards	1619 S 73rd Street	TACOMA	98408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Schielmann	2000 Jefferson Way	LYNNWOOD	98087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Domin	PO Box 470506	San Francisco	94147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vickie	Gonsoulin	2755 5th Street SE	Moultrie	31768	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Silvia	Hall	349 NE 31 st Street Boca Raton FL	Boca Raton	33431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Myers	920 Sunland Pl#A	Sunland	91040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Duncan	Box 8513	Hopatcong	7843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Peterson	1928 W Albion, Chicago,IL	Chicago	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Omar	Beqaj	1107 venice	VENICE	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Bradley	1118 N. Gillett St.	Appleton	54914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Candace	Rocha	2431 Altman St	Los Angeles	90031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Stallings	1835 Losantiville Ave.	Cincinnati	45237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Schumer	15310 Layhill Road	Silver Spring	20906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Sahlem	87-235 Ma'aloa St, wai'anae HI	Waianae	96792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marius	Stoica	Bateriei 46U		77160	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Wilson	423 Franklin Street	Chesterton	46304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Smith	49 Benton St	Rochester	14620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Theodore	Strand	307 Horizon Court	Exton	19341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
neil	hollander	11 Highview Drive	Sewickley	15143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alice	Grow	798 South Plain Street Apt 256	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ambrosia	Danu	400 E. 4th Street #323	Reno	89512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Childers	1302 Theo Ave	Modesto	95350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Klinke	105 St. Thomas Dr.	GODFREY	62035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcia and Malcolm	Crosbie	397 Snakefoot Ln	Lexington	24450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
elisa	molina	1402 Valota Road	Redwood City	94061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Shaw	20 Rockrose Way, Apt. 109, Malta, NY	Ballston Spa	12020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julia	Ellingsworth	7 Jackson St.	Onancock	23417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Francis	10469 Washingtonia Palm Way	Fort Myers	33966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tobie	Shapiro	39 Domingo Avenues	Berkeley	94705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Byland	POBox 2261	EAST FALMOUTH	2536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Brink	629 East 7th St., York, NE	York	68467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Rogers	3307 Jetty Drive	Richmond	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gala	Lirette	66A Kaiwiki Rd	Hilo	96720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Esther	Weaver	47 Hawleys Corners Road	HIGHLAND	12528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Downing	10507 Shadow Ridge Ln. #103	Louisville	40241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Giuliana	Mazzeo	2A Abrams Place	Lynbrook	11563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Agnes	Gillespie MD	3660 Cool Water Ct	Placerville	95667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emily	Happy	910 N Mason Ave	Tacoma	98406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce & Marcia	Hunt	17 Water Street, Box 286	Brant Rock	2020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karl	Hahn	7160 Edna Ave	Las Vegas	89117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kris	Alman	5444 SW Dover Ct.	PORTLAND	97225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

mark	garcia	5601 Marin Ave	Richmond	94805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Berk	Adams	PO Box 49, Panama, NY	Panama	14767	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Uri	Barnea	1104 Poly Drive	BILLINGS	59102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rene	Castle	21336 Montgomery Ave, Hayward, CA	HAYWARD	94541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	miller	75 n valle verde	Henderson	89074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lyn	Ayal	6440 Via Escondido	Malibu	90265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Sharp Davis	1911 Poplar Ln. S.W.	ALBUQUERQUE	87105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valerie	Phillips	3408 Pittard Road NE	DULUTH	30096	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Gray	4817 Bocage Lane	Oklahoma City	73142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dr. Peter	Geidel	418 17th Avenue	PATERSON	7504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcie	Keever	1906 35th Avenue	San Francisco	94116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Rigby	616 Sugarberry Rd.	CHAPEL HILL	27514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristin	Brown	6425 Oliver Ave. So.	MINNEAPOLIS	55423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dana	Howell	5370 berard circle	BEAUMONT	77705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Blackwell-Marchant	5737 Medallion Court, Castro Valley, CA	Castro Valley	94552	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

cheynne	M	27 wig	Las Vegas	89123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Green	12719 Country Club Pl	BURLINGTON	98233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Rikarts	7640 14th Ave N	SAINT PETERSBURG	33710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	Milizia	7987 Ivan Drive	Parma	49269	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Verlyn	Hays	6210 Wallingford Way	Mechanicsburg	17050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	sparkman	519 Parkersburg tpk	Staunton	24401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erin	Stark	612 Pearl St	Denver	80203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angel	de la Garcia	Ctra. CircunvalaciÌ´Ì¥_n, 61, 1 izquierda		23300	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Antonio	Cruz Zavaleta	125 saint paul street	Rochester	14604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Colvig	20226 Sawyers Bar Road	Etna	96027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gale	Oppenberg	6742 Osage Circle	WEST PALM BEACH	33413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara and Jim	Dale	909 Vernon St., Decorah IA	Decorah	52101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Smith	2811 Calle de Sonoro	Santa Fe	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andy	Tomsky	po box 683	SAN MARCOS	92079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthonie	van Harreveld	12951 N Pablo St, El Mirage, Az	El Mirage	85335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Steele	7451 Dallas Ct N	OSSEO	55311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Blake	550 Belmont Street, Watertown, MA	Watertown	2472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Trebotic	1815 butler Ave	Los Angeles	90025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sondra	Hardgrave	1046 Winona Circle	Loveland	80537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gera	shumaker	14 Old Harbor Road	Rockport	1966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nico	Napolitano	6645 ira	Bell Gardens	90201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Regina	Lewis	1225 Greylyn Dr	Charlotte	28226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Veliskakis	420 E 72 St	New York	10021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Katz	1709 NE 146TH ST	SEATTLE	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brindi	Melton	5023 n Mozart st	CHICAGO	60625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
pau	hers	390 Wythe Ave	Brooklyn	11249	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Steele	1109 Sagebruh TR SE	Albuquerque	87123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Byron	Montague	1909 Marguerite Ave.	Pleasant Hill	94523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leola	Canada	1401 S A W Grimes Blvd	Round Rock	78664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Ross	954 Buoy Rd	Houston	77062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erin	Marshall	5736 NE 29th Ave	Portland	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Oca	1826 N 51ST ST	Phoenix	85008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tamara	Mahoney Kneisel	111 South Fairfax Street	Denver	80246	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Garber	502 Milner Dr.	Red Lion	17356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bethany	Norberg	PO Box 30412	Portland	97294	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Jewell	Drummond Island Mi	Drummond Island	49726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Enns	933 Princess Dr	Canton	48188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mehdie	Vakili	216 Franklin St	Waukegan	60085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Cacicio	42 Moosup Valley Road	Foster	2825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lottie	Hunter	1404 South John Street	Goldsboro	27530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Holt	3670 wendover	Youngstown	44511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Potts	405 Cedar Grove Rd	EDGEWATER	21037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Russell	Adams	19 Locust St. Windsor, NY	WINDSOR	13865	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Keegan	2830 30th Ave. W	Seattle	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Coyle	1 Independence Court Apt 810 Hoboken, NJ	Hoboken	7030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Kurz	291 Weymouth Dr. Rochester, NY	Rochester	14625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Martin	11670 SW 114th Place	Tigard	97223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Rodriguez	140 w 58 st	New York	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edwin	Quinones	8825 W. Robson St	Tampa	33615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Hickman	14006 SE Lake Holm Rd	Auburn	98092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lars	singleton	16450 e Vera way Palmer ak	Palmer	99645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicola	Yip	186 Albacore Lane, Foster City, CA	San Mateo	94404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
james	Benefiel	4016 W Calumet Rd	Milwaukee	53209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David J.	Krupp	89-35 155th Avenue	Howard Beach	11414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Weber	13200 Van Buren St. NE	Minneapolis	55434	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claudia	Barry	5 85 Santa Ysabel Ave	San Luis Obispo	93403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Gauthier	5862 Oleander Dr	Newark	94560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Beck	1551 9th Ave	SAN FRANCISCO	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawn	Fratis	green valley az	Green Valley	85622	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	OBrien	180 Berkeley Place 2c BK NY	Brooklyn	11217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Washington	2231 Byron	Berkeley	94702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kathy	richard	14388 SE Christenson Ct	Clackamas	97015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Hyslop	1635 Haas ST	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ariel	Eliaz	498 west end ave	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Steinman	79302 Montego Bay Drive	Indio	92203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Hockridge	5616 Circle Dr.	El Sobrante	94803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Manuel	Munguia	10s260 Hampshire Ln West	Willowbrook	60527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Steenberge n	1617 Taylor Ave N.	Seattle	98109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phil	Pennock	7520 25th Ave N.W.	SEATTLE	98117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gene	Hull	2062 SW 27th ST	GRESHAM	97080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Bein	3046 Frye Street	OAKLAND	94602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Lisek	180 Laurier Drive	Westminster	21157	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

theoatis	Bledsoe	7947 s. South Chicago Ave.		apt. 907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Smalley	712 Fernwood Ave	Jackson	49203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Polite	184 Acorn Lane	LIBERTYVILLE	60048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Leech	3962 Leonardsburg Rd.	Delaware	43015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Eriksen	523 N 27TH Street	Richmond	23223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Becker	366 S Highland St Apt 512	Memphis	38111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Toste	PO box 29457	Providence	2909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Balko	21383 102nd Avenue	Cadott	54727	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carlos	Escamilla	1230 South Belhaven Street Apt #251	Anaheim	92806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Randall	184 Lakes Road	Monroe	10950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frosty	Lovitt	2195 Poplar Avenue	MEMPHIS	38104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Moon	10000 e Yale ave	Denver	80231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

dale	riehart	86 south park st	San Francisco	94107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melanie	Dupre	78 Hudson st	Providence	2909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Craig	1720 53rd Lp SE	Olympia	98501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Sheresh	395 Lemire Court	Chula Vista	91910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Berman	310 Revere St. Apt. 2L	Revere	2151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Ostlie	2401 Madre Dr. NE	Albuquerque	87112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stefanie	Watkins	3303 Avenida Del Oro	SANTA FE	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fran	Bartocci	500 W Elm St	Scranton	18504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Cowan	7340 S. Alton Way	Englewood	80112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jenna	Bartelt	600 Lehigh Road W10	Newark	19711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	King	1420 Balmoral	CHICAGO	60640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Trevathan	3510 Browning Drive	Jonesboro	72404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Stewart	250 Seagate Court	Dunedin	34698	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zamir	Kiani	6166 leesburg pike falls church	FALLS CHURCH	22044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
joseph j	Sescila	117 Elliot Ave	Lake Grove	11755	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

DAVID AND JEAN	bILLINGHAM	4023 N. LECLAIRE AVE.	Chicago	60641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Luebke	441 prairie ave.	FOND DU LAC	54935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chance	Rearden	1240 N. Ogden Drive #8	LOS ANGELES	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cherie	amir	24541 stagg st.	CANOGA PARK	91304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
don	wleklinski	66 Heritage Dr	TERRE HAUTE	47803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Preston	84 Jacksonville Road	Homer City	15748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Walter	Schmitt	10005 Gentian Drive	Machesney Park	61115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Britton	6670 Shannon Ave	SAN DIEGO	92115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sam	Brooks	1271 POPLAR AVE APT 212	MEMPHIS	38104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Candy	Rocha	651 Echandia St.	Los Angeles	90033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	Sisk	633 Baylor Road	Glen Burnie	21061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shelley	Sydnor-Reed	15606 Everglade Lane	Bowie	20716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Wood	13 White Plains Drive	NASHUA	3062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sammy	Low	20420 Marine Dr, Apt P2	STANWOOD	98292	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gabriela	Romanow	1010 Memorial Dr.	Cambridge	2138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Hawkins	5649 Balkan place	Columbus	43231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dean	Katahira	416 Oak St Apt1	RIPON	54971	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Mulrooney	3068 Trimble Cir NW	CONCORD	28027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Willems	3505 Thomas Court	Falls Church	22042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rina	Drori	8550 North Point Dr	MILWAUKEE	53217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Roberts	315 W. BULLARD	FRESNO	93704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	Mershon	Ivy Lane	Raleigh	27609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Niedenthal	2521 Ada Pl N.W.	Canton	44708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Laursen	682 Lancaster Dr	Fairbanks	99712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dr Rebekka	Freeman	PO Box 284	Belfast	4915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kennith	Holt	313 Mesa Rdg	Decatur	76234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Nicolau	275 Clinton	Brooklyn	11205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kimberley	Clancy	549 Laidley Street	San Francisco	94131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	Wayne	67 Glen Ave.	Oakland	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lana	Schmitt	10005 Gentian Drive	MACHESNEY PARK	61115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Garrison	2214 Franklin St	Denver	80205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Wood	E2704 Amsterdam Ct	La Valle	53941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Josh	witherell	9304 Olympic View Dr	Edmonds	98020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arline	Allen	136 E. 4th Ave. #4	SALT LAKE CITY	84103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathan	Allen	505 E. Elm st.	TAMPA	33604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	P. Powers	177 Birchwood St. Apt. 305 B	Pikeville	37367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Quit taking money under the table you Goddam crooks!

Patrick	Barrows	912 Moana Dr	San Diego	92106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregg	Oelker	3285 Crestford Dr	Altadena	91001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Krista	Canterbury	211 NW 40th St	Seattle	98107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Guzzi	443 First Street	Dunellen	8812	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Alpern	29354 MASTERS DR	Murrieta	92563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Schnipper	800 Ogden St.	Denver	80218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Forster	456 NW Skyline Blvd	PORTLAND	97229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I live in an area that has only one broadband or cable source. There is not competition for the source of content. But, I've already moved from the company supplied cable modem to an independent brand and have already pocketed the difference in price and have better performance on top of it. Competition in this way really works and is a beginning step in getting the monopoly strangle hold to relax and begin to move us into the 21st Century. My people overseas already see significantly better service, performance and price. We are moving backward
Paul	Koski	Hortonville, WI	Hortonville	54944	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Jones	3706 Cotswold Terrace	Greensboro	27410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Vaccariello	Gig Harbor, WA	Gig Harbor	98335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Vaccariello	Gig Harbor, WA	Gig Harbor	98335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Brown	1443 Edwards Avenue	TACOMA	98466	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Huber	1628 N. Washington Ave. #300	Springfield	65803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leba	Morimoto	818 Craft Avenue	EL CERRITO	94530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Young	4115 Southeast Vineyard Road	Portland	97267	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Max	Maurer	506 lake placid dr.	Seguin	78155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Nelson	8830 Callaghan Rd	San Antonio	78230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Kiser	13 lily pond circle	Warren	16365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
thomas	martin	771 Della Drive	Lexington	40504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Dingman	7408 purple fringe	Albuquerque	87121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Pranausk	PO Box 3431	Idyllwild	92549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	Grossman	817 Montgomery St	MOUNTAIN VIEW	94041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Vragel	107G The Orch	CRANBURY	8512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cristina	Roberts	1850 Lincoln Ave SPC 120	El Centro	92243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Rodrigues	40918 Cantare Pl.	FREMONT	94539	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Angilly	15 Cedar Street, Somerville, MA	Somerville	2143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

DFord	Ford	5489 Sunrise Vista Dr	Citrus Heights	95610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebekah	Diballa	1609 Birch Hill Ct.	Florence	41042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ramona	Fernandez	3662 Shearwater Ln	East Lansing	48823	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elaine	Donovan	9176 Hayward Hill Road	Hemlock	14466	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phyl	Newbeck	140 Skunk Hollow Road	Jericho	5465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Corwin	Khoe	611 Galahad Dr.		11100	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cathe	Cornellio	1459 18th st #208	SAN FRANCISCO	94107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Parks	3314 NW Liberty Ave. Lawton OK	Lawton	73505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tyler	Cisneros	4521 Zarahemla	Salt Lake City	84124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tam	Ryan	E. Lindstrom Lane	Mesa	85215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Bruce	1043 Wentworth Drive	PEARLAND	77584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Myers	7 Woodshire Court	Ballston Lake	12019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Also, I have a Extended basic package for people who do not have digital TV's. There are a few channels that are sent out scrambled to force me to rent an additional box to unscramble the signal. Why are only a few stations sent out scrambled? The whole purpose of a basic package is for those who cannot afford to buy new digital TV;s and don't want to throw out perfectly working TV;s. This is so unfair and wrong.. Corporate greed at work penalizing seniors who cannot afford it especially since we got no COLA increase again this year.
William	McGoldrick	2754 Rangewood Drive NE	Atlanta	30345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	Reiss	49 Ashbury Ave.	Mill Valley	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rita	Spencer	720 Glenwood Rd	Asheboro	27203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Lowry	4726 11th Avenue NE, Apartment 411	Seattle	98105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Allarde	129 milan way	GREEN LANE	18054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dean	Schramm	121 7TH LN	Key Largo	33037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	La Serra	52 High St.	Stoneham	2180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tammarra	Walden	2020 E INVERNESS AVE	Mesa	85204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jodi	Justin	3341N.W 47th Terrace	Fort Lauderdale	33319	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Gitschier	7 Oak dr	Plainville	2762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kalel	Moodie	10891 sw 159 ter	Miami	33157	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Jerome	26313 W Tallgrass Trail	Channahon	60410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edith	Griffin	65 West Street	GROTON	1450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Colleen	Kelley	2500 Torrey Pines Road #203	La Jolla	92037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	DiEva	940 Walnut Bottom Road	Carlisle	17015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Mason	1493 Westmont Ave	Campbell	95008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chance	Rearden	1240 N. Ogden Drive #8	LOS ANGELES	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Hyland	125 Hawk crest way, Roseville	Roseville	95678	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chad	Segal	826 Griswold hills	Newington	6111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Howerton	2760 Round Ridge Road	Loganville	30052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Swenson-Zakula	4650 St James Gate	EXCELSIOR	55331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valjean	Lueking	116 S Oak	Hoffman	62250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S	Thompson	1651 N Coronado St	LOS ANGELES	90026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clyde Duane	Zaloudek	431 East 12 Street 1B	New York	10009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Hunt	3407 Mulberry Dr.	Bloomington	47401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Brune	1211 S Conkling St Apt 308	Baltimore	21224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Rutledge	333 Bernard St	Huntington	25704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	McIntyre	N11613 450th St	BOYCEVILLE	54725	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gail	Roberts	pmb 70 PO Box A	TECATE	91980	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	McGoldrick	2754 Rangewood Drive NE	Atlanta	30345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Newell	53 South St	Rockport	1966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Modell	McEntire	2380 Muscupiabe Dr	San Bernardino	92405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Josh	Rhodes	210 Orange Street	Vidor	77662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Ham	3212 Fancher Rd.	Albion	14411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Teresa	Knell	2903 Ridge Rd. Windsor Mill, MD	Windsor Mill	21244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Dietz	1718 Embers Pkwy	CAPE CORAL	33993	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Sennett	1430 Joyland Road	Lewistown	59457	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Smart	101 Partridge	HURRICANE	84737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Slater	390 E. Rimini Court	Palatine	60067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Nelson	7511 E. Lee Pl.	TUCSON	85715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erna	Luering	50 Henry St.	Norwich	6360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Burk	3210 V Street	Vancouver	98663	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chance	Rearden	1240 N. Ogden Drive #8	LOS ANGELES	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregory	Spillman	Brooklyn Center, MN	Minneapolis	55429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Doolan	9189 William Cody Drive	Evergreen	80439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Kornmiller	50 County Road 519	Newton	7860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Levine	3815 Georgia St. #204	San Diego	92103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Gearhart	1059 1/2 Essex Street	SAN DIEGO	92103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	George	4423 parker	Hamburg	14075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vanessa	Favero	364 West 18th Street	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Firshein	187 Forrest Avenue	Fairfax	94930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	Woodard	1120 N 9th Street	Lafayette	47904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Shaw	1906 Hawaii Ave	Saint Petersburg	33703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Davis	42 Albany Street	Hoosick Falls	12090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Drake	175 Summit Drive	Battle Creek	49015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Milligan	998 Meridian Ave Apt 28, San Jose CA	San Jose	95126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	O'Brien	993 Heatherwood Ct	Port Orange	32127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Farrell	1508 Oak Meadows Dr	North Vernon	47265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Warren	White	12612 Desert Marigold Lane Northeast	Albuquerque	87111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Zello	23 Hampshire Drive	Wolcott	6716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Kerrs	1429 abbott blvd	Fort Lee	7024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arlene	Schutz	145 East 16th St	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lane	Scoggin	5128 Mountainbrook Cir	Hermitage	37076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Brookshire	3100 fernwood ave	Ann Arbor	48108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Olson	521 mMontana ave. #305	Santa Monica	90403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. THIS IS ONE OF THE THINGS THAT MOST AGGRAVATES ME ABOUT CABLE. IT'S SUCH A RIP OFF.
Camille	Saade	1825 CONNECTICUT AVENUE NW	Washington	20009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Neiman	60 Seaman Ave	New York	10034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Freeman	3475 Woods Ave.	Lincoln	68510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. The surveys tell us that cable bills are one of the most expensive ones that people pay after groceries. SOMETHING must be done to lower this expensive bill for millions of our U.S. citizens. Purchasing a cable box might be a solution to this problem.
Norma	Harris	46-01 39th ave	Sunnyside	11104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Toby	Ward	5667 Castleton Lane	Kalamazoo	49009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry	Ulman	1424 1/2 Grant St.	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Gruet	Sunnyside	Sunnyside	11104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Bouler	7535 Salton Sea Way	Sacramento	95831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Candie	Glisson	100 woods ege	West Lafayette	47906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Wagner	13121 Osage st	Minneapolis	55448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
V	Grubbs	8017 Jade Coast Rd	SAN DIEGO	92126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregory	Penchoen	1202 Auburn Way S	AUBURN	98002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Harper	1916 Flanders ST	Kingsport	37665	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Watson	151 Bridlewood Circle	Lake in the Hills	60156	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

karen	ramsey	250 ruggles road	Saratoga Springs	12866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stacey	Coufal	Nightingale Ct	Modesto	95356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rory	Bezecny	3500 Rooney Place	Saint Paul	55110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Rubel	977 Montecito Dr.	LOS ANGELES	90031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Dingleberry	111 Sterling Ave	Jersey City	7305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Wohlsein	14724 SE Linden Ln.	Portland	97267	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chuck	Massoud-Tastor	8 Allport Place	New Hartford	13413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Knell	2903 Ridge Rd. Windsor Mill, MD	Windsor Mill	21244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Findley	2615 SE 22nd Ave	Portland	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Klinke	105 St. Thomas Dr.	GODFREY	62035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melanie	Yost	106 Dickinson Avenue, Toms River, NJ	Toms River	8753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. In addition, Cable companies are "leasing" modems to run wireless service to customers, at $10.00 a month, without informing them of the reason for that charge, or letting them know there is an option to buy their own modem from Best Buy, etc...When Comcast recently forced me to update my modem, by telling me my current one would soon cease to work, I noticed a $10.00 charge under the "Voice" category of my cable bill. When I questioned a representative thoroughly, he admitted that it was a leasing charge for the modem. Ridiculous! I know I c

Jim	Krenz	21205 Roscoe Blvd.	Canoga Park	91304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Cascio	3437 N. Hoyne Avenue	Chicago	60618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	McIntyre	1501 Knob Run Rd.	Duncansville	16635	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Blondis	2418 W Farwell Ave, Chicago, Zil	Chicago	60645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marianne	Doss	435 16th Ave	Largo	33771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Zillman	7 E. Sunflower Circle	Santa Fe	87506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Obeid	477 George McKinney Rd	Bakersville	28705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Disch	142 S Hoernerstown Rd	HUMMELSTOWN	17036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emil	Gerth	6619 SE Woodstock Blvd.	Portland	97206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Grant-Ryan	24 Santa Rosa Ave.	San Francisco	94112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	Gordon	828 Lighthouse Cove	Sanford	32773	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Inderjit	Jaipaul	403 Hunting Card Lane. Glen Mills.PA	Glen Mills	19342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roland	Brown	573 Grand St D1005	New York	10002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Schairer	2600 Fairview Ave E	Seattle	98102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Azad	Neupane	509 E. 10th St.	Bloomington	47408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dianne	Davis	7636 Bozeman Ave	BATON ROUGE	70812	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Avinesh	Prasad	620 E. Cerritos St.	Rialto	92376	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gina	Campbell	1933 Buttonwood Road	Louisville	40222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francis	Ahearn	176 Knoll Road	Boonton	7005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vic	Bostock	1612 Woodglen Lane	ALTADENA	91001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	McAllister	4620 S.E. Lacour Ct.	Portland	97267	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jorge	Liguori	17 Linden HTS, Norwalk, CT	Norwalk	6851	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Brewer	19769 Nandina Ave	Riverside	92508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Michelsohn	4920 Idlewilde Ln. SE	Albuquerque	87108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Hartung	2120 East Ave S	La Crosse	54601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Ellis	PO BOX 59	Sarah Ann	25644	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Bain	Sunrise Dr.	Bothell	98011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcy	Gregg	9969-49 Maya Linda Road	San Diego	92126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Scott	8481 Forestview LN N	Osseo	55369	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Marsh	510 Ramona Avenue	Albany	94706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doe	Kelly	622 Barberry Dr.	Longmont	80503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gwen	Sarandrea	576 Wisteria Way	SAN RAFAEL	94903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Penny	Fisher	4949 E. Ridgewood Dr.	Bloomington	47401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thaw	Malin	19 Skiffs Lane	WEST TISBURY	2575	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barney	McComas	1717 Euclid Avenue, Apt 5	BERKELEY	94709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raunette	Elkins	2039 Moran	Lincoln Park	48146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip	Bilik	803 Martins Chapel Rd	Lawrenceville	30045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Hutchinson	905 Poppy Lsne, Carlsbad CA	Carlsbad	92011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Wilson	325 N 5th Ave	ALTOONA	16601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	LeRoy	228 Sherwwod Drive	Santa Barbara	93110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Miller	80 w.hookston rd	Pleasant Hill	94523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Boteler	627 Longfellow Street NW	Washington	20011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rod	Dorman	54 West Shore Drive	Haskell	7420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianne	Davis	7636 Bozeman Ave	BATON ROUGE	70812	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Travis	Yanta	3435 2nd St. NE	Minneapolis	55418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicholas	Henry	608 Wellington Dr	Winder	30680	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Damon	Begeman	5636 eastbourne dr	springfield	22151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jerry	propst	3845 amhurst rd	Janesville	53546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeanne	Soleille	PO Box 384	Pittsford	14534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Gillooly	100 Plainsboro Road	Plainsboro	8536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	J	3981 N Camelot Dr	Decatur	62526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Khaalid	Walker	926 Affinity Ln	Rochester	14616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Cowan	3808 S. Emerald Ave	Chicago	60609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arn	Moore	77 mass ave	Cambridge	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vern	Brunton	212 E. Fornance St	Norristown	19401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Abrams	11 Lee Ave	Lexington	2420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	McMaster	3321 Andreas Hills Drive	Palm Springs	92264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arleen	Whitmore	56 Bridge Rd	San Leandro	94577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Busich Sr	Church Street	Bridgeport	43912	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Harham	1403 Portalis Ct	Anacortes	98221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Wm. Harpham, Anacortes, WA

Paul	Sayen	500 Cambridge St	Hopkins	55343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gordo	Berry	123 Clawson Ave	Bisbee	85603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Kortge	5615 Mill Creek Rd.	The Dalles	97058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nor	schramm	384 janes chapel rd	Hackettstown	7840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hal	Glidden	419 Briar Rd	BELLINGHAM	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Jones	4369 Bermar ave	El Sobrante	94803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

roger	hollander	3815 Hilton head way	Tarzana	91356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D.	Rowe	2118 wilshire	SANTA MONICA	90403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karyn	Walden-Forrest	513 NW North Shore Dr	Kansas City	64151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Heimann	6915 Tournament Drive	Houston	77069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Mattys	4681 15th St	DETROIT	48208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Therese	DeBing	935 Lighthouse Ave #14	Pacific Grove	93950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Guyna	Dehne	38615 121st Street	Westport	57481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelsey	Taylor	424 Maple Street	Forest City	18421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bennett	1061 SE 57th Ave	Portland	97215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leo	Klevens	209 Main St	Deep River	6417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacob	Diamond	1010 25th St. NW #203	Washington	20037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
paul	elfenbein	2008 cherry hill drive	Poughkeepsie	12603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeani	Roth	110 e end Ave	New York	10028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ben	Kloepper	729 Ruprecht Ave.	SAINT LOUIS	63125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deirdre	Weliky	5047-185 st	Fresh Meadows	11365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Stark	15210 Pan Hills Lane	Houston	77062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Stallings	1835 Losantiville Ave.	Cincinnati	45237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Snell	14222 108th Ave NE	Kirkland	98034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Lyons	329 E. Bailey St.	Globe	85501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Sarcinello	1120 Arnold Road	Greeneville	37743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anh	La	13245 Maple Ave.	Flushing	11355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Mikulin	7891 Orange Ave. B	Fair Oaks	95628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Ouellette	3718 S. 53rd Street	Milwaukee	53220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Wolfson	112 Robertsville RD	Englishtown	7726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victor	Soule	2111 SE Silver Springs rd	PORTLAND	97222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Trumbull	P.O. Box 7010	Boulder	80306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Travis	Yanta	3435 2nd St. NE	Minneapolis	55418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katherine	Lorencz	10312 Page Road	STREETSBORO	44241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Herbert	Pfabe	611 Westwood Ave.	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
donald	elstad	823 mosher	Owatonna	55060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jedediah	Staley	1106 2nd Street #120	Encinitas	92024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Davis	Tucson	Tucson	85750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Gehrsitz	8 Spring Court	Washington Crossing	18977	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Guyna	Dehne	38615 121st Street	Westport	57481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Kopeck	7119 Glen Haven	San Antonio	78239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Guido	Olivera	15224 Dayton Ave N	Seattle	98133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristen	Sampsell	120 Linbrook Drive	Winston Salem	27106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Lloyd	8232 Alderman Road	JACKSONVILLE	32211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
WILLIAM	WOLLMUTH	3224 sunset ave waukegan, IL	Waukegan	60087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	McGowan	2536 Nassau Street, Sarasota	SARASOTA	34231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gasry	Wendel	32 Rowland Road	Fairfax	5454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Rogers	134 Iris Drive Lot 19	Hendersonville	37075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Hesselink	W 2838 Eagle rd	Neshkoro	54960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Kimball	13060 Norway Maple St	Parker	80134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Meyer	4259 W Broadway	Minneapolis	55422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janis	Todd	9 Jeffrey Lane	PRINCETON JUNCTION	8550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Torrisi	2126 Ardmore Ave	HERMOSA BEACH	90254	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Hansen	1348 East 3930 South	Salt Lake City	84124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chase	Holden	990 Trabuco Circle	Costa Mesa	92627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brooks	Finlay	105 Seth Goodspeed Way	Osterville	2655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Traci	Blount	74 Dune Drive		32450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerrit	Huig	186 Bridgeview Place, Stratford CT	Stratford	6614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Myrt	Ballard	2970 S. Raindrop Dr.	Boise	83706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
robert	kittredge	5545 N Fresno St Apt 103	Fresno	93710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dixie	McIlwraith	8416 Oak St. #B	New Orleans	70118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Graham	Graham	Santa Fe	87506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Hearn	1281 Great Plain Ave	Needham	2492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Yost	16150 Via Media , San Lorenzo CA	SAN LORENZO	94580	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Brooks	23128 Cumorah Crest Dr.	WOODLAND HILLS	91364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juan	Peralta	11155 Steeplepark Dr. #1111B	Houston	77065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Metcalf	White St.	Lowell	1854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Carter	2803 Kansas Ave	Santa Monica	90404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Morgan	Madison	Madison	53717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Andrus	72 Barrow street 4l	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thanh	Truong	truong	TOPEKA	66621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D.	Spaulding	2506 Pear Court	FORT COLLINS	80521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roger	Podewell	PO Box 1446	Homewood	60430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kazia	Macey	503 Broadway Street	Macon	63552	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Isn't it time that government agencies stand behind the People? Isn't it time for those huge corporations to actually treat their customers with even a tiny amount of regard for them? Please stop this archaic cable box set up. We deserve so much better treatment from all of the huge corporations out to rape us.
Mark	Epstein	486 Parkway Ave	Ewing	8618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Renee	Abousamra	1930 se ash	PORTLAND	97214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Thieler	4465 Apple Way	Boulder	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frederika	Bain	Honolulu	HONOLULU	96822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	O'Bannon	13 Folly Bridge Court	SEATTLE	98105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Thomas	PO Box 117, Nicholville, NY	Nicholville	12965	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Odom	4914 Arctic Ter	Rockville	20853	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Hoerman	4318 Lyric Ct	North Fort Myers	33903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Fergot	7 E 75th St	New York	10021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Clements	2141 N Solano Dr #305	Las Cruces	88001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

SherryTaylor	Taylor	1389 Cushing Road	Plainfield	7062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Pastula	8130 Kincross Drive	BOULDER	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Pittman	26019 SE 156th St	Issaquah	98027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Myers	14751 solaridge rd	GUERNEVILLE	95446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Pryately	1016 8th st s.	Saint Cloud	56301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlene	Lojewski	36 Tamarack Dr	New Hartford	13413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carleton	Williams	9 Rio Grande Dr	Chelmsford	1824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
charlotte	walters	lake ave	Baltimore	21212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patti	Batchelder	55 Searle St.	Georgetown	1833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Jacobs	PO Box 634	Citra	32113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victor	Roberts	3 Garrison Road	Burnt Hills	12027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
L	Holland	14125 Freemanville Rd	ALPHARETTA	30004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bernard	Mues	405 Dixon St.	Deer Lodge	59722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Schneider	1113 Pacific St.	Santa Monica	90405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Hummel	11703 Sweetwater Trail	AUSTIN	78750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Ann	Schmieding	15625 S St. Apt 311	OMAHA	68135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jjay	glass	2 Bala Ave	Bala Cynwyd	19004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Smith	1311 Northfield Ct., Harvard	Harvard	60033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Berenice	Bauer	2N617 Diane Ave	Glen Ellyn	60137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Finnegan	7851 State Route 298, Apt 606	Kirkville	13082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jerry	propst	3845 amhurst rd	Janesville	53546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Lotterman	32 Essex Street	Cambridge	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Graham-Doughty	703 GLEN FOREST DRIVE	Machesney Park	61115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paula	Allmaras	1932 Ashland Avenue	SAINT PAUL	55104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arthur	Foster	5225 Bon Vivant Drive#202	Tampa	33603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elene	O'Rourke	741 Laura Lane	York	17402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andres	Venegas	413 de leon dr	El Paso	79912	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeanne	Peterson	3225 S Coppertree Dr	Bloomington	47401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Smith	Bradenton, FL	Bradenton	34209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Whitney	12035 SW Bull Mt. Road	Portland	97224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Kasparian	8832 Hiddenspring Way, Elk Grove, CA	Elk Grove	95758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samuel	K.	2375 Hughes Ave SW #3	Seattle	98116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Johnny	Lee	1525 S Del Mar Ave Apt B	San Gabriel	91776	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael and Jeanine	Clarke	5105 Countryvale Drive	SALIDA	95368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Pitts	357 forest lake rd.	Pendergrass	30567	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randy	Thatcher	8761 Prospect Rd	Strongsville	44149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marta	collier	6008 Ventura Canyon Ave	VAN NUYS	91401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Brady	18 Bridle Ct W	Glenmoore	19343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Franken	3038 Irvington Way	Madison	53713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

E. Geno	Frazier	237 Palos Verdes	Palos Verdes Peninsula	90274	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Dunlap	1071 Carbon Road	Greensburg	15601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Sager	1202 South M Street	Tacoma	98405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vicki	Wagner	San Clemente, CA	San Clemente	92672	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Ella	91237 Donna Road	SPRINGFIELD	97478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Courter	47248 220th Ave	Chariton	50049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joel	Bernstein	81 Alfred Rd E	MERRICK	11566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosalyn	Fleming	2350 Gulf Gate Dr.	Sarasota	34231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
samia	zaman	130 bradhurst ave., apt. 605	NEW YORK	10039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	R.	7 Main	Cumberland	21502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
dvid	beam	9000 quail run drive	PERRY HALL	21128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Pendergast	685 Fano Ln Sonoma CA	Sonoma	95476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Hess	2400 16th St NW	Washington	20009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julianne	Ramaker	1375 NE Elk Court, Bend, OR	Bend	97701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Boda	1437 Oldenburg Drive SC	Awendaw	29429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roger	Belanger	5033 Village Lawn Dr.	Raleigh	27613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frances	Goff	37 S Sierra Madre Blvd	Pasadena	91107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heather	Johnston	19316 Miranda St	TARZANA	91356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lenny	Corrigan	1239 Belmore terr	Wellington	33414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Bandy	7858 Caffey Lane	San Diego	92126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martine	Lecorps	175West 87 Street	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ryan	Cole	4200 Marple St	Philadelphia	19136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Coombs	5143 S. Parfet Way	Littleton	80127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Washburn	9440 45th AVE SW Seattle, WA	Seattle	98136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William D.	Prystauk	827 Wilbur Street	EASTON	18042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Carrillo	3211 Birmingham Blvd	Orlando	32829	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Murray	1850 Cindy Ln.	Hatfield	19440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margo	Aronoff	1017 Dakota St. SE	Albuquerque	87108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Boliver	52 moores circle	LAUREL	39443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Brink	627 N San Jose St,Stockton Ca	Stockton	95203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Smith	26281 Avenida Calidad	Mission Viejo	92691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mohammad	dadani	9120 blue water dr	Plano	75025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Albert	Richmond	60 Voorhees Rd	Gibbsboro	8026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jules	Elias	6435 SE Yamhill Street	Portland	97215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Gall	17 Damian Road	Wheeling	26003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nell	Blumel	3930 Northeast 11th St.	Ocala	34470	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Owen	198 Pineapple Dr	Jesup	31545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Fritz	W167N8436 Theodore Ave.	Menomonee Falls	53051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Herner	10 Upper Shad Rd	POUND RIDGE	10576	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Brown	9994 Whitcomb Det. MI	DETROIT	48227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Risley	4057 E Monte Vista Drive	Tucson	85712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Madden	2020 6th Ct S	Lake Worth	33461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stacy	Chang	8522 Tamarack Way	Buena Park	90620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Woodrow	Nathan	P.O Box 1375	Aiken	29802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vernice	Strickland	9115 8th Street	LANHAM	20706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	Hubenschmidt	4335 Norton Rd	Howell	48843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Duane	Johnson	2197 E 6595 S	Salt Lake City	84121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ron	kutch	1279 ashcroft ln	San Jose	95118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gene	Kostruba	468 Sierra Vista Ave. #15	Lehi	84043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dee	Feldman	295 South Bar BRanchRoad St. AugustineFlorida	Saint Augustine	32092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Kutras	5770 winfield blvd #30	San Jose	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nigel	Lim	SS	SS	53072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ANN	ISAACSON	19395 Riverwalk Drive	Porter	77365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Knox	13209 E. Greenbank Road	Middle River	21220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Spicehandler	290 Ninth Avenue, Apt. 6C	New York	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Gross	10702 Louisa Drive	LA MESA	91941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tammy	Lettiero	2500 Sw 15 St	Deerfield Beach	33442	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Shadle	2449 West Ball Road	Anaheim	92804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Scherzer	P.O. Box 411403	SAN FRANCISCO	94141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
steven	belfield	113 Jenny Lane	cheektowaga	14225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Montal̀±a	Pulido	Laurel, 9		28005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Handel	407 Grandview Dr	Sun Prairie	53590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geo	Panek	3458 Andalusia Pl, LV, NV	Las Vegas	89146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

roger	weingarten	74 Liberty Street	Montpelier	5602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
julia	Hoffman	432 Idaho St	ANCHORAGE	99504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	EMMONS	6 hilltop	Rockaway	7866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Russell	Christian	80 Van Cortlandt Pk. So.	Bronx	10463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Rose	39 Smart St	WALTHAM	2451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Silverberg	499 Phinneys La., Centerville, MA	Centerville	2632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Kaddy	P.O. Box 1256	Sanford	4073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	De Vito	2675 Eaton Rd.	Cleveland	44118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	Spirito	28274 Rey De Copas Lane	Malibu	90265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronnie	Rouse	925 Cedar, Kingman, Ks.	Kingman	67068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Pedersen	767 3rd Street East	SONOMA	95476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Schoenberger	4601 E Fanfol Dr	PHOENIX	85028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	Jackson	2007 Aberdeen Drive	Kalamazoo	49008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Malbouef	11363 Laurel Woods Dr.	Washington	48094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Worley	13029 LONGBOAT WAY	DEL MAR	92014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Klass	136 West 24th Street	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sophia	Zapf	21 Hadley Rd	Cincinnati	45218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Riggs	143 Cedar Grove Rd	Somerville	8876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Donovan	3327 Waller Ave	Richmond	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Fisher	320 Central Ave. Suite 210	Coos Bay	97420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
NANCY	NEELY	3175 No. Garey Ave	Pomona	91767	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Fisch	11760 Carmel Creek Road	San Diego	92130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Klayman	243 Cypress Street	Brookline	2445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlene	Lojewski	36 Tamarack Dr	New Hartford	13413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keith	Shepherd	1649 Independence Rd.	FORT WORTH	76131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lonnie	Albrecht	895 CR 481	LAKE PANASOFFKEE	33538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Lewis	o	Oxnard	93030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslye	Ostrom	11742 SE Aerie Crescent Road	Happy Valley	97086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Leupi	1111 Ontario St. 1115	Oak Park	60302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Messer	2300 Dickerson Rd	Reno	89503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hans	van Huijkelom	1026 Brassington Drive	COLLEGEVILLE	19426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Billstein	4400 Brookside Rd	Toledo	43615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Naomi	Pusch	33 West St	Easthampton	1027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ralph	ferrara	4736 onondaga blvd	Syracuse	13219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Rawlings	232E. Second Street	Frederick	21701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Gilroy	1912 Roxbury Ct.	MECHANICSBURG	17055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Irene	Emmer	w159 n8311 apple valley dr	MENOMONEE FALLS	53051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael & Christine	Silver	7501 Myrtle Vista	SACRAMENTO	95831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Ward	1100 w. Horatio	Tampa	33606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Austin	Kenny	52 Avenue	Maspeth	11378	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Holly	Webb	608 W Washington st	Fairmount	46928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Hyche	2330 county road 255	CULLMAN	35057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fred	Trujillo	1601 E. Lacona Ave.	Des Moines	50320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roshan	Tourani	233 Wayne St	Highland Park	8904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Shultz	Heather dale Chase	Henrietta	14467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

john	D'Auria	259 Adams St	Newark	7105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Salovich	PO Box 65343	Tacoma	98464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Schauer	PO Box 4060	Yuma	85366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Kauhanen	398A Capp St.	San Francisco	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Fisher	45Camelot Court	Mountain Home	72653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Willis	315 Hilderbrand Dr NE C7 ATL GA	Atlanta	30328	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tori	Taylor	2781 Carter, Logan, GA	Loganville	30052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wren	Osborn	1151 Pine Dr	El Cajon	92020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Moore	11246 NE 92nd ST	Kirkland	98033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ettore	lacchei	40802 n black oak ave	Antioch	60002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Evans	100 d st.	San Rafael	94901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Messatzzia	981 willow st	Southampton	18966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Silber	572 Schooner lane	Longboat Key	34228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles E	Ferrell	2640 Stonetrace Dr	Rock Hill	29730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
melek	korel	istanbul		99999	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Mercado	Mercado	McKinney	75071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T	Lozaw	1420 LEE ST E	Charleston	25301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Henry	14723 South Arapaho	Olathe	66062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dana	Myers	42 W. Figgatt Avenue	Eupora	39744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Orlin	Braddy	HC-70 318-a	Jasper	72641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Saadati-Sohi	Aleida	4715 Ramsdell Ave	LA CRESCENTA	91214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marsha	Barr	1939 Adams St	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Mattson	8401 S Kolb Rd #255	Tucson	85756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Holzgang	7 Embarcadero W Oakland CA	Oakland	94607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carlin	Ellison	95 Seashore Dr.	Daly City	94014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Arnold	30 Hiler Avenue	Buffalo	14217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Ryman	1938 Hatch Rd	BAY CITY	48708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Annette	Ehrlich	6226 Holly Mont Drive	Los Angeles	90068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Eggiman	39 Washburn Park	Rochester	14620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Hanebutt	609 14th Street	Sacramento	95814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cattrione	Faircrest	po box 2021	FAIRFIELD	52556	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patty	Navarrete	P.O. Box 2251	TAOS	87571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Antonia	Wood	PO Box 777	RAINIER	98576	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lutie	Bliven	1572 Ferndale Ave SW	Warren	44485	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T	Brown	globalaccess1306	Detroit	48227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Yeomans	9234 Kessler	Overland Park	66212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

avner	wareheim	1315 ne 135 st	Miami	33161	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	Sidorenko	3710 Eisenhower Rd	Columbus	43224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Smith	7490 Salton Sea Way, Sacramento	Sacramento	95831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gail	Roeding	4414 S White Pine Ave	Tucson	85730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Walchle	412 Coventry Rd	Decatur	30030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
F. Michael	Brumfield	P. O. Box 121	Winter Park	80482	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Weisman	3503 Hazel Street	Erie	16508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ariel	Brenner	2132 W Iowa St, Chicago IL	Chicago	60622	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Barton	714 Old Lancaster Road	Bryn Mawr	19010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gloria	Pilkington	2250 N Tabortown St Trlr 55	Terre Haute	47803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shaun	Geahigan	1722 Elfin Forest Rd., San Marcos, CA	San Marcos	92078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Tawney	39 Windsor Acres	Windsor	17366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maggie	Hodges	684 Hillsborough St	Oakland	94606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Withers	P O Box 1755	BORREGO SPRINGS	92004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Veltkamp	100 Ocean Trail Way	Jupiter	33477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynn	Sahlem	87-235 Maaloa St	Waianae	96792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Eby	3817 13th Street S.	Arlington	22204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Garland	Ward	5115 Curry Ford Road Apt 2	Orlando	32812	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine	Tindall	4132 Avery	Detroit	48208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Cardinali	4831 N Boyd Ln	Tucson	85750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Stordahl	1505 Garfield	Marquette	49855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Donovan	3327 Waller Ave	Richmond	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Reed	2637 No. Revette St . Unit A	POST FALLS	83854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kristen	kress	17 front row	Aliso Viejo	92656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sue	Bartlett	5546 NE Wygant St	Portland	97218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lesley	Wilson	1086 Hollysprings Rd.		Lyman,	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Huntley	Hennessy	1 Inspiration Dr	LOS LUNAS	87031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Shepherd	Abington, MA	Abington	2351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Burgess	22447 Wyldwood Rd	Abingdon	24211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shari	O'Connor	11036 Windsor Place Circle	TAMPA	33626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Rentsch	Wood Hollow Drive	Novato	94945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Navada	Hessler	W2514 Riverview Dr	Neosho	53059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen R	Callahan	8780 Shoreham Dr	West Hollywood	90069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Kherdianian	Prospect St, Marblehead, MA	Marblehead	1945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mari	Aemmetti	1331 19th street	MANHATTAN BEACH	90266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Guzman	1208 Portland Ave	Saint Paul	55104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denise	Fogel	4218 Harriet AV	Minneapolis	55409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Oxley	2208 Watergate CT	Albany	31707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Latch	7235 St Roberts Ln	Toledo	43617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anna	Wieder	92 Perry St.	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gardner	806 ravenwood drive	ARLINGTON	76013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edmond	Labore	37 North St	Cherryfield	4622	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Warren	Bush	2806 Summer Lake Drive	Atlanta	30350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Krueger	28631 Norwood Ave	WARREN	48092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Heath	6216 Longleaf Dr	Hoschton	30548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Patrick	111 E. Indiana Avenue	Berthoud	80513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Bambrough	121 E. 31 St	NEW YORK	10016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Zellich	4965 Tholozan Avenue, 1F	Saint Louis	63109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Komisarof	9033 Rouen Lane	POTOMAC	20854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Wiesner	2005 N Commerce St	MILWAUKEE	53212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Lange	10049 bell rock road	Frisco	75035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phil	Hinkle	3131 Cowley Way Apt 245	SAN DIEGO	92117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Orlando	Melendez	272 Wyckoff Street, Brooklyn NY	Brooklyn	11217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Taylor	Donlan	6650 franklin ave.	LOS ANGELES	90028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Smith	4102 Cortez Drive Apt C	Tampa	33614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Tighe	4016 Tuxedo Park	Livonia	14487	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Quesnel	24555 Paseo de Toronto	Yorba Linda	92887	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Creighton	434 Palmer Rd	East Greenbush	12061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary L	Johnston	312 N Division Street	Roberts	54023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mimi	McNicholas	1296 16th St NE	Salem	97301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Fredenburg	188 Spruce Lake Drive	Milford	18337	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Jones	1651 Fossil Creek PKWY	Fort Collins	80528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Squire	6605 Claremont Ave	Raytown	64133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Nagle	409 HAIGHT STREET	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorelle	Nelson	4125 N Tomsik St	Las Vegas	89129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
carl	Morrison	3204 Federal st	CAMDEN	8105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Brake	2601 Henry Hudson Pkwy	Bronx	10463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Loren	Molling	W7044 Lake Forest Dr.	Onalaska	54650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Roach	101 me 58. Seattle	Seattle	98105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Matthews	1633 Flowerree Street	Helena	59601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Johnnie	Prosperie	1877 County Road 182	GARRISON	75946	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Kozak	23790 carrizo gorge ct	Corona	92883	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Jubelt	12370 SW 48th Ter	LAKE BUTLER	32054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Burgess	5814 E. Cambridge Avenue, Scottsdale, AZ	Scottsdale	85257	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clifford	Huffman	221 W Jackson Ave	Chrisman	61924	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Ponzetti	435 Haystack Dr.	Linden	48451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Hawkins	POB 760541	SOUTHFIELD	48076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James L.	Holman	2220 Fountain Square Dr.	Lombard	60148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dick	Kline	9 Oriole Road Yonkers NY	YONKERS	10701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Rosenbaum	25 Sunnyside Dr.	YONKERS	10705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jordan	Kelso	13195 Hwy 13	HALEYVILLE	35565	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Liz	Hodes	175 lex ave	nyc	10016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randall	Leverett	2911 Sweet Gum	Bryan	77803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Daniels	14860 David Dr	Fort Myers	33908	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Selim	Uzuner	PO Box 750	CARNATION	98014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Agypt	225 Francis L Cadden Pkway	Harrisburg	17111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hans	Huang	1942 Whelan Ave	San Leandro	94577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	Saulter	6350 Quadrangle Dr.	Chapel Hill	27517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lillian	Jackson	3980 E. Owens Ave	Las Vegas	89110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jo	Whitlock	13901 belle Chasse Blvd	Laurel	20707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Madison	Gunter	5389 Woodgate Court	El Sobrante	94803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karly	Nelson	6300 Southwood Ave, Clayton, MO	Saint Louis	63105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Monique	Musialowski	28522 Lancaster	New Baltimore	48047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claudia	Winter	112 Reserve Rd	Greensburg	15601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Krissly	Walter	307 Y St SE	Olympia	98501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Taylor	5702 SW 55th Ave	Fort Lauderdale	33314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Ozer	59 Munroe Road	Lexington	2421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Chael	1606 27th St NE	Canton	44714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Knowles	801 Chambers Dr	HUNTSVILLE	35801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adrian	Hunter	1817 Corte Adelina St. SW	Albuquerque	87105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hugh	Hampton	4057 E Monte Vista Dr	Tucson	85712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanda	Bass	410 Liberty St	Durham	27701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Megan	Bratkovich	1101 Pleasant Run Dr. #1014	Wheeling	60090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Thompson	Carlsbad	Carlsbad	92009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Wood	545 Burnett Ave #305	San Francisco	94131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Christie	10101 Nanford Road	CLEVELAND	44102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Jenkins	44 Pinehurst Drive	New Orleans	70131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Travis	isreals	1418 1st ave	Des Moines	50321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Moran	193 Water Side St.	RIDGELEY	26753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Crowley	3927 north 19th place	Milwaukee	53206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DeeAnn	Bradley	25268 Howard Drive	Hemet	92544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Winkelman	3620 - 36th Avenue South	Minneapolis	55406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Rispin	2236 Ontario Dr.	COLORADO SPRINGS	80910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Carrella	773 S 8th St	Philadelphia	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Samantha	Hendricks	7302 N New York Ave. #3	Portland	97203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tammy	Boykin	1183 Summer Spring Dr	Middleburg	32068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marco	Vasquez	2133 Town and Country Ln apt 2	Santa Clara	95050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mr. David and Mrs. Bailey	Carroll	2001 South Marion Street	Denver	80210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Welch	1995 GRANT ST	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	Balasko	11345 Long Lake Dr	Sparta	49345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Steinberg	103 Knollwood Drive	Eatontown	7724	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Rojeski	2603 3RD ST	SANTA MONICA	90405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Krissly	Walter	307 Y St SE	Olympia	98501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Evans	14150 SW Wildhorse Way	Beaverton	97008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Bieber	5710 Center St.	GLADSTONE	97027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Kirley	15 Old Farm Rd.	Chicopee	1020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Olivia	Stoner	3213 Wallace Street	Philadelphia	19104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Les	Oliveira	156 Hoomalu St	HILO	96720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rich & Jo	Heany	12 seneca dr	Massapequa	11758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Mathews	6 Cushman, Rd.Wareham,MA	Wareham	2571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Myra	Perez	1148 Center Drive	Marengo	60152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ernest	Hagler	306 So Magnolia St	Denver	80224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harold	Cohen	28 Penfield Drive	East Northport	11731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dabney	Mueller	1776 Melbourne Court	Reno	89523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Flynn	29 Sandy LAne	Malvern	19355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	Vergara	131 Slice Drive	STAMFORD	6907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Antonio	Duran	265 Yerba Buena Ave.	San Francisco	94127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Lawrence	1100 Timber Ridge Rd	Charlotte	37036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jym	Dyer	132 Beulah	San Francisco, CA	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lillian	Jackson	3980 E. Owens Ave	Las Vegas	89110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Reed	69 Catfish Drive	OSWEGO	13126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Wilson	31 Laurel Lane	Napa	94558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Wittmann	1140 Alki Ave SW	Seattle	98116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Rizer	9775 Highway 47	CARLTON	97111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hilary	Callaghan	666 Lakeview	Birmingham	48009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Schaub	N59W23789 Clover Dr	Sussex	53089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Rycraft	4414 W Cholla Street, Glendale, AZ	Glendale	85304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Hannisch	591-B Arena Dr.	Trenton	8610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Florence	Saeger	711 S. Laclede Station Rd.	Webster Grovers	63119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Farrell	75 church street apt 25 Lodi	West Long Branch	7764	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Patten	PO Box 221	Haverhill	1831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Wilson	607 Sharon Dr.	Bay	72411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Reilly	8 princess st. parsippany,nj	PARSIPPANY	7054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judi	Weiner	17C Doherty Circle	Swampscott	1907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty	Stewart	2 Eton Cove	Newport News	23608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jess	Bernstein	600 Aspen Ave.	VERONA	53593	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Addison	4524 Fair Valley Drive	Fairfax	22033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melody	Martin	2364 Joncie Court	NORCROSS	30071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ophelia	Marcus-Taylor	9823 Grettle Court	Raleigh	27617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Kayle	720 walnut st	Iowa City	52240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
KEith	Younger	12675 SE Oatfield Road	PORTLAND	97222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emmett	Haydel	205 Maple Street	Corinth	12822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jan	Tyler	839 E 8Temple#104	Salt Lake City	84102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Rand	1205 Old Coats Rd	Lillington	27546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bert	Goff	65 LEGION RD	NEW MILFORD	6776	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maureen	Verwiel	1430 W Altgeld	Chicago	60614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Kayle	720 walnut st	Iowa City	52240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Gazzola	236-B Edgewater Park	BRONX	10465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Strauss	7741 Devonshire Ct.	Boulder	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Cole	11042 Chicago Rd.	Warren	48093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Swift	415 Bellevue Ave. 44, Oakland CA	Oakland	94610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

pam	murdock	5565 e vassar	Denver	80222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	POSNER	6024 paseo Airoso Carlsbad, CA	Carlsbad	92009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Anderson	6927 Bedford Ave	Omaha	68104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Blackburn	8607 DELAWARE CT	Austin	78758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lewis	Taishoff	905 west end avenue	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristen	Tascone	242 Anselm drive	Lynchburg	24504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Mickelson	178 N Fillmore	LARAMIE	82070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Farina	1435 W Devon ave	Chicago	60660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
chester	Lusk	2142 8th Ave. N.	Seattle	98109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emma	Winsor	399 Erbes Rd apt 5	THOUSAND OAKS	91362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
nick	Marling	8804 on ct	ELK GROVE	95624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Sample	22 Topper Drive	Bellingham	98229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Lastra	1115 west 31 Street	Hialeah	33012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brad	Walrod	5587 State Route 52	KENOZA LAKE	12750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Garry	Singer	22189 s garden ave	Hayward	94541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

terry	felts	32816 43rd Pl SW	Federal Way	98023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Meskus	424 33rd Street	Richmond	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Dimitriadis	2 Rymon rd.	Washington	7882	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Pollard	5697 westlake dr	GALLOWAY	43119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kellie	Smith	13 Brandy Lane	Deering	3244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Hast	Grand Rapids, MI	Grand Rapids	49504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Hands	670 Washington Road	Grosse Pointe	48230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	stan	378 Garrersob	Staten Island	10305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Wright	33372 big sur	Dana Point	92629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Kaczorowski	2144 E. Judd Rd.	Burton	48529	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robbie	Thomas	2275 old hwy 431 owens cross roads al	Owens Cross Roads	35763	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Johnson	5335 Bent Tree Forest Dr	Dallas	75248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Klemme Eliceiri	649 Bismark Ave.	Saint Louis	63119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	O'Brien	1049 Thornton Court	Macedonia	44056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arline	Taylor	106 S. 4th St.	River Falls	54022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Millard	Smallwood	2295 Old Lake Rd	Ransomville	14131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Button	14900 Gulf Blvd	Saint Petersburg	33708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Nazzaro	4547 ne mallory ave	Portland	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Williams	anniston, al	Anniston	36207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Dranchak	2131 Jackson St	Portage	46368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	Storm	357 Shire Way	LAWRENCEVILLE	30044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Wilson	1856 SW 25th ST	Miami	33133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tyler	Winslow	2741 Napoleon Street	Indianapolis	46203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Loeffler	283 Rosewood Ct	Hayward	94544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elin	Soderquist	4N945 Prairie Lakes Blvd	Saint Charles	60175	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Estrada	4014 W. Fremont Road	PHOENIX	85041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
rex	rombach	71 W Carmel Valley Rd	Carmel Valley	93924	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Hamilton	403 Adirondack Way	Simpsonville	29681	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Morgan	Waldroup	3937 Teton Drive	Redding	96001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Giddens	3305 State Route 200	Henderson	38340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerald	Parker	165 Everidge Road	Winston Salem	27103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	DeBourge	4981 Neosho Street	Saint Louis	63109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Terhune	1032 Mound St	CINCINNATI	45203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diana	Ford	8500 124th lane n	Champlin	55316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth Marco	Marco	63-109 Saunders St., C12	Rego Park	11374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	ODell	100 SW 195TH Avenue	Beaverton	97006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emmett	Haydel	205 Maple Street	Corinth	12822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katie	Walker	7913 SE 92ND AVE APT 12	Portland	97266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Boyd	North Alex.	Washington	30673	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Desler	23A Noe St San Francisco,CA	San Francisco	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Portia	Hallowell	760 CHARINGWORTH RD.	Westminster	21158	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Collis	2613 N 134th Avenue	Goodyear	85395	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bryan	Yamanoha	3447 Phoebe Ct	West Covina	91792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Stone	108 S. Cedar St. Post Falls ID	POST FALLS	83854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Facey	45 Hobson St. Springfield MA	Springfield	1109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Rollings	3, emilia pardo bazan	Salina	15680	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynette	Harwell	401 Truman Drive	Wylie	75098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Kimsey	815 SW 9th	Sublimity	97385	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lou	Gravelin	P.O.BOX 1124	Dennis	2638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Hunt	4087 Somerset Ridge	Birmingham	35242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vaughn	Shirk	2513 Buchenhorst Rd.	State College	16801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robbie	Drewer	2100 Maple Dr. #34	Loveland	80538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dolores	Smith	36 W Church St Apt 111	Niles	44446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elisabeth	Peterson	2625 Fox St	Wayzata	55391	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Macyle	Candela	173 lake Meade dr east berlin	East Berlin	17316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
patricia	Cwick	56 Aldrich Place	Buffalo	14220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DR. EBERT	HINO	PO BOX 412	CYPRESS	90630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mariu	Suarez	4429 Stepping Stone Dr.	FORT WORTH	76123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Carson	1358 Iverson Street NE	Atlanta	30307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Touw	16 Sumner ave apt 2 L	Springfield	1108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frances	Warner	Towson	Towson	21204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathalie	Martin	7837 SE 63rd Place	Mercer Island	98040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Myers	1452 Middleborough Ct, Murfreesboro, TN	Murfreesboro	37130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amber	Hart	1219 Wiley Street	Bethlehem	18015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Nink	Crest Hill, il.	Crest Hill	60403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Raissiguier	7870 NW 84th Ter	Fort Lauderdale	33321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	BOYLE	12 not needed	GRESHAM	97080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Madeleine	Drake	12971 SE Elderberry	SOUTH BEACH	97366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	McCain	2436 Kenvil Circle, Vestavia AL	Birmingham	35243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Hecht	6810 meade street	PITTSBURGH	15208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Aflatooni	PO BOX 28143	AUSTIN	78755	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Day	4260 Doerun Ct	Norcross	30092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donlon	McGovern	4107 NE 24th Ave	Portland	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ben	Rosenthal	1519 Stuart Street	Berkeley	94703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Collingwood	1259 Cranford Ave.	LAKEWOOD	44107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Brooks	453 Holly Park Circle	San Francisco	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Drake	1309 Vienna Lane	Madison	53718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Desrosiers	7110 NW 70th Ct.	FORT LAUDERDALE	33321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Hunt	4087 Somerset Ridge	Birmingham	35242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	McWilliams	13701 Ridge rd	Irwin	15642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Marcus	2350 W. Good Hope Rd, Unit 151	Milwaukee	53209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacob	Manimalethu	153 South St. Apt. 402	Pittsfield	1201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret and Patricia	Sellers/Devine	61 Red Bridge Rd	North Grosvenordale	6255	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Hood-Douda	42529 Green Mountain Dr	Lebanon	97355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Sanville-Seebold	Peters Ave.	Fond du Lac	54935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Bucher	206 S Humboldt Street	San Mateo	94401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russell	Kirk	P.O. Box 778	COLEMAN	76834	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

francis	kelley	Prescott Ave.	Riverside	2915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claire	Malloy	120 Donotmail Way	Roswell	30076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Lagou	14 Skehan St	Somerville	2143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Trina	Semorile	445 West 46 Street, #1E	New York	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brad	Stone	7625 Crest Bluff Dr.	Reno	89506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Cort	PO Box 123	ERIE	80516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Armm	15 Tennis Road	Lake Hopatcong	7849	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Lindquist	2116 NW 204th St	SEATTLE	98177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Touw	16 Sumner ave apt 2 L	Springfield	1108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Cahill	5 Rockpoint Rd	SOUTHBOROUGH	1772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Deist	230 Linden Ave	Chambersburg	17201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Ziegler	12 Cricket Lane	Turnersville	8012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Schloss	9 Medford Lane	East Northport	11731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Gray	Little Rock	Little Rock	72206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Enniss	101churchst	Spartanburg	29304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

alan	kardoff	778 Antilles Rd NE	Palm Bay	32907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcy	Bronfman	27 Scenic Drive Appartment V	Croton on Hudson	10520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leo	Mara	978 Roxanne St.	Livermore	94550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Regina	Christianson	146 Raceway Road	Jericho	5465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maggie	Vaughn	5739 SE 128th Avenue	Portland	97236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Canfield	1242 silva Lane	Alameda	94502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Feldman	1032 N. Sweetzer Ave	West Hollywood	90069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Green	552 Cedarwood Dr, Sumter, SC	Sumter	29154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	McCollum	84922 Tenas Ln	Pleasant Hill	97455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Herman	Rodrigo	712 Lalton Dr.	Conway	29526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Foster	3030 Plaza Bonita Road	National City	91950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gw	Derieg	136 pembroke ln	LAFAYETTE	70508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elsie	St Clair	7347 44TH TER N #700	WEST PALM BEACH	33404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chelsea	Swick	440 Solaris	Bayside	95524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jesse	adams	6602 W Ponderosa Cir	Wichita	67212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Schoenherr	6870 Creekwood Dr.	Douglasville	30135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Andrews	11521 29th Dr SE, Everett, WA	Everett	98208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Dinino	701 Lyons Rd #13202	Pompano Beach	33063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip	Rowe	395 27th St	BOULDER	80305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamie	Keefer	1041 thrush lane	NORRISTOWN	19403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Mihalas	5239 Hoag Lane, Fayetteville, NY	Fayetteville	13066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerald	Ney	530 W Ruscomb St, Philadelphia, PA	Philadelphia	19120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Wilson	P.O. Box 7434	RENO	89510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Powell	340 Amber Lane	Vista	92084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ysa	Hammond	3100 Ward CT	Denver	80215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Wyatt	25441 SE Rugg Road	DAMASCUS	97089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Stookey	3656 NE Wasco St	Portland	97232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linds	Gruner	100 Wedgewood Way	Bolingbrook	60440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Tollenaar	2825 University st.	Eugene	97403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lance	jimenez	11223 N. Kendall Drive, C117	Miami	33176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Terry	P O BOX 652	Petaluma	94953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
antonio	martinez	Lavade lN.	BONITA	91902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	MacLean	8808 garfield drive, gaithersburg, md	Gaithersburg	20882	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lance	Arnold	885 Bucks Valley Rd , Newport, Pa	Newport	17074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlie	Donnes	2211 Spruce St	Billings	59101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	DuBois	375 Union Ave Se #19	Renton	98059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fred	Beck	36 Terri Lane	GALAX	24333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Knoble	4332 NE Rhodes End Rd	Bainbridge Island	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Althiser	38920 Newberry St, Cherry Valley, CA	BEAUMONT	92223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ellen	Wasfi	286 Pine Valley Road	DOVER	19904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Devin	Horne	1 De Sart Court	Sacramento	95831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jaroslaw	Hruzewicz	1045 Tiburon Way, Plumas Lake, CA	Olivehurst	95961	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fran	Friel	2395 Delaware Ave	Santa Cruz	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
stephen	anderson	212 Develin Drive	Phoenixville	19460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box."You" as a public entity are tasked to protect me, all you do is give away OUR airways to the bum who pays the most (over the table and UNDER the TABLE). With help like you provide, I hope I am never in a emergency and need to rely on your ?help?
D	Huber	8230 E Otero Circle	ENGLEWOOD	80112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justin	Cropsey	1001 Maple Dr.	Griffin	30224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Huerter	6605 E 55th Street	Tulsa	74145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Lauck	4459 Braeburn Rd	San Diego	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Natalie	Van Leekwijck	444 Munn Street	Hazard	68844	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Taylor	Brown	W2202 NW 5th Pl	Cape Coral	33993	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Lippard	709 Watson Branch Dr	Franklin	37064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lillian	Heyward	130 Pritchard st, bluffton, sc	Bluffton	29910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Wong	2001 Range Ave Apt 136	Santa Rosa	95401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Hines	1918 Trees Od Avalon Pkwy	McDonough	30253	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Reginald	Harris	2765 Elks Way	Napa	94558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Meyler	70 West Lane	Ridgefield	6877	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Fine	505 Parma Way	Gardner	66030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	R.DeMont	4717 37th Ave. NE	Seattle	98105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Russell	3689 Allenhurst Drive	Norcross	30092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shelby	lee	140 sharene lane	Walnut Creek	94596	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kalind	Patel	3 Avery Drive	Old Bridge	8857	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Harris	9630 Keeler Ave	Skokie	60076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Weinzveg	4444 roblar road	PETALUMA	94952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Rozenberg	24680 Ten Mile Rd, Point Arena, CA	POINT ARENA	95468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Smith	38185 Roy Creek ln	Selbyville	19975	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Florio	22549 Blue Fin Trail	Boca Raton	33428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Dzuba	PO Box 101253	Denver	80250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Stein	9720 Lido Ct	DESERT HOT SPRINGS	92240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Kolodny	98 Riverside Dr.	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Yahara	Katzeff	9 Grove Street	TURNERS FALLS	1376	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marianne	Dikeman	13700 SW 14th St.	Hollywood	33027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Lloyd	PO Box 159	Point Reyes Station	94956	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R	Vilchez	712 Cedar Lane #6	Teaneck	7666	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DANIELLE	Skiendzielewski	516 PARKHOLLOW LANE	Philadelphia	19111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andie	D	286 5th Ave	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Coleen	Scherf-Ghara	118 Garnet Ave.	Newport Beach	92662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Saito	2676 Poplarwood Way	SAN JOSE	95132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ANTHONY	SPILLANE	5619 W GAGE ST	Boise	83706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Brewer	14 beechwood lane	Owego	13827	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Gendron	3900Loch Raven Blvd	Baltimore	21218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffery	Biss	392 Jefferson Ave	ELGIN	60120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beverly	Byrum	4608 Hanford Lane	Louisville	40207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valerie	Lerman	325 Custer Ave	Evanston	60202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alice	Hendrix	P. O. Box 142	Orangevale	95662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Sauer	323 Marietta ST SE	SALEM	97302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Might	505 Meeting Hall Drive	Morrisville	27560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Martinez	2236 San Jose Ave Apt F	Alameda	94501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Galante	5209 Red Wing Court	FUQUAY VARINA	27526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryan	Glasel	13029 8th Ave W	EVERETT	98204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karon	Reiter	225 W. Lemon Ave., Monrovia, CA	Monrovia	91016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Denning	Glen Oaks, NY	Glen Oaks	11004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Bunker	3 Ozxford Lane	Palm Coast	32137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Rigoli	349 Moreton Bay Ln #2	Goleta	93117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marlene	Miller	1512 N Alamo	Tucson	85712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Oberg	11510 S Millview Rd	Olathe	66061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francis	Drake	1210 E. Idlewild Ave.	Tampa	33604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Chmielewski	12317 point view rd	Bishopville	21813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brandie	Deal	301 225th St SW	Bothell	98021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Fabiano	800 Meadowland Drive	Naples	34108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bill	T	13573 Arbor	Omaha	68144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimi	Wei	P O Box 626	Fair Lawn	7410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria Celia	Hernandez	Hernandez	Boston	2128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Boyle	558B Pewaukee Rd	Pewaukee	53072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dwayne	Rice	1359 N. Detroit St., #16	Los Angeles	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Laris	3065 Middlefield	Palo Alto	94306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Rivard	18E Strawberry Hill Rd 16	Acton	1720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Young	1308 NW 195th St	Edmond	73012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jose	Navarro	5919 Village Gate	San Antonio	78250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Viskup	365 South Winooski Avenue	Burlington	5401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Riley	Keyser, WV	Keyser	26726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Hadley	26 Star Point Terrace	Middlebury	5753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Todd	Enright	629 Bay Rd	Webster	14580	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ira	Kriston	900 Chicago Ave., #713	Evanston	60202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Lundquist	1345 Carmel Ct.	BROOMFIELD	80020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Neiser	128 st andrews place drive	COLUMBIA	29210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raul	Colunga	371 Race Street	San Jose	95126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Hunter	91 Clay Street	Quincy	2170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

mitchell	baker	1543 Champa 400	Denver	80202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Everett	Retzer	2033 W. Rael Dr.	MEQUON	53097	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Piper	Miles	236 W. East Ave. #192	Chico	95926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

chuck	countryman	p.o. box 117 rock creek,ohio	Rock Creek	44084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary L	De Luca, MD	4001 Indian School Road NE	Albuquerque	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jarred	Jones	810 Oxford Lane	Colorado Springs	80905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Grant	Peterson	2201 Oak Creek Lane, Hayward CA	Hayward	94541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Luis	Vega	1212 loring ave.	Brooklyn	11208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Woodard	8210 Sunset Dr	Manassas	20110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Mills	p.o box 37	Sierra Madre	91025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
fred	Pierson	779 allen ave	Cheshire	6410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Johnny	Ramirez	1124 Morningside Court	Tallahassee	32301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Courtney	Danner	5314 W LAKE SHORE Dr	Cary	60013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	Jones III	8344 McKenzie Hwy, Springfield, OR	Springfield	97478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Peterson	183 Timberview Dr.	Troy	48084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laquisha	Jean	1881 NW 59th Way	Fort Lauderdale	33313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Kurlander	private	Charlotte	28269	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Madria	Everson	29424 Fall River Rd	Southfield	48076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Annette	Kaohelaulii	355 Aoloa Street, Apt. D 101	Kailua	96734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	Saufley	3019 N Center St	NEWBERG	97132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
A	Gui	P.O. Box 10688	Hilo	96721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ralph	Martinez	2236 San Jose Ave Apt F	Alameda	94501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Renee	De Camp	5909 Harlow Drive	Bremerton	98312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Walker	134 Masters Rd.	Hixson	37343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nikolas	Archilla	465 GRANT ST	Leominster	1453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	JOHNSON	903 N EMILY ST APT A2	LUDINGTON	49431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colleen	Wilkerson	7431 Woodbury Court	Indianapolis	46237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rafael	Magallan	1680 Union Square Road	WEST SACRAMENTO	95691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Judge	2156 Arabelle Street	HOUSTON	77007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorna	Farnum	3305 Druid Ln., Rossmoor, CA	LOS ALAMITOS	90720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	De Leuw	3653 Gatewood Court	Santa Cruz	95065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Holly	Crawford	820 dartmoor st n	Saint Petersburg	33701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vince	Snowberger	354 S. Taft Ct.	LOUISVILLE	80027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Annemarie	Avanti	3424 E Golden Vista Ln	Phoenix	85028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Romano	360 Nueces St. #907	Austin	78701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim Anne	Schreiber	5750 kipling st	ARVADA	80002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Middleton	3328 Shelley Hill Rd.	Mount Vernon	98274	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eddie	Mallard	Montgomery St.	Jersey City	7302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dea	Smith	Hyde Dr.	Loveland	80538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Mittl	142 Nero Rd	Black Hawk	80422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Huber	9200 Bustleton Ave	Philadelphia	19115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Kohut	.	Evansville	47711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerard	Pintal	Raven Rd	Dracut	1826	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lydia	Shanen	205 PINEHURST AVE.	New York	10033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Makowski	77 Woodpond Road	WEST HARTFORD	6107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. P.S. - It would be helpful if Mr. Wheeler did not spend most of his professional career representing the telecommunications companies---talk about the fox guarding the hen-house. Let us hope you, Mr. Wheeler, have a conscience and help the public, after all.

Laurie	Fisher	10414 SW Bonanza Way	Portland	97224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Evans	2564 Foshee Road	Montgomery	36108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Clower	7745 Belden St.Apt.162	SAN DIEGO	92111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fawn	Butte	4137 E. Shea Blvd	Phoenix	85028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacob	Loverink	5558 SE Monroe St.	Milwaukie	97222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randi	Klein	95 Maynard Rd	NORTHAMPTON	1060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arthur	Christian	Street address	Detroit	48238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol and Burt	Kaploe	2356 Graystone Dr	KINGMAN	86409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
trina	rowles	2912 west 31st avenue	Preston	98050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Lewis	7500 Walton Ln	Annandale	22003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Schmitz	3203 51st Pl SW	Everett	98203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gayle	Sprague	459 Deepwoods Drive	NEWPORT	41076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Beainy	555 Laurel Ave.	San Mateo	94401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Posner	7841 Ridge Ave	Philadelphia	19128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cordale	Brown	12444 S. Laflin	RIVERDALE	60827	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Hart	201 N Hawkins Ave	AKRON	44313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Kenny	7419 Gateridge Dr.	Houston	77041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marion	Corbin	9 Woods Road	Rhinebeck	12572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

mary	Orea	3830 N. Capitol Avenue	Indianapolis	46208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dean	Pryer	1343 1/2 W 8th Ave Eugene, Or	Eugene	97402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Austin	10930 Skyranch Place	Nevada City	95959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcia	States	bath ny	Bath	14810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Knee	ocean parkway, brooklyn	Brooklyn	11235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Sielke	11 Riverview	Keene	3431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Narauska	146 Monroe Road	Hampden	4444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Hines	137 Alloway-Friesburg Rd	Alloway	8001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	hart	337 cement creek road	Crested Butte	81224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alacoque	Arbetman	8680 SUNBIRD PLACE	BOCA RATON	33496	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlotte	Jones	188 East Grantley Elmhurst, IL	Elmhurst	60126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Pasholk	113 High St.	NEENAH	54956	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aaron	Jones	701 Maplewood Lane	Nashville	37216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Hutton	2554 Hyler Ave	LOS ANGELES	90041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Hutton	2554 Hyler Ave	LOS ANGELES	90041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Eddy	437 D Street, Apt 5D Boston, MA	Boston	2210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Pocius	912A Boston Post Road	Westbrook	6498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Miller	106 Northshore Drive	Bridgewater	22812	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

B	Jones	6205 North Drexel Blvd	Oklahoma City	73112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Rivera	2122 Chanticleer Avenue	SANTA CRUZ	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacob	Johnson	1050 E. Devonshire St.	Winston Salem	27107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

bill	terstegge	6770 evergreen ave	Sebastopol	95472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Hegstrand	1125 Conlon Ave SE	GRAND RAPIDS	49506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Magee	799 Dicey Creek Road	Camden	29020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Courtney	Cook	838 Pine Ave	LONG BEACH	90813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
shemayim	elohim	213 32nd Ave	SEATTLE	98122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JM	Lavassaur	617 Marshall	Norristown	19401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Halpern	4946 Beckham st.	North Port	34288	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Morales	10446 Geil Street	Castroville	95012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Antoinette	Saletta	5331 SW Multnomah Blvd	Portland	97219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Dorer	4869 Pardee Ave	FREMONT	94538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Feichtinger	2711 Riverside	TRENTON	48183	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phyllis	King	1501 16th St.,#320	Sacramento	95814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Gorman	Canton, Ma	Canton	2021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Will	Moore	3344 Peyton Drive	Monroe	30656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tammy	Jones	3735 S. Eastmont	Bloomington	47403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Juan	Sanchez	5202 SW 128 Pl.	Miami	33175	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zvika	Greensfield	5 Seville Dr.	SAN RAFAEL	94903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	Unger	39280 Bolington Road	Lovettsville	20180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Vanderwoude	2781 Pratt St	PHILADELPHIA	19137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tyler	Jensen	3605 Grove Street Unit 157	LEMON GROVE	91945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Hastings	510 ASHLAND ST	Hoffman Estates	60169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Morgan	1327 Washington St	Evanston	60202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Sherman	2000 durant #108	Berkeley	94704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Sabath	6529 18th Ave NE	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Berklee	Robins	14071 Chatham Court	Lake Oswego	97035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phil	McIntosh	1220 Creekwood Way S.	Fruit Cove	32259	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deirdre	Brownell	333 Andover dr. Apt. 108	Burbank	91504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerard	Pintal	Raven Rd	Dracut	1826	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Nern	11221 35th Ave CT NW	Gig Harbor	98332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	LaBerta	509 Lewis Rd	Harrison	4040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	LaBerta	509 Lewis Rd	Harrison	4040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	horn	115 buford rd	Mountain Home	72653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Carr	106 Woodtop Lane	STATESVILLE	28677	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Maron-Friend	Portland	Portland	97220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Goodlette	1229 Persimmon Way	McDonough	30252	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Costa	2473 Red Fall Ct	Gambrills	21054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carl	L. Berry	199 CR 322	WESTCLIFFE	81252	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Thomas	5815 N. Sheridan Rd., #606, Chicago, IL	Chicago	60660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Liljeberg	Bay Springs	Bay Springs	39422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roy	Reynolds	610 S. Hastings	Mesa	85208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Morgan	Paulus	6548 N. Bosworth Ave.	Chicago	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
carolyn	pierson	4910 bay street ne @301	Saint Petersburg	33703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Starostka	20 140th st sw	Everett	98208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Kangas-Walker	15200 SW Crown Drive #3	Portland	97224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ida	Van Heck	42 Via De La Mesa	Rancho Santa Margarita	92688	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Travis	Casey	8198 Wenonga Ct., Tallahassee, FL	Tallahassee	32311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Adolf	8407 18th Ave W Apt 7-204	EVERETT	98204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Schmitz	411 West 3rd	Delavan	61734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Hall	2117 Claremont Ave NW	Massillon	44647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Coletta	Lloyd	7639 Hazelcrest Drive	Hazelwood	63042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mihail	Bancu	159 Grove St.	Melrose	2176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Richards	Wyoming, MI	Wyoming	49519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Krause	1511 Horseshoe Circle black Earth wi	BLACK EARTH	53515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harvey	Kletzkin	3507 Edgerton Ave	Wantagh	11793	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexandra	Pappano	330 River Rd.	Mattawamkeag	4459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mauricio	Duque	4249 Clear Lake Circle	Fort Worth	76109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
russell	archer	713 n morgan st	Portland	97217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lois	Zmitrovis	Hardy,Va.	Hardy	24101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Nieves	1900 Richard Jones Road	NASHVILLE	37215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Welsh	5133 Oak Valley Drive	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Mack	39 Ernest Ave.	Exeter	3833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lillie	Galan	201 ravine ave.	Yonkers	10701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Mahler	165 S. 18th St., Apt. 3	Pittsburgh	15203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Fausset	1700 Nomad Street	Cocoa	32922	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
judith	root	3306 SE 31st Ave	PORTLAND	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	Randall	91 Jewett Ave	BUFFALO	14214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Strand	301 Martin Ave East	TURTLE LAKE	54889	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Davis	133 S Colorado	Minden	68959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Shernov	449 Boynton Bay Circle	Boynton Beach	33435	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Lewis	Scarborough, ON		M1W 3\	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kip	Toderan	874baldin	Troy	48098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Tulys	24 B Emmett Avenue, Hopelawn, NJ	Perth Amboy	8861	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Courtenay	Smith	2504 Meadow Ave. N.	Renton	98056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
claudia	Van Gerven	727 Ithaca Dr., Boulder, CO	Boulder	80305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phyllis	Fonseca	59 Blanchard Road	Cambridge	2138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A.	McGarry	11510 Beckley Rd Apt 107	BELLEVILLE	48111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberta	Rudiger	1892 Sykes Road	Spooner	54801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nina	Kane	710 W End Ave, Apt 16F	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dudley and Candace	Campbell	13167 Ortley Place	VAN NUYS	91401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Martinez	6816 N Northlight	TUCSON	85741	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Blackburn	8607 DELAWARE CT	Austin	78758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Although I am totally blind, I do enjoy television. I prefer watching programs that have an audio description track. Accessing the audio description track via the SAP channel is difficult because the cable box menus are inaccessible. Although Comcast has made an accessible cable box available to its customers, Time Warner Cable, our provider, has shown no interest in doing so. I would like to have the freedom to find and purchase an accessible device.
Joseph	Sullivan	76 Virginia Ave	Johnson City	13790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harriet	Hirsch	1903 Memory Ct.	Vienna	22182	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pierre	Schlemel	15 Sheli Drive	Old Bethpage	11804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arnold	Gatti	1597 De Soto Way	Livermore	94550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doris	Muniz	460 grand ave	Oakland	94610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Glazier	426 n topeka	Wichita	67202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Parks	32 River road	Rollinsford	3869	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Homan	2139 UTAH Street NE	Albuquerque	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Halligan	167 2nd Street East	Sonoma	95476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Singer	2 Indian Head Circle	Marblehead	1945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Jones	9058 Forestview Road	EVANSTON	60203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vanessa	Chamorro	2725 NW 16 Terrace	Miami	33125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clement	Thurn	433 Thurman Ave	Columbus	43206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beth	Stroh-Stern	66 Rocky Point Rd, Brinnon	Brinnon	98320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Jarrett	5480 N Kennebec	Tucson	85704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Demelza	Costa	28626 Ridgeway Rd.	SWEET HOME	97386	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Greif	915 S. Jefferson St.	GREEN BAY	54301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Smith	111 Do Not Mail	SPRINGBORO	45066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Martini	3426 Midnight Moon St	Las Vegas	89135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Abrar	Qureshi	6715 Kingswood Road, Willowbrook, IL	Willowbrook	60527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Sincerely, Abrar Qureshi
Alfredo	Roldan Flores	15 Avon place	Newton	2458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Seda	1250 Finch St	Loveland	80537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Bodofsky	389 Clair Road	Southampton	18966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thom	Kenning	3604 Shadowood Dr	Valrico	33596	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacob	Johnson	1050 E. Devonshire St.	Winston Salem	27107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Georgsen	4080 Paradise	Las Vegas	89169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
THOMAS	SCHROEDER	2089 GREEN VALLEY RD	Watsonville	95076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
alexei	ochola	4185 Fairmount Ave	San Diego	92105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eileen	Goldman	1010 Pelee Dr	Akron	44333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Lyman	689 Broughton Road	BETHEL PARK	15102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Bent	325 Tucker mtn rd	Andover	3216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sam	Bell	916b Potter Ln	Nashville	37206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Perry	10238 Hickory Ridge RD. Apt. 404	Columbia	21044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ian	Engle	686 Riverview Dr. #15, Columbus, OH	Columbus	43202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Josh	Rhodes	210 Orange Street	Vidor	77662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Kent	90 Riverside Dr	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Lyons	245 Walhalla Road	Columbus	43202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	Williams	2086 Cavalla Road	Vero Beach	32963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. For years now it has been possible to buy a box in England, with no continuing monthly payments. Initial cost higher but much easier to use. One company which provides them is Humax. Much preferable to the way cable works in the US,.
Linda	Rudman	910 West End Ave.	N.Y.	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	field	2365 Burton Lane	Sarasota	34239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adrienne	Norton	6605 Gettysburg Dr	MADISON	53705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Urscheler	po box 164	Franklin	7416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Amell	17120 Cty. Rte. 53, Dexter, N. Y.	Dexter	13634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Little	PO Box 921	Aberdeen	98520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claudia	Van Gerven	727 Ithaca Dr, Boulder, CO	Boulder	80305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Wojcik	22786 Saxony	EASTPOINTE	48021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martina	Sierra	295 Taybin Rd. NW	Salem	97304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Hahus	3767 University Blvd	Houston	77005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wm	Pitchford	19702 E 63rd DR	Aurora	80019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Ulrich	2654 Timken Forest Drive, Apex NC	Apex	27502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Campbell	12 Tanglewood Rd	Palmyra	22963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ned	Hammel	760 Judson Ave	Highland Park	60035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Thomson	420 Ridgewood Ct	Antioch	94509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Vogt	Fairbanks	Fairbanks	99712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rona	Kagawa	1902 Sacramento St.	Berkeley	94702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Melino	7112 Rutland Street, Phila., PA	Philadelphia	19149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wolf	Thandoy	San Francisco	SAN FRANCISCO	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dena	Lenard	676 heckle st	Pasadena	77501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Harmon	97 Fort Washington Ave	New York	10032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Emmer	14459 Benefit Street	Sherman Oaks	91423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Nelson	232 Williams St APT 3	New London	6320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	O'Callaghan	526 Central av.	Wilmette	60091	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Wiegand	6 Maplewood Drive	Cos Cob,	6807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Little	29 Reed St.	Abington	2351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JoAnna	Soren	443 SE Alder Dr	North Bend	98045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryan	McCormick	211 Park Drive	Boston	2215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	McCaughey	1114 Linden Vue Drive	Canonsburg	15317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Copenhaver	710 Union st.	Iowa Falls	50126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Barnhill	3031 Flores Street	San Mateo	94403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Yetman	14842 Hamlin Ave.	Midlothian	60445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Spilecki	134 Englewood Ave. Brighton, MA	Brighton	2135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Curtis	2 Stanton St Apt 402	Troy	12180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Whittaker	2007 lenape unionville road	Kennett Square	19348	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gladys	Murphy	925 Brookhurst Ave. , Highlands Ranch, CO 80129, USA	Littleton	80129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Meghan	Blydenburgh	5338 Anchor Ct	Fairfax	22032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	horn	115 buford rd	Mountain Home	72653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	D'Amato	92 Dunster Road	Jamaica Plain	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Pabst	112 EZ LN	Manchester	37355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Felix	Cebrecos	9022 NE 8 Ave	Miami	33138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emlyn	Bruns	351 Broken Oak Loop	EUGENE	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Barrett	1501 Parkside Ave 1L	Trenton	8638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Berardino	420 W. 42nd Street	NEW YORK	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Mochel	10766 Assisi Way Salinas Ca	Salinas	93907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Brandom	1221 SW 10th Avenue, Unit #708	Portland	97205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Benson	301 Hickory Grove Dr	NEWBURY PARK	91320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip	Orr	115 Pheasant Run Road	Troutman	28166	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Pieper	306 Dawson Ct. Roseville, Ca.	Roseville	95747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Trojak	2600 Wendy Rd	Havertown	19083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Weaver	POBOX 83713	Fairbanks	99708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Jasion	29 Charles Street, 2nd Flr., Apt. 2, South River, NJ	South River	8882	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alyssa	Lunghi	74 Massachusetts Ave	LONGMEADOW	1106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francine	Atkins	708 Nickoles Lane	NORFOLK	23513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stanislaus	Howley	8 Randall Lane	East Quogue	11942	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Leib	455 Barbara Ave	SOLANA BEACH	92075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Irene	Rose	1055 Vermont St. Apt. 1	San Jose	95126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stevan	Wexler-Romig	Cottage St.	Framingham	1701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Brown	1233 159th PL SW	Address	98087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phillip	Garcia	2397 PANORAMIC DR.	Concord	94520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rafael	Vazquez	413 Seville Avenue	Altamonte Springs	32714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	James	86 Denny Ridge Rd, Jasper, GA	JASPER	30143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Millie	Magner	4228 28th Place West	Seattle	98199	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Bohnert	1854 Renoir Ave.	Davis	95618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Collinson	4182 Ankar Park Drive 201	Bellingham	98226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brad	Carnes	902 Lakefront Dr	HUNTSVILLE	35824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melinda	Slater	PO Box 1083, Lee's Summit, MO	Lees Summit	64063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Smith	PO Box 341	Draper	84020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Miorel	Farcasiu	6720 fern street	Pompano Beach	33063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Esten	Ray	747 65th Street Oakland CA	Oakland	94609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Bell	255 N. Michigan Apt 35	LAWRENCE	66044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Hite	6429 lignum street	Springfield	22150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Lipsey	3676 N River Canyon Rd	Tucson	85750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	King	350 market St.	Johnstown	15901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann	Cameron	Callejon Weyman	Cliffside Park	7010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Len	Boodry	1111 S. Nicolet Rd.	Appleton	54914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Ruch	279 N. 6th St.	Brooklyn	11211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

meredith	peppers	3866 pine village place	Loganville	30052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Condor	29 Martz Lane	Cumberland	21502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Schwartz	101A Rivervale Ct.	Scotch Plains	7076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeremy	Cox	426 South	Los Angeles	90020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reese	Forbes	4225 West Pine Blvd #14	Saint Louis	63108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ariana	Bakeman	2350 Langtree Dr	ROSEVILLE	95747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julia	Perkins	5017 Sandyhook Ct. NW	ACWORTH	30102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Drew	Einhorn	10580 NM 337	Tijeras	87059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Eck	ECK	Palm Desert	92260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sally	Bookwalter	2134 Oak Run Place	Indianapolis	46260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
May Ann	Sottung	3117 Byberry Road	Philadelphia	19154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Karas	28019 153rd Ave SE	Kent	98042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry	Anderson	111 W Oregon Ave	KILL DEVIL HILLS	27948	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Ruch	2117 Eastport Way	Harleysville	19438	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rafael	Vazquez	413 Seville Avenue	Altamonte Springs	32714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Thompson	2221 Youngman Ave #102	Saint Paul	55116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	O'Connor	1203 Caldwell Mtn.Rd.	Hot Springs	28743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Hawley	97 Sandbrook Headquarters Rd.	STOCKTON	8559	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Wilson	209 Colonade Circle	NAPLES	34103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DeBorah	Edwards	2891 Fourtowers Drive	CINCINNATI	45238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Cofrancesco	1115 39th St.	San Diego	92102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kostas	Korias	N982 Old 26 Rd	Fort Atkinson	53538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ghia	Griffin	488 Lake Mary Road		86005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donita	Giles	7238 Harbor Heights Circle	Orlando	32835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	Aguilar	3131 Katella Ave	Los Alamitos	90720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Loomis	1021 16th	Santa Monica	90403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Drumright	1434 E. Main St. #26	Murfreesboro	37130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pepper	Marts	2911 Maximillian Rd NW	Albuquerque	87104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Jean De Maio.Ph.D.	210 West Riverside Drive	Truth or Consequences	87901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Rubin	5 Carlton Road	SHARON	2067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Slatkin	1140 kenly ave apt 6	Hagerstown	21740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cian	Murty	San Francisco	San Francisco	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Morris	19023 Dellabrooke Farm Way	Brookeville	20833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thelma	Hunter	3374 S. 425 W. LaPorte, IN.	La Porte	46350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Forrest	2965 S Devinney Ct	DENVER	80228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Rodine	P. O. Box 37465	Phoenix	85069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Schmitt	13581 Via Varra	Broomfield	80020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Brashears	119 Hawkins Circle	WHEATON	60189	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandi	Deaton-Kneer	12526 Cragside Lane	Windermere	34786	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	Gilmore	127 Lexington Farm Road	Englewood	45322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Warren	PO Box 64	Rodanthe	27968	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Graham	Kroese	2850 baker blvd	Eugene	97403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Reed	599 North Branch Callicoon Cnt Rd	NORTH BRANCH	12766	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Markillie	10037 Cobblers Way	Grand Blanc	48439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryce	Hutchinson	PO Box 2100 Rogue River	Rogue River	97537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Finlayson	1205 S Dishman Rd	Spokane	99206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bibi	Prival	189 E 18th St Apt 3A	Brooklyn	11226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tamara	Morillas	rough st.	DALLAS	75201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Rasmussen	45 Kenyon Street	PROVIDENCE	2903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Regis	Kowalski	5010 E Willock Rd	Pittsburgh	15236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	walsh	1124 n 2nd st	Stillwater	55082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Pacifico	257 Misty Wood Lane, Fairfield, CT	Fairfield	6824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Zubach	1907 East 30th St #308	Oakland	94606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Barnhill	3031 Flores Street	San Mateo	94403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Benes	13080 Dronfield Avenue	SYLMAR	91342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Sykes	17542 Sugarmill Rd	Salinas	93908	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Silberstein	3801 E Devonshire Ct.	Bloomington	47408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gene	Polito	Sag Harbor NY	Sag Harbor	11963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Sielaff	1314 Marquette Ave	Minneapolis	55403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Fahey	4215 Cedar Ridge Pl #46	RAPID CITY	57702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James K	Loosen	802 Tam O Shanter Dr.	Kansas City	64145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Samsen	annonymous	Okatie	29909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Lynch	3200 S Pinewood creek court	New Berlin	53151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip	Moniz	63 Wamsutta Rd	Somerset	2726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Boudreau	211 Oakwoods Dr.	Wakefield	2879	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roland	Torngren	22908 47th Pl W Mountlake Terrace WA	Mountlake Terrace	98043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Young	Perkiomenville Road	Harleysville	19438	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Strusser	7823 harbour towne	LAS VEGAS	89113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gale	Mathis	4965 Tholozan Ave	Saint Louis	63109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diana	Gerding	1025 NW Couch #1410	Portland	97209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Kostiuk	228 Gibbs Rd	New Bern	28560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vivian	Sovran	233 NW 48th St.	Seattle	98107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Andrews	16 Pleasant Street	Randolph	4346	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Shryer	1535 W Deerfield	Springfield	65807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Trapp	24232 Davida Ln.	Laguna Niguel	92677	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurence	Heinz	po box 163	San Cristobal	87564	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Ostroski	147 fletcher st	Kennebunk	4043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Suter	14448 U. T.	Flushing	11367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Kreh	6268 Ivy Stone Way	HOSCHTON	30548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Bates	968 Fox Ridge Rd	Cookeville	38501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Monterrosa	Po box 1408	Covina	91722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Artis	Lee	818 Salt Springs Rd., A119	Syracuse	13224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pete	Klosterman	372 Central Park W Apt 12A	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Archer	57-4 S. Meadow Vlg	Carver	2330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Hatch	3901 10th ave s	Minneapolis	55407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Halloran	2062 Scotsman Ln NE	SALEM	97305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	jarecki	Timber Trail	Rye	10580	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sterling	Griffiths	4521 N Blue Sky Drive	CEDAR CITY	84721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vincent	De Stefano	580 N. Sierra Madre Blvd.	PASADENA	91107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Clark	Street address	Nokomis	34275	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Katz	215 Harrington Dr. N	TOMS RIVER	8757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristina	Creighton	828 Buffalo Farm Road	Granville	5747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Petersen	422 Judith rd	Kalispell	59901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bennett	Lafferty	1053 Broadway	San Francisco	94133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Greene	4000 Seashell Circle Lot 29	Orlando	32804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Lee	17749 Chestnut Ave	COUNTRY CLUB HILLS	60478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bill	Skelton	4041 Louisiana Street	SAN DIEGO	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce and Penny	Triplett	381 East Piccadilly Street	Winchester	22601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cyndi	Brunker	43 Swanson Court	GREENVILLE	29609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jan	Kampa	3120 Hardin Way	SOQUEL	95073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Levenstien	1801 Buttonwood Street	PHILADELPHIA	19130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J M	Bayne	2539	Tucker	30084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	Nightingale	602 N 46th St	Seattle	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Bridgewater	po box 473	No.Pembroke	2358	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vinayak	Govande	2001 Red Oak Circle	Round Rock	78681	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nathan	Carroll	Unlisted	Minneapolis	55410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fatima	Marashi	Wauwatosa, WI	Milwaukee	53226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Hujsak	8732 Nottingham Place	La Jolla	92037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Callahan	4478 Harbour Lights Court	ORLANDO	32817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Meghan	McCutcheon	215 NW Country Pl Dr.	WHITE SALMON	98672	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Michener JR.	1144 4th St.	SAN RAFAEL	94901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Johanna	Daggett	1903 ALABAMA ST	Longview	98632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carla	Mccloskey	6032 Philip Avenue	Malibu	90265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Cameron	502 chevis rd	SAVANNAH	31419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Landler	1900 Alder Drive	LOS ANGELES	90065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Faulkner	1512 Park Place	Brooklyn	11213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Holcomb	3723 Espejo St NE	ALBUQUERQUE	87111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vern	Lee	43 Portwine	Willowbrook	60527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Curth	2345 S. Lansing St	Aurora	80014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Franklin	Hernandez	7501 Simpson Ave	North Hollywood	91605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gordon	Rowe	98 East Lakewood St.	Patchogue	11772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hoang	Vu	561 Paseo Refugio	Milpitas	95035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doris	Cofone	52 Warren Place	Middletown	7748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheri	Bresson	97 Hoyts Hill	BETHEL	6801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Stuckey	67 Shuler Rd	Candler	28715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
penny	pickles	101 Seattle Slew way	Martinsburg	25403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Schmitke	65th Ave	Vero Beach	32966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Irwin	206 Landon Way, Lancaster PA	Lancaster	17601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erik	Green	415 N. 2nd St.	San Jose	95112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Russell	Lukes	2285 E Paseo Gracia	Palm Springs	92262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Krantz	201 W Evergreen Ave	Philadelphia	19118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.
Amanda	Glass	3395 Peachtree Corners Circle	Norcross	30092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tori	Herbst	1450 N Prescott Street	Portland	97217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Klay	Baur	4959 Chambers Dr	Barrington	60010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Gillespie	3612 Tyson Pl NE Apt C	Albuquerque	87107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Waters	615 24th Place	Hermosa Beach	90254	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Brant	75 Devonshire Court	HILLSBOROUGH	8844	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	Mastaitis	17 Prince Ct.	Albany	12211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lilly	Freedman	2536 E. York St.	Philadelphia	19125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Slavens	4500 Marcy Ln Apt 57	INDIANAPOLIS	46205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Hance	503 S Ridley Creek Rd	MEDIA	19063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	O'Leary	BRIDGEWATER	Bridgewater	8807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Sims	6201 Misson Drive	ORLANDO	32810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Werner	4410 Fairways Blvd 504	Bradenton	34209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vance	Moulton	10801 sw 134th court	Miami	33186	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeremy	Cohen	1239 Talbot Ave.	Albany	94706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Scott	1001 Island Dr. Ct. Apt.106 Ann Arbor, Mi.	Ann Arbor	48105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Seth	Ferguson	S Newcombe St	Denver	80227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Duddy	378 Golden Gate Avenue Apt. 445 San Francisco, CA	San Francisco	94102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Salas	4310 N Larwin Ave.	CONCORD	94521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Chandler	400 West Adams St	Franklin	46131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Bronson	7310 5th Ave n	Saint Petersburg	33710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alice	Fallon	184 Thelma Ave.	Merrick	11566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ingrid	Skei	1570 El Monte Dr	THOUSAND OAKS	91362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chuck	Curtis	5181 westgate drive	Girard	16417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Breza	Green Ln	TRENTON	8638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deb	Tirone	337 E 13 St	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Marsden	1872 Howard St. N.	SAINT PAUL	55109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robbie	Peoples	306 Broadway St.	South Fulton	38257	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Seth	McAlister	12 Lafayette Terrace	North Hampton	3862	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Sewell	29 Coan Place	Metuchen	8840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Gunn	2305 27TH PL SE	Auburn	98002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	O'Shea	2428 Ursulines Ave	New Orleans	70119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glenn	Macy	9030 Sw 125th Ave. Miami, FL	Miami	33186	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Genasci	2936 Rockview Place	San Luis Obispo	93401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Graham	P.O. Box 291	Mount Pleasant	28124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

s	Leavitt	3002 Cascadia Ave. S	Seattle	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Gaucher	3610 College Pl	JACKSONVILLE	32205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ariel	Shatz	1664 Main Street	PLEASANT VALLEY	12569	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denny	Genovese	box 15464	GAINESVILLE	32604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Smith	68437 Paseo Real. Cathedral City. CA	Cathedral City	92234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Gruenau	23 Chapala Road	SANTA FE	87508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephanie	McFarland	4111 Creekpoint Court	DANVILLE	94506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Waters	615 24th Place	Hermosa Beach	90254	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caryn	Graves	1642 Curits St.	Berkeley	94702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doris	Austin	150 Woodway Dr Apt 159B	Jackson	39206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacob	Davis	18464 Barrett Ave	SONOMA	95476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mr. and Mrs. Cregg	MCCULLIN	101 SAM DRIVE	West Monroe	71291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S	Rountree	3032 Bufftree Lane	Wendell	27591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Wennick	18463 BLUEBERRY LN SE D301	Monroe	98272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	King	PO Box 29448 Los Angeles, CA	Los Angeles	90029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Dorage	264 W Parkwood Rd, Decatur, GA	Decatur	30030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zane	Morgan	8967 Three Rail Drive	Boynton Beach	33472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Farley	Street address	Natick	1760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ralph	Boone	4620 Williamstown Blvd	Lakeland	33810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
frank	gardner	428 calle vista torito	San Clemente	92672	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Mireault	32 Oakview Terrace	JAMAICA PLAIN	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aida	King	2707 Blue Bell Drive	Redding	96001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Carroll	3819 Tripp St.	AMES	50014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Oscar	Northington	415 countess dr	West Henrietta	14586	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Goldstone	309 W.97th St.	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Stanley	7931 So. Broadway #261	Littleton	80122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Isaac	Stoddard	14934 Flowerwood Dr, Houston TX	HOUSTON	77062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

robin	proctor	4360 Middletown Road	Pomfret	20675	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Franck	15703 Maple Manor Dr	Houston	77095	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katarzyna	Kubzdela	2721 Clarkes Landing Dr	OAKTON	22124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vivian	Dowell	5909 Morres	Newark	94560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Kurz	8B Rutland Lane	MONROE TOWNSHIP	8831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Houser	Wakefield, RI	Wakefield	2879	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Sumner	1831 rt 26	Endicott	13760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clareann	Lomber	316 West 93rd Street	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Landess	617 hardin	JACKSONVILLE	62650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lehman W.	Heaviland	309 South Shrank Avenue	Independence	64056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
tb	Bailey	1233 Martin Creek Rd	Seneca	29678	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dr. F	Taylor	412 Marsh Pt.	Hilton Head Island	29926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Helen	Venos	3434 Merrimac Drive	Tallahassee	32312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherri	West	4913 S. Compton Avenue	Saint Louis	63111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherwood	Selm	P.O. box 524	Boone	50036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	Stearns	51129 848th Rd	Clearwater	68726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Espinola	61 Hawley Street, Northampton, MA	Northampton	1060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	McInnis	1301 112th St South #1	Tacoma	98444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Keefe	152 S MOETZ DR	Milltown	8850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Stauber	PO Box 1656	KOLOA	96756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Megan	cody	621 55th st Oakland ca	Emeryville	94608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Calvin	Blinder	9229 Quick Fox, Columbia MD 21045	Columbia	21045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dhyana	McCraig	17481 Matinal Dr	San Diego	92127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Naomi	Hanson	75 Quail Valley Ct.	Iowa City	52246	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joel and Mary	Bonham	251 Spittler Rd., Pine Grove,Pa	Pine Grove	17963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jess	Graffell	374444 Ironwood Drive Yucaipa, CA	Yucaipa	92399	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Scheck	180 Garth Road	Scarsdale	10583	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	O'Connor	2251 23rd Street	Santa Monica	90405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Bond	1263 Tucker Rd	North Dartmouth	2747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	White	PO Box 39265	North Ridgeville	44039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anita	Kozan	2912. 39th ave south	Minneapolis	55406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Kaplan	Nyc	NEW YORK	10028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjorie	brewster	840 N MEADOW RD	Valley Center	67147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Timothy	Cimino	5135 Dearborn St	Pittsburgh	15224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Kwaske	4533 NE 17th Ave	Portland	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Anderson	24205 48th pl. w.	Mountlake Terrace	98043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lois	Harford	2 Michael Circle	Port Jervis	12771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Munton	Columbia	Columbia	62236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Mcgarry	Evergreen Park	EVERGREEN PARK	60805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adrienne	Hedgecock	10024 McGuire Ave	Klamath Falls	97603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jodi	Daniels	101 queens gate	Maylene	35114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Bauer	2233 Calhoun Way	Stockton	95207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brandon	Long	303 SE 8th Street	Gainesville	32601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Holberg	13314 424th Ave S. E.,north bend,wa	North Bend	98045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Walker	PO Box 2479	NEVADA CITY	95959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shawn	Ristvedt	812 3rd St	HAWLEY	56549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Cope	5080 W Vassar Ave	DENVER	80219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rod	Washington	101 Main street	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	Stearns	51129 848th Rd	Clearwater	68726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Calvin	Esslinger	143 Perch Horizon	San Antonio	78253	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margot	Lenhart	105 Beaconsfield Road	Brookline	2445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Presley	Garrett	820 Lexington Cross Dr	LAS VEGAS	89144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenny	Vaher	219 West 24th.Street Apt.8	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
April	King	212 W 85th St, Apt 1W	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Woitkoski	35 Kensington Ave	PITTSFIELD	1201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Sklar	13301 Ludlow Avenue	Huntington Woods	48070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Clark	5861 Turning Leaf Way	MAINEVILLE	45039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Tufft	5345 NE Falcon Ridge Lane	POULSBO	98370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Handelsman	2643 Central Park	EVANSTON	60201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harriet	Smith	971 Ryan Rd	Florence	1062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lloyd	Guptill	98 Old Horseneck Road	Westport	2790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heraldo	Farrington	PO Box 952	VOLCANO	96785	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Weitzmon	242 River Road	Grand View	10960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Vincent	20850 SAN SIMEON WAY #401	Miami	33179	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lucy	Sommer	5304 Rincon Rd NW	Albuquerque	87105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ethan	Watson	3838 West Avenue J-4	Lancaster	93536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

a.	marino	103 trent woods wy	CARY	27519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Turley	5299 Dorchester road lot 48	North Charleston	29418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Cain	7266 Morello Lane	Noblesville	46062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Champagne	1403 Townview Avenue	Santa Rosa	95405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aggie	Zimmerman	107 S Home Ave. REAR	TOPTON	19562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Lynch	732 Greentree Rd.	Pacific Palisades	90272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Monty	Ward	950 N. Kings Rd	West Hollywood	90069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
India	Cheatham	2326 W 8th St	Brooklyn	11223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Jacobs	6341 5th ave ne	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S	Embree	752 West End Ave	NEW YORK	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Wise	Ormond Beach	Ormond Beach	32174	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Buffaloe	4638 westford circle	TAMPA	33618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Shahen	43a Stone St	DANBURY	6810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
monica	robinson	324 Delaronde St.	New Orleans	70114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adrian	Juarez	66 Summer St	Buffalo	14209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sondra	Hess	3207 keyser road	Pikesville	21208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurel	Fee	401 Driftwood Avenue	DAYTONA BEACH	32118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tanja	Miller	2751 Aina Lani Dr	MAKAWAO	96768	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allan	Alexander	3235 E Linden	TUCSON	85716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melody	Brinkley	Lyons, CO	Lyons	80540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Maresca	2823 Huntington Dr	Largo	33771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Van Tassell	335 N. San Pedro Rd	San Rafael	94903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Granzow	535 Garden Road	Dayton	45419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JC	Prevost	731 s ohio ave	Joplin	64801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Sergienko	2127 NW Irving Street Apt 101, Portland, OR	PORTLAND	97210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elvira	Targon	3590 Middle Country Road	Calverton	11933	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Thomas	21 Falcon St	Worcester	1603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Tuthill	6505 Dykes Way Dallas TX	Dallas	75230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shane	Andresky	228 West Allegheny Rd	Imperial	15126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harmon	Greenblatt	4537 S Roman St.	New Orleans	70125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Margaret	Switlik	3700 East Lincoln, Wichita, Kansas	Wichita	67218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Perkins	1465 W Thomas St, Apt 1, Chicago IL	Chicago	60642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Margulis	31 Wedgewood La	Brookhaven	11719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Daniels-Lee	PO Box 1027	Ocean Shores	98569	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cordell	Harper	P.O. Box 47616	Los Angeles	90047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julio	Rosaly	135 W 225th St	BRONX	10463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vickie	Rathke	5664 delaware ave	Gurnee	60031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Schultz	339 w 4th	WHITEFISH	59937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Lukas	1600 Campus Rd	Los Angeles	90041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Leffler	1317 sand ford rd	Henning	38041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Alexander	78 10th. street East	Saint Paul	55101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Morrish	426b Webber St	Napa	94559	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cody	Jones	262 Hicks Chapel Loop	Marion	28752	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ron	bailey	344 possum court	Capitol Heights	20743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Muratore	PO Box 445, Upton, NY	Upton	11973	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jody	Taerbaum	6030 SE Steele St	Portland	97206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Mullen	1352 Richland Avenue,St Charles	Saint Charles	55972	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Jarrell	525 Wexford Drive	VENICE	34293	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pasha	Korber	815 Toluca	Alliance	69301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Daskalovic	62 Park Ave., Braintree, MA	Braintree	2184	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Koss	1708 Hepplewhite Mews	Virginia Beach	23455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rod	Strickland	909 Windsor	Kaysville	84037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Pelton	12801 HOLLINS PLACE	BOWIE	20716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Karlesky	80 WOODRUFF AVE	Brooklyn	11226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bryan	Kelley	1561 6th St.	West Linn	97068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bretton	Finch	909 SW 28th street	Ankeny	50023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawn	Anderson	160 king William street	Newark	19711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chuck	Graver	32 Cotherstone Dr.	Vincentown	8088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ramona	Sikes	1957 Brroadway	Darien Center	14040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Genuardi	4373 Harvester Farm Ln	Fairfax	22032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sam	Andujar	2055 3rd Avenue	New York City	10029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Abby	2535 Paintbrush Dr.	Twin Falls	83301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Blair	1311 E. Maplewood Ave.	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

robert g	walker	10027 plymouth	OAKLAND	94603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	DeSorbo	118 Annabelle Place	Schenectady	12306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelli	Davis	5714 GREENRIDGE RD	Castro Valley	94552	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Pelton	12801 HOLLINS PLACE	BOWIE	20716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Quigley	13175 Fountain Park Dr. Apt A404	Playa Vista	90094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Tornetta	330 East 8th Ave.	Conshohocken	19428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Grant consumers the right to BUY NOT RENT these boxes and stop making us pay 10 times the cost in monthly rent!

Chris	Lester	3780 S Camino Comica	Green Valley	85614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Peterson	40443 La Grange Dr Sterling Heights, MI	Sterling Heights	48313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Cripe	4971 conifer	Westerville	43081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Chapman	130 shore rd	Port Washington	11050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Berry	1839 W. Schwartz Blvd	LADY LAKE	32159	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Lebo	909 Windsor	Kaysville	84037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Miller	610 W Stanton Ln	Crete	60417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Gramling	6 Smith St.	Red Hook	12571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Stewart	3806 Lochnora Pkwy, Durham, NC	Durham	27705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lewis	Chandler	2760 s. woodbine ave.	Homosassa	34448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Earll	Nikkel	376 S. Lincoln Street	Denver	80209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynne	Glaeske	3945 S Uinta St	DENVER	80237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip	B	423 Williams Street	LONGMEADOW	1106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bridget	Spann	1210 Hancock Rd. Williamstown	Williamstown	1267	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
TJ	Feuerbach	701 Charleston Rd	Raleigh	27606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Lawrence	106 N. Meadowbrook Dr.	Leavittsburg	44430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Gliva	713 Mulford St	Evanston	60202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Brown	335 E.6th st	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karol	Rice	5314 W Sunset Hwy Sp# 19	SPOKANE	99224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samuel	Newman	5245 Brook Way	Columbia	21044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Danny	Wigington	25556 Daphne Way	Willits	95490	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregg	Barnes	100 N Rodeo Gulch	Soquel	95073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Howard	White	7611 13th Street, NW	Washington	20012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Robinson	1935 iRONESTONE ct	Winston Salem	27127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Van Blargan	6534 Kenwood Ave.	Dallas	75214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. With four boxes on my current contract, that's forty bucks extra every month. It also pays to look carefully at your bill...
Mary	Lennox	101 meredith dr	Spring City	19475	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlotte	Grogan	1111 Copper Creek Dr	CANTON	30114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Zoe	Stark	711 west end avuenue	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Jaehnig	173 Mayapple lane	Carbondale	62903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glen	Clabaugh	4884 Talmadge Park Row	San Diego	92115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Faille	PO Box 390	Ashley Falls	1222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Leeg	May st.	Los Angeles	90067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ravid	Raphael	5546 Berkeley Rd	Santa Barbara	93111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Anzola	125 w 31st st apt 40L	New York	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	Hatcher	Greensboro, NC 28677	Greensboro	27410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charleen	Steeves	3130 Schweitzer Dr.	Topanga	90290	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Hendry	801 W Cornelia Ave Apt 3S	CHICAGO	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Beltran	21 Meadowparl Avenue South	Stamford	6905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Phillips	5312 Marit Drive	Santa Rosa	95409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dale	Woodburn	Palm Harbor, Fl	Palm Harbor	34684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daryl	Adams	229 S 85th St	MESA	85208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DAVID	CONZETT	6970 Cambridge	Cincinnati	45227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pam	Larsen	921 Pear Blossom	Hood River	97031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Efron	10129 Main Street, Apt 307	Bellevue	98004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Minisquero	15032 N 29 Ave	Phoenix	85053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Fleming	70 E 18th	CHICAGO	60616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Harris	49th AVE E	Bradenton	34203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Bollman	17114 SE 269th Pl Apt K301	Kent	98042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Barella	521 Main Street	Colchester	5446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ethan	Laramy	18005 69th Place North, Maple Grove, MN	Osseo	55311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Hicks	118 Kinkaid Dr.	LAFAYETTE	47909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patti	Smith	PO Box 51824	DENTON	76206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Vojir	46676 Baskin Ct	Sterling	20164	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Errolyn	Trapanese	7185 SW La View Drive	Portland	97219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Payne	35 South St	Washington	6793	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russel	Wormdahl	4511 Ocean Beach Hwy #24	Longview	98632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Garber	Seattle WA	Seattle	98102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

BRIAN	CORKUM	4378 30TH ST	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
CARL	STROMSTEDT	105 GLENHAVEN DR	Battle Lake	56515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tomi Olivia	Mishler	3066 N. Pierce Dr.	Solsberry	47459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rosamaria	Graziani	192nd St SW	Lynnwood	98036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Bigman	13029 mira mar dr	Sylmar	91342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russel	Oliver	PO Box 73, Kerhonkson NY	Kerhonkson	12446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J	Trappani	WILTON, WI	Wilton	54670	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Colotti	1750 Gravenstein Hwy S.	Sebastopol	95472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Lerman	908 Laburnum Lane	WYNCOTE	19095	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sally	Roberts	2309 N.54th. St.	Seattle	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Camille	Hall	7175 NW Mountain View Drive	Corvallis	97330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	OLEARY	20 Landview drive	Kings Park	11754	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Aenlle	573 Alameda St	ALTADENA	91001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Adesso	68 Moya Rd	Santa Fe	87508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerrie	Wade	3030 W. Marquette	Chicago	60629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peggy	Radeck	1240 Bookcliff AVE.	Grand Junction	81501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dirk	Verbrugghe	8217 NW 147th Terrace	Oklahoma City	73142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Byrum	Oxford, Ga	Oxford	30054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Bowen	211 S Fremont St.	San Mateo	94401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Freeman	6235 Chestnut St. Apt. L-304	PHILADELPHIA	19139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Yoho	4432 us 21 hwy	Hamptonville	27020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Bateman	5082 Lake Road South	Brockport	14420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies reap enough benefits from the public weal and enjoy a de-facto monopoly. Forcing them to allow competition in some aspects of their business plan is a perfectly valid and welcome task for regulators.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Martin	1899 Tristan Drive S.E.	SMYRNA	30080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyra	Legaroff	5113 Panama Avenue	Richmond	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Osika-Michales	4411 Vinegar Hill Rd.	Skaneateles	13152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Markon	400 E Bay Street	Jacksonville	32202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gladys	Giraldo	900 SCENIC HWY APT 71	PENSACOLA	32503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice	Biby	9247 Klinedale Avenue	Downey	90240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Seger	11373 US Route 422	Kittanning	16201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Teplow	1805 otis dr	alameda	94501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ben	Demar	723 21st ave	Seattle	98122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bradley	Houseworth	2206 Anderson Cir	Stevensville	49127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Suazo	2909 Franklin Ave NW	CLEVELAND	37312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	Lee	3211wrightsboro rd.	AUGUSTA	30909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heidi	Besander	1887 Hoover Ct	Rolling Meadows	60008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Jurotich	11810 Frost Dr	Bowie	20720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cesar	Serralta	3641 Brittlewood Ave	Las Vegas	89120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tanya	Downs	2161 nw 122 ave	FORT LAUDERDALE	33323	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Fauss	3636 Falcon Ridge Ct	Saint Louis	63129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Schultz	Robert Rd.	Oak Creek	53154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colleen M	Skiles	PO Box 85335	Tucson	85754	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jens	Nyman	Liaveien 18		587	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ellen	Piascik	526 Princeton Road	Linden	7036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ramon	Sender	3922 23 Street	San Francisco	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bartholomew	Barker	135 Thomas Burke Drive	HILLSBOROUGH	27278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Vicuna	1800 w.first st.	MONTEREY PARK	91754	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Back	1299 NE Orenco Station Pkwy. Apt A-121 Hillsboro, OR	Hillsboro	97124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Ross	836 Walnut Apt A	Boulder	80302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

robert	midyett	HCR 62 BOX 389	SALEM MO ,	65560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Leach	7722 s 80th E Ave	Tulsa	74133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mike	cavalier	4614 tournament blvd	SARASOTA	34243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Armstrong	10346 Jeffery Pine Road	Truckee	96161	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Gerard	3125 W Buckingham Wy	Fresno	93722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Chapman	not given	Kalaheo	96741	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Underhill	287 Wynstay Avenue	Valley Park	63088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristina	Paris	PO Box 11526	MILWAUKEE	53211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tomi Olivia	Mishler	3066 N. Pierce Dr.	Solsberry	47459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Loehlein	2266 Sunrise Ct	Green Bay	54302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
tim	lennox	112 Glenloch Drive	Landenberg	19350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Smith	13477 Cedar Street	Trona	93562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carole	Ryen	5535 Courtyard Drive	Margate	33063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Blankenship	PO Box 1768	FAIRFIELD	52556	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mick	Alderman	PO Box 1205	ASTORIA	97103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emily	Rosen	675 West End Avenue, 12C	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Rabon	633 watts hill rd	Elgin	29045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Power	880 Oleander Way	Saint Petersburg	33707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Quarrick	991 Tyler Street	Benicia	94510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alice	Sather	22464 130th Ave NW	Newfolden	56738	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary Ellen	Money,aker	276 Stage Coach RD, Durham, CT	DURHAM	6422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rosalind	Kenworthy	3270 DuBois Rd	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	marc	2700 brommer	Santa Cruz	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ian	Cannon	181 Chumalia	San Leandro	94577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Kata	104 w 4th st	Ronkonkoma	11779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Geissler	24 Rose Ct.	Commack	11725	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Huwe	1000 Highland	Manhattan Beach	90266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Gerard	3125 W Buckingham Wy	Fresno	93722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zach	Ruhl	9700 Bernhard Crk Rd	Mapleton	97453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Caplan	93 Sedgwick St	Jamaica Plain	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marrey	Embers	20 Primrose Street	Roslindale	2131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Campbell	485 S. Tannahill St.	Vidor	77662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ernestine	Bonn	4452 Park Blvd., #104, San Diego	San Diego	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alvin	Lesieur	210 Woodbine Ave	Hanson	2341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Monroe	505 Parkview	Pullman	99163	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Carleton	288 Main Street	South Dennis	2660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeremiah	Williams	18330 nw cornell rod #H	Beaverton	97006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Cohen	4503 32nd St	Mount Rainier	20712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Bennett	3190 Dona mema place	Studio City	91604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Uythoven	487 Charles Avenue	MASSAPEQUA PARK	11762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Filippi	6317 Park Heights Ave	Baltimore	21215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Abrams	138 Cortland	San Francisco	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Ahearn	32 E Levering Mill Rd	Bala Cynwyd	19004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Woods	3524 N Limberlost Ln	Terre Haute	47803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Frith	12607 Lancey Court	Midlothian	23114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

P.Jacquelyn	Schmidt	50 Stackpole St	Lowell	1852	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	MSN	428 Childers St	PENSACOLA	32534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eleanor	Gomez	2200 31st Avenue	SAN FRANCISCO	94116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Betty	Lorenzen	1704 77th St	Naperville	60565	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wm	Demo	121 Heights Court	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Perry	Hamilton	Division St.	Chicago	60611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fred	Waldsmith	PO Box 1933	Orangevale	95662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Lapp	4218 Princeton Ave	Greensboro	27407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Morimoto	3217 Otto Lane	Evanston	60201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Schaffer	506 summer st	Fernley	89408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Doornbos	1612 Stilesgate St SE	Grand Rapids	49508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Verlon	Acord	2850 westland rd	MUSKEGON	49441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Stevens	813 Mount Cuba Road	Yorklyn	19736	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Loretha Gail	Harris	1911 Westmead Dr	Houston	77077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Lindsay	112 Lord Pelham Way	Yorktown	23693	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

j	hester	a	Los Gatos	95030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Carroux	2203 Hastings Dr.	BELMONT	94002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Hempstead	211 Orleans Ct	Columbia	65203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Wightman	P.O. Box 292080	Los Angeles	90029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Bonito	1612 State Rte. 213	Ulster Park	12487	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Young	2590 White Road	Conyers	30012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

sybil	sage	45 christopher st.	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Robinson	12591 East Ohio Ave	Aurora	80012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	DeSorbo	118 Annabelle Place	Schenectady	12306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Alexander	2735 Higbee Avenue	MEMPHIS	38111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Kramer	279 Brown Street	Valley Stream	11580	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
tyrus	bradway	8665espeedway	Tucson	85710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	von Hendricks	6303 Indian School Rd NE	ALBUQUERQUE	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Hodes	102 Homestead Terrace	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darren	Baun	48 Branford Rd	Rochester	14618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deva	Lund	174 Vista de Oeste	Palm Springs	92264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janie	Macfarland	5 Cochise Row	Bisbee	85603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Gilchrist	6201 Hartsville Pike	Lebanon	37087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marjorie	Maloney	181 Ridge Rd	San Anselmo	94960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Miller	1834 County Road C	Sobieski	54171	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alina	Patterson	PO Box 7427	Hilo	96720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Ososki	31448 San Juan	Harrison Township	48045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Olivia	FISKE	131 magazine st #2	Cambridge	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Tudisco	21 Outlook Ave	WEST HARTFORD	6119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Felzke	751 valley view dr. Ionia, MI	Ionia	48846	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Kara	17 Kari Blvd	Poughkeepsie	12601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Penny	Ulrich	919 old hickory road	Jacksonville	32207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leonard	Stiller	63 Chestnut Hill Rd.	Millville	1529	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Josue	Caraballo	1116 Compton Ave	Irving	75061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MrLLaurie	Toner	554 Washington St. #2	BRIGHTON	2135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Gilton-Soma	1415 G street Sacramento	SACRAMENTO	95814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Metayer	44 Maritime DR.	Mystic	6355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maurice	Lapierre	2127 N. Lincoln St.	Arlington	22207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Smith	1703 Solomon Road	Charlottesville	22901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Peterson	11 Ridgewood Circle	Wallingford	6492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Hicks	4102 N Holland Rd	Stanton	48888	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Yvonne	White	8169 White Lane	KINMUNDY	62854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geoffrey	Carlton	301 woodland drive	Pauls Valley	73075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	King	10605 Moonbeam Ct. NE, Albuquerque, NM	Albuquerque	87111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wanda	Anderson	1801 Utica Street	Fort Smith	72901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Moderbacher	2637 McGee Avenue	Berkeley	94703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Goehring	Westport	Westport	57481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rachel	Meltzer	4910 West Pine Blvd.	Saint Louis	63108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Penny	Hoover	101 Bristol Lane	Maggie Valley	28751	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Zellmer	2975 N Prospect Ave.	Milwaukee	53211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Ferris	277 Lexington Circle	Broadview Hts	44147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Swatek	245 Tamiamim Tr N	Venice	34285	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T	J	1919 Madison	New York	10035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Mayo	678 Choctaw Dr	San Jose	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Colmenares	5530 Fifth Avenue	Pittsburgh	15232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Kennedy	18825 6th Ave SW	Seattle	98166	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Constance	Shea	700 E. 41st Street	Austin	78751	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynda	Barry	493 Pio Drive	Wailuku	96793	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	mcmanus	p o box 3157	Silverdale	98383	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jose	Rosario	712 N. Castle Ct.	TAMPA	33612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
bob	killam	6301 iroquois Rd.	Westminster	92683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Herm	Clark	46571 Tuckwila Street	LYONS	97358	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pam	Hammitt	9024 141st ST W	Taylor Ridge	61284	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Burke	38w732 Brindlewood ln	Elgin	60124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	LeBow	5455 E Idlewood Ln NW	Atlanta	30327	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Henry	Leca	103 2nd Ave. SE	Hampton	50441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	bushway	3511 Sw Margela St	Port Saint Lucie	34953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Sample	11403 Trip Ave	Brooksville	34614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Nichols	7836 Sarepto Dr	SAN ANTONIO	78239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	Sweatman	Denton, TX	Denton	76201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Freer	6834 E. 4th Street	Scottsdale	85251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	kossack	8529 caladium Ct	LAS VEGAS	89149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Curry	15 Waterhouse St	Plattsburgh	12901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Cap	2108 W. Ainslie St. Apt. 1E	Chicago	60625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria	Iavarone	3312 Oxford Dr W	Bradenton	34205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeannie	McGuire	74 Wedgewood Drive	Montville	7045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brad	Civiello	500 Hampton Road	Piedmont	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Craig	Choma	979 N. Cedar st.	Galesburg	61401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Dittfield	140 Clemons Rd	Frankfort	13340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lama	Lane	2052 Newport Blvd #6-134	Costa Mesa	92627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Curtine	Metcalf	PO Box 2119	Boulder	80306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Taylor	Finch	4215 W. Lawrence Ln	Phoenix	85051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Grover	McCoury	1900 Glenn Club Dr #1321	Stone Mountain	30087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roy	Fox	1272 Williston Rd., S. Burlington, VT	South Burlington	5403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Shannon	1704 w. country club drive	Tampa	33612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jared	Caldwell	846 south Emerson street	Denver	80209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	Blackwood	2710 W. Rollins Rd. D16 Columbia, MO	Columbia	65203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Sy	1625 Woodbrook DR Apt 102	EAST LANSING	48823	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Bair	6221 Madison St	Willowbrook	60527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leah	Boyd	2662 S. Moore Dr., Littleton, Co.	Denver	80227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Eisenman	2448 Stanton Court	Utica	48316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Vortman	134 John St.	SANTA CRUZ	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Steinberg	1201 8th Street NW	Albuquerque	87102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Hoban	9 Mt. Ida St. Newton MA	Newton	2458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Spiezio	16064 31st Ave. Box 3305	Clearlake	95422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Englund	PO Box 128, 43890 Ginger Ave Apt 100	HARRIS	55032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Directv and Dish too!
Jim	Van Arsdale	Leigh st	Clinton	8809	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B.	Sweatman	Denton, TX	Denton	76201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Kirchner	1017 Riva Ridge	RACINE	53402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
La	Miller	4008 Pacific	Long Beach	90807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elsbeth	Meier	320 Napa Ave	Rodeo	94572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Ososki	31448 San Juan	Harrison Township	48045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cherie	Connick	100 Boyd's Way	Crescent City	95531	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Platt	Milford, CT	Milford	6461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Travers	12 Waltham Street	Westbrook	4092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Schroeder	Dearborn, MI	DEARBORN	48124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Soltero	14348 Riverside Dr.	Sherman Oaks	91423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Backhaus	1741 125TH AVE SE	Bellevue	98005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennie	Payne	532 Coffey Cove #20474	Jasper	30143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
A	F	Louise	Encino	91316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Noreen	Stevenson	16 Elm Street	Chester	10918	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	Tsitsivas	33586 Via Lagos	Dana Point	92629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Jacksina	1238 Timberbranch Ct.	CHARLOTTESVILLE	22902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry	Cecere	105 Lost Lake Ct.	Folsom	95630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Hahn	2133 Inyo St.	Point Mugu NAWC	93042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Clark	27701 Murrieta Rd Sp.70	Sun City	92586	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Herzog	6347 Melody Ln	Dallas	75231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tonya	Michel	620 Bellaire St	Denver	80220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Deliman	155 Sylvan Dr.	Valparaiso	46385	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Hrivnak	6486 State Rd	Cleveland	44134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Vitale	11559 Asheboro Dr	Saint Louis	63138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Decker	78 May Valley Lane	Fenton	63026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I pay $600 dollars a year for cable boxes. And I pay around $230 a month for my cable tv

Bridgett	Williams	3626 Midway Road	Decatur	30032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Herzog	103 Main St. Trlr 21	North Reading	1864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Max	Pappas	1915 Mesaview Lane	FORT COLLINS	80526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Girard	337 Washington Ave N	Minneapolis	55401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	Senegal	1313 Mariposa St.	RICHMOND	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Wilson	4117 SW 109th St	SEATTLE	98146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

marylee	fahlstrom	828 water st	CHIPPEWA FALLS	54729	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
david	walsh	7212 forest ave	Ridgewood	11385	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Whitney	Larson	1336 Corona St. #15	Denver	80218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charlene	Maker	Little Compton, RI	Little Compton	2837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Crane	526 clover court	Hannibal	63401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Cooper	5310 Harry Truman Drive Apt 104 Grandview, MO	Grandview	64030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amanda	Wright	21215 E. Vallejo St. Queen Creek AZ	Queen Creek	85142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffery	Scoggins	4506 McKinney St.	Houston	77023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Charlson	18398 S. Fischers Mill Rd. Oregon City, OR	Oregon City	97045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Priest	1125 POMEROY AVE	SANTA CLARA	95051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jimmie	Larson	2320 SADDLE CLUB RD	Hoboken	31542	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
F	Corr	128 E. Chestnut Hill Rd.	Montague	1351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

laura	magasanik	39 Eliot Hill Rd	Natick	1760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Nieto	716 S. Winchester Avenue, Alhambra,CA	ALHAMBRA	91803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Bringhurst	2520 NE 12th Court	POMPANO BEACH	33062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Rodriguez	17163 knight Dr	Fort Myers	33967	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Williams	130 Agnes CT	Vallejo	94589	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barb	Travis	91-999 La'aulu St.	Ewa Beach	96706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Albar	251 Gemini Drive	Hillsborough	8844	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Gillian	6267 Anne Drive	Pinson	35126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Musgrove	1758 VZCR 4125	Canton	75103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Kelly	357 Brittany Farms Rd	New Britain	6053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	Flink	250 W Bullard Ave	Clovis	93612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Martin	168 Plank Hill Road	Bristol	6010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aimee	Mendes	432 Foundry St.	NORTH EASTON	2356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allison	Brewster	4440 County Line Turnpike rd	Southington	44470	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Diaz	516 W 169th St	New York	10032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Irene	Kane	730 Canyon Oaks Dr #D	OAKLAND	94605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Baglin	23 N Grove Ave	Freeport	61032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marianne	bergmann	2634 Ambassador Dr	Bethlehem	18017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

BrendaLee	(Smith)	420 E Park Ave Apt 33	Tallahassee	32301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rajiv	Martel	beach pines	Aptos	95003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	k.hawes	402 hillside crossing pompton plains	Pompton Plains	7444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

sue	brink	17973 SE 106th Ter	Summerfield	34491	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emilio	Leonard	14044 Sw 49th St	Hollywood	33027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Behrenbruch	845 Encino Pl	Santa Paula	93060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristopher	Lilley	25910 Natal Plum	San Antonio	78261	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
RANDALL	TUTTEROW	2419 NE 4TH TERRACE	CAPE CORAL	33909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Stefacek	5626 Oleatha Ave	Saint Louis	63139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Seno	441 Ashbury Drive	Hinsdale	60521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Arnell	8151 Seldon Trail	SAN ANTONIO	78244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stratis	Aloimonos	9102 Bridgewater Street	College Park	20740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Quinn	1286 Discovery St.	San Marcos	92078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Beltran	2353 SW 26th ter	Miami	33133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
don	peterson	6415 colony way	Minneapolis	55435	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chad	Leming	316 Seguin	New Orleans	70114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Latta	3802 South Kent Street	VISALIA	93277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Meyer	807 S 5th St	Fairfield	52556	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Glenn	609 Addison	CHICAGO	60613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marshal	McKitrick	5120 Elmer Way	SACRAMENTO	95822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valerie & Eric	Johnson	10527 Lev Ave	MISSION HILLS	91345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charlotte	Parker	1502 Buckingham St A8	Saint Joseph	64506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Mlawski	834 Raleigh Lane	Woodmere	11598	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maurizio	Sini	v G. Carducci 4	Fort Valley	31030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Zvi	Bassan	171 W. 79th St.	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James H	Wilson	Largo Ct	Fairfield	94533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Whisenhunt	930 bruce berthoud	Berthoud	80513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Forbes	14764 West Goldwater Ridge Dr #106	Surprise	85374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alicia	Marshall	612 Mulford St.	Evanston	60202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Brophy	9366 Ace Rd	Hemlock	14466	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katharine	Wert	PO BOX 116	Dundee	97115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	LeRoy	4909 Sea Wolf Drive	Santa Rosa	95409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	E	504 E. 63rd Street, New York, NY	New York	10065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	McKee	9 Chadwick CT	Amherst	1002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Wilkins	2332 ehrler lane	Winter Park	32792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clinton	Burdette	4020 Meier St.	Los Angeles	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

W	B	1 no st	Littlerock	93543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rena	Johnston-Farrington	P.O. Box 3678	OAKHURST	93644	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Tushoski	314 Hennepin Avenue	Minneapolis	55401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marta	Hubbard	3007 White Rock Drive	Austin	78757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	St. John	2052 W. Linden St., #12	Riverside	92507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Owen	1642 Pinyon Court	Loveland	80538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	morse	No	Montpelier	5602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
lenore	stjacques	2461 canadian way #37	CLEARWATER	33763	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexander	Cayford	90 2nd street		1365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Freeland	4070 Yankee Drive, Agoura Hills, CA	Agoura Hills	91301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Myer	102 rose ave.	Venice	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Satterthwait	401 Live Oak Lane, Apt. B	Dunedin	34698	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Rydwels	3100 N Lake Shore Dr	Chicago	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Rabaut	727 Seabright Avenue	Grover Beach	93433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Smith	6682 Wellington Ln NE	BREMERTON	98311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lawrence	Humphrey	P O Box 161 182 Lilac Lane	LUND	89317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Lyna	D8 Scotty Hollow Dr.	North Chelmsford	1863	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nina	Ortiz	4180 Hutchinson River Pkwy E.	BRONX	10475	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Salvatrice	Lima	500 rowley rd	Depew	14043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lana	Henson	2009 N GAtewood	Oklahoma City	73106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Waine	80 School St.	TAUNTON	2780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	drost	5030 nectar way	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erica	Arrendondo	14136 Raven St.	Sylmar	91342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Koenig	274 S. Westgate Ave., Los Angeles, CA	Los Angeles	90049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terri	Copeland	Yellowstone	Pocatello	83201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Anderson	111 W Oregon Ave	KILL DEVIL HILLS	27948	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Luff	3 f	VENTURA	93003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wendell	Ogrosky	15921 E Kim Dr	Fountain Hills	85268	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Delene	Dominick	60 Gregory Blvd	Norwalk	6855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debi	Darnell	811 Wallace Way Grimsley TN	Grimsley	38565	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leroy	Frankel	15 Texas Ln	Longmont	80501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	King	306 S. Diamond St.	MOUNT PLEASANT	15666	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Watson	2976 E Windsor St	TUCSON	85716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Bach	Wash.Av.		20359	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jeb	fries	103 central	FREDONIA	14063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Weeks	20 Willow Drive	SANFORD	4073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Baringer	5145 E Valencia Dr	ORANGE	92869	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Hairgrove	8701 Mesa Rd #12	Santee	92071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tyson	Stackhouse	305 9th Street NE	BYRON	55920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Tilden	PO Box 122	Aumsville	97325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynne	Chimiklis	460 Winfield Glen Court	Atlanta	30342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Levy	109 Beatrice ct	Windsor	95492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Van Dinter	12088 W Tidewater Dr	Boise	83713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mitch	Klein	34 Pearsall Ave 4D	Glen Cove	11542	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Graham	54620 Jameson, Idyllwild, CA	Idyllwild	92549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ellen	Kratz	499 bridge st	Collegeville	19426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marquita	Tanner	3658 Austin	Corpus Christi	78411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
amy	dee	226 e 12th st.	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roger	Tushoski	314 Hennepin Avenue	Minneapolis	55401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Fakess	5318 Horton Lane	Orlando	32814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allison	Matthews	10945 State Bridge Road	Alpharetta	30022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shirley	Zafirau	330 W 77th Street B	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Walraven	319 s. lew plano il	Plano	60545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Boosman	PO Box 51544, Pacific Grove CA	Pacific Grove	93950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vince	Corsaro	616 E Cambridge Ave	Fresno	93704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Merritt	3441 LINDEN PL 4G FLUSHING	Flushing	11354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Thiebaut	270 Dell Brock Road	Beulaville	28518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brittany	rosas	3051 via marina ct.	Oxnard	93035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edwin	TomYoy	565 Camino Verde	South Pasadena	91030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Salgaller	338 Gerard Avenue	Elkins Park	19027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Trammell	10137 Bryan Rd	Meeker	74855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Brown	19834 Vashon Highway SW	VASHON	98070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Briggs	21 Sandy Beach Court Palmyra VA	Palmyra	22963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Berry	62 Cottage Ave	Winthrop	2152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	pfeffer	1459 18th street #130	SAN FRANCISCO	94107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Walker	240 Gates St.	Palmer	1069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Roberts	782 Via Lanza	El Paso	79912	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Brown	2374 Treetop Ln.	HEBRON	41048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
CECILIO	RODRIGUEZ	107 Ross Avenue	Hackensack	7601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alix	Remponeau	6 Nicole Court	Manorville	11949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lauren	Seeley	1943 183rd St	Homewood	60430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Schultz	3912 chestnut ridge loop	Columbus	43230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Danielle	Henon	1516 W Shunk Street	Philadelphia	19145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Clark	PO Box 368	Santa Fe	87504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
W	B	1 no st	Littlerock	93543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Cable is over. Nobody needs it, technology has moved on. There is no reason to force anyone into these templates, and the profits made from these companies is contemptible. They provide no service, with no value.

Claudia	Bertrand	300 South Street	Vernon Rockville	6066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Kennedy	6309 W. Lone Cactus Drive	Glendale	85308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Cardenas	355 Waldeberg Rd	Ben Lomond	95005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ryan	Bullock	149 Carding Machine Road	Bowdoinham	4008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Swihart	1372 N. Bogle Ave.	CHANDLER	85225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristine	Wolcott	N/A	SAN FRANCISCO	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

E	Aronson	Melinda Ln	PHOENIX	85050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Dotson	102 Anderson St, Apt B	Carterville	62918	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Faber	221 East I Street	Ontario	91764	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dale	Freedman	424 Dwelly St #1	Fall River	2724	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Walls	5535 Oakcrest Drive	Indianapolis	46237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Fly	2205 Broughton Ct	AUSTIN	78727	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rodney	Whisenhunt	715 W Rainbow St	Roseburg	97471	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michae	Nelson	64 stoney robby rd	Fulton	13069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Fannin	3520 apple orchard dr.	Deltona	32738	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vivian	Jacobs	1306 Elm Street	El Cerrito	94530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
polk	woolford	2028 Sweet Briar Lane	JACKSONVILLE	32217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ROBERT	BISHOP	12345 Mybiz Ave.	Victorville	92395	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Durrer	199 N Bayshore	Eastpoint	32328	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Swarbrick	6418 Milestrip Rd. Orchard Park, NY	ORCHARD PARK	14127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jody	Kim-Eng	635 NE 152nd Ave	PORTLAND	97230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Angevine	12 Evergreen Rd	Bethel	4217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Cardenas	355 Waldeberg Rd	Ben Lomond	95005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mark	jolliffe	1717 Crystal lane	Mount Prospect	60056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Garrett	Po. Box 7684 Columbus Ohio	Columbus	43207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vickie	Lucas	2364 Baskins Hill Rd	HEATH SPRINGS	29058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phyllis	McIntyre	7 Robin Place	Monroe Township	8831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gloria	Key	190 Thomas lane	SHELL KNOB	65747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Teagle	9946 Annapolis Ave	Akron	44310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Koch	4207 Rose Ave.	LONG BEACH	90807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bobbie	Anderson	2534 N Chevrolet	Flint	48504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Gibson	549 Woodlyn Xing	Ballwin	63021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Armando	Aranjo	2811 hutchison streeet	Vista	92084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Monique	TONET	14 boulevard Jean Baptiste Verany		6300	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Isaacs	2811 Dell Ave,	Venice	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Myers	59 Flanagan Drive	Framingham	1701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl	Platt	3540 mill st eugene, or	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Maloff	3204 SE 154th Ave.	Vancouver	98683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justice	Lamer	3135 NW McKinley Drive	CORVALLIS	97330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Giu	2010 West Market	Akron	44313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Saltzman	1555 S. Hayworth Ave., #9	Los Angeles	90035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Pavlic	21390 E Glen Haven Circle	NORTHVILLE	48167	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Miller	2779 BORDEAUX PL	Woodbridge	22192	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	Walenty	10 Lynn Drive	NEPTUNE	7753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
E	Aronson	Melinda Ln	PHOENIX	85050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Yackley	1930 N. Hoover St.	Los Angeles	90027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Auger	10075 44th ter s #361	Boynton Beach	33436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ana	Lopez	1605 Calle de Oriente Nor	Santa Fe	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rev. Richard	Warden	772 Harmony Ave.,Arnold, MD	Arnold	21012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Landry	305 Herkimer Street, Syracuse, NY 13204	Syracuse	13204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruthann	Hilland	312 Hazel Avenue	Westville	8093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lou	Plocher	330 S. 5th. St.	Millville	8332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claudia	Schumann	1475 48th Ave. #4	San Francisco	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Renette	Jasphy	513 East 82nd Street	New York	10028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cristina	Malcolmson	70 Gleckler Road	Portland	4103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randolph	Schoedler	3709 W Michigan St	Milwaukee	53208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Goodrich	517 Spruce	Marquette	49855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Danielle	Miele	252 Winter St	North Andover	1845	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	Fournier	5370 sw Elm Ave Beaverton	Beaverton	97005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Richman	209 MILLTOWN RD	East Brunswick	8816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Duane	Naught	520 N Edison St	Kennewick	99336	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	MIller	12741 Charloma Drive	Tustin	92780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcos	Rodriguez	2121 N Bayshore Dr.	Miami	33137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Kramer	21430 Iverson Ave N	FOREST LAKE	55025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Jones	505-2C Oaklynn Ct	PITTSBURGH	15220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wolfgang	Nordmeyer	1805 N Carson Street, #452	Carson City	89701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sabine	Anders	Heideweg 4		22085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Crooks	36741 Mill St	Whitehall	54773	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Leikam	530 Kendall Ave	Palo Alto	94306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tracy	Jackson	901 A Jackson St	Durham	27701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynda	Kolesar	1022 Harvard Rd	Monroeville	15146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Cole	101 Sunny Hills Drive #63	San Anselmo	94960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

james	Moran	Andover, Ma	Andover	1810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Oliver	280 Summer Street	Boston	2210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Lileet-Foley	5111 SW Oleson Rd	Portland	97225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

P	Laycook	642 Sagewood Drive	Collierville	38017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Loula	7225 soiuth dexter street	Littleton	80122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Steinman	3533 51st Avenue W	Bradenton	34210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claudia	Leff	149 Highview St	Mamaroneck	10543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Regan	234 cedar lane	williston	5495	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Pates-Riches	PO Box 2637	Stanwood	98292	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jamie	Bunson	16010 28th Avenue NE, Shoreline, WA	Seattle	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eleanor	Arons	290 9th ave	NEW YORK	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Clark	601 seneca manor dr APT 10e	Rochester	14621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl	Weill	2169 Dolan St	Fort Collins	80528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Arnold	2011 50th st nw	Rochester	55901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Lawrence	19 E 32nd Ave	Spokane	99203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Meier	430 Garnett Avenue	Winthrop Harbor	60096	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Gibb	8425 Spring Dr., Forestville, CA	Forestville	95436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Hartmann	c/o 1660 Crest Hill Ave. #4	Cincinnati	45237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Kavanaugh	2797 Clay St, San Francisco, CA	San Francisco	94115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniela	Stegelmann	Wollinstr.10		33719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Duch	1422 Lake Pine Drive	Cary	27511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lannette	Rangel	6824 Monte Verde Dr	South Lake Tahoe	96150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Kotzen	1410 Weeping Willow Way	Hollywood	33019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Eisenhower	7628 Fieldstone Ranch Square	VERO BEACH	32967	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joel	Meece	1140 Mountainbrook Cir	Shreveport	71118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Fienberg	3000 E. Republican St	Seattle	98112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
lindsay	smith	1627 front st, #7	OCEANO	93445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ivis	DeJesus	101	Summit Argo	60501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Stock	1306 Bay View Pl	Berkeley	94708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Sharpling	4516 Marque Dr	New Orleans	70127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheri	DeOrio	439 Wimer Drive	PITTSBURGH	15237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
aaron	elder	808 n john hardy	Abbeville	70510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jae	Bevan	31 Millrock Road	New Paltz	12561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Todd	Olfert	15 Ashford Drive		R2N 1K7	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Goodrich	517 spruce st	Marquette	49855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Mason	41535 Bedford Dr	Canton	48187	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Roisland	16055 Schendel Ave	Beaverton	97006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tariq	Jamaal	8485 Laurel Oak Drive	Springfield	22153	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	Coad	313 east st	Buffalo	14207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raymond	Howard	16 Ada St.	GENEVA	14456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Lincoln	HIllsdale	Hillsdale	12529	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Wied	620 Hopper Road Williamstown Ma	Williamstown	1267	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mchele	Ondre	PO Box 661405	Los Angeles	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Moore	801 Exley	WILLITS	95490	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Mattos	1940 Lewis Avenue	Rockville	20851	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Winston	Tormos	21161 Rhone Place	APPLE VALLEY	92308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberta	Russie	4125 47TH ST	Des Moines	50310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Garry	Star	3084 Chancery Pl	THOUSAND OAKS	91362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Lipscomb	4856 N.Port Washington Rd.	Milwaukee	53217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Acosta	9226 Stone River Place, Riverview, FL	Riverview	33578	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Caye	1962 Shady Oak Drive Allison Park Pa	Allison Park	15101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl	Goggins	452 Fairway Drive	Acworth	30101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Rauch	5917 N Haven Dr	NORTH HIGHLANDS	95660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	Alarie	840 N Spruce # 320	RAPID CITY	57701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

charles	macharg	555 W 189th St.	Gardena	90248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Michlin	Bentley	West Bloomfield	48322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Pansy	99 Burgess Rd	YORKTOWN HEIGHTS	10598	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Biglione	p o bx 25326	Fresno	93729	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Garry	LaQuinte	481 E 52 St	Brooklyn	11203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	lucas	2706 del curto rd	austin	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Desiree	Mendes	725 crestview st	Pullman	99163	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Minckler	100 Mill glen road	Winchendon	1475	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Vandervennet	6284 Michigan Ave	Tipton	49287	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karl	schueler	rr 1 box 44	Rushford	55971	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Feraday	3135 N Highland Dr.		89445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	Flessert	N68 W34446 Bayberry Ct	Oconomowoc	53066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peggy	Yates	13598 Park Blvd	SEMINOLE	33776	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Bowen	1112 Mt Royal Blvd	Pittsburgh	15223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Carman	10032 W 86th Ter	Overland Park	66212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Sankey	252 Raytown Rd,Sharon,GA	Sharon	30664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Grace	Smith	7846 Greenscape	Knoxville	37938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Valluzzi	3277 S.E. Lincoln St	Portland	97214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Kerr	1938 Faculty Drive	Winston-Salem	27106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Hunt	6019 NE Mason	Portland	97218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Wall	203 Russ Lane	Noxen	18636	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Cleveland	71 Westminster Dr.	Elizabethtown	17022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Abbott	2106 Stanford Ave	BATON ROUGE	70808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	McLendon	3455 FM 1960 Rd. W #2308	Humble	77338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

maxine	bleich	201 w 89th st apt 15f	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Fitzpatrick	1417harper ave	Los Angeles	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Pniewski	19830 Meier Rd	Saint Clair Shores	48081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karl	Blankenbiller	7010 Summitrose Street	Tujunga	91042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	K	90 Arverne Rd	West Orange	7052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Nero	4001 north ave	Richmond	23222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Blumenshine	466 N. Pierce St., Lot 15	Laramie	82070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry and Elaine	Larimer	5372 Starboard Street, Orlando FL	Orlando	32814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	McDonald	1233 South Ogden Dr	Los Angeles	90019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Poel	20 Potter CIrcle	Northborough	1532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Compagno	780 La Salle Way	Napa	94559	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward K	Fujimoto	1136 Meridian Way Rocklin	Rocklin	95765	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allan Marshall	Bierman	300 West 17th St., Apt. 3A	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jinger	Pulkrabek	6035 Candace Ave	Inver Grove Heights	55076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Koslowski	18 Renwick Heights Rd.	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wendy	Fiering	924 Everett St, El Cerrito, CA	El Cerrito	94530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Harrington	3612 Whitman Ave N	Seattle	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryan	Portofino	2045 Douglass Blvd	Louisville	40205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Daley	14 easthill ct	HAMPTON	23664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
IAN	BARTOLOMEI	38 THREE BRIDGES RD	East Haddam	6423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Marcus	2450 Adams St	EUGENE	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Dunlap	w clarendon ave	Phoenix	85013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Smith	1860 Barnett Shoals STE103	Athens	30605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Josh	Eaton	7525 Rain Flower Way	Columbia	21046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Seavey	711 Canyon Verde	Las Cruces	88011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Hartman	North Course Lane	Pompano Beach	33069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Roussell	47 Juniper Road	North Attleboro	2760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Stanley	178 Princeton Lane	Glenview	60026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
vera	dulaney	po box 222553	hollywood	33022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Hobbs	10124 4th. St.	Highland	46322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jan	Passion	2230 Lisa Lane	Pleasant Hill	94523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
g	r	l	CHARLOTTESVILLE	22911	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Meyer	120 North Street W	Detroit Lakes	56501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Wright	205 7th St.Hoboken	Hoboken	7030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julio	Aviles	319 Cedar, Jenkintown PA	JENKINTOWN	19046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	Villasenor	368 eastridge dr	San Ramon	94582	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dalene	Miller	462 groveland hills drive	Tallahassee	32317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Miller	16810 Barrington Ct.	GRANGER	46530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samuel	Wilson	1613 Clay Rd	MABLETON	30126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jo	Kemling	3532 Emmett Place	Santa Clara	95051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	MacComb	6oo Adams Ave	Vernonia	97064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lionel	Halvorsen	8330 NE Beck Road	Bainbridge Island	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katherine	Pierce	320 Madison NE	Albuquerque	87108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Tusken	925 Evans St.	Oshkosh	54901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Faber	3790 McHale Way	Redding	96001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria	Rivero	4150 Folsom St	SAN FRANCISCO	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Dallos	514 Miller St	Oriskany	13424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Hill	4506 Saugus Avenue Apt. 12	Sherman Oaks	91403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dianne	Walker	114 Iowa Ave.	Dunlap	51529	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Rapp	6316 Sommerville valley rd	Ellicottville	14731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
louis	mascola	1319 s. wycliff ave	San Pedro	90732	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Monga	387 Gallup Rd.	Princeton	8540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nina	pykare	980 Johnson plank road ne	Warren	44481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Red	Kenna	35 10 ST.	Astoria	11106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gloria & Marvin	Levitt	35-15 High St	FAIR LAWN	7410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Paleias	3300 ne 36	Fort Lauderdale	33308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JOANNE	MOSLEY	135 Ocean Parkway, 11U	Brooklyn	11218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

IAN	BARTOLOMEI	38 THREE BRIDGES RD	East Haddam	6423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angie	Affolter	1650 Winston Ct	Mundelein	60060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Dzubak	69 Elton Avenue	TRENTON	8620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denie	English	216 Myrtle St.	UVALDE	78801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Gross	139 Drake Rd	SOMERSET	8873	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Dowling	132 Columbia Ave.	Hatfield	19440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fred	Morrison	31211 Faircilff St.	Hayward	94544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margo	Lodge-Seven Oakes	36 Pleasant Ave.	Peaks Island	4108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Brierty	291 Fallenleaf Lane	Holland	49424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	Stelzer	9556 Villa Way	Miamisburg	45342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darleen	Templeton	400 Parkwood apt 216	Pierre	57501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Poulin	1169 S. Plymouth Ct.	Chicago	60605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurel	Ullyette	97 Franklin St.	Auburn	13021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keri	Jensen	125 S Villa Ave	Addison	60101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Logan	1812 SW 1st Street	Lees Summit	64081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelsey	Kamp	2444 W Diversey	Chicago	60647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
howard	hobson	301 falls circle	TAPPAHANNOCK	22560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Mumford	226 S Bridge Ave	Red Bank	7701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JOYCE	CHAPMAN	14545j military trail	Delray Beach	33484	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martyna	Hill	245 Boxmere Place	Nashville	37215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melanie	Newstate	4743 Winton Rd.	Cincinnati	45232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Clinkscale	3620 Blaine Avenue	Saint Louis	63110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Leonard	194 sunset ave	Oak View	93022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
elaine	collis	10420 w bright angel circle	Sun City	85351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Hawkins	8931 Farley	Overland Park	66212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	MORRIS	4485 WASHINGTON	Gary	46408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Cousino	607 Sunday Dr.	Deming	88030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

CAROLE CROWE	FRANK	2nd av	New York	10010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Doty	7680 Airline Ave	Los Angeles	90045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Sketo	11522 Bay Meadows Lane	Bakersfield	93312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katherynne	VanderMoleen	3650 Manderley DR NE	Grand Rapids	49525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trisha	Thomas	60 Duelk avenue	Monroe	10950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Mertz	663 center Rd.	Quarryville	17566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Jones	6523 W. Fremont Pl.	Milwaukee	53219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Orlonda	Uffre	PO Box 20036	Piedmont	94620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Freeland	6712 Alderbrook Drive denton Tx	Denton	76210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Mercuri	328 Main St	Madison	7940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	O'Hormett	P. O. Box 80	Golden	80402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zane	Graney	10528 Borrego Creek Dr	Albuquerque	87114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Goldman	3021 Monroe Street	Columbia	29205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Seth	Wissner	7735 Arthur Avenue	Saint Louis	63117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Allen	1723 Manassas Drive, Baraboo, WI	Baraboo	53913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy Ann	Turner	1844 S.E. County Road 21 B	Melrose	32666	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Carnevale	110 Pelletown Road	Lafayette	7848	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Thomas	P.O. Box 603	HARRISVILLE	48740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R. Peter	Burnham	18 Eaton St.	Lawrence	1843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan Marshall	Bierman	300 West 17th St., Apt. 3A	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Shapiro	Cortlandt manor	Cortlandt Manor	10567	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bobbie	Clark	1 Civic Center Plaza	Poughkeepsie	12601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	RIskin	891 Paseo Ferrelo	Santa Barbara	93103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Rushmet	9455 27th Ave SW	Seattle	98126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Madejczyk	2705 Highland Ave	Durham	27704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Daniello	Fairview ave	Belmont	2478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
F	Finney	4334 Blaisdell Avenue	Minneapolis	55409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vicki	Keyak	2591-18th Ave.	San Francisco	94116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Belford	316 S Bernadotte St	New Orleans	70119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	McKean	1301 S 11th St	Philadelphia	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Baker	Smith	11416 10th Ave S	Seattle	98168	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rita	Wessel	5	San Jose	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phuc	Do	1890 Schulte Dr	San Jose	95133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Davidson	9216 robinson ave	FRANKLIN PARK	60131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	Scorer	7523 Hollywood Boulevard #315	Los Angeles	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fran	Watson	9734 Jamacha Blvd	SPRING VALLEY	91977	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Robins	15212 Nottingham Lane	Huntington Beach	92647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Kopecky	160 Parkside Ave.	Brooklyn	11226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brent	H	3600 Old Forest Rd. #146	Lynchburg	24501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jared	Widman	504 1/2 DeKalb St	PORT ORCHARD	98366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Gill	27353 Terrytown Rd.	Menifee	92586	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Sallee	1626 Washington Street	Shelton	98584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cort	Brumfield	9002 N. E. Webster Street	PORTLAND	97220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melvin	Goss	6456 Timberhill	Cincinnati	45233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Lippard	Danielson Ct	Danielson	6239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Giles	106 millrock ct.	Carrboro	27510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frances	Lynch	po box 424	SWAMPSCOTT	1907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Engelsiepen	385 Toro Canyon Road	CARPINTERIA	93013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Salinitro	314 Lincon Ct Unit B	Bloomingdale	60108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Joned	5223 W. 92ND Street	Oak Lawn	60453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Weidmann	40 74th Street Beach Haven Crest	Beach Haven	8008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doris	Bancroft	P.O. Box 215	Vernon	85940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Salme	Armijo	2 Allegro St	Blue Diamond	89004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Cohen	6112 Alder St.	Pittsburgh	15206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Andersen	425 5th St	Boone	50036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Bailey	One Columbus Place	New York	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Sacks	no	Palm Harbor	34685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Fabbiani	64 Fairfield Ln.	MASTIC BEACH	11951	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Damon	Dudek	263 Chandler St.	Buffalo	14207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Henninger	800 North Main St.	Meadville	16335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Finlayson	1205 S Dishman Rd	Spokane	99206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Erlich	7840 Woodman Ave #174, Panorama City, CA	Panorama City	91402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yanilka	Luppino mora	2200 east preserve way 304 miramar Florida	Hollywood	33025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregg	Finney	13495 Pecos Street	Denver	80234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Neuschaefer	49 Oak Lane	BRECKENRIDGE	80424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Kershner	24517 E Truman Rd	Independence	64056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glory	Arroyos	3100 garden villa ln	Austin	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Bird	1711 65th Ave NE	TACOMA	98422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	McCabe	5145 N. Lincoln	Chicago	60625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nick	Meek	5177 E Woodspring Dr.	TUCSON	85712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DarLayne	Yliniemi	114 6th St SE Menahga, MN	Menahga	56464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Costas	Loullis	114 Sir Richard lane	Chapel Hill	27517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	Seely	1310 Sterlign Drive	York	17404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Greenman	4805 Breakers Lane	Asheville	28806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
tony	hintze	1718 w albion	Chicago	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anna	Mammelli	11702 Allard street	Norwalk	90650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Klaus	Kraemer	19849 Villa Drive Unit 108	Sonora	95370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Kerslake	14301 NE 73rd St.	Vancouver	98682	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Belknap	900 Hillsborough Street	Raleigh	27603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Anderson	1327 Fair Ave	Columbus	43205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	DeNardo	309 Ryan Street	MATAWAN	7747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katherine	Nungesser	320 West 140th Street	New York	10030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Green	21201 N. E. 12 Avenue	Miami	33179	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Bell	49 John St., #6, Malden, MA	Malden	2148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Lindberg	10903 NE 102nd Street	Vancouver	98662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Blaze	Bhence	4190 Elizabeth Court	Cypress	90630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Higgons	152 Willow Street	New Haven	6511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eve	Curtis	27 Amherst Rd	Waban	2468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Candace	Howard	1019 DE KOVEN AVE	Racine	53403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Kellum	500 Canyon Ave	Garretson	57030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beulah	White	2605 El Camino Drive	Middletown	45044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Richardson	8970 Rosewood Way	Jessup	20794	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Hays	19721 71st Pl W	Lynnwood	98036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terri	Henry	30817 Cnty. 2 Blvd.	Red Wing	55066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Ford	183 Division St.	New Haven	6511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Easterday	5135 Sanjacinto ave	Atascadero	93422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jake	Moore	1741 Azteca Drive, Fort Worth, TX	Fort Worth	76112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ricky	Blanton	193B Bellevue Avenue	MARION	43302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Logan	1235 E. Camino Diestro	Tucson	85704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Pineiro	744 Broad Street	Augusta	30901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Broleman	5610 Milentz Avenue	Saint Louis	63109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Deakin	336 Cedar Lane	Mount Laurel	8054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deb	Jameson	46045 Spruce Pl	Kenai	99611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Workman	3063 s Whisper Street	Salt Lake City	84120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Manon	1924 Winston Drive	Hagerstown	21740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brent	and Anne	62 Preble Lane	Brooklin	4616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	King	136 Spindletop Way	Stockbridge	30281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roel	CantÌ¼	1010 Hollyfield St	Mission	78572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roslyn	Pulitzer	2742 La Silla Dorada	SANTA FE	87505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. M - Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Art and Carol	Stroede	xxxx x xx	Milwaukee	53216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Goldberg	4040 Grand View Blvd #30	LOS ANGELES	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paula	Myers	2504 Palomas Dr NE	Albuquerque	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kevin	madden	1411 hawkins corners drive	Fenton	63026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosalind	b	500 Edgerton Dr., San Bernardino, CA	San Bernardino	92405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lou	Vontver	4904 NE Princeton Way	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Windrum	160 S. Gramercy Pl., #206	Los Angeles	90004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Sandgrund	1310 Delaware Ave.	Buffalo	14209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Peyton	9551B James St	PHILADELPHIA	19114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melanie	Rising	178 Lincoln St. Apt 12	Worcester	1605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lance J	Konover	91 Crest Ave	CHELSEA	2150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

lee	jordan	6224 condon ave	Los Angeles	90056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
maria	ramos	3117 N. Sawyer	Chicago	60618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Pfoutz	115 E Kings Hwy Unit 161	Maple Shade	8052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Skalecki	PO Box 709 Union, ME	Union	4862	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Thunberg	3075 Sanders Rd	Northbrook	60062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tammy	Cook	10143 County Rt. 87	Hammondsport	14840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sally	Trice	100 Dorset St	Portland	4102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jess	Ziegner	135 center st	NAPERVILLE	60540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joselyn	Hanmer	287 NW MILLER RD	Portland	97229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Harrison	7491 Mirabel Road	Forestville	95436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Milgram	405 Bloom Grade RD	Boulder Creek	95006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Landers	277 N Main St, Andover, MA	Andover	1810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

maria	ramos	3117 N. Sawyer	Chicago	60618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Bernstein	107 W86 St.	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alice	Sgroi	11127 Patrina Court	Saint Louis	63126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joshua	Adamson	6816 E. Mainsgate Rd. Wichita, Ks	Wichita	67226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Georgia	Antonopoulos	1880 Pleasant Hill Road, Pleasant Hill	Pleasant Hill	94523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Hersam	1680 Autumn Ave	Schaumburg	60193	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Wagner	7821 Gloria Lake Ave.	San Diego	92119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Reegen	1574 Andorre Glen	ESCONDIDO	92029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Klaus	Proemm	14 Harrison St	Canton	13617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Bernhagen	2724 36th Ave	SAN FRANCISCO	94116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anna	Oeste	8 997 northeast day rd	Bainbridge Island	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jaime	Contreras	3930 E Twain ave	LAS VEGAS	89121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Lareau	720 Edgehill Drive	HURST	76053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	Orosco	523 miller	PACIFICA	94044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valerie	Ralston	P.O. Box 1143	MI WUK VILLAGE	95346	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Burdette	Shoott		909 Bel Air	21014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J. Patrick	George	6348 Sharon Hills Road	Charlotte	28210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Kelly	484 A Eagle Island Rd	Kankakee	60901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shelva	Polk	5512 Vaught Drive	Nashville	37209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Troglia Sr	821 E. Main St.	Morris	60450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Val	Campbell	859 Dousman St., Green Bay, Wi.	Green Bay	54303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Felicia	L.Briggs	6208 9 Street South	Bessemer	35020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anderson	Wright	28616Ryan dr	Farmington	48336	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norris	Willliams	2430 nw 38 st	Gainesville	32605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Liz	Lambregtse	PO Box 1077, Lebanon, NH	Lebanon	3766	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Villemeur	3328 Sugar Mill Rd	KENNER	70065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kay	Steinauer	416 Benson Street	Council Bluffs	51501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rick	Snyder	Rte. 256	Dansville	14437	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phuc	Do	1890 Schulte Dr	San Jose	95133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roy	England II	3311 30th Ave N	Saint Petersburg	33713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beverly	Price	20 Old Mill Rd	Dillsburg	17019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Meadows	417 East Sproles Av.	Greenwood	29649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jeanie	ghafari	16128 Gardendale Dr.	Tampa	33624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J. Patrick	George	6348 Sharon Hills Road	Charlotte	28210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
K. R.	Di Donna	PO Box 1434	La Jolla	92038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristin	Leve	1907 Gold Ave SE Apt 6	Albuquerque	87106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Mohr	641A Main St.	Half Moon Bay	94019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Carpentter	7 kendall Ln.	Freeport	4032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kay	Steinauer	416 Benson Street	Council Bluffs	51501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Christol	835 Lily Ave	CUPERTINO	95014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
HW	Berry II	43 Desert Thorn	Rancho Santa Margarita	92688	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Hindenlang	8182 Kingfisher Drive	HUNTINGTON BEACH	92646	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Madeline	Gwozd	129 HUNT DRIVE	FLORIDA	10921	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Sawyer	2717 SE 31st Ave	Portland	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorraine	Heidecker	5909 Del Campo Lane	Carmichael	95608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anna	Shaughnessy	2529 State Route 534	Geneva	44041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexis	Fields	1395 Bay Road East Palo Alto, CA	Palo Alto	94303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Kimbell	9513 E Valley Ranch PKWY	Irving	75063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ralph	Shively	135 Marquette St. #2	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert J	Sunde Jr	84 Summer Winds Drive, NE	Rio Rancho	87124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Ward	610 Blair Dr.	WESTBURY	11590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sherrie	Heckendorn	16745 SE Division St	Portland	97236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Burcham	1052 ninth St. Apt. 300	Imperial Beach	91932	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Nicholson	44 Fairwinds Drive	Osterville	2655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Lineberry	639 Gardenia Glen	Escondido	92025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ty	Shlackman	12965 SW 112 AVE	MIAMI	33176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Rummel	4178 Illinois St Apt 4	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cameron	redmond	1000 spring loop	College Station	77840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Ward	610 Blair Dr.	WESTBURY	11590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claudette	Kulkarni	1133 N. Saint Clair St.	PITTSBURGH	15206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Corey	Weaver	123 street st.	Leola	17540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Kelly	3643 Waco St	SAN DIEGO	92117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anna	Griffith	Mesones 78	San Miguel de Allende	37700	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Al	Bolding	250 E Betsy Ct	Gilbert	85296	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Porter	735 Brockett Rd.	Dolgeville	13329	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Pilewskie	1001 National Avenue	San Bruno	94066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Guy	Foley	2333 Lorelei ln nw	SEABECK	98380	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Bourlotos	2315 Gates Ct	Morris Plains	7950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Townsend	1975 Beachwood Dr	Los Angeles	90068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aaron	Feinberg	po box 223612	Princeville	96722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Li	Chan	15261 Clemente str	Westminster	92683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Barry	8 wayah cove rd	Franklin	28734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

james	bolton	121 roosevelt dr	mahanoy	17948	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Zamlich	18828 Mountain Dale court, Newhall, Ca	Newhall	91321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Aleep	302 Bermuda	Tallahassee	32312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Hastings	1070 Novelly Dr	Reno	89503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Jackson	2634 Natchez Ct	League City	77573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Auvenshine	152 B Royal Lakes Dr	WAYNESBORO	30830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mollie	Strugats	69 Gardiners Bay Dr	Shelter Island Heights	11965	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Klimaitis	1638 Olson Dr	Ellison Bay	54210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carter	Neal	5514 Roosevelt	Austin	78756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rick	Wilson	1385 CROWN DRIVE	Alameda	94501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thijs	Messelaar	201 High St.	Newburyport	1950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Johnson	1109 grant ave.	ROCKFORD	61103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gladys	Woolfork	19491 hartwell	Detroit	48235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Bernier	4 Carousel dr	Riverside	2915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
We	Burgart	3333 34th Street	FORT LAUDERDALE	33308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Troiano	5118 Rebel Ridge Dr	sugar land	77478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	White	50 Manchester St	ROCHESTER	14621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Wolf	940 Augusta Way	Highland Park	60035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S	Barrientos	Pacific Street, Carson, CA	Carson	90745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miguel	Mejia	11002 428th Ave SE	North Bend	98045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B	Smith	972 Chatwood St	Memphis	38122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Abelman	231 Arlington St	Watertown	2472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Lambert	1197 High St	Eugene	97401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	O'Brien	2975 W. Princeton Ave.	Eau Claire	54703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chas	Speno	112 rio vista	Durango	81301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Werner	354 Hastings Rd	WAITSFIELD	5673	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	LaFontise	453 South Race Street	Denver	80209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	Berkenbush	115 Mandeville Ave	Pequannock	7440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gwyn	Williams	19489 Laurelbrook	Sonoma	95476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deirdre	Jameson	50 E. Chestnut St.	Chicago	60611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jody	Hurrish	1300 Briggs Ct. #310	Stevens Point	54481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Quiroz	5145 East Valencia Dr	Orange	92869	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Barboza	8210 W. Bitterbush Lane	Port Saint Lucie	34952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Holley	745 Kilgarron Ct	ALPHARETTA	30004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Hays	23 Hillandale Drive	Staunton	24401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Smollin	532 El Dorado	Pasadena	91101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Haroldo	Nunes	442 S KOHLER RD	Orrville	44667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Watts	1538 S. College	WEBB CITY	64870	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rich	Hladky	1102 Scott Ave	BREMERTON	98310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Raddell	15314 Huntmere Ave	Cleveland	44110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianna	Velez	32 Irving st	Boston	2114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Alfaro	424 Gold Avenue	Felton	95018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Robinson	33 Ridgewood Road	Woodbury	6798	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Becker	Ponte Vedra Beach, FL	Ponte Vedra Beach	32082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Brnson	2520 Alpine Trail	Huron	44839	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jill	Vega	2079 Winding Creek Drive	Belvidere	61008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I really am sick of paying these box fees for 4 V's at 9 dollars each plus the package. I pay $132 per month. That is as much as my electric bill!!!
Christina	Ferrell	7209 N 15th Street	Philadelphia	19126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Celia	James	2887 Philip Avenue	Bronx	10465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Forrest	Brandt	4039 Russell Ave N	Minneapolis	55412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Pribilski	10042 Briar Dr.	Houston	77042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Kato	4555 39th Ave SW	Seattle	98116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony	Li	2101 Tulane Drive	RICHARDSON	75081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Brano	1901 JFK Blvd	Philadelphia	19103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	Prem	665 Halekauwila St	Honolulu	96813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Lord-Drakes	798 Glenspring Dr	Lawrenceville	30043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Koch	4215 South Church Way 9	Louisville	40207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	BIscotti	5078 Nebbiolo Court	Fairfield	94534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Barboza	8210 W. Bitterbush Lane	Port Saint Lucie	34952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Pepple	4501 Mineral Point Rd	Madison	53705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Shannon	1420 W Belle Plaine, Apt 2W	Chicago	60613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	Denny	8408 S 204th Drive	Buckeye	85326	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Scheffer	752 William Dr	LIVERMORE	94550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Aronson	108 Catamaran Street	Marina del Rey	90292	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	kushner	2956 Quentin rd	Brooklyn	11229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Arntson	1615 208th St SE, #3	BOTHELL	98012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Roberts	307 W. Grant St.	LANCASTER	17603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gloria	Quigley	1957 Dipper Loop	The Villages	32162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lyle	BROSCHAT	2034 NE 40th ave 402	Portland	97212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vance	Lausmann	31475 San Ardo Ave	CATHEDRAL CITY	92234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Clarke	104 Copal Dr. Youngsville, La	Youngsville	70592	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vincent	Lipert	3487 Ridgewood Path, The Villages, FL	THE VILLAGES	32163	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Vesper	1601 Berkeley Way	BERKELEY	94703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

W	Herrera	82 Park Ave.	WALNUT CREEK	94595	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Babst	728 N. Doheny Drive	West Hollywood	90069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty	Sabo	3137 Palmdesert Way	LAS VEGAS	89120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	dillenbeck	738 potrero	San Francisco	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward R	Crockett	1005 W 7th Apt. 8	Eugene	97402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	White	1606 Morton Ave	Ann Arbor	48104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Blake	Jernigan	2000 S. Main St., apt. 206	Little Rock	72206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alita	DeMarco	2136 Glencoe Hills Dr.Apt. 6	Ann Arbor	48108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Peter	5805 98th Ave. NW	Gig Harbor	98335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Jones	75 Merganser Dr	Milford	19963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Eilering	107 Oak Ridge Estates Drive	Glen Carbon	62034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Childs	190 BRUSH CREEK DR	Rochester	14612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Goldschmid	35 felters road	Binghamton	13903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Cheney	1804 N 3rd St., St. Peter MN	Saint Peter	56082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Hess	936 Linden Ave.	Boulder	80304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Watson	111 Springhill Dr.	RIO VISTA	94571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Messerschmitt	5179 Boyd	CARMICHAEL	95608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamie	Pugliese	45-28 42nd ST Apt 1D	Sunnyside	11104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Brooks	335 Old Fork School Rd	Townville	29689	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Cantrell	3502 Highway 112	EASTLAND	76448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	OLoughlin	1958 Alpland Ct	Sparks	89434	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Mackie	2070 Susquehanna Rd.	Abington	19001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keegan	Brian	4875 Fm 535	Cedar Creek	78612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Tucker	fortuna. ca	Fortuna	95540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Vogt	10324 ASH ST	Overland Park	66207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jody	johnson	535 Wilderness Dr.	Midland	48640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	Fiorella	163 Evergreen Drive	Tonawanda	14150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Watson	28001 Barnes Rd	Monrovia	21770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	VrMeer	680 Jordan Rd	Sedona	86336	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Volck	4 Vine	Cincinnati	45202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keyon	Jeff	120 Alex Williams Lane	Houma	70360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	McChrystal	846 4th St. Santa Monica	Santa Monica	90403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Phillips	507 Oak St. Apt. 1	Muscatine	52761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip J.	Hyun	25 Bennington Drive	EDISON	8820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	Fleischer	2732 Huntingdon Pike	HUNTINGDON VALLEY	19006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Masters	2 Morgan Sq Apt 1 #3707	Nantucket	2554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carl	Alcott	702 Golf St.	Odessa	64076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Beatini	22 Wierimus Road, Hillsdale, NJ	Hillsdale	7642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Courtney	829 Oakwood Road	Charleston	25314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bo	Sawczyn	5230 Jamaica Rd	Cocoa	32927	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Javier	Rivera	55 south 3rd street	Brooklyn	11249	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Courtney	829 Oakwood Road	Charleston	25314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christina	Ferrell	7209 N 15th Street	Philadelphia	19126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Kunhardt	2506 Delmer	Oakland	94602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
N.	Dumser	313 Asharoken Ave.	Northport	11768	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Bengel	20 Canterbury Ct	WENDELL	27591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Pardee	3730 Dellwood Drive	KNOXVILLE	37919	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shauna	Lynn	39 Main St	Shelburne Falls	1370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eileen	Nesbitt	9152 C Avenue	Hesperia	92345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Byrne	1115 Snyder Ave	Scranton	18504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerome	Nezworski	517 Leonard St.	Ironwood	49938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Geoffrey	Ivison	1307 Vine Street	San Jose	95110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Worley	212 S. Maple Ave	Oak Park	60302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Whittney	Harmon	1451 Farmview Avenue	Saint Louis	63138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Spacer	654 Winter Haven Street	Anchorage	99504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Halsey	8627 Ordinary Way	Annandale	22003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stanley	Brewer	pobox18	La France	29656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joel	Dixon	136 NW 20th St	Oklahoma City	73103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Liewehr	15000 Lear Lane	Silver Spring	20905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
thelma	crymes	6068 eastbrooke	WEST BLOOMFIELD	48322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Ford	12603 Dawnridge Ct	Midlothian	23114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Jones	742 Garden Ave	Manistique	49854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Rosse	78 Lakeview	Irvine	92604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynne	Van Ness	5105 Rosewood Drive	Traverse City	49685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Allen	2318 NW Schmidt Way	Beaverton	97006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Overmann	508 El Camino Real #4	BURLINGAME	94010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kent	Anderson	2384 Autumn Ridge Dr.	STERLING HEIGHTS	48310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hayley	Werner	PO Box 593	Norton	2766	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Janusauskas	415 Spring Park Loop	BOURBONNAIS	60914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	d	glendale	Glendale	91205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
j	p	2817 west end	Nashville	37203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Lupo	1215 3RD ST SW	Albuquerque	87102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Austin-Buss	N11770 CTY.H/LOT42/BOX 147-3	Camp Douglas	54618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Felicia	Bruce	106 mariner bay blvd	FORT PIERCE	34949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Robertson	88 Washington St.	Brewer	4412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	d	glendale	Glendale	91205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Cohn	798 Baltimore Rd., Apt. 88, Valparaiso, IN 46385	Valparaiso	46385	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Schmidt	4640 Overlook Dr.	MILTON	53563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Howell	20200 CENTER BROOK SQ	Sterling	20165	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tobey	Thatcher	1037 E Empire Canyon Ln	Sahuarita	85629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Petrilla	2817 west end	Nashville	37203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rick	Hennigar	325 Highlake Ave	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Borelli	12 bates lane, apt. 6	Windham	4062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Curry	369 Maryann Ln	POMONA	91767	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JoAnn	Hediger	210 New Salem Dr.	SAINT LOUIS	63141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Hails	11545 Carriage Park Lane	Duluth	30097	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lennart	Blomqvist	Box 7418	Windber	15963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brenda	Michaels	15617 258th Pl. SE Issaquah, WA	Issaquah	98027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosemarie	Conforti	501 Crescent Street, New Haven, CT	New Haven	6515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carrie	Schudda	Oregon Wi	OREGON	53575	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Derek	Iverson	7015 N Ivanhoe St	Portland	97203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Grassi	121 Fairview Ave., Binghamton, NY	Binghamton	13904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Metcalfe	18140 Nalle Road	North Fort Myers	33917	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

pat	mchale	4444 s rio grande av 632	Orlando	32839	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Schaefer	10409 Salisbury Street	RIVERVIEW	33569	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Gates	125 N Hamilton St	Madison	53703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ramon	Gonzalez	2619 Stephenson Ave.	Bremerton	98310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Laurita	11777 N Palawan Pl	Tucson	85737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Schickendantz	1458 Edgemoor ave	AKRON	44313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip	Cox	343 Partridge Run Rd.	Gibsonia	15044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T	Mitchell		Tallahassee	32301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Brown	7113 Melrose Ave.	Cleveland	44103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Cope	590 Northaven Drive	Memphis	38127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Roth	4502 Elmore Ave. Apt. 113	Davenport	52807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jimmie	Robinson	6971 vivian dr	Pensacola	32505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dawn	Munn	113 Bala Ave	Oreland	19075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Young	5828 Kantor Ct.	San Diego	92122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Danny	Roay	197 Buchanan rd	Pittsburg	94565	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Henderson	PO Box 1863	Paonia	81428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Parker	118 Rosewood Dr	Glenshaw	15116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Parker	118 Rosewood Dr	Glenshaw	15116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

B	Shan	Indiana	Cedar Lake	46303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jill	Wettersten	88 Kendal Drive	Oberlin	44074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kip	Goldman	510 W Howe St	Tempe	85281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry	Signoretti	1449 Bing Drive	San Jose	95129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shaw	Dehghan	Mill Valley, CA	Mill Valley	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
darius	mitchell	2727 w manor pl #202	Seattle	98199	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Gray	1418 S. Maple St.	Spokane	99203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christian	Holt	202 Kimberly drive	DICKSON	37055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Audley	Blackburn	8607 DElaware Court	Austin	78758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and I want a set top box that provides talking menus for blind people. I'm paying money for two cable boxes from TimeWarner that I can barely use and paying for services I cannot access.Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Mead	211 Myrtle St.	SANTA CRUZ	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reginald	Jones	601 East Kennedy Blvd	Tampa	33602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trisha	Townsend	1565 Logan Avenue	Salt Lake City	84105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Dillon	46 East St	Litchfield	6759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ben	Riddle	3378 Prange Dr., Apt. 1201	Cuyahoga Falls	44223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Campbell	2818 Buckskin Way	Riverbank	95367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Kron	PO BOX 210283	San Francisco	94121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Bowers	8080 E Speedway Blvd	Tucson	85710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marco	DE CASTIGLIONE	Via Catalani, 7		I20131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Kearsley	1522 Mimosa Avenue	Charlotte	28205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Madden	1704 South Rd	Baltimore	21209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Prieur	263 Cross Creek Drive	Petal	39465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nat	Childs	PO Box 511	MIRANDA	95553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	traver	7510 Oak Valley Ln	Browns Summit	27214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
brenna	gutell	6692 indianbroom ct	Oak Park	91377	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Johnson	22532 Tiermas	Mission Viejo	92691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Myriam	Baynard	4114 E 6th St	Cheyenne	82001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheri	Frame	3 cadillac ct	LAKE SAINT LOUIS	63367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julie	Hoffer	54 Livingston St. #10	Brooklyn	11201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Rosloff	17803 Devonshire St Unit 3 Northridge	Northridge	91325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Robinson	800 Campfire road	Rio Rancho	87124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wendi	Frishman	6000 Brook Rd apt 303	Richmond	23227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gary	scheele	432 Liberty Street	San Francisco	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Out	247 Valley Rd	ITHACA	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Milan	Pantelic	6806 Charing Xing	West Bloomfield	48322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexandre	Gomes	Staveley	Kendal	LA8 9LN	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Rogers	6055 Water Oaks Dr	Austell	30106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fayten	El-Dehaibi	4264 Minnesota Street, Pittsburgh, PA	Pittsburgh	15217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bradford	Crumb	581 S Square Dr Apt 79	Winterville	28590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	johnson	13211 se 256th st kent wa	Kent	98042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

L.	L.	1606	Los Angeles	90035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jaye	Martin	1051 N Dewey Ave	Reedsburg	53959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Hauswald	8285 broadview dr.	Kelseyville	95451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Albertson	3330 170 Place SE	Bothell	98012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexandra	Strickler	Woerthstr. 35		81667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Eckman	255 S. Rengstorff	Mountain View	94040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Helen	Anderson	180 Delaware Ct.	PORTLAND	4103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Castriota	5 halliwell drive	stamford	6902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
AE	Lyon	3529 Maloney	Knoxville	37920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leonard	Epstein	200 E 41st Ave	EUGENE	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dean	Powlus	2334 Kensington Street	Harrisburg	17104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Angell	1539 Morse Rd.	BATTLE CREEK	49014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Libby	Sosa	301 Gallup Hill RD	Ledyard	6339	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hermin	Kann	`628 Coburn, McMinnville	McMinnville	97128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Rose	355 Stony Kill Road	ACCORD	12404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Luchtel	3310 Crill Ave. #101	Palatka	32177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carrie	Villela	3846 West 118 Street	Hawthorne	90250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Mihok	5075 Vista Chico Loop	Las Cruces	88012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alex	Oshiro	1508 Pensacola St. Apt. #309	Honolulu	96822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Wozniak	P.O. Box 1750	MENDOCINO	95460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ian	Abrams	18 Woodlawn Ave	Bradford	16701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lovice	Holland	1520 Imperial Gold Course Blvd.	Naples	34110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosetta	Hixson	1786 CHALLEN AVE APT 5	Jacksonville	32205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	McDonald	332 Riverside Dr	Wyandotte	48192	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

john	corrie	262 George St Apt C	Bensenville	60106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Weinstock	6 Gavin Rd	West Orange	7052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harish	Mohan	68 Tunbridge Way, San Jose CA	San Jose	95120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruben	Cuevas	2283 N. Lake Ave	Altadena	91001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Violeta	Duarte	2636Fulton Ave, Sacramento Ca,	Sacramento	95821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Williams	3228 Bridgefield Dr.	Ann Arbor	48108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phillip	Ramsey	6007 Nordic Dr	Panama City	32404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
raphael	roberts	2507 17th ave south apt 2	Minneapolis	55404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Gerrard	1090 Via Capassi Way	Henderson	89011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tuan	Kim	2148 Muirwood Court, San Jose, CA 95132	San Jose	95132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Ruggiero	113 Rathbun St Coventry RI	Coventry	2816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caryl	Velisek	5593 COTTONWOOD CT	Frederick	21703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

WILLIAM	KATZ	522 ENTRADA DR NOVATO CA	Novato	94949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paige	May	16 Preston Rd, Dallas, PA	Dallas	18612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
G	Amigon	31st St	BROOKLYN	11232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doreen	Roethler	32838 Timberwood Dr	LEESBURG	34748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Marinilli	2970 Emo Rd	WAYLAND	14572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Smith	2826 Bay Leaf Drive SE	Conyers	30094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry	Kesselman	45 Crocker Rd. Medford,MA	MEDFORD	2155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	B	3030 W	High Point	27265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffery	Cunha	17812 N 3rd Pl	Phoenix	85022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Maher	1201 evergreen ave	Asbury Park	7712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melanie	Kuhn	301 Swindon Way #102, West Lafayette	West Lafayette	47906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Nelson	1006 Foxfire Dr	Lawrenceville	30044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Green	4 Beecher Pl.	Newton Center	2459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paula	Fugman	PO BOX 194	Covelo	95428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ela	Tabatt	8106 Niles Ave.	Skokie	60077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

guy	gentile	119 wishart dr	Beaver	15009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Nix	17095 Tomahawk Trail	PLYMOUTH	46563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pete	Cutler	7605 Ostrich drive se	OLYMPIA	98513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jay	Armbruster	8012 Ember Crest	Knoxville	37938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Singer	80-23 222nd St	QUEENS VILLAGE	11427	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Chang	1044 Linden Ave	Glendale	91201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Irving	27 Crescent View Ave	CAPE ELIZABETH	4107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Pope	32 Birch Avenue	Shalimar	32579	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Ranavaro	7152 e. norland st.	Mesa	85207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diana	Washburn	400 Willard Street	Leominster	1453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Myron	865 Summit Avenue, Jersey City, NJ	Jersey City	7307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Hinerfeld	17115 Sonoma Highway	Sonoma	95476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Nunez	7 Sanders Drive Apt4	Florence	41042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Powell	321 Kings Hwy	NORTH HAVEN	6473	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Adams	5990 arapaho rd., 1E, dallas, tx	Dallas	75248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Gioffre	P.O.BOX 529	Greenwood Lake	10925	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Voorhies	38 Clark Point Rd	Bernard	4612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Isaac	Wingfield	1984 San Miguel Road	Santa Rosa	95403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Cobb	10106 Arrowhead Drive	Jacksonville	32257	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Peischl	coach Court	Allison Park	15101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Jacobs	229 Brannan St	San Francisco	94107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fred	Fall	106 Uxbridge	Cherry Hill	8034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Delegal	1895 San Marco Blvd	JACKSONVILLE	32207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Saxe	480 Rosedale Avenue	WHITE PLAINS	10605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ursula	Levy	3027 Willow Green	Sarasota	34235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Allard	850 boon	TRAVERSE CITY	49686	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Denson	1103 Hanshaw Rd.	ITHACA	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

DeWitt	Durham	16 Camborne Avenue	San Carlos	94070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lyle	Chandler	700 Berkshire Blvd	Lorain	44055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Brandt	220 Fairview Ave	EAST PEORIA	61611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeremy	Spencer	551 Arguello Boulevard	PACIFICA	94044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tyler	Brenman	19 Dante Road	Monroe Township	8831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jima	Rice	Box 2124	Ketchum	83340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mitzi	Kodish	9919 NE 144th Lane	Kirkland	98034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Cook	137 Navin Aly	Johnstown	15901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Cuyjet	2 Sullivan Ave	DALY CITY	94015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Hierl	462 Prospect Pl.	Brooklyn	11238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Byrne	9113 O Overton Ave	San Diego	92123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Fichter	8449 Colgate St.	Oak Park	48237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Medio	Waldt	126 West Devon Drive	Exton	19341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Marks	Valley Road	Naugatuck	6770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Johnstone	7022 Crittenden St	Philadelphia	19119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sirina	Sucklal	8511 Autumn Grain Gate	LAUREL	20723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Fikuart	810 11th St	Kalona	52247	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthea	Wray	12439 stafford springs dr	Houston	77077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diona	Butler	234 W. Gettysburg	Clovis	93613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Vacchiery	4023 Cascadia Ave S	Seattle	98118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Read	723 9th Avenue NE	Hickory	28601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathie	Mansukhani	26311 Mitchell Place	Stevenson Ranch	91381	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Lapointe	2508 Carambola Circle N.	Coconut Creek	33066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Jennings	123 North Claremont	San Mateo	94401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bill	Gibson	660 Camino de los Mares	San Clemente	92673	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phyllis	Reed	5175 N. Feland Ave, #140	Fresno	93711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Kwok	1231 VALERIAN CT APT 4	SUNNYVALE	94086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	Underwood	New York	New York	10009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Lonsdale	2014 SW 29 Ct #B2	Delray Beach	33445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Daniels	5737 Pinon Grande Rd. NW	Albuquerque	87114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Somi	Obozuwa	9150 NW 7th Ave, Apt 408, Miami, FL 33150	Miami	33150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ELIZABETH	GALARZA	2853 CHERRY AVE	Signal Hill	90755	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	sordill	652 w. roscoe st	Chicago	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	Johnson	365 Hickory Lane	Berea	40403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Kelly	pobox 1224	Buena Vista	81211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amjed	Manasrah	18434 lakepointe dr.	RIVERSIDE	92503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bobby	Belknap	2128 Pilgrim Highway	FRANKFORT	49635	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Fisher	1039 Lavender Court	Carpinteria	93013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henrik	Fallian	1935 mAlpha Road, #222	Glendale	91208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	McHugh	31 Sagamore Trl	SPARTA	7871	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Pearlman	4471 Hampshire Place	San Jose	95136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Brace	33825 121st St E	Pearblossom	93553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

T	Albrich	P.O. Box 2474	Hillsboro	97123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Merritt	Claude	4901 Henry Hudson Pkwy w.	Bronx	10471	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lita	Heterington	po box 93 Frederica De.	Frederica	19946	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deuel	Woodward	144 Garrett Ave., #6	Chula Vista	91910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
A	Warren	1111 E Ramon RD	Palm Springs	92264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cecilia	Perry	4201 Cathedral Ave NW apt. 601E	Washington	20016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Todd	Templeton	Templeton	Sunland	91040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	McCormick	65 Beaver River Rd	West Kingston	2892	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Albert	Diamond	1508 Mexican Heather Ct, Pflugerville	Pflugerville	78660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristine	Andarmani	19616 Ladera Ct.	Saratoga	95070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Penny	Altman	46 Orchard Hill Drive, Sharon, MA	Sharon	2067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessamine	Belland	1729 Chandler Ave	Kalamazoo	49004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann	Kuitunen	Maplewood, MN	Saint Paul	55119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra A.	Spratley	12801 Hollins Place	Bowie	20716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Read	723 9th Avenue NE	Hickory	28601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Schwiebert	1988 new central ave	Lakewood	8701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Frouge	25 Juniper Road	Placitas	87043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Mitchell	21 Patricia RD	POUGHKEEPSIE	12603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Creasman	113 Conner st	Forest City	28043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Kribel	Kribel	GREEN VALLEY	85614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Boisse	615 Fernglen Ct	Colorado Springs	80906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Luis	Soria	227 Duke Road	San Antonio	78264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristoffer	Lott	91 Marine View Pl	PORT TOWNSEND	98368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Merritt	Claude	4901 Henry Hudson Pkwy w.	Bronx	10471	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Melski	1136 W Ives St	Marshfield	54449	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gittins	5 Bell Street	NORTH BROOKFIELD	1535	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jerry	martens	2382 lehman dr	West Chicago	60185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eva	Parsons	8216 Ducharme Ave	Las Vegas	89145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Lapointe	2508 Carambola Circle N.	Coconut Creek	33066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Vanderbosch	117 Oak village Blvd	Homosassa	34446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Spurlin	1062 W. Ina Rd	Tucson	85704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Warfel	USA	Ocala	34482	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mal	Gaff	801 W. Ocean Ave	Lompoc	93436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Osborn	701 N Vista Ridge Blvd	Cedar Park	78613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karl	Kilian	2012 Vine St Apt E	Green Bay	54302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Seth	Mirsky	25 Rocky Road	Westport Island	4578	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Virginia	Lee	1458 Princeton Avenue	Salt Lake City	84105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Booker	4019 Rhoda Ave., Apt A	Oakland	94602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shlomo	Orr	5900 W. 25th Avenue	Kennewick	99338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacquelyn	Davis	18404 N 15th St	Phoenix	85022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Snow	1944 Sandhurst Dr	Charlotte	28205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Hall	245 Vista Drive, Glenwood Springs, CO	Glenwood Springs	81601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alice	Henningsen	1500 Harbour Dr	Wheeling	60090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Patton	1881 SUTTER ST APT 105	SAN FRANCISCO	94115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Celeste	VeZolles	2642 Collins Ave., #507	Miami Beach	33140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Martin	280 Old Hebron Rd.	Plymouth	3264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Belt	1739 Avenue F	Council Bluffs	51501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Wilkes	Athens Ga	Athens	30606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Grace	Johnstone	1808 Bridgman Hill Rd.	Hardwick	5843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Schultz	339 w 4th	Whitefish	59937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Henry	8855 SW 83 St.	Miami	33173	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lawrence	Weber	7130 Constitution Sq Hts	Colorado Springs	80915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Evelyn	3590 Roundbottom Rd. Cincinnati, OH	Cincinnati	45244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
joanne	sininsky	4510 Carlton Golf Dr	Lake Worth	33449	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Hailstone	300 Beech Road	Loveland	45140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marion	Tidwell	3330 W 78th Place	Merrillville	46410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vincent	Collier	602 BISON LANE	Albany	31721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Cohen	2604 Jessica Ln, Apt 505	SCHAUMBURG	60173	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Rosenberg	740 Crisfield Way	Annapolis	21401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catina	Manno	1408 Idaho Ave	Orlando	32809	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Bentley	396 Highland Ave.	FITCHBURG	1420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Smith	676 Squoia Street, Imperial, CA	IMPERIAL	92251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Boscole	PO BOX 927	Lihue	96766	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mihail	Comanescu	6296 Forest Ave	Ridgewood	11385	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ron	sabatini	815 frost rd	Streetsboro	44241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gene	Hoffman	8600 E. Alameda Ave. 16-105	DENVER	80247	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Beaulieu	7420 N W 4th st apt 208	Fort Lauderdale	33317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Scoby	3145 Forest Ridge	MADISON	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julia	Lanigan	26 Melendy Avenue #3 Watertown	Watertown	2472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ginger	brewer	1024 willow lake circle	PENSACOLA	32506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samat	Jain	5545 Remington Road, Las Cruces, NM 88011	Las Cruces	88011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Jaeger	2404 Lafayette Ave, Unit B Roslyn PA	Abington	19001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Newell	Walls	1736 Carrabelle Beach Dr	CARRABELLE	32322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	Rallo	95 Brainard Avenue	Port Monmouth	7758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Hayes	6363 Streamview	San Diego	92115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	delucia	887 sterling ave	Geneva	60134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. This is monopoly. This is exploitation. This is a failure of the market.
Mona	Saxena	11455 SW 92nd Court	Miami	33176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Guy & Joyce	Weddle	2350 Plum Court	Pembroke Pines	33026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	LaBerge	115 Paradise Cove Rd.	Malibu	90265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Johnson	2242 NE 177th St.	Shoreline	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Burt	474 bramer rd	Ward	80481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Wiggin	137 Bunker Hill Avenue,	Stratham	3885	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruben	Garcia	P.O. Box 973	Lake Elsinore	92531	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	mcdermott	mcdermott	RALEIGH	27607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Anastasio	88 route 126 Falls Village Ct.	Falls Village	6031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Thompson	2543 Avenue G	Council Bluffs	51503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jose	Yero	119 n fairfax	Los Angeles	90036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S	Eva	10101 Bren	Hopkins	55343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesus	Reyes	707 Halyard ST	Port Hueneme	93041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Durham	0 Polk Street	New Orleans	70124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Fansler	6685 W Burnside Rd	Portland	97210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathi	Bornemann	13 Jean Ct	Woodbridge	7095	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura M.	Ohanian	P.O. Box 811, Eugene, OR	Eugene	97440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Ross	306 E 2350 N	Ogden	84414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Yamamoto	26522 Whispering Leabes Dr.	Newhall	91321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heberth	Cuervo	4863 37 street, LIC, NY 11101	Long Island City	11101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doug	Pynn	150 Timberlane Dr.	Athens	30606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victor	Lukas	3922 Whitfield Rd.	Chapel Hill	27514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mika	Menasco	3067 Polk Ave	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adam	Borus	1920 S Laflin	Chicago	60608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	stevens	1631 N 19th st	Grand Junction	81501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marijane	Fox	42 Riverside Drive	Barnardsville	28709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anita	Somers	Brewster NY	Brewster	10509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	de Carlo	615 Palmer Ave.	Keansburg	7734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Gauvin	61 Beechwood Road	New Ipswich	3071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	O'Hagan	derry rd	Philadelphia	19154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Heller	421 E 8th St	DULUTH	55805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Barone	8237 E. Whispering Wind Drive	Scottsdale	85255	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stan	Sheggeby	302 oriole lane	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sunny	Wilson	7321 Willowwick Way	Sacramento	95822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Rhodes	12376 merrick	Saint Louis	63146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Brittain	5236 Central Ave., #305, Riverside, CA	Riverside	92504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Lish	15700 Westwood Rd.	Brandywine	20613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Florence	Baranek	123 THORNWOOD DRIVE	MARLTON	8053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Flanders	1717 Overland Drive	Duncan	73533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Calhoun	3413 Concord Avenue	Madison	53714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kerry	Weaver	330 Witmer Rd.	Mohnton	19540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Fernandez	7074 KAMILO ST	Honolulu	96825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maya	Lenox	1207 Mission St	Duncanville	75137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gina	Megay	164 Stanhope Ave	Mantua	8051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Howe	98 Parmenter rd Framingham ma	Framingham	1701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Morris	42356 Wild Mustang Rd	MURRIETA	92562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Ament	Minneapolis	Minneapolis	55444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Virginia	Kovner	16127 Northfield St.	Pacific Palisades	90272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Little	691 Molalla ave #2	Oregon City	97045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JOHN	ZINNER	220-64 Swofford Road	MOSSYROCK	98564	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry	Smith	PO Box 206	Lake Park	51347	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Loewy	1111 Morse Ave #55, Sunnyvale CA	Sunnyvale	94089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vivian	Brown	2908 Southbrook Drive	Minneapolis	55431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Walter	Burbank	52 Samantha Ln.	AUBURN	4210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Stephens	5614 N. Armstrong	WICHITA	67204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Gould	184 NE 57th St	Newport	97365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Thomas	1 North Cove Rd	Sterling	1564	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
david	hufft	6570 highmont drive	Theodore	36582	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Parker	315 Eastern St	New Haven	6513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martha	Carrington	1555 Merrill Street	SANTA CRUZ	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
karen	mahoney	179 laurel st. # 21 florence Or	Florence	97439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kaylan	F	44 serene	Las Vegas	89123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sherrie	Roznieck	4845 Highlands Dr.	DELAWARE	43015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caroline	Gelsman	22 10th Street	PETALUMA	94952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Kinzie	1220 Gaylord St Apt 306	DENVER	80206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fred	Powell	2038 greenwich ln.	Toledo	43611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Libby	Goldstein	331 Queen St.`	Philadelphia	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clinton	Nagel	1385 Golden Gate Ave, Bozemen, MT	Bozeman	59718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francisco	Brandon	975 East Como Blvd	Saint Paul	55103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessie	Bourke	990 Copper Vista Dr.	Prescott	86303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geoffrey	Stout	1990 McCulloch Blvd N. Ste. D149	Lake Havasu City	86403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Kuelper	3111 California St.	Oakland	94602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
david	hufft	6570 highmont drive	Theodore	36582	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Warenz	1090 Loch Lomond Way	Salt Lake City	84117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joel	Sparler	Redmond	Redmond	98053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victor	Croasdale	Spring Valley	Spring Valley	61362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Proctor	seattle	Seattle	98122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	McCarty	5301 keystone st	PITTSBURGH	15201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mikki	Chalker	11 9 Prospect St Binghamton NY	Binghamton	13905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Conley	3527 Josie Ave, Long Beach CA	Long Beach	90808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

t	e	windsor	Dimondale	48821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gene	Ammarell	338 E Westminster Ave	Salt Lake City	84115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Ford	1053 W District St	TUCSON	85714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

nancy	easterling	2919 date street	SAN DIEGO	92102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thadra	Sheridan	2704 Aldrich Ave. S	MINNEAPOLIS	55408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Clouse	Evansville, IN	EVANSVILLE	47714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Larson	2409 Tucker Tr.	Lewis Center	43035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Newberry	281 Briarpatch Ln. SW#B	Calhoun	30701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
natalina	giugni	5901 Palisade Ave., Bronx, NYC	Bronx	10471	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Wallace	Preston Hills Circle	Prosper	75078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Powell	2038 Greenwich ln.	Toledo	43611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
donald	walth	1885 magnolia	Minneapolis	55441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ted	Williams	507 Ave. O	Ralls	79357	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
david	hufft jr	6570 highmont drive	Theodore	36582	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Perovich	2121 Bear Creek Pkwy #2125	Euless	76039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Hofman	483 Devon Road	LEE	1238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacqueline	Adamson	9804 Justina Court	LANHAM	20706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Garren	18176 S. Fernwood Road	Molalla	97038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Bodane	2302 Stuyvesant Drive	SCHENECTADY	12309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurence	Topliffe	208 S Court	Fairfield	52556	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Emery	1101 N. Leland Ave.,Indianapolis,IN	Indianapolis	46219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Rosenblum	212 Santa Rita Ave	PALO ALTO	94301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reginald	Stocking	1301 Sanchez St., SF, CA	San Francisco	94131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Cloud	15822 Echo Canyon Drive	Houston	77084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ashley	hufft	6570 highmont drive	Theodore	36582	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Huskey	11th Ave NE	Seattle	98105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kindy	Kemp	565 Blue Sky Drive	PORT TOWNSEND	98368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brandy	Harris	1234 Evergreen St	Evergreen	80439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Giguere	22 Plymouth Ave	Florence	1062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Rapp	2997 S 200 E	SALT LAKE CITY	84115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Smith	18401 n 32 st	Phoenix	85032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	DuRoss	1400 East M-36	PINCKNEY	48169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Souchock	1122 E Pike St #830	Seattle	98122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Bergman	5 Ewald St	REHOBOTH BEACH	19971	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
.	,	1 Johnson City		13790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Baker	4972 Edgar Court #1	SAN JOSE	95118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Wirkkala	1292 Massachusetts Ave	Arlington	2476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	McGraw Keber	11 Rose Hill Road	East Hampton	11937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melody	Smith	iowa city, ia	Iowa City	52245	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denise	Barnes	2126D 62nd ave Oakland Ca	Oakland	94621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Dragavon	1295 Church Street	San Francisco	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
teresa	marshall	6570 Highmont Drive	Theodore	36582	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jarod	Winkel	8325 197th St SW	Edmonds	98026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tod	Schneider	894 W 4 Ave	Eugene	97402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Showalter	4135 14th Ave S	Seattle	98108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marc	Schoenberg	21761 S. Brandon	FARMINGTON	48336	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alison	Denman	Po box 2203	La Pine	97739	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Wyandt	150 Staniford Street, #525	BOSTON	2114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Antonia	Raikes	13080 Pacific Promenade #312	Playa Vista	90094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Austin	PO Box 787	WILLISTON	28589	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Guskin	49 Bryan Avenue	Malvern	19355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Strong	33 Charme Road	Billerica	1821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emily	Melnyk	382Hoffman Station	Monroe Township	8831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Daniels	7563 Belle Grae Drive	Manassas	20109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	pitts	Bentridge	Glencoe	63038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Gillette	6800 Lopez Dr	Arroyo Grande	93420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ernest	Fried	62 Pierrepont St, Brooklyn, New York	Brooklyn	11201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	McDowell	6015 100TH ST SW	Lakewood	98499	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Flanders	500 NE Applewood	LEES SUMMIT	64063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Dubyk	26006 Rose	Westlake	44145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Janas	1658 S Ammons St	DENVER	80232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Jones	722 Orchard Street #2	Santa Rosa	95404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Thank you.
Marc	Batko	1220 SW 12th Ave	Portland	97205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raquel	Rodriguez	34W951 Stanton Dr Apt E	Saint Charles	60174	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Whitney	11312 Bellows Falls Ave	AUSTIN	78748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Bassett	725 Eve St	AUGUSTA	30904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Huggins	900 tucson st	Aurora	80011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorraine	Kirk	1934 Lazy Z Rd	NEDERLAND	80466	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Gross	Da-Xue Rd., Lane 22, No. 20, 1F, Tainan, Taiwan	New Orleans	70146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Acker	123 N Country Rd	PORT JEFFERSON	11777	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Toni	Navarro	113 old sawmill rd	Colchester	5446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cody	Hulme	110 North Forest Ln	Asheville	28804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Hewitt	22620 CR 64	Moffat	81143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	McCabe	9741 SW 97th Pl	Ocala	34481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doris (Jody)	Wilson	12711 NE 129th Court, G-104, Kirkland, WA	Kirkland	98034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jimmy	Phan	7222 S 2nd Glen	Phoenix	85041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cecelia	Cogan	215 west 88 st	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
thomas	leppold	56262 muscatel	San Gabriel	91776	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shawn	Mulvihill	2523 LaSalle St.	RACINE	53402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Bonura	224A State Road 399	Espanola	87532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Verrando	7840 E Mineral Dr	Centennial	80112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Spellman	2218 54th St. CT.NW	Gig Harbor	98335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	D'Onofrio	805 Watson Drive	KEYSVILLE	23947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paolo	Timelli	via fontanone		25017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sue	D'Onofrio	805 Watson Drive	KEYSVILLE	23947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Finlay	244 Finlayville Court	Cottageville	29435	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Bounds	5008 Davenport Place	Roswell	30075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Follman	1019 Honor Drive	Bethlehem	18017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
david	Wilson	59 Dahlia Dr.	Mastic Beach	11951	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Klassen	14075 Cannon City Blvd	NORTHFIELD	55057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peggy	Oliver	593 NW 50th Avenue	Delray Beach	33445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jordan	Fox	100 Conestoga Dr. Apt. 139	Marlton	8053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrycja	Textor	3347 Charleston Way	Los Angeles	90068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Spitzig	508 Rawls Circle	Irving	75061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Ellefson	36 S. Steeple Chase	Gettysburg	17325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hillary	O'Shea	5E Wilson St	Charleston	29401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Barlow	1533 Orillia ct Sunnyvale, CA	Sunnyvale	94087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Clark	18906 Cabernet Drive	Saratoga	95070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rod	Moren	1374 51st Ave NE	Saint Petersburg	33703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Loren	Lewandowski	2509 West Koenig St.	Grand Island	68803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Gnat	295 14th Street	BROOKLYN	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas R	Hughes	2594 W Brutus St	Weedsport	13166	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ryan	Tucker	5845 Doverwood Dr	Culver City	90230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Bodine	12629 Rockridge Circle	Thonotosassa	33592	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew A.	Weaver	911 N. Main St.	Genoa	43430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Schoonover	4143 SE 79th Ave, Portland, OR	Portland	97206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Parker	3515 SW 39th Blvd. Apt 30B	Gainesville	32608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Ellis	Shelocta, PA	Shelocta	15774	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tyler	Walker	1705 Cunard Ct.	Orange Park	32073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claire	Ellington	108 N. Mountain View Ave. tucson az	Tucson	85711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Hoyt	20 Second Avenue	Old Saybrook	6475	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

joseph	worley	638 Wilmot St	VASSAR	48768	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liz	LaFour	4324 CR 126	Van Vleck	77482	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marylucia	Arace	1134 Cerritos Drive	Fullerton	92835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Micah	Schlobohm	N10188 Buckeye Drive	Necedah	54646	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Crum	5045 Baltimore De	La Mesa	91942	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Danielle	Lutz	stieren ave	Brackenridge	15014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim	Ovrutsky	73 Barrett Street #4144	Northampton	1060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Frank	2685 Sunset	Escondido	92025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ANN MARIE	LAHAIE	30 Kernwood Drive	LYNN	1904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martha	Goodale	126 Saco St	Westbrook	4092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Hajicek	14824 Glendale Rd.	Minnetonka	55345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	McCann	843 Harvest Court SE	Olympia	98501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brenda	Bender	4170 S Arbor Cir	Marietta	30066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacqueline	Chinn	5520 N. 76th Place	Scottsdale	85250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Morgan	10 Cherrywood Court	San Pablo	94806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jane	Johngren	Hartwick NY	Hartwick	13348	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Nichols	263 High St	Wadsworth	44281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cookie	Carroll	3751 N.W. 101ST AVE	Pompano Beach	33065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ian	Roach	3995 Ridgewood Ave	Las Vegas	89120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donied	DeHoniesto	Greenfield Ave	Pittsburgh	15207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Toth	Montello, WI	MONTELLO	53949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Rizzuto	4754 richardson ave	Bronx	10470	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Bennett	353 2nd St	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Urmila	Padmanabhan	42629 Queens Park Ct	Fremont	94538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Thompson	2953 magazine dr.	Baton Rouge	70816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rocco	Sansone	710 W Buena Avenue	Chicago	60613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Regina	Gendusa	246 W Upsal	Philadelphia	19119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eugene	Doyle	102-12 164th Avenue	Howard Beach	11414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Nitz	745 Burr Oak Place	RICE LAKE	54868	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dick	Warren	2114 Purple Plum Lane	Houston	77062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Thompkins	1521 Palm Valley Drive	Garland	75043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jodi	Rodar	223 north valley toad	Amherst	1002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	DiSante	217 Meadow Lane	Harrisburg	17112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roberta	Stuemke	225 N Westhaven Dr Apt X103	Oshkosh	54904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gene	Raymond	16 Partridge Way	Colts Neck	7722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	underwood	11247 Decatur circle	Denver	80234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jason	winn	102 clairmont dr	Altoona	16601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Weber	10825 49th Ave N	Saint Petersburg	33708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Beland	10103 Bilteer Ct	Santee	92071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lance	Powell	10115 Holly Drive	Everett	98204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cassandra	Mock	123 anywhere street	Fort Washington	20744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
m	may	1250 carlsbad village dr	Carlsbad	92008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Blohowiak	231 E. Glenbrook Dr.	Pulaski	54162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Olga	Davis	1015 Kearny St	Denver	80230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Mills	31779 Hilltop Rd	Golden	80403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	Singleton	201 West Ln.	Clemson	29631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Swensen	428 Childers St.	Pensacola	32534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Boschert-Brannin	31 Virginia Dr.	MISSOULA	59803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marguerite	Winkel	2012 W third #4	SPOKANE	99201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larre	Hoke	905 Francine Dr.	Cherry Hill	8003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geoffrey	McMahon	700 nw gilman blvd #294	Issaquah	98027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	Castellanos	10 vetri rd	Goshen	10924	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Kelsey	931 Isabella Ave	Muskegon	49442	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Gold	2901a Sir Francis Drake Blvd.	Fairfax	94930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michel	cloward	1420 n fuller ave	LOS ANGELES	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Vorachek	680 16th St. NE	SALEM	97301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	McCollim	7154 N. Downing Pl	Painesville	44077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Rahmatulla	26507 Dineral	Mission Viejo	92691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jorge	Barrieu	173 Pine St.	Hackensack	7601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Greenberg	PO B	Highland Park	60035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Dickman	20 Longview Dr.	Mahopac	10541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Davis	2004 Phoebe Dr	BILLINGS	59105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Shanley	2233 E. Behrend Dr.	Phoenix	85024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sherri	Yeatts	7885 Climax Road	Gretna	24557	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Wolinsky	1255 19th Street, #901	Denver	80202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Butler	5404 south 174th street Omaha Nebraska	Omaha	68135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claude	Weaver	15 Clearwater Drive	MATTAPAN	2126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Elkins	407 Mainsail Rd.	Oceanside	92054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Brown	5701 Lake Rose Dr	MINNETONKA	55345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melvyn	Levrant	3827 Yorkshire Cir	CLEVES	45002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Ryan	1413 7th St.	BERKELEY	94710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Workman	5940 Mahood Dr #1	Huntington	25705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

T	Bell	5223 Mt Bonnell Rd	AUSTIN	78731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Herbert	Ziegler	35011 Ave "E",#9,YUCAIPA, CA	Yucaipa	92399	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Hayes	1181 Ash Grove Loop	Creswell	97426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorenz	Steininger	waldst	Stafford	22554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Martin-Mubasu	13604 Haverford Ct	Chantilly	20151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Freer	701 Stephen Moody St SE, #1123	Albuquerque	87123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Myerly	3211 Bellemeade Ave, Evansville, IN	Evansville	47714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Galassi	Stuart,Fl	Stuart	34997	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Myra	2042 Peach Orchard Drive	Falls Church	22043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Altman	921 Delphi Drive	Lafayette	80026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	Pikula	648 4th Ave	SAN FRANCISCO	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alicia	Sacks	1951 47th St., #19	San Diego	92102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl	Dykstra	1106 Van Antwerp Road, Niskayuna, NY	Schenectady	12309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geraldine	Booth	606 Division St.	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arnaldo	Ramirez	1705 Galveston St.	San Diego	92110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Daidone	1329 Shore Road	Gilbert	29054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
constantina	Anderson	15245 lewis rd	Nevada City	95959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Asche	9265 Pine Circle	Omaha	68124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Hendrickson	3815 Sunset Dr W	TACOMA	98466	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Lamm	6802 Wilkow Dr. Apt 108. Orlando, Fl	Orlando	32821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Ravenscraft	171 Wedgewood Avenue	Cincinnati	45217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stan	Benton	5214 Savannah Bend	VON ORMY	78073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Lasahn	808 Balra Dr	El Cerrito	94530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
david	crowley	75 Hawthorne Ave.	HAMDEN	6517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Wong	268 Joost Avenue	San Francisco	94131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Lewis	9535 NE 100th Street	KANSAS CITY	64157	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emily	Van Alyne	6749 Whitestone Street	WEST RICHLAND	99353	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jan	Sarna	1812-A Broken Arrow Drive	North Little Rock	72118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karin	Blazier	317 S. Division #182	Ann Arbor	48104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristin	Gray	22 Mill St	Arlington	2476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ziad	Noueihed	1817 Main St	Raleigh	27613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Nelson	398 Kent Way	WHITE LAKE	48383	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cody	Cowan	2215 Falkirk Drive	Round Rock	78681	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dianne	Gregg	656 Channing Dr NW	Atlanta	30318	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Crouch	1318 SW Kenworthy Dr.	Ankeny	50023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Huarachi	475 West 57th St	New York	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Molinero	po box 470322	AURORA	80047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Moore	4746 n. placita cazador	TUCSON	85718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Hickman	17480 1st st east	Saint Petersburg	33708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Kenworthy	9264 Brookline	Plymouth	48170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcus	Blough	1649 Franklin St	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Tucker-Pettersen	2909 Montebello Ct	Austin	78746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	Lundstrom	663 SW Glen Crest Way	Stuart	34997	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Becci	Boyd	1304 Division Ave.	Tacoma	98403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Plessis	72 Wrentham Road Springfield, MA	Springfield	1119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J	B	West henrietta,ny	West Henrietta	14586	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Brewer	420 zara st	Pittsburgh	15210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Auer	PO Box 1658	Tahoe City	96145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Nagler	13 Meadow Lakes, Apt U1, East Windsor,NJ	Hightstown	8520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lani	Avocet	200 Fulton St.	Palo Alto	94301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Foster	116 N 72nd St	Kansas City	66111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mitch	Parkinen	623 Linden Lane	MARTINEZ	94553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Burdeshaw	2172 McArthur Street	East Meadow	11554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	Argenta	1736 S State St	SPRINGFIELD	62704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Lum	Cottonridge Circle	Sacramento	95828	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victoria	Urias	14001 35th Avenue NE	Seattle	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Nichols	263 High St	Wadsworth	44281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Zaccagnino	396 Cardinal Lane	Upland	91786	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Brewer	420 zara st	Pittsburgh	15210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Dahlgren	96 Silver Ln Apt C2	East Hartford	6118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fred	Barnes	1177 S. Kwnilworth Ave	Oak Park	60304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mohamed	Bharadia	4820 Cedar Forest Pl.	Louisville	40245	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Umberto	Gonzales	6037 Paseo Carreta	Carlsbad	92009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	e Carson	326 Arizona street Se Lonsdale mn	Lonsdale	55046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liam	O Hagan	284 Ocean Ave	Portland	4103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	bliton	21 Pearl Ave	WINTHROP	2152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Beneker	1588 mesquite dr, apt 108	Salinas	93905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	McLaughlin	4475 Margaret St.	Saint Paul	55110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Chambers	109 Bridge Street	Winsted	6098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Do note that with all the issues I had with Charter cable in Connecticut, I finally said enough and went with a streaming service. I was laying almost $200 every month for service that kept going off so enough was enough.

Guy	Wallace	1033 Bay Oaks Dr	Los Osos	93402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patti	Martin	17249 Helen K Dr	Spring Hill	34610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexander	Rokhlenko	26 Greeenbriar Row	Princeton	8540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ezequiel	Hernandez	8566 Kings ranch rd	Milton	32583	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evelyn	Rosh	Woodbridge,VA	Woodbridge	22193	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rose	Ash	519 Virginia St., Apt. 1, Buffalo, NY	Buffalo	14202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Skeats	158 Riverwalk Way	Cohoes	12047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Ketcherside	103 Sage Hill Place	Lincoln	95648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terence	Stoekl	425 E. Gobbi St., Apt. 74	Ukiah	95482	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beneth	Browne	744 Museum Dr	Los Angeles	90065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawn	Hill	6840 W. Garfield Street	Phoenix	85043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Stema	29091 Tawas St	Madison Heights	48071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Silva	544 w brompton	CHICAGO	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Berman	1926 Westover Rd	Morrisville	19067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Peterkin	902 N 6th St	COTTONWOOD	86326	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Kosier	2259 Oak Ridge Dr	Carson City	89703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Lim	20775 Granada Ct	Saratoga	95070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Augustyn	PO Box 1477 South Pasadena CA	South Pasadena	91031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

scott	cady	5652 pillsbury ave s	MINNEAPOLIS	55419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Herman	1775 North Andrews Square, #201W	Fort Lauderdale	33311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phyllis	shub	7645 McNulty Avenue	Winnetka	91306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Gotham	625 S. Meier Rd	Mount Prospect	60056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Petrik	23 Paul Drive	Binghamton	13901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nina	Bohn	1928 Beacon Way SE	Renton	98058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Blue	3046 Viola Dr	Sarasota	34239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
dona	ewell	406 country view	New Kensington	15068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Rosh	Rosh	Woodbridge	22193	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Johnny	Chaney	701 Madden st.	Hemet	92543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maynard	Jerome	26103 W. Lauren Dr.	CHANNAHON	60410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Cunningham	1106 Vine Street	Junction City	97448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keith	Augusto	7135 Rebecca Road	LAS VEGAS	89131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Beldon	638 tupper st.	Santa Rosa	95404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	Wire	1701 Dover Circle, Salina, KS	SALINA	67401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Porter	PO Box 14463	Albuquerque	87191	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Sage	20964 Colina dr	Topanga	90290	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julia	Parr	3001 Henry Hudson Pkwy	Bronx	10463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

chadra	guerrette	14087 e. stanford cir. #204	Aurora	80015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Armstrong	160 Bethel Avenue	STATEN ISLAND	10307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Wilson	8989 Hwy 212 West	Monticello	31064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debbie	Sturt	210 Palm Ave.	Marina	93933	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Gallegos	2711 Boulder St	LOS ANGELES	90033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Fronck	7800 King Arthur Court	White Plains	20695	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A	Rossner	PO Box 1405	Summit	7902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathan	Feyes	3400 N Cortez Ct	Chandler	85224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Huebner	137 Law St.	NEENAH	54956	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacqueline	Campbell	P. O. Box 45506	Baton Rouge	70895	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ms.Michelle	Buck	32 East Casa Loma Drive	Mary Esther	32569	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rowland	Smith	7 Goldenrod Lane	WEST GROVE	19390	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tisa	Clements	721 Courthouse Road	Stafford	22554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keira	Palm	8 Sabbatia Trl	Saunderstown	2874	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Smith	Scarlet Blvd	Yukon	73099	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jared	Cornelia	125 Denn Place, Wilmington, DE	WILMINGTON	19804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Cadieux	1442 w. fargo, #2e	CHICAGO	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Hudak	3531 Greer Rd	PALO ALTO	94303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Woods	6120 Laguna Vista	El Paso	79932	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Kara	17 Kari Blvd	Poughkeepsie	12601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B Thomas	Scheib	2019 S. Massachusetts St.	Covington	70433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clinton	Alexander	1005 East Grand Avenue apt 17	Cuba	65453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	Kaempfer	6049 S Clarkson St	Littleton	80121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Bown	263 Three Mile Course	GUILFORD	6437	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Herman	Liggett	131 Huckabee St, McRae-Helena, Ga	Mc Rae	31055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Streeter	457 Tyler Ave	Livermore	94550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Blinn	6 Mont Vernon Rd	Amherst	3031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I am confident that a PC based solution would better meet my needs than the Xfinity box and remote that Comcast keeps urging me to choose. Frankly, I should also be able to choose my channel lineup from an "a la carte" menu instead of being forced to pay for lots of premium content I never view and don't want to view.

Kathleen and James	Yontz	16454 S. 29th St.	PHOENIX	85048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Holt	202 Kimberly Drive	Dickson	37055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Knabeschuh	4630 Collier St, Apt.716	Beaumont	77706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Antonio	Alcazar	4909 E Laurel Ln	Scottsdale	85254	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marissa	Stewart	?		20000	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Lutz	504 Autumn Ct.	STEVENS POINT	54481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Ross	1770 S. Center Blvd.	Springfield	45506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	Bernard	12 Village Way	Webster	1570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dara	Murray	440 e 62 st	New York	10065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Critelli	1027 W.14th St, Lorain	Lorain	44052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victoria	Longo	55 E 21 St	Brooklyn	11226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Tirone	Unit 6 129 Merrimac st. Newburyport. Ma	Newburyport	1950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A	C	19424 Hathaway Ave	HAYWARD	94541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Selena	Fitanides	26 Flint Street	SOMERVILLE	2145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Smith	2501 fm 316	Mabank	75147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brandon	Smith	47 Radcliff Drive	Doylestown	18901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	tai	1460 Alton way	Downingtown	19335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Gill	914A South Chestnut Street	Clarksburg	26301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

DEBORAH	SMITH	3044 N.W. 30TH	OKLAHOMA CITY	73112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Ress	412 N. Walnut Street	Wooster	44691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Horel	550 Moreland way, #2114	Santa Clara	95054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Henderson	5352 Sisson Dr	HUNTINGTON BEACH	92649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victor	Stamboulian	105 w 77th st	NEW YORK	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Papalia	19 christopher st 22	new york	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	DeAngelis	4126 Xerxes Av. S	Minneapolis	55410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Fysz	251 Clay St.	TRENTON	8611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Imam	Patch	1110 64th Ave Oakland CA	Oakland	94621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Holland	Tubbs	24 Thames St Newport, RI	Newport	2840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Polley	5285 Diamond Hts Blvd	San Francisco	94131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Frank	bakerstr. 5	New York	10035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gordon	Harwell-Spaulding	217 NE 146 Ave. #2	Portland	97230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Onur	Agirseven	21 Middlevale Rd	East Lansing	48823	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelley	Keisch	135 cody dr	Troy	63379	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

l	Satter	198 bonnet st	MANCHESTER CENTER	5255	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Stafford	3378 Revere Ave	Oakland	94605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Hodge	1234 E. 102st Cleveland, Ohio	Cleveland	44108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Branko	Nastasich	1742 Lee Janzen Dr	Kissimmee	34744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Kasik-Miller	340 Lincoln Ave	Eau Claire	54701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russell	Cherry	5918 Wooded Creek Cove	Temple	76502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Sabry	5208 Calle Nuestra NW	Albuquerque	87120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hayley	Keeney	16361 Ulysses Road	Cannelton	47520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Schuchart	6204 N. Morton	Spokane	99208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorraine	Chapman	225 Wetherburn Lane	Raleigh	27615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Pease	119 Regan St.	ROCKFORD	61107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vreni	Rod	Purdy	Rye	10580	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Baltin	500 13th Ave. East #107	Seattle	98102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Delaney	5867 Ocean View Dr.	OAKLAND	94618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynda	Capel	Albany, Oregon	Albany	97321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Weiner	102 hoit rd	Concord	3301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amber	Howell	3675 County Road 10 Piedmont, AL	Piedmont	36272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Miller	10 Pine drive	MANCHESTER	17345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Wozniak	1516 Adelsas	Encinitas	92024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derrick	McQuiston	7932 Louisiana Ave, N	Minneapolis	55445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russell	Stein	4575 Bahia Street, Cocoa, FL	Cocoa	32926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Masley	77 S. Washington St.	Seattle	98104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Crannell	15 Martindale Av Hudson Falls NY	Hudson Falls	12839	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anghel	Cojan	1100 E Lemon	Tempe	85281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Kasik-Miller	340 Lincoln Ave	Eau Claire	54701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Harbert	374 spring grove dr	TALLMADGE	44278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	O'Donnell	80 West Mill Street Pedricktown NJ	Pedricktown	8067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	gaudet	229 north Ave	Haverhill	1830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miguel	Silva	23 Ridgewood Road	WINDSOR	6095	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Traylor	1820 Minor Ave; Apt. 324	Seattle	98101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Reisa	Gould-Donath	130 East Ave.	SARATOGA SPRINGS	12866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Fisher	P.O. BOX 187	Summit Station	43073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Black	1623 5th Ave N., #4	Seattle	98109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	Stedman	gloucester ave	Montauk	11954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Chamberlin	135 county road 44880	BLOSSOM	75416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Wilson	1106 S East Ave	Oak Park	60304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ralph	Notaro	21 Dover Rd	COLONIA	7067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JORGE	GONZALEZ	5313 Schumacher Road	Sebring	33872	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gizd	5562 Le Fevre Dr	SAN JOSE	95118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Farrar	Folmar	2310 W Orangewood Ave Apt 7	Phoenix	85021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Hartman	3253 E 700 N	Whiteland	46184	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Nicolini	8315 obsidian ct	Rosharon	77583	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Agnes	Matenos	428 John Mahar Hwy	BRAINTREE	2184	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Jacobs	S Cloverdale Rd	BOISE	83709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Dingman	121 Bay Drive, Cary NC	CARY	27511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Henri	Campo	2604 West Clark Avenue	Burbank	91505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Martin	2726 E St	San Diego	92102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Sanders	1416 w wauconda rd mc henry il	McHenry	60051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randy	Lopez	118 Greenshire	League City	77573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joren	Winge	1478 34th ave	SAN FRANCISCO	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Johnson	10 Martin Avenue	Scarborough	4074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kate	Gelles	1125 Rivera	San Francisco	94116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Al	tomkins	4733 hwy 6		N0A1H0	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Raymond	45-1/2 Marshall St	Rochester	14607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Malley	8021 Fawcett	Tacoma	98408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Farnham	26171 Stardust Street	Hemet	92544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Snyder	9 Windsor Ct.	Landenberg	19350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Diehl	6755 Jack Rabbit Road	Las Cruces	88012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Josh	Robinson	1802 Cedar Springs Ln	Anacortes	98221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brad	Dilleree	729 pine ave nw	Grand Rapids	49504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roberto	Romo	3227 Anza St.	San Francisco	94121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Fulton	5104 s kaliga dr	Saint Cloud	34771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Mooney	140 Chestnut Circle	West Suffield	6093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wladimir	Labeikovsky	220 E 70th Street	New York	10021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Barsky	2242 Bragg st.	Brooklyn	11229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brittany	Dickerson	6819 Tacoma Ave S	Tacoma	98408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aaron	Ucko	503 Pleasant Drive	Rockville	20850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Ryan	47 New Read St, pequannock,NJ	Pequannock	7440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ERNIE	KELLEHER	15820 ALGECIRAS DR	La Mirada	90638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S	Gunther	beacon, ny	Beacon	12508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Smathers	14 Trevors Trail	Asheville	28806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Payton	Spaller	1950 n center st unit 118	Mesa	85201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Warren	Allely	100 S 9th St	Council Bluffs	51501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Switzer	5211 Holmes Pl	BOULDER	80303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marlyn	Slavin	9 thorn place	Spring Valley	10977	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Esther	Garvett	10431 sw 143 ave	Miami	33186	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Hilton	3091 Buena Hills Drive	OCEANSIDE	92056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Olson	1670 Legacy Parkway E #434	Saint Paul	55109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Erickson	260 Camino Alto Court #10	MILL VALLEY	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Cummer	131 Rosewood Drive	Gardner	1440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianna	Stallone	PO Box 0303	Florence	1062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

DEBORAH	SANTORO	7615 Cedar Hurst Ct	Lake Worth	33467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heather	Hewett	4108 Juniper Dr	Kewadin	49648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gayl	Woityra	15863 N. Twin Lakes Dr.	TUCSON	85739	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judie	Braaten	95-061 Waikalani Dr	Mililani	96789	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Pratt	14 baldwin ave massena ny	Massena	13662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dolly	Odonnell	65096 mesa av.	DESERT HOT SPRINGS	92240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	grecian	355 s. Calle grande	Orange	92869	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Campbell	Elkton	Elkton	32033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Wilson	1087 Simpson St	Bronx	10459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JON	NOGGLE	10 OFFSHORE COURT	Bellingham	98229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Krokowski	2980 S.L. Henry	West Memphis	72301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Barnes	1313 Gull Ct	Carlsbad	92011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

B	Brabec	University City MO	Saint Louis	63130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carl	Pribanic	7013 Caldwell Ln	Plano	75025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jackie	alford	7000 roswell rd n/e. #277	Atlanta	30328	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Travis	Boothe	1913 country club drive	Plano	75074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Conway	1011 Cartwright Lane	Greensboro	30642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kaye	Jandrey	1115 einberger Rd.	Reedsville	54230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

DAVID	BRADBURY	1565 cerro gordo rd	SANTA FE	87501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Garrett	2226 S. Center St.	TERRE HAUTE	47802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Randall	22549 Berdon Street	WOODLAND HILLS	91367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Syen	2542 Faunce St.	Philadelphia	19152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Grant	1111 n 2000 west ogden utah	OGDEN	84404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Hicken	PO Box 2568	MEEKER	81641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dina	Willner	115 Vreeland Court	MAHWAH	7430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelley	Giffen	2117 S 33rd St Milwaukee, WI	Milwaukee	53215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bola	G	G	Powder Springs	30127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	DelMastro	2177 Baird Road	Penfield	14526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Bradford	2107 Briarcliff Drive	OKLAHOMA CITY	73170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marlon	Harris	5019 N Trenton St	Portland	97203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Williams	1620 Yukon St	DENVER	80214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rev. Ron	King	629 S Thornhill Rd	Palm Springs	92264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Millican	5901 B Prince George Drive	Springfield	22152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Les	Hazelrigg	1019 Waterbrooke Ln	Johnson City	37604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cecil	Tuck	11043 N. 37th Pl.	PHOENIX	85028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cole	Courtemanche	203 Summer St. Gardner, MA	Gardner	1440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John & PJ	LIebson	7 Frasco Court	Santa Fe	87508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
P	Borys	willow St	Woburn	1801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Gillette	8525 N Rembrandt Place	Tucson	85742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheila	Ireland	5416 William St	Omaha	68106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carter	Hartley	1423 Wescott Rd #52	Colusa	95932	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Williams	24 southgate rd	Franklin	2038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randy	Lopez	118 Greenshire	League City	77573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Harband	PO Box M,	San Rafael	94913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Schmidlein	46 Skylark Rd	BLOOMINGBURG	12721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Cataldo	8 Hopewell Dr., Brewster NY	Brewster	10509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Franklin	420 I street #423	Sacramento	95814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Marott	Jeremiah Dr	Simi Valley	93065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Yoss	401 Rosery Rd NE Apt 209	Largo	33770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Nelson	14016 SHOAL DRIVE	Hudson	34667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Sparks	5810 Old Fox Trl	Greensboro	27407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jack	wilson	2171 E Parkwood Ave	BURTON	48529	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yvonne	Quilenderino	209 Nijmegen Road	Seaside	93955	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Petty	142 East Main Street	Carpentersville	60110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryn	Vinson	918 NW 59th St	SEATTLE	98107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Sieger	5115 Aspen Ave N.E.	ALBUQUERQUE	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Scoble	257 Lancaster Avenue	Lunenburg	1462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

sol	koppel	953 w colbert ct	BEVERLY HILLS	34465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Oliver	2716 Pencoyd Lane	CHARLOTTE	28210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanita	Roach	607Indian creek drive,Wilkes Barre.pa.18702	Wilkes Barre	18702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Papandrea	110 west 90	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mark j.	tuggle	102 w 109th st	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Lemmert	143 Lafayette Place	PEEKSKILL	10566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

judith	shaw	10764 ravenna way	Fort Myers	33913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gordon	Scott	1516 s fairfield dr	Pensacola	32507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mitchell	Cripe	St. Louis	SAINT LOUIS	63139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mina	Lloyd	1001 Bayfield Drive	Raleigh	27606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Sarradet	1459 Rutledge Ave	Charlottesville	22903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiia	Mikkelsaar	31 Indigo Pl, Aliso Viejo, CA	Aliso Viejo	92656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Shepard	141 Memory Court	Birmingham	35213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Santos	208 23rd Ave	SAN MATEO	94403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamie	Caya	9401 Silver Star Ave	VANCOUVER	98664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Selma	Waldstein	354 Waban Avenue	Waban	2468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Hasbrouck	Glendale	Glendale	85301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Ellis	5405 N Vista Grande Drive	OTIS ORCHARDS	99027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Mason	24 Lynwood Ave	Keene	3431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacqueline	Bobnick	30 Federal St.	Lawrence	15055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	D'Adamo	365 Coventry Road	Berkeley	94707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

chuck	mccumby	5231 Terner Way	San Jose	95136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Amory	228 Squires Ave #R1	Endicott	13760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louann	Smith	6201 WINDHAVEN PKWY	Plano	75093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Bowden	146 E Coronado Rd #40	PHOENIX	85004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
p	chou	thimble shoals	Newport News	23606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brant	Martens	4135 S 148th St	OMAHA	68137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	Bradford	4501 Rhode Island St.	San Diego	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Warren	Beattie	86 Jersey St	Boston	2215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cassandra	Bass	1413-D Armfield Rd	RICHMOND	23225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Helen	Yanulis	104 Roundwood Rd	Newton Upper Falls	2464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Perkins	2497 Merrit Drive	Carson City	89701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Sansbury	1616 E. Calle Santa Cruz	Phoenix	85022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerald	Brock	1410 Lake Tapps Dr. SE #205	Auburn	98092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Steeno	Big Rapids	Big Rapids	49307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Meili	Steele	1519 Forest Trace Dr	Columbia	29204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

a	haley	Po box4523	Arnold	95223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Ploski	40 Mayfair rd	Fairfield	6824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mohsen	Shenas	1134 cr4425	Whitewright	75491	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristen	Congdon	9 Sheep Commons Lane	NANTUCKET	2554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Donovan		Barnstable	2630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Let consumers buy their own boxesCable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Ballard	1010 Gabe Road	Santa Rosa	88435	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gus	Kathmann	PO Box 997	Forest Lake	55025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pablo	Moore	1012 Highview Ave, Rockford, IL	Rockford	61107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Prase	201 Circle West	Jupiter	33458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marjorie	Steinberg	86 Longview Drive, Princeton	Princeton	8540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Max	Burg	4746 S. Woodlawn Ave	Chicago	60615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lillian	Hyland	9815 San Luca St	Lake Worth	33467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	Pfaffman	PO Box 50	San Geronimo	94963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Perlman	103-19 68th Road Forest Hills, NY	Forest Hills	11375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Hennessy	224 W Dryden	Glendale	91202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

mary	campbell	20 berkeley ave. san anselmo,ca.	SAN ANSELMO	94960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Sievert	731 Fulton Street	Philadelphia	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Fox	10453 Carrollbrook Ct. #122	Tampa	33618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rick	Gardner	8907 E 12 Mile Rd, Warren, MI.	Warren	48093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bosco	384 Amberleaf Way	Simpsonville	29681	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Ruthsdottir	29 School Street	Brunswick	4011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Saccoccio	95 Maple Ave.	Andover	1810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claudette	Hennessy	404 Old Post Rd	Marlboro	12542	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sijisfredo	aviles	1925 n drake, apt2e	Chicago	60647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maurice	Washington	2023-hickory lane	fultondale	35068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Sopt	2622 Scott Street	Franklin Park	60131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Stept	45 Eastbrooke Street	Jackson	39216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melvin	Page	52 Pressley Rd	Asheville	28805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B. David	Cathell	4747 E. Elliot Road, Ste. 29-317	Phoenix	85044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Michaels	205 West 89 Street	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gudrun	Weinberg	801 Yale Ave Apt 1217	Swarthmore	19081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Haskell	Lakeland Fl	Lakeland	33803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Gilliland	101 Ableview Dr. Butler, Pa.	Butler	16001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

mj	kaminer	25840 alfalfa mkt rd	Bend	97701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andy	Malone	325 Eagle Bend Drive	Bigfork	59911	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Martinson	1901 SW Palm City rd	Stuart	34994	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shauna	Cannady	6845 SW 152nd Ave	Beaverton	97007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Savage	P.O. Box 100	Mammoth Lakes	93546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Robinson	109 East Santa Clara street	San Jose	95113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Judkins	2310 Winrock Ave.	Altadena	91001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. MONOPOLY should not be included in our American business model.
Roger	Davis	16084 Oakwood Heights Road	New Ulm	56073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Zion	17 North Orchard Farms Avenue	SIMPSONVILLE	29681	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ivy	Brumfield	10902 Chevy Chase Dr.	HOUSTON	77042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John R.	Reeher	1858 Auburn Road, Seneca Falls, NY	SENECA FALLS	13148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Fournier	1223 Wyndham Pine Drive	APOPKA	32712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rich	Long	4390 Lexi Cir	Broomfield	80023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Ruhland	4002 25th Avenue S	Seattle	98108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bridget	Koch-Timothy	2100 24th St.	Sacramento	95818	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Landers	525 Ave L SE	WINTER HAVEN	33880	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Horimoto	1271 hillsdale ave	San Jose	95118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
fay	forman	355 8th Avenue	New York	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Stephenson	2302 Kingsgate Road	SCOTTSBLUFF	69361	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tera	Faulkner	7364 s 2200 w	West Jordan	84084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Villante	1247 Neptuno Court SW	Ocean Isle Beach	28469	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Cogan	5832 Cleveland St.	Morton Grove	60053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa-May	Reynolds	26 HONEYSUCKLE LN	Beaufort	29907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Klacik	1332 Sunset Ave	Aliquippa	15001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Irins	irons	Langhorne	19047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Sherry	10568 Monte Rosso Pl NW	Albuquerque	87114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Greller	41 Burston St	Hempstead	11550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Cooper	130 Deerfield Drive	Spring Lake	28390	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Adams	9811 N. 40th Dr	Phoenix	85051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Seniors have enough trouble paying bills, these cable bills leave many with no TV at all.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Smith	6513 Deer Park Rd.	REISTERSTOWN	21136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Miller	182 Carnation Lane	Lehighton	18235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Ballard	2700 Country Club Drive	Rosedale	70772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margret	Rosenberg	10783 W. Berry Pl., Littleton, CO	Littleton	80127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Teresa	Olevsky	382 Ocean Ave, #207	Revere	2151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Shank	1204 Chelwood Park NE #4	Albuquerque	87112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Taylor	721 N 138th St	SEATTLE	98133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglass	Merrell	9500 Rainier Ave. So. #306 Seattle, Washington	Seattle	98118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Meyer	31 W 74th St	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norm	H	4506 keota austin tx	Austin	78749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alex	Dillard	359 Leland Ave.	Palo Alto	94306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cat	Basciano	1256 East 13th St. Brooklyn, NY	Brooklyn	11230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Steiger	1655 Arrowhead Drive	OAKLAND	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Head	2594 Castine Way	Reynoldsburg	43068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Blair	155 Harnick Road	Apalachin	13732	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	George	223 Yesler Way #904	Seattle	98104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erica	Stillman	2408 NW 52nd St. Apt. R2	Lawton	73505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Wilson	1130 E. Monroe St. Apt 411	Phoenix	85034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juan	Diaz	16238nw13st Pembroke Pines fl	Pembroke Pines	33028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eleanor	Michon	1112 Olde Cameron lLane	Franklin	37067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Toland	200 Staghorn Way	Franktown	80116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Prefontaine	38 Mount Vickery Rd.	Southborough	1772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith E	Gordon	5452 Clanton Woods Drive	Evans	30809	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Cohen	62 Grassmere Ave.	East Providence	2914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rhonda	Manser	31 Trout Lane	Stewartstown	17363	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Swiatek	71 G ln	Buffalo	14221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Schubert	1280 W Peachtree St NW	Atlanta	30309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Warren	Foster	3365 Smoketree Dr # 241	Sacramento	95834	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adam	Kay	2516 Palmer Avenue	New Orleans	70118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yvonne	Baab	4 Loomis St, Montpelier	Montpelier	5602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Cutler	115 Wyndmoor Rd	SPRINGFIELD	19064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynn	Tyler	16419 Turnbury Oak Dr	ODESSA	33556	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ernesto	Calderon	7309 Shadywood Drive	Austin	78745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Blakely	Diller	416 senior drive west apt-b	Newark	43055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

DC	Katten	41667 N 51st St	CAVE CREEK	85331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Lindsey	P.O.B. 1672, Idyllwild, CA	Idyllwild	92549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
lorraine	jackson	467 alleghany drive	Roxboro	27573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Lord	818 Stonewater Dr	Kent	44240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Drew	Johnson	3209 Cole Ave	Dallas	75204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pam	Kiesel	P O Box 2051	Kirkland	98083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Spadel	218 Grandview Ave	WOODBURY HEIGHTS	8097	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Charns	255 States Street	SAN FRANCISCO	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erma	Lewis	1736 63 Street	BROOKLYN	11204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynne	Bryan	128 Lokchapee Landing	Macon	31210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Additionally, in some areas the only alternative to ONE cable company is a DISH network ;in some locations the DISH network is not an alternative since it is not allowed or won't work. Thanks, Lynne Bryan
Lyn	Mont	13990 Crabapple	Golden	80401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jill	Mogen	3344 McIntosh Dr.	Billings	59101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jacob	moe	307 e 7th st apt 308	Monticello	55362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R Kenneth	Reece	9204 Hawks View Way	Knoxville	37922	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Wilhelm	6 Hawley Terrace	Yonkers	10701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katherine	Wright	4 Titian	Aliso Viejo	92656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victor	Costan	381 Cardinal Medeiros Ave	Cambridge	2141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	d	10062 studley farms Dr	MECHANICSVILLE	23116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Pruna	1615 O Street #215	Sacramento	95814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trina	Novak	33 Gilbert Rd	Needham	2492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Spadel	369 Hidden Creek	Warrenton	20186	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jettie	Butler	207 Harwell Avenue	Lagrange	30240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffery	McConaughy	1301 24th. Street	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fern	Ponoroff	457 E. Harrison St.	Long Beach	11561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brenda	Scott	409 7th Ave NE	Minneapolis	55413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristie	Mamelli	9850 Garfield Ave	Huntington Beach	92646	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Blanche	Natali	53 Westwood Road	Fairfield	6825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brett	Tomlin	2360 N 56th St	Milwaukee	53210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Ruelle	2686 E. 56th Way apt.#5	Long Beach	90805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darwin	Leatherman	509 Remington St.	FORT COLLINS	80524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

amy	chin	25 4th St	WORCESTER	1602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Wiesenthal-Gold	657 Hurst Road NE	Palm Bay	32907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Vant	401 Mill Creek	POMPTON PLAINS	7444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Gerhart	173 Sage Dr	Reading	19608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	O.	-	Seattle	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ethel	Dumas	30641 Pumpkin Ridge Dr. Wesley Chapel, FL	Wesley Chapel	33543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

joyce	robinson	8010 covington ave	Glen Burnie	21061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Sutton	77 Stacey Road	MARLBOROUGH	1752	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
chantal	peeters	1056 north bradford ave, apt 2, placentia, ca	Placentia	92870	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Al	Faccio	1635 Addington Drive	Prescott	86301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	E.	P.O. Box 209	Rumney	3266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	D'Alessandro	42486 Saratoga	CANTON	48187	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacqueline	Friederichsen	447 Watauga Ave	Knoxville	37917	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Delisi	59885 Bates Rd.	NEW HAVEN	48048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Norton	25 Vista Gardens Trl	Vero Beach	32962	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rick	Pendleton	473 Carol St.	Carthage	64836	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erik	Bergesen	22787 Grand Street	HAYWARD	94541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Kesich	4281 Lenox Blvd	VENICE	34293	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dionna	Bittle	2037 N 8th ST	PHILADELPHIA	19122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Migdal	1302 Perth Rd	Hagaman	12086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brett	Tomlin	2360 N 56th St	Milwaukee	53210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisbeth	Jaasko	14923 Leffingwell Rd. #15	Whittier	90604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Ruelle	2686 E. 56th Way apt.#5	Long Beach	90805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Brown	124 Huntington Pl	Sandusky	44870	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frederick	O'Brien	37 Turmaine St.	Marlborough	1752	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Herndon	3311 W. Alameda Ave	Burbank	91505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tod	Boyer	5039 Foothills Rd., Apt. E	LAKE OSWEGO	97034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Kelly	808 south pine street	HORSEHEADS	14845	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Hochman	7337 Manchaca Rd	Austin	78745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Fluet	Old Willimantic Road	Columbia	6237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Palmer	42 Killarney Dr	Burlington	5408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Anderson	4378 Wilson Ave	Rolling Meadows	60008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Schenk	4745 Island Shore Dr	Lakeland	48143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Plunkett	4310 Creek View East	Williamsburg	23188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valerie	Ackerman	9957 Brock Rd.	Spotsylvania	22553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Diamond	Charnwood dr	Suffern	10901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chandra	Lopez	1450 High St	Denver	80218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Getzlaff	4612 SE 71st Ave. Portland, OR	Portland	97206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Mercogliano	859 South Main Street	Bellingham	2019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrice	Beck	827 Hiawatha Pl S #602 Seattle, Wa	Seattle	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Kortge	5615 Mill Creek Rd.	The Dalles	97058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kris	mccann	23317 60th PL S	Kent	98032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Tallman	93 Phillips Rd.	Saugerties	12477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Holly	Abreu	1059 Leff St Apt C	San Luis Obispo	93401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Triston	Hendricks	178 Summit St	Pulaski	54162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Mulford	Roanoke VA	Roanoke	24018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keefe	Nghe	2059 johnson dr.	Ventura	93004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
c	Kelly	915 L Street #C144	Sacramento	95814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Durso	11 Cord Dr.	LATHAM	12110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mairin	LOFTUS	168 Westchester Ave	Buchanan	10511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Montejano	7110 oconnell drive	Chicago Ridge	60415	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Renee	Klein	4732 la villa marina	Marina del Rey	90292	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	Pedretti	649 St. George Road	South Thomaston	4858	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Calloway	1129 avenida sevilla 1c	WALNUT CREEK	94595	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Oleksii	Bilous	2131 52nd Ave SW Seattle	Seattle	98116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Orr	12722 N MacArthur Blvd, Apt. G	Oklahoma City	73142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I have nothing against cable though because I use cable and enjoy great success with my bundling. Yes, maybe the cable box could be about $100 cheaper.
Rochelle	Grober	949 Emory Street	San Jose	95126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Helaine	Greenberg	5031 Fyvie Ct.	RENO	89519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamie	Pettus	13540 SE 120th Way	CLACKAMAS	97015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darlene	Mayser	258 Barrow Street	Jersey City	7302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karessa	Widner	1905 SW 70th Terrace	Gainesville	32607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Burdick	3636 South 54th Street	Milwaukee	53220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MICHEL	DECHAPE	9563 POSITANO WAY	Lake Worth	33467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gaylan	Callahan	7189 Clum Rd	Harrod	45850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
BeverlyBrady	Brady	530 Amigo Rd, #G	Soquel	95073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Williams	50 N Hill Dr	Mount Holly	8060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julia	Rapp	6400 lAKEWOOD dR.	FARMINGTON	87402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Short	916 W. BULB FARM RD.	SHELTON	98584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Nosaka	2216 Hoonanea Street	Honolulu	96822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Drahos	3805 S Woods Edge Bend	Bloomington	47401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Cush	206 Tenth St	Pittsburgh	15215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Marshello	13 Livingston Ave	Avenel	7001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

darryl	manthey	72 lewisburg rd	Sussex	7461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeana	Dinkelspiel	36 Graham Ln, Trout Creek, MT	Trout Creek	59874	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Baker	1000 Cordova Place	Santa Fe	87505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Antaya	3211 S E Court Dr	Stuart	34997	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Mandel	230 wayne ave	Oakland	94606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russ	Champiny	1112 Brook Hill Rd, McKinney TX	McKinney	75070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hiroko	I	47-4507 Waipio Rd.	Honokaa	96727	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Kang	3631 Beethoven St.	LOS ANGELES	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Flaxman	4090 Caissons Ct	Enola	17025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mariette	Bailey	80 N Moore St	NEW YORK	10013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wilbert	Durant	85 S. Lansdowne Ave, Apt 5	Lansdowne	19050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Buchman	841 Wood Sorrel Lane	Venice	34293	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Salvatore	Privitera	411 Fetzner Road	ROCHESTER	14626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Barcomb	813 Wolf Street	Syracuse	13208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bret	Smith	po box 2824	Santa Cruz	95063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Miovic	5616 McLean Drive	Bethesda	20814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Saitta	5600 Hardy Avenue	San Diego	92115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Holden	PO 254733	SACRAMENTO	95865	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ryan	lane-lutter	2053 east bay shore road	REDWOOD CITY	94063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Greene	10167 Wyandott Cir. N.	Denver	80260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Parker	139 thompson st	New York	10012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jane	Wright	Cambridge	Cambridge	12816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Beck	2014 North Trooper Rd.	Norristown	19403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Ghenoiu	33 West Hill Rd	Plattsburgh	12901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wiley	Ross	11737 N. Mandarin Lane	Tucson	85737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patty	Cornell	1405 Golden Gate Ave	LOS ANGELES	90026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Villanova	820 West Housatonic St.	PITTSFIELD	1201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Link	54 Orchard Hill Road	Branford	6405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Peppers	648 Saulston RD	Goldsboro	27534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Lix	PO Box 981	Beatty	89003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Henderson	Withheld	Philadelphia	19122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Hansen	PO Box 1952	Woodland	98674	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Flynn	425 Ensign Rd. N.E. Apt. A7	Olympia	98506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Caroline	Durham	210 Riverside drive	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lucy	Gibson	1610 Angel Crest Way	Madison	53716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Di8ane	Banco	1532 Raspberry Ct.	Edison	8817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Braun	19608 Marwood	Cleveland	44135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Vespucci	161 cottonwood lane	Little Elm	75068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maryann	Pelikant	13761 cumberland	Fort Lauderdale	33325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Antaya	3211 S E Court Dr	Stuart	34997	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Merrriann	Harbert	21125 California Ave.	Coos Bay	97420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Lee	728 E enter St., Kingspor, Tn	Kingsport	37660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Dailey	1322 Santa Rita Rd	Pleasanton	94566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roxane	Hughes	12002 Walnut Branch Rd	Reston	20194	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Quick	637 W. 12th St.	CHICO	95928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sara	Hopewell	7348 Main	KANSAS CITY	64114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Szott	5955 W Michigan	Saginaw	48638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roseann	Divicino	1001 Madison Ave	Florence	29501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chales	Key	Colonial Heights	Colonial Heights	23834	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Chicone	9167 Brentwood Trail	Saint Paul	55125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Slife	3901 Lake Road	West Sacramento	95691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paula	Rosser	7209 Old Clinton Pike	Knoxville	37921	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lucille	Coz	825 cherry laurel ct nashville, Tn	Nashville	37215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Tipple	20008 Cypress way Lynnwood, Wa	Lynnwood	98036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Zoah-Henderson	3904 Cedar #B	Eureka	95503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremy	Lopez	16 Brevoort Road	CHAPPAQUA	10514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Le	348 Bointa Ave	San Jose	95116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanna	Behrens	HC 62 Box 7157	THAYNE	83127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Smith	9 valley dr	YORKTOWN HEIGHTS	10598	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Seavey	8456 Gardens Cir Apt 8 Sarasota, FL	Sarasota	34243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorraine	Pantaleo	21 Hilltop Dr	Chappaqua	10514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Yoshida	570 Amsterdam Ave	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hank	Broege	1 Mead Way	Bronxville	10708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Lestz	45580 Indian a Wells Lane	Indian Wells	92210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Perlmutter	16 Forsythia Ct	Durham	27705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Ferguson	18890 BRASILIA DRIVE,NORTHRIDGE, CA	Porter Ranch	91326	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margo	Vanderhill	504 Garfield St.	ALTON	51003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerome	Kammermeyer	2049 Willow Road	HENDERSONVILLE	28739	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Layton	Nabors	310 Saunders Avenue	Beckley	25801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raven	Hannah	501 North Shore Drive	Saint Clair Shores	48080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ariel	Nahmias	5636 Fallsgrove St.	LOS ANGELES	90016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arliss	Whiteside	8919 Park Road Apt 219	Charlotte	28210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eugene	Burshuliak	864 MAPLEDALE ROAD	Orange	6477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Kantor	3706 Jennings Street	SAN DIEGO	92106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Yoshida	570 Amsterdam Ave	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jessica	Livingston	84 Monterey Ave	TERRE HAUTE	47803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victoria	Wikle	PO Box 151	VILLA GRANDE	95486	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Hansen	PO Box 1952	Woodland	98674	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chelsea	Emerson	2320 n st	SACRAMENTO	95816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Danny	Calabro	707 Riviera Drive	Mastic Beach	11951	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Wheeler	18394 SE Saddlebrook Ct.		97003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marie	Wakefield	3054 Highway 20	NEWPORT	97365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Lane	P. O. Box 17394	BOULDER	80308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	McNeill	312 Montezuma Avenue, Cortez, CO	Cortez	81321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Beck	13701 Riverside Drive, No. 701	Sherman Oaks	91423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chip	Bair	212	Lahaina	96761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Monson	5327 Carol Dr.	Torrance	90505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lana	Fishkin	171 Gramercy Rd	Bala Cynwyd	19004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Karges	31376 PAGELS DR	Warren	48092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hope	Rayg	16969 Rorimer St	La Puente	91744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wajih	Asi	2734 Loftyview Drive	Torrance	90505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Hunt	121 P Lowell Lane	Monroe Township	8831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Brought	45 Brought Farm Drive, Lewistown PA	Lewistown	17044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Killian	Cassidy	2460 Bear Valley Pkwy	Escondido	92027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	La Rue	182 Holiday Hills Dr	Martinez	94553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mill	Miller	Beavercreek	Dayton	45432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Lester	3380 Lincoln Ave.	SAINT JOSEPH	49085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adina	Parsley	20420 Marine Dr, Apt P2	Stanwood	98292	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Dean	1050 Essex St # 304	San Diego	92103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rachel	Hutcheson	375 Georgetown Road	Nazareth	18064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Purvis-Braun	17418 E. Grande Blvd.	Fountain Hills	85268	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Burstein	160 Pebble Beach Drive	Royersford	19468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Turner	1893 ATLANTA HWY	Rockmart	30153	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	McCluskey	Anton Drive	Madison	53719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Corey	Mac	162 N. Clearview Pl.	South Bend	46619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patty	Battaglio	253 Merwin Dr	NORRISTOWN	19403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Schaefer	4027 Porch Swing Drive	Roseville	95747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Giana	Gelsey	86 Hayes Rd.	MADBURY	3823	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Urbano	11664 National Blvd. #148	LOS ANGELES	90064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gene	Golden	45 Segada	Rancho Santa Margarita	92688	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Willis	321 Degenhardt St.	Alton	62002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Dieringer	5104 Battery Lane	BETHESDA	20814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Batzer	p.o. box 45, dewitt, mi	Dewitt	48820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Haley	5 Summerfield	Irvine	92614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Martini	S Willow St	MONTCLAIR	7042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Salvucci	615 Ravencrest Rd	Pittsburgh	15215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Weissmann	2132 NE 13th Ave	PORTLAND	97212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mia	Sole	P.O.Box 58	Rollinsville	80474	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Bellers	79 N. 4th St Apt. #15	Easton	18042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristi	Fox	830 NE 83rd Street	Miami	33138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	King	807 Thornwood Dr	St. Charled	60174	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Crawford	107 Elizabeth Way	Ellenwood	30294	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Macnnes	8644 cummings Road Wittman, MD	Wittman	21676	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nate	Carpenter	2258 Thistledowne Dr. NE	Grand Rapids	49505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Covino	205 Mariners Walk	Milford	6460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vince	Cerutti	2151 Medford # 35	ANN ARBOR	48104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

traian	mitrache	755 S Highland Ln	Anaheim	92807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
susie	Jones	6324 Martinwest Dr	Millington	38053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	Williams	3956 Percheron Dr	Awendaw	29429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Zoccola	3455 W price blvd	North Port	34286	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Cardenas	143 N. Dalton	Azusa	91702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Candy	Deal	1 Madonna Dr	Bovey	55709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Handren	23 Lily pond lane	Barnegat	8005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Levine	434 Hasbrouck Blvd	Oradell	7649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Cripps	35898 Calle Raphael	Cathedral City	92234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Forecast	11 Charlotte Rd	Newton Center	2459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Mailloux	Box 6443 Albany, NY	Albany	12206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Rowe	947 25th St	Moline	61265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorraine	Johnson	4858 S. Kenny St.	Seattle	98118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Swigonski	587 Southwood Dr.	Hamilton	45013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Brandl	1961 Frankfort st. San Diego, Ca.	San Diego	92110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lois	Battersby	115 Applecroft Ln	Center Conway	3813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Bulgerin	3637 Oak Tree Lane, Eau Claire, WI	Eau Claire	54701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Geiger	135 swift	SANTA CRUZ	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raymond	Pronovost	7 Pleasant St., Apt. D	Granby	1033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Basil	Maurice	1475 Roosevelt Avenue Apt. 510	Springfield	1109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Waszkiewicz	9462 Russell Dr	Greenville	48838	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angie	Fritz	14381 30th Ave. NE Apt.24	Seattle	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjorie	Greenfield	4109 Apalogen Road	Philadelphia	19129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryan	Burrma	2615 Warrenton way	Colorado Springs	80922	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Pautz	28214 Odie Scott Dr	Ardmore	35739	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Doyle	607 Cascade Drive	Golden	80403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stanley	Schreffler	350 Allegheny Drive York PA	York	17402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paula	dematteo	1010 clarksville rd	Hermitage	16148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Moore	111 Brookdell Place	Hot Springs	71913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cecil	Gabriel	4032 SE Ozark Court	HILLSBORO	97123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	St.Pierre	P.O.Box 285	Forest Knolls	94933	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Gilbert	103 Grandview Avenue	Nanuet	10954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Burton	15 Arbor Road	South Burlington	5403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Corine	Austin	830 Crawford St	Winston Salem	27101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Krupinski	9710 N Kenwood	Kansas City	64155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Nuss	2325 S Gold Ore Court	Apache Junction	85119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phil	Patterson	1840 Fernando Lane	Tallahassee	32303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J.L.	McCreery	Tucson, Az	TUCSON	85742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Tieger	10180 SW 4 Steet, Plantation, Fl	Fort Lauderdale	33324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jorgen	Ramstead	2421 valley view dr.	Los Angeles	90026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
EM	Schleifer	123 Perkins St	JAMAICA PLAIN	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pam	McCollum	740 Breys ave ne	Salem	97301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Schwartz	2333 hidalgo avenue	LOS ANGELES	90039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Boggs	1280 Compton Way	Suwanee	30024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Mazurkiewicz	493 Castle Shannon Blvd. #223	PITTSBURGH	15234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandy	Rasich	2300 W Alameda	SANTA FE	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erin	Todd	20511 E Batavia Place	Aurora	80011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Lewis	5980 Horton St., #200	EMERYVILLE	94608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Gerraputa	7 Cathy Court	Nesconset	11767	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phil	Patterson	1840 Fernando Lane	Tallahassee	32303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Todd	7410 Red Cinder St	Las Vegas	89131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bill	Crymble	box 741	CARBONDALE	81623	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Morris	1522 1/2 Rosalia Road	LOS ANGELES	90027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Tascione	26520 Keissel Rd	Colton	92324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Currey	1819 SW 5th Avenue, Unit 250	Portland	97201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Gilstrap	1007 S. Euclid Avenue	Princeton	61356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gilbert	Melli	64 Rogers St.	Bridgeton	8302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Johnson	140 Eichten Lane	Penngrove	94951	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Luckhardt	99 Hardy Rd	LONDONDERRY	3053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Waters	2000 SE 39th St	Ocala	34480	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Let stop filling their pocket with money and let the people pick their price and choice of T.V. Why can't People used just their own T.V. and watch what on their T.V. without a box. We told we have to have a box to get some T.V. Choice. And without the Box you don't get the choice.

sharon	brody	1879 winding brook way	Scotch Plains	7076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Fassman	post ave	Westbury	11590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Porter	2810 Springfield Farms Blvd.	Brookline	65619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Sohl	Thomas Street	Ashland	1721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deanna	Gentle	4201 Westwood Dr Apt 1	Mount Vernon	62864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
vernon	jacobs	148 stetson avenue, corte madera	CORTE MADERA	94925	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	McCarthy	10007 Autumn Run Ln	Converse	78109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Carrasco	704 Yorkshire Ct.	EL PASO	79922	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
linda	friedman	855 WEA	NEW YORK	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Benda	1822 Rio Valley Drive	Clive	50325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Ober	1833 Upper Rd.	SHAMOKIN	17872	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan-Marie	Bauman	106 Rupp Road, Monticello, NY	Monticello	12701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paula	Perdoni	29955 140th Street	Herman	56248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	DiFiore	1117 Suffolk Ave	Westchester	60154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chad	Simmons	723 Enfield Street	Enfield	6082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

damien	chiappini	108 sanials lane	West Mifflin	15122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chey	Richmond	3009 e. Lee street	Pensacola	32503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Showalter	2111 Pier Dr	Ruskin	33570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Ann	Di Flaviano	1073 N Helm Ave	Clovis	93612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
myrt	westphal	1726 Peggio lane	Missoula	59802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	devine	devine	Mountain View	94043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Teresa	Sheehan	4871 W 131st St	Hawthorne	90250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Blakey	533 McDaniel Street	SUN CITY CENTER	33573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Rocha	405 N. Newhope St.	Santa Ana	92703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Zachary	Guzman	1707 Mill Creek Rd	Sunbright	37872	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judi	Miller	253 Alpine	NEDERLAND	80466	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Argelia	Truluck	5811 Mission St. Apt.#3	San Francisco	94112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Langgin	1170 Harrison St	Seattle	98109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Hunter	Portland, Oregon	Portland	97205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Fish	1331 E. Redwood Dr., Chandler, AZ	Chandler	85286	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Warren	Lai	PO Box 870	NEW PROVIDENCE	7974	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	MacFarlane	37 Deer Run Rd	Kingston	2364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chelsea	Carpenter	7517 NE Pacific St	Portland	97213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Lawrence	8443 Summerdale Rd	San Diego	92126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Earl	Blue	20680 Broadway	Sonoma	95476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Braun	1524 Maplegrove Rd.	South Euclid	44121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christy	Fisher	Eureka, CA	Eureka	95503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doris	Hinson	9 Fircrest Court	Durham	27703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Les	Lorenzo	4722 SW 2nd Ave, Portland, OR	Portland	97239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fran	wilson	2212 Silver trails dr	Fort Collins	80526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
A.	Daniel	1978 Brassie Pl.	Montgomery Village	20886	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glen	Archer	338 Glass Mountain Rd.	Saint Helena	94574	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Repsher	w. 34th Ave, Eugene, OR 97405	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Howard	Lepzelter	1861 Matthews Avenue	Bronx	10462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shaugn	Reed	3677 s Bahama st	Aurora	80013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ronald	buffo	8306 Central	Morton Grove	60053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Naomi	Sanchez	2419 Leo Ave Apt D	Missoula	59808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Smoller	811 creek court	Fair Lawn	7410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Lent	1336 Northampton Rd	KALAMAZOO	49006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Gawinowicz	806 Hunters Lane	ORELAND	19075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rose	Cherlin	2165 Hoyt Ave w	Saint Paul	55108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Melton	1556 Whippoorwill DR	Murray	42071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Hunt	15326 Brookfield St	Livonia	48154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cecil	Philip	2541 Windsor Castle Way, LEWISVILLE, TX	The Colony	75056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Schwegler	7509 N.W. Kerns Drive	Kansas City	64152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Williams	2275 NE 9th Ave	Fort Lauderdale	33305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francesca	Yates	5 Hibernia St	Columbia	29223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Schechter	Boston	Jamaica Plain	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Slayter	3 Pleasant st	West Dennis	2670	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
myrt	westphal	1726 Peggio lane	Missoula	59802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Reif	8151 Snowbird Drive	Huntington Beach	92646	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Corrine	LaRock	21 West Street	Easthampton	1027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilee	DeWitt	368 Anita St. #12	Chula Vista	91911	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hank	Broege	1 Mead Way	Bronxville	10708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Pride	4406 Crimson Ct	Sugar Land	77479	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Gordon	3 Pine Tree Dr	Broomall	19008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Simms	2204 Rocking Horse ct.	Colorado Springs	80921	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Hanks	748 Oakland Ave. Apt. 201	Oakland	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Wade	6830 NW 62ND STREET RD	Ocala	34482	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. It's time for our communication systems to enter the 21st Century.

Earl	McDonald	10531 Arbor Blf	SAN ANTONIO	78240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claudia	Morgan	605 N E 165 apt. 302	Seattle	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Reiter	151 View Court	Saylorsburg	18353	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Bordenave	951 n adoline	FRESNO	93728	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Moon	65 W Sky Ranch Blvd	Sparks	89441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Nielsen	743 Garfield Street	BLAIR	68008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Belen	Garcia	368 W Cr 2160	KINGSVILLE	78363	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	khan	9984 autumn sage way Elk Grove ca	Elk Grove	95757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jackie	Dewey	1700 Glenhouse Dr.	Sarasota	34231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Senour	809 37th st	Anacortes	98221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharyn	Steiner	19941 GULF BLVD APT B	Indian Rocks Beach	33785	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Martin	413 W. 39 St.	Vancouver	98660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Walton	11233 Jersey Ave N	Champlin	55316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Fleishman	401 Eighth Ave. Apt. 65	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Courtney	Munns	1585 Dana Dr #33	Redding	96003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jay	Shick	4800 Arbor Lodge Dr	Raleigh	27616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	McLearn-Montz	7707 Hickman Rd., Apt 38, urbandale, IA	Urbandale	50322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Nieland	415 Oakwood Dr	Alamo	78516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrea	Bonette	17 Ridge Road	Hopewell	8525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandy	Lynn	7631 Lynn	SAINT LOUIS	63130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Goodman	51 Broomall Lane	GLEN MILLS	19342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kris	Leesekamp	1651 29th Street NE	Cedar Rapids	52402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rubens	Rudolf	79-11 41 ave	Elmhurst	11373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samuel	Lomma	32 Queens Way #3	Camillus	13031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Toellner	535 Holly Belle Dr	Lyman	29365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Mahan	62510 Delta Lake Road	Iron River	54847	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Bannon	1002 Graham Drive	FREDERICKSBURG	22401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Hall	1485 N. Ellison Dr #417	San Antonio	78251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wade	Hyde	1261 Lavista	Atlanta	30324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Nave	628 Brenton St.	SHIPPENSBURG	17257	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Martzahl	120 E 5 St	KAUKAUNA	54130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	Wagner	9791 Clark Street	Clive	50325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Becke	6010 Dublin Ct.	Racine	53402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Murray	1002 Graham Drive	FREDERICKSBURG	22401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Pisa	26116 Galvez Ct.	Valencia	91355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Huffstetler	2410 Brushy Mountain Road	Wilkesboro	28697	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Gates	5 Smoke Rise Circle	PEABODY	1960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Waltner	9 North St.	WILLIAMSBURG	1096	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helga	Klessen	245 Cooper Street	Accord	12404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martha	Land	1144 Marilyn Way	CONCORD	94518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Preston	Collins	16510 Creek Lane SE Apt 1D	Yelm	98597	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	O'Brien	6 Hastings Ln	ROCHESTER	14617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erin	Ham	5701 South MoPac Expressway #723	Austin	78749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Lolli	1670 Hilton Head Ct. #1280	EL CAJON	92019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jim	hilton	5939 hillview park ave	Van Nuys	91401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harold	Manning	P.O. Box 1222	Martinsburg	25402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Shrimplin	2613 SW Murrow Ct.	TOPEKA	66611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francine	Sutton	12490 Quivira	Overland Park	66213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Menphrey	McGee	7736 SE 83rd Ave.	Portland	97266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Carrera	61 Beacon Avenue	LAYTON	84041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kerry	McGrath	5053 Cartwright Ave. #104	NORTH HOLLYWOOD	91601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alek	Hyra	6314 Alberta St	Springfield	22152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
tpm	swanson	25405 smithtown rd.	Excelsior	55331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Anderson	38244 County Road 53	Storden	56174	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	Chapman	72 Cherbourg Ct	WHEELING	60090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Caron	7561 j rd gladstone	Gladstone	49837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dwayne	Dvoracek	110 Grayson Dr	SALISBURY	28147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

patricia	carcasses	2741A SE 141ST AVE	PORTLAND	97236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Fayette	3328 Duck Avenue	Key West	33040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
TERENCE	MCDONALD	336 SNOHOMISH DR	La Conner	98257	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

TJ	Brooks	CR 148	Eureka Springs	72632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Mitchell	5511 Fernhoff Rd	OAKLAND	94619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Grabowski	11713 Forest Park Cir	BRADENTON	34211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Bailly	540 W. Olin Ave.	Madison	53715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Elrod	7363 weaver rd.	Germantown	45327	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonard	Taubman	173 Heritage Pointe	Williamsburg	23188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Hinkle	252 Marcia Way	Bridgewater	8807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Nystrom	6510 141st St SW	Edmonds	98026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Fayette	3328 Duck Avenue	Key West	33040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ralph	Wiechert	27 Edgar Road, Scituate, MA	Scituate	2066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John & Susan	Pucci	Maple Ave	NEW WINDSOR	12553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Morrison	302 North 82nd Avenue	Yakima	98908	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. ENOUGH IS ENOUGH!

Perry	Nelson	PO Box 19261	COLORADO CITY	81019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jasmine	Reyes	A1 CALLE 2 Villas de Castro	Caguas	725	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Lerner	1539 Frisco Peak Dr	Henderson	89014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Hagen	1060 Intertown Rd	Petoskey	49770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Hay	2045 Windcliff Dr	Estes Park	80517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Pope	5954 NE 16th avenue	Portland	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tracey	Sadiq	344 Sabal Springs Ct	DEBARY	32713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reverend Dr. Ronald	Eastwood	20767 Oakwood Road, Stockton, CA	Stockton	95215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cliff	Moone	2925 8th Street Ct NE	Hickory	28601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

AdaM	GojdaS	forest Rd	La Grange Park	60526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michel	Harry	1014 Bong Blvd	Duluth	55811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Kershner	1776 W PATTON ST	Saint David	85630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Lux	154 franklin ln	STATE ROAD	28676	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Smith	385D Ralph McGill Blvd NE	Atlanta	30312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanda	Crain	22 Gifford Road	SIDNEY	13838	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Reason why I gave up on any form of Television Services and went to the internet via my phone system, for they have great options and I have no surprises for billing.

Jim	Perry	PO 961	Santa Rosa	95402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Meri	Lehtinen	POBox 562	El Prado	87529	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Gubernick	20471 Parrott Ranch Road	Carmel Valley	93924	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice	Dushkes	29 bedford cove	San Rafael	94901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Wuckowitsch	5830 E. Blaney Rd.	Peyton	80831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Semanik	7176 Green Farm Road	West Bloomfield	48322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Oren	Horst	5965 Mockingbird Ln	PINSON	35126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Summey	5533 Maggie Lane	Evergreen	80439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Georgetta	Richardson	7129 76th Ave No	Minneapolis	55428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rochelle	Lazio	11844 clifton	Lakewood	44107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Meinke	8807 Hastings Circle NE	Minneapolis	55449	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Kinsey	6837 Maple Leaf Dr.	Carlsbad	92011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	Spanier	510 Monroe Street	Traverse City	49684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Peachey	Akron, PA	Akron	17501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Acker	nw 138th way	Vancouver	98685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacqualin	Williams	1992s 200e	SALT LAKE CITY	84115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Diffley	2799 Rustic Place #320	Saint Paul	55117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Ogea	15455 Canterbury Forest Dr. Apt 117	Tomball	77377	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deb	Schuback	8 Whittier Pl.	Boston	2114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Wade	1619 N Cleveland	Chicago	60614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Luther	Haug	8015 wilnoty Dr	Knoxville	37931	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Taylor	7373 Far Hill Drive	Colorado Springs	80922	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patt	Krieger	3609 ransom	Alexandria	22306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randy	Webb	2835 little dr	FAYETTEVILLE	28314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kat	Archer	17722 Burnside Ave	Hagerstown	21740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Blumer	4818 W. Hoffman Pl.	Spokane	99205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
clive	boulton	4505 Edgemont Place	Mount Vernon	98273	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Quyen	Vu	44202 Topaz Way	Fremont	94539	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Potts	12125 Callado Rd.	San Diego	92128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kathleen	kurtz	8914 Grant Ave.	Manassas	20110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Kane	56 South 75th Place	MESA	85208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Rabichow	800 WASHINGTON BLVD	Oak Park	60302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	parker	30 Millard Terrace	Trenton	8638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Guy	Liston	211 West Cook Ave. Anchorage, AK	Anchorage	99501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Franklin	Morrison	4304 Ripken Circle West	Jacksonville	32224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Kershner	1776 W PATTON ST	Saint David	85630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sanny	Frost	262 w. university	Jackson	38305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Heaton	114 Drake Ave	south san francisco	94080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	MacDonagh	7109 Ohms Lane	Minneapolis	55439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ellen	Tanner	1911 fiddlers run	Toms River	8755	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russell	Mills	115-A Noe Street	SAN FRANCISCO	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Stephens	802 Pennington St	ELIZABETH	7202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Mallory	525 E Sherman Ave.	Salt Lake City	84105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Wolf	765 Barger Dr.	Deltona	32738	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Elander	110 Nelson Rd	AMSTERDAM	12010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Potishnak	244 stebbins st	Belchertown	1007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Meile	Po Box 56547	Philadelphia	19111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
G	G	x	HAYWARD	94541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ted	Henderson	8828 Rozetta Court	Las Vegas	89134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Granse	1641 El Camino de Vida	Hollister	95023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
KC	Carney	1 S Evaline St	PITTSBURGH	15224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Bianchi	2039 Clover Ct	Chanhassen	55317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Reiss	4099 153 ave se	Mapleton	58059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Edwards	2608 Fox Court	Augusta	30907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Neihart	6751 Geneva Ave. So.	COTTAGE GROVE	55016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	patchett	p o box 421	Montgomery	60538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deanna	Clinger	5133 Phillips Run	CANAL WINCHESTER	43110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	Flores	347 Parke St., #4	Pasadena	91101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chet	Winney	6543 Woodburn Lane	Yorba Linda	92886	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Goldstein	588 Pawtucket Ave.	Pawtucket	2860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Megan	Herzog	5004 W. Placita de los Vientos	Tucson	85745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shelley	McDonough	7753 Red Clover Drive	Indianapolis	46227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	White	birch ave.	Ogden	84403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

RM	Williamson	1929 Breezy Ridge Trail, Knoxville, TN	Knoxville	37922	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Cooke	P O Box 423	TABERNASH	80478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Scott	167 Teilh Dr	BOULDER CREEK	95006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sue	Lupien	106 Misty Valley Lane	Maumelle	72113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Walsh	300 Calle Miramar	Redondo Beach	90277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Milliken	2969 Covington Square Way	Fairfax	22031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christy	Edward	6010 Serrano Terrace Lane	HOUSTON	77041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emanuel	Jones	29698Reed Drive	Flat Rock	48134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thom	Peters	7725 Riverview Road	Snohomish	98290	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Rosenstein	1502 Davis Rd.	Hillsborough	27278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shannon	Kelley	10890 Lighthouse Dr Apt 613	Belleville	48111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chemen	Ochoa	1 Altura Drive	Santa Fe	87508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Cunningham	23 Libby Pines Rd	Standish	4084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Reiss	4099 153 ave se	Mapleton	58059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Veronica	Kennedy	7064 Leewood Forest Drive	Springfield	22151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Meyer	31 W 74th St	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles J.	Collins, III	365 Sycamore Drive	UNION	7083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Shivley	32305 S. Kropf Rd.	Canby	97013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerrit	Woudstra	40 weegschaal lemmer	Pasadena	91126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherman	Whittaker	2806 Omar Street	Chesapeake	23324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Caldwell	510 Alhambra Blvd., #4	Sacramento	95816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

W.J.	Zack	523A Eureka St.	SAN FRANCISCO	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarah	Sheets	1620 Shirley St	MERCED	95341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Schildt	14319 Edgemont Road	Smithsburg	21783	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Milliken	5540 Annadale trail	Elizabeth	80107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
barbara	stamp	6901 W 84th St	MINNEAPOLIS	55438	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
laura	smith	1150 n lake shore drive 19h	Chicago	60611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ken	price	39 Barbara st bloomfield nj	Bloomfield	7003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Lassoff	1250 n. kirby	Hemet	92545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Haunani V.	Kawananakoa	92 W. Ida Avenue, #4	Littleton	80120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Lovatt	348 Rantoul St Unit 208	Beverly	1915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Basey	Klopp	1808 NW Vicksburg Ave.		97703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
joseph	humphrey	po box 5	Sun Valley	83353	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alex	Willen	919 W Washington Ave	Sunnyvale	94086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Cullen	443 S Main St	Warrenton	27589	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Dunn	1466 W 1200 N	LAYTON	84041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alecto	Caldwell	3435 Simmons St.	OAKLAND	94619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MARION	COHEN	536 ISHAM STREET	New York	10034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karyn	Barry	221 Worcester Ln Unit 4	Waltham	2451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roscoe	Jackson	20 Silvercrest Cove	Jackson	38305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	DeMond	753 KILDARE LN	Bowling Green	43402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rudy	Casillas	13831 Flairwood St.	SAN ANTONIO	78233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Toyohara	4241 Woodland Drive	La Mesa	91941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Waller	15 fourth st	norwalk	6855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Ashcraft	234 Monte Largo Drive NE	Albuquerque	87123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Elliott	1120 Swansea Ct	Schaumburg	60193	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Williams	2231 W Ravina Park Rd	Decatur	62526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LARRY J	Hayes	718 East 6th	Claremore	74017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Kelly	316 Modoc Ave	Oakland	94618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Krista	joy	cerrillos rd	SANTA FE	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	johnston	2042 nw Eastes st		97703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	McCarty	4245 Opal Cliff Dr	Santa Cruz	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Vanover	1724 Swaringen Rd.	Traphill	28685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Petr	Buben	1111 H st	Davis	95616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

W Fred	Edwards	519 Murray Ave	Minerva	44657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randi	Reiremo	148 Stetson Ave.	Corte Madera	94925	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Fulton	2741 Woodland Road	Evanston	60201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Zahakos	75 JUNIPER HILL DR	Raynham	2767	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Moore	8820 W Portage Street	Milwaukee	53224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rochelle	Gustafson	3219 NE 111th Circle, Vancouver, WA	Vancouver	98686	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandy	Dumke	807 Executive Circle	CROOKS	57020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Davis	2356 17th Ave S	Seattle	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Paolini	4876 Speak Lane	San Jose	95118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francisco	Lopez	2094 31st. Ave	San Francisco	94116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Leitch	14392 Stella Ct.; Woodbridge, Virginia	Woodbridge	22193	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valkyr	Johnson	1309 Jackson st	Pueblo	81004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Harris	42 Ruth Road	Freeport	32439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Crymes	17809 NE Marine Dr. b-4	Portland	97230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Rao	7540 180 Street	Fresh Meadows	11366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	McFarlane	6 Newington Ave	Gansevoort	12831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Tomaszewski	159 Waterford Lane	Reading	19606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Linden	1061 Hunt st nw	Palm Bay	32907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Solomon	PO Box 1183	HAIKU	96708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Wiesner	3654 Washburn Ave N	Minneapolis	55412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Henry	22 Perkins Avenue	NORTHAMPTON	1060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charlene	Perry	32 Eastmoor dr	ASHEVILLE	28805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Keilin	26300North Woodland Road	Beachwood	44122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
virginia	Miller	340 Riverside Drive	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alice	Schwartz	6351 Spring Ridge Pkwy. Apt. 132	Frederick	21701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heidi	McLean	3057 Montgomery Way	Sacramento	95817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Schuman	9 Powder Horn Rd.	Patterson	12563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doreen	Mann	108 King Road	Lisbon	4250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gatha	Pierucki	62280 N. Burr Oak Rd., Burr Oak, MI	Burr Oak	49030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
victor	vianu	538-J Via de la Valle	Solana Beach	92075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	McCumber	Millan Street	Morgantown	26501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Kelly	140 Ridge St	Millis	2054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
yolanda	bako	120 benchley pl. apt 28m, bronx, ny	Bronx	10475	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joel	Van Johnson	2900 Gen'l Anderson Rd, #71	Vancouver	98661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Llewellyn	1420 Addison St., #102	Berkeley	94702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gintas	Janusonis	70 Flushing Ave.	Brooklyn	11205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorothy	Lebovitz	1767 Seth Loop E	Upland	91784	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Bescript	8882 E Maxwell Dr.	Tucson	85747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Darden-Munsell	306 Maple Ridge St.	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jenny	Walker	417 S Cherokee	Taylorville	62568	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Sullivan	278 Port Royal Ave	SAN MATEO	94404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	James	47-698 Alawiki Street	Kaneohe	96744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Duane	Mantick	3651 North 250 West	West Lafayette	47906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	seeburger	600 frederick st se	Olympia	98501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Bjelland	756 Goodrich Ave.	Saint Paul	55105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	Hawkins	515 52nd St, Pittsburgh, PA	Pittsburgh	15201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Allen	40 rue durantin		75018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	LaVogue	42839 Apples Way Drive	Leetonia	44431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Simon	Libfeld	2843 Old Yorktown Rd	Yorktown Heights	10598	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Nalls	9904 Holmhurst Road, Bethesda MD	Bethesda	20817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russell	Gambino	109 Ironwood Ln.	Clayton	27520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Ebel	2043 Bonnie Drive, Lancaster, PA	Lancaster	17601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Kirby	2120 Sierra road	Plymouth Meeting	19462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Meier	5103 Beacon Rd	PALMETTO	34221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Berekk	Dass	103 Market Street	San Francisco	94105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet R	Snow	56 Dyer St	Presque Isle	4769	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Sammartano	4751 Essex Cir	BOULDER	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christin	Bloor	222 Harvest Way, Hiram	Hiram	30141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Priest	6393 Whispering Woods Dr	WILLIAMSON	14589	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Rutan	4848 E Kentucky Ave. Unit. E	Denver	80246	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynn	Canarini	17130 E Oro Grande Dr	Fountain Hills	85268	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	Ferretti	250 Shirley Lane	Norristown	19403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phil	Conner	1621 Horse Lake Road	Wenatchee	98801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maren	Culter	4307 NE 123rd St	Seattle	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brandon	Burnette	3145 Maughon Rd	Covington	30014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Zelinski	1902 FAIRVIEW AVE	Easton	18042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melissa	Dyas	26 East Fourth Street	Bloomsburg	17815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doreen	Mann	108 King Rd	Lisbon	4250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	Llinas	1343 Valentia St	DENVER	80220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Seay	11000 Marble Road	Austin	78750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ariel	Mendez	9706 rushwood ct.	Tampa	33615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Fratus	4073 W Double Adobe Road	Mc Neal	85617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dudley	Delany	919 N ALVERNON WAY	Tucson	85711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Fiscus	614 Fair Oaks Ave	Saint Louis	63119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Caraco	200 Poplar Lane, Camden	Camden	29020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

K	Crewe	12527 NE 32nd St	Bellevue	98005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Breyman	1180 Regent St	Niskayuna	12309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maura	Price	1231 NE M L King Blvd	Portland	97232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karl	Hamann	213 Spring Crk. Rd. So.	Red Wing	55066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Carter	4 Rome Street	Norwalk	6851	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Sering	2459 Baird St.	PORT CHARLOTTE	33948	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Atte	Wahlstrì¦m	Suonotkontie 3 F 75		630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Khanlian	Santa Fe, NM	Santa Fe	87505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Zrobek	PO Box 366	Lakeville	46536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lori	Olcott	3056 S. Geneva St.	DENVER	80231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stefan	Lewis	19415 82nd Place West	Edmonds	98026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Wright	620 Lighthorse Circle	ABERDEEN	28315	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Wiley	chemainus	Calexico	V0R 1K0	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	Mann	804 secesar Chavez blvd #33	Portland	97214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Fabian	62 South St	Addison	14801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Mayrand	Bramber II	Rochester	3867	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melody	Monk	PO Box 6261	Tahoe City	96145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roseanne	Baker	5 Itwtbury Ln	Bella Vista	72714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria	Hicks	108 Country Club Blvd.	Slidell	70458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kayla	warden	9034 e 27th st	Tulsa	74129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wolfgang	Klausing	Santa Teresa Gallura	Glen Ridge	7028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Bosboom	201 West 87 Street #511	NEW YORK	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
tina	dakas	624 W 182 ST APT 5C	New York	10033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Marcoux	2808 Chevy Chase Cir	Jefferson	21755	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Orville	Myers	2610. S. W. Topeka	Topeka	66611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	O'Malley	492 Marlborough Rd.	Brooklyn	11226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Oaster	775 S. Antler Dr.	Mt Zion	62549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann	Helt	424 57th St	Downers Grove	60516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Beemer	122 SE 44th Ter	Cape Coral	33904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Hawkins	18900 Trillium Lane	Fort Bragg	95437	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Syed	vaseem	Bayonne	Bayonne	7002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Young	9410 Camino Venado	Helotes	78023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Dubinsky	162 rolling way	Peekskill	10566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Fradkin	60 Union Ave	New Rochelle	10801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Scheppke	615 Arlington Cir	Novato	94947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Stevens	306 Blue Spring Road	Princeton	8540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelly	OBrien	2618 E Vista Dr	Phoenix	85032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
paul;	potts	1720	RAYMOND	98577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pam	Burton	726 Port Providence Road	PHOENIXVILLE	19460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Karsh	275 Brady Ct.	Martinez	94553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John & Mary	Kurzynski	PO Box 202	Pulaski	54162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Kent	98 Downey Dr.		L1M 1J6	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pablo	Burgos	15742 92nd Ct N	WEST PALM BEACH	33412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frances	ONeill	8246 Jennings Rd	Swartz Creek	48473	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Jones-Williams	1743-7 Gervais Ave.	Saint Paul	55109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arnold	Rollin	605 NW Erin Crest	Albany	97321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Weinstein	15700 15th Place N	Minneapolis	55447	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shiloh	Kayce	2409 Manderson st.	Omaha	68111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Dubinsky	162 rolling way	Peekskill	10566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Elliott	5151 W Carmen Ave	Chicago	60630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Stevens	7045 Trellis Court	Alpharetta	30004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Morgan	Longmate	18 Deer Path Drive	Albany	12205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Heald	PO Box 284, PLeasant Hill, TN	PLEASANT HILL	38578	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jayne	Boyer	4316 Thetford Rd	Durham	27707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arnold	Rollin	605 NW Erin Crest	Albany	97321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Young	9410 Camino Venado	Helotes	78023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gayle	Abdullah	789 Hinton Place, Cinainnati	Cincinnati	45240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Carr	266 Cannel Mine Road	NEW BETHLEHEM	16242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	C	Ave	Hamden	6514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lewis	Holley	6521 Legacy Park Drive	Mechanicsville	23111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Duane	Leavitt	225 Bryant Rd	BUCKFIELD	4220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Newman	35-54 80th St. Jackson Heights NY	Jackson Heights	11372	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Taylor	22549 Hartschorn Dr	Milton	19968	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leila	Mohseni	2333 13th St.	Boulder	80304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Beall	716 2nd Av	Aurora	60505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Foster	10186 Brighton Cir	Twinsburg	44087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Luis	Sanchez	1925 Sw 21 Terrace	miami	33145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claire	Hoffman	5814 NE GARFIELD Ave	Portland	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Fisher	125 S Stott St	Genoa	60135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peggy	Beckman	195 E Dovetail Dr	Coralville	52241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Badus	680 Bode Road	HOFFMAN ESTATES	60169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Autry	125 Valleywood Dr	ATHENS	30606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Mayer	314 Milroy Street NW	OLYMPIA	98502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Wiederhold	1405 Edwards St	Bellingham	98229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Earl	17 Park View Drive	HINGHAM	2043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sean	Donahue	201 Castle Shannon Blvd.	PITTSBURGH	15228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Edwards	7822 Trinity Ln.	LA PALMA	90623	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charissa	Kreager	765 Waits Rd.	CYNTHIANA	41031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Merlin	Magers	Cheney, WA	Cheney	99004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Rush	20 Brixton Ln	Bella Vista	72714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frederic	Merchant	2012 SE Hemlock AV	Portland	97214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerrold	Osborn	3020 11th Street NW	Albuquerque	87107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Conway	549 columbia rd	BAY VILLAGE	44140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Stearns	105 Little Fox Ave	Sanford	32773	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gloria	Skouge	326 NW 182nd Street	SEATTLE	98177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanna	Liao	New York	New York	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
nick	olivo	PO Box 1662 watsonville. ca	Watsonville	95077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim	pow	352 Westbourne	Bloomfield Hills	48301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Angott	14265 Blackburn St, Livonia, MI	Livonia	48154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jennifer	palladino	23 cragmere rd	Suffern	10901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ramon	Arias	Miami Ave.	Miami	33144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Curtis	Porach	5035 NE Mason Ct	PORTLAND	97218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Kendrick	1207 Fay Ave. Kemah, texas	Kemah	77565	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lori	Fuzo	570 Wakefield Drive	Cortland	44410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Taylor	218 Ricker Road	Wells River	5081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Marshall	55 East Houston S.t 4A	New York	10012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sudha	Sukumar	77 PRINCESS DR	North Brunswick	8902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Brown	Edgewater, FL	Edgewater	32141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Jetty	5413 Purcell Dr. NE	Albuqurque	87111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ian	Heim	102 28th St. N	Battle Creek	49015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Thomas	1215 D Stt Apt 12	SACRAMENTO	95814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Kaylor	100 Towne Ter	Los Gatos	95032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stuart	Lynn	11 Nevada St.	Worcester	1602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Butler	221 Beach St.	Fall River	2721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Oona	Short	114 Wolcott Street	BROOKLYN	11231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerry	Milliken	1441 Laree Ave	CLARKDALE	86324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lin	Ko	78 North Road	Bedford	1730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irvin	Best	1330 CREEK POINT BLVD	Jacksonville	32218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Kohler	18 N. Judson St.	Gloversville	12078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ferne	Jacobs	1536 Curran Street, Los Angeles, Ca	Los Angeles	90026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Miller	184 CR 4127	LAMPASAS	76550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Gilas	8112 W. Eastman Pl.	DENVER	80227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shanna	Livermore	410 South Sierra Madre Blvd.	Pasadena	91107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christy	Pommier	4425 n. Campbell rd.	LAS VEGAS	89129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Polinski	404 Atwood St.	Pittsburgh	15213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Jaquez	12484 Robert Dahl	El Paso	79938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Anderson	14580 Midway	NAMPA	83651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	McCauley	3602 e Tano ct	Phoenix	85044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
chrysanne	Vogt	240 Forest Rd	Northford	6472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eva	Love	889 S Rainbow Blvd #560	Las Vegas	89145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hannah	Smith	508 Monroe St	Sauk City	53583	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Chretien	995 Gilbert Street SE	Atlanta	30316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Kline	34789 Placitas Rd	Marana	85658	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justin	McKinnon	80 Myrtle St.	Canterbury	3224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jerome	landau	ABCDE	Scottsdale	85266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Speed	1618 154th St. E.	TACOMA	98445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Lorenz	1033 Bridge Road	COLLEGEVILLE	19426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Sell	11813 N 52nd Ave	GLENDALE	85304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Harris	3404 S 176th St	Seattle	98188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R R	Schneider Jr	Annapolis	Annapolis	21401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Vlamakis	4 St. Martin Street Bethpage, NY	Bethpage	11714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Smith	514 Moriah Noel Dr SW	RESACA	30735	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Lawlor	28 harris rd.	Medford	2155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fern	Barnes	901 KEN ST.	AUSTIN	78758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Willis	Diller	Holland MI	Holland	49423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

abner	samuel	4611 N Winnifred St	Tacoma	98407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Moira	Whalen	521 Morgan Bay RD	Surry	4684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Pirk	2243 Hilltop LN NW	Bremerton	98312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Harris	3404 S 176th St	Seattle	98188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bernadette	Greenwood	1405 East Broadway	Missoula	59802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Kasvinsky	660 RING ROAD	WATERBURY CENTER	5677	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Taylor	PO Box 6345	Alameda	94501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Caulum	710 ottawa	MADISON	53711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Davenport	5128 Montair Ave.	LAKEWOOD	90712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Dicks	2471 road L	REDWOOD VALLEY	95470	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Marak	Avalon Ave	Irving	75061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christian	Clough	1618 W Edgewater Ave, Apt 3E	Chicago	60660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

anthony	guiliani	49 camore st	Stamford	6905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Owens	445 S 6th	La Grange	60525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Bolton	19822 324 Ave NE	Duvall	98019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerald	Croteau	607 Stone Meadow Lane	SANTA BARBARA	93108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Skocik	2269 Fairway Villas Ln N	Atlantic Beach	32233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	McConnell	1062 Munroe Falls Kent Rd	Kent	44240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Kepner	3 River Ln	York	3909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marie	Perkins	250B S. Maple Avenue Apt. 7	Oak Park	60302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Kelly	5601 Picardy Dr. S.	Oakland	94605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Sotelo	4925 Colina dr, la mes,ca	La Mesa	91942	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
K L	Paul	105 Trevose RD	Feasterville Trevose	19053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Roberts	1187 E. 3rd St. unit 111	Long Beach	90802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Pease	10 1/2 Maple St Apt 1	South Hadley	1075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rolfe	Pitts	4708 Westhampton	Williamsburg	23188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lucy	Greer	4216 Western Ave	Western Springs	60558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Starkel	13 Southland ct	Maumelle	72113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Goodman	516 Knoll Drive	Granville	43023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Braithwaite	710 Perry St	Vincennes	47591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jann	Cobb	14 Chestnut St	Exeter	3833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Duncan	Brown	8122 E. Sundew Dr.	Tucson	85710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brandon	Bryn	2400 E 2nd Street, Apt. 114	LONG BEACH	90803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Duncan	85 S. Atlantic Ave #401	Cocoa Beach	32931	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	mclaughlin	8727 sturgeon way	sacramento	95826	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harriet	Stolper	Nyc	New York	10016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne Gray	Haynes	204 Elm Street	Alexandria	22301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marvin	Ross	7629 Sunderland Drive	Fort Wayne	46835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dominick	Gaccino	3104 E Broadway Rd Lot 69	Mesa	85204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Darlene	Harris	3031 NE 137th St	Seattle	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Nichols	3032 minutemen lane	Brandon	33511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Waddell	7427 Woodside Dr	Indianapolis	46260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joann	Santos	318 23 street	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kirk	Sheckler	1111 N Institute Pl	PEORIA	61606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	Facile	4410 Douglas Dr N	Minneapolis	55422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Schroder	4744 SW Gage Blvd	Topeka	66610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jaz	Ellis	315 Ocean Parkway, #6G	Brooklyn	11218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elissa	Mericle-Gray	116 Old Sanford Rd	Berwick	3901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	White	514 Winkler Ave	Louisville	40208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DoRi	Miles	2561 NYS ROUTE 9N	Crown Point	12928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	Rosteck	740 Ottawa St	Boyne City	49712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicholas	Scamuffa	206 south deerwood dr	West Chester	19382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ronnie	mitchell	401 w. champion	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Harazim	880 Kane Street	South Elgin	60177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julie	Knutson	10844 10th ave. Hesperia, Ca. 92345	HESPERIA	92345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Trowbridge	511 Bent Oak Ct	LYNCHBURG	24502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Eling	721 fairmount avenue	Mishawaka	46545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gail	Babich	200 Cougar Rd	Whitethorn	95589	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heather	erdody	9136 Landing Dr SW	Calabash	28467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Pahl	8617 9th ave sw	Seattle	98106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Orozco	345 Arbor Avenue	West Chicago	60185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Duane	Haataja	1420 SE 16th	Portland	97214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bebe	Elsamahy	5919 Miller Valley	HOUSTON	77066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

P	Waterworth	Franklin Ave.	Lanham	20706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glen	Paris-Stamm	697 Oak Knoll Drive	Ashland	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Jackson	905 21st Ave NE, Hickory, NC	Hickory	28601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chelsie	Capanear	PO Box 1502	Hilo	96721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
steven	gage	2409 trinity farms rd	Raleigh	27607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Whitehead	1400 Bridger Dr.	Green River	82935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

B A	Wellman	57 heath lane	Bath	4530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Schneider	6313 Genoa Road	Tracys Landing	20779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
TOM	SIMPSON	POST OFFICE BOX 23106 PLEASANT HILL	Pleasant Hill	94523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Camputaro	1355 E. Ft. Lowell Rd. - Apt. B	Tucson	85719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ilsa	Lottes	9500 Sidebrook rd	Owings Mills	21117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
craig	dunlap	120 dixie cv	Kyle	78640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristin	Peabody	741 South Western Ave #14	Santa Maria	93458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ronnie	mitchell	401 w. champion	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
craig	dunlap	120 dixie cv	Kyle	78640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Salma	74 Barbuda St	Toms River	8757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adrian	Watson	3706 L. Honoapiilani Rd. D22, Lahaina, Hi.	Lahaina	96761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eugene	Bradford	3770 Lake Forest Dr	Sterling Heights	48314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S. E.	Hertel	228 N Tejon, Colorado Springs, CO	Colorado Springs	80903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
AL	Salsano	12 West 72st	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
nancy	Willis	903 N. Kentuky	Iola	66749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lucy	Greer	4216 Western Ave	Western Springs	60558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Jenkins	907 Tanager Ct	Sunnyvale	94087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gevena	Clay	611 Aerick St #4	Inglewood	90301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Reece	Castellano	6359 Cleo sT	SAN DIEGO	92115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Smith	Queensbury	Queensbury	12804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Serrano	133A Prospect Ave	Bayonne	7002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thelma	Heyer	El Granada, CA	El Granada	94018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stanley	Palombo	11205 Marcliff Rd	ROCKVILLE	20852	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
L	C	Gascony	Greenville	29609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Gulas	12 Patty Ann Ter	Derby	6418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	O'Neil	3509 Lewis	Long Beach	90807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	yagi	246 sanchez	San Francisco	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lloyd	Bill	480 Pleasanton Dr, Gettysburg Pa.	Gettysburg	17325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zachary	Woodward	2165 Arapahoe Basin Lane, White Lake MI	White Lake	48383	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Dean	33945 N. 66th Way, Scottsdale, AZ 85266			American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carl	Pflug	50 Beers Street	Keyport	7735	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	MARTINEZ	9591 N IBIS PLACE	TUCSON	85742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sander	Greenland	22333 SWENSON DR	TOPANGA	90290	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Horne	4 MERION AVE	Conshohocken	19428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	Artemieff	79 Upper Baptist Hill Rd	Conway	1341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darrell	Clarke	Pasadena, CA	PASADENA	91101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phyllis	Arbegast	Allentown, PA	Allentown	18102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Wojtas	87 e. shabbona rd.	Deckerville	48427	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Meghan	MacKenzie	22 Maguire Road	Wayland	1778	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ru	Carley	PO Box 133	Honaunau	96726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Conlin	32 Pine Street	EAST WINDSOR	6088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	WHITSELL	273 north lake drive	Hillsboro	63050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Ross	808 Greenbush East Rd	MOUNT ORAB	45154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Carr	119 E 17th Ave.	Spokane	99203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Ezerman	Underwood Lane	Williston	5495	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Lamont	11922 Tennessee Av.	Los Angeles	90064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Grantham	Thomas	163 Bethlehem Road	NEW WINDSOR	12553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Weinstein	2330 Leyden St.	DENVER	80207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Ramey	1323 Hebert St.	St. Louis	63107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. kim	brower	440 tall pine st	Asheboro	27205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	b	720 mainsail lane	SECAUCUS	7094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Maples	4390 Brook Ave.	Minneapolis	55424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Candlelyn n	Thomas	6401 Duck Creek #2463	Garland	75043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Fraser	262 w107th Street	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erica	Sohl	Thomas Rd	Ashland	1721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Johanna	Lindsay	39570 Benavente Pl	FREMONT	94539	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ernest	Assel	6117 University Dr. Dbn. Hgts. MI	DEARBORN HEIGHTS	48127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim	Danner	1218 E Southport Dr	Terre Haute	47802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Burke	9001 Ridge Avenue, Unit 40, Phila. PA.	Philadelphia	19128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Saadia	303 Magnolia Dr	LAGUNA BEACH	92651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

TJ	Wright	7023 Ravenna Ave NE	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Cooper	618 St Mary's Place	ANACORTES	98221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	O'Reilly	7 Ashland Street, Caldwell, NJ	Caldwell	7006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Scott	580 South	Kaysville	84037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christian	Villarreal	5202 Texana Dr.	San Antonio	78249	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Goldberg	4040 Grand View Blvd #30	LOS ANGELES	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Adams	20501 63rd Place West, Lynnwood, WA	Lynnwood	98036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liz	Boyles	2701 Walnut Ave Apt 105	Altoona	16601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Fidler	2260 W Asbury Ave	DENVER	80223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maxine	Clark	1717 sheridan rd	Bremerton	98310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Henry	320 Denver Ave	Grants Pass	97526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Reimers	2384 Blakeley Corners Road	South Wales	14139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	Ogburn	2301 Millers Lane	Louisville	40216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
CASEE	maxfield	apt 213 1737 n sycamore ave	LOS ANGELES	90028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Casagni	34307 Shaffer dr	Dade City	33523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Houdashelt	429 Lyons St. Fort Collins, CO	Fort Collins	80521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clint	Johnfroe	224 Bethune Dr	Williamsburg	23185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Keady	5557 N Burrage Ave	PORTLAND	97217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Shaw	11 Lorenz St.	WORCESTER	1605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Mcallister	35 Cavanagh Rd	Scituate	2066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ivan	Gil	3811 Duckling Walk	GLEN ALLEN	23060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dana	Linder	261 Summer Street Woonsocket RI	Woonsocket	2895	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janey	Busby	6005 Tasajillo	Austin	78739	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Mola	5 Richlee rd	Norwalk	6851	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Matheson	1405 Wright st	Santa Rosa	95404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Howe	831 Forest View Dr	Verona	53593	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
A. M.	Shanahan	2528 Avon Rd.	Ardmore	19003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nathan	Groeger	214 Crescent Dr	Williamsburg	23188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	Simonson	1725 Oxford Ave	Claremont	91711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
steven	castano	3131 cummins ln., #71	Houston	77027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Martinsen	377 Arnos Rd.	Talent	97540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Grenert	854 Main St.	Contoocook	3229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Kahigian	8 Country Hill Lane	HAVERHILL	1832	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Damouth	2403 Illinois St	Golden	80401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glen	Twombly	2066 Mustang Lane, Arcata, CA 95521-4523	Arcata	95521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Varieur	15802 52nd Street Ct E	Sumner	98390	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Gillaugh	740 S. Federal St., Apt. 209	CHICAGO	60605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Koors	833 20th Ave. S.E.	Minneapolis	55414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
a	c	2260 47th st	Astoria	11105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pattie	Hyde	Hopedale Street	Kannapolis	28083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Casagni	34307 Shaffer dr	Dade City	33523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Pierman	35 Chestnut lane	Levittown	11756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

EDNA	ANDERSON	1125 emerson st	BELOIT	53511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	bricker	1133 Scoyy Blvd., Decatur, GA	Decatur	30030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rhea	Zaks	W 22nd St	San Pedro	90732	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Newton	155 W 68 ST., APT. 1630, NEW YORK CITY, NY	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Shadle	1045 Ocean Ave	Santa Monica	90403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Halperin	230 Riverside Dr.	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frederick	Friedland	2138 Francisco Ave	SANTA ROSA	95403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Tkaczyk	708 May Ave	Santa Cruz	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
AJ	Averett	PO Box 468	Potsdam	13676	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne	Kleeman	Bella Vista, AR	Bella Vista	72715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Shonle	6 Veterans Rd Unit 21	AMHERST	3031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Winters	6058 Jeanette	Haslett	48840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Bowman	2550 Indian Ridge	Glenview	60026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bridgit	Isbell	117 Redfern Pl	HOT SPRINGS NATIONAL PARK	71901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	O'Callahan	42 Highland Dr.	Napa	94559	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Colin	Ramsay	253 Florence Ave	Sebastopol	95472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Strong	735 CAROLINA RD SW	Marietta	30008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Storandt	PO Box 467	El Dorado	67042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jessica	Gonzalez	1311 W Baseline RD	TEMPE	85283	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
TIm	Crowley	3609 Kenway Street	Silver Spring	20906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Therese	MacKenzie	7040 N. Sheridan Rd.	Chicago	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Meryl	Kingery	6208	Englewood	80111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathan	Groeger	214 Crescent Dr	Williamsburg	23188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barb	McGee	101 N peterson ave	Louisville	40206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Betsy	BERLIN	4203 Tulare Dr	SILVER SPRING	20906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maryrose	Cimino	4304 Cobblers Ln	DALLAS	75287	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rodney	Johnson	131 Willow Brook Drive	Leesburg	34748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joshua	Sheridan	3586 Payne Ave Apt 3	San Jose	95117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	WINEGAR	WINEGAR	Pensacola	32506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Noble	304 Antioch Dr	DAVIS	95616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Tragni	700 Lower State Rd, Apt 3A5	North Wales	19454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Prim	20 Joy Drive Apt 206	South Burlington	5403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Hildenbrand	5707 Calle Las Cilinas	Evansville	47712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alfredo	Hernandez	1350 West 4th, Street	Los Angeles	90017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
THOMAS	BROOKS	2211 SW PARK PL UNIT 602	Portland	97205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reza	Buan	5908 ridge lake circle, vero beach, FL	Vero Beach	32967	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Hoffmann	6506 Mebane Oaks Rd	Mebne	27302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Stevens	10017 N Larchwood St	Spokane	99208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Misel	2002 Leslie Dr.	Zanesville	43701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Walter	Denton	393 perry rd	Nineveh	13813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanine	Yows	1265 Albert Dr SE	SALEM	97302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Wolff	1607 W Bromfield Dr	Hillsborough	27278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Walsh	P. O. Box 246	MORGANTON	28680	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derick	Rickenback	6830 Valencia St.	Riverside	92504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Vandermay	16203 se 175th pl	RENTON	98058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Love	1169 Grantham Dr.	Sarasota	34234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Huskisson	3407 Peggy St.	Springdale	72764	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Williams	2891 Indianola Ave	COLUMBUS	43202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clay	Adams	61 S. Main St.	Batavia	14020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LisaWitham	Witham	5980 Marine Pkwy D117 Mentor on the lake OH	Mentor	44060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alice	Lynn	16521 S Heidi St.	Oregon City	97045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jade	Deyo	7103 w mead	Yakima	98908	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kuldeep	Balani	475 north cass avenue	Westmont	60559	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Bauer	13919 2nd ne	Seattle	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	Fairless	76 Liberty Corner Road	WARREN	7059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	McGinnis	817 Foote Avenue	DURYEA	18642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
karen	fisher	2575 mountain view road	Ferndale	98248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jill	Harris	1905 TREYBURN Lane	High Point	27265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Linnabary	13680 westminster	Southgate	48195	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	tomaszewski	13 charles dr	Caseyville	62232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vince O	Alexander	29611 SW Camelot St	WILSONVILLE	97070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shell	Lavender	370 Snowflake Heights Blvd.	SNOWFLAKE	85937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Schneider	6313 Genoa Road	Tracys Landing	20779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cindy	Abernathy	1039 W Jordan Walk Way	Midvale	84047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Gandolfo	127 10th Ave	Kirkland	98033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Jager	P.o. box 455	Topeka	66601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Burns	108 Westmoor Ct.	Santa Cruz	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Washell	30303 Aurora Rd.	Solon	44139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wolf	Lacey	9 Winding Lane	Nashua	3062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Burks	1071 County Road 128	Ironton	45638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heather	Clark	PO Box 31	Gaylord	49734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darla	Jureller	4211 perry pl	New Port Richey	34652	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	O'Hara	705 Ridge Dr	UNION	7083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Steinfeld	2239 Santa Fe Drive	Santa Rosa	95405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Meyer	1241 Westmoreland Ave	Syracuse	13210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marshall	Hightower	16124 Bothell Way NE	Lake Forest Park	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alphonso	Dickerson	P O Box 567462	Atlanta	31156	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ricardo	Verastiqui	3041 Staples Street St.	Corpus Christi	78404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary-Elizabeth	McIlvane	504 Orange Drive #25	Altamonte Springs	32701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	Warner	Palouse WA	Palouse	99161	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Banever	2961 Royal Oaks Dr.	Duarte	91010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fredde	Hollman	420 E 124th St	CLEVELAND	44108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Holtman	935 marsh rd	PLAINWELL	49080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	de Blij	1400 Madrid Street	Miami	33134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrea	Simmons	588 High Haro Dr.	Friday Harbor	98250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Andrea Simmons, Friday Harbor WA 98250
Cindy	Buschena	186 3rd Ave SE	SAINT PAUL	55112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Canning	7605 Norcanyon Way	San Diego	92126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrea	Simmons	588 High Haro Dr.	Friday Harbor	98250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Andrea Simmons, Friday Harbor WA 98250
Robert	Packer	Packer	Everett	98203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Subrata	Sircar	732 Harvard Avenue	Sunnyvale	94087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Huber	1103 Bellevue Blvd. N.	Bellevue	68005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Morgan	Morgan	Social Circle	30025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Johnson	2930 S Walker Ave	ONTARIO	91761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Connie	Hansen	610 Twilight Trail	Richardson	75080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Simmons	46 Chad Lane	Falmouth	41040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
d.	s.	carp road	CALIENTE	89008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Veronica	Bourassa	8429 Back Valley Rd	EVENSVILLE	37332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gina	Santonas	211 Cornelia St	BROOKLYN	11221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	mayton	5200 , Lane Rd.	Owensboro	42303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Daveiga	1215 almar street	Concord	94518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kemps	thames	5561 Bayview Drive	Fort Lauderdale	33308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jim	gearhart	227 baptiste ave	Barrington	8007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Pope	7640 W Greenway Blvd	Dallas	75209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Lovett	3166 S. Barrington Ave.	Los Angeles	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Schlegel	582 Route 376	Hopewell Junction	12533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Conrad	86 Sargent Station Rd. Weare, NH	Weare	3281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Mitchell	pob 1475	Arroyo Grande	93421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
nancy	sharp	4846 Briarwood Lane	MANLIUS	13104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hector	Carrasquillo	287 canal st	Brattleboro	5301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
rachael	Riccobene	6531 s e federal hwy G-103	Stuart	34997	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kay	Steinauer	416 Benson Street	Council Bluffs	51501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	De Hoyos	900 Island Drive	RANCHO MIRAGE	92270	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanda	Boyd	1031 Spruce Street	Charlotte	28203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dieter Krantz	Krantz	3424 15th Street S	Arlington	22204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dale	Luquette	11637 Audubon Road	Abbeville	70510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Pulcer	Rutland	Rutland	5701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norma	Welty	4662 Charnock Drive	Irvine	92604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerry	Bennett	21 fithian ave merchantville nj	Merchantville	8109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Gibbs	555 nw 9th street Apt. 20	Ontario	97914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Hurst	347 Hillside Avenue	Springfield	7081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Derek	Young	1320 Kenwood Ln.	Charlottesville	22901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	Palmer	1034 Bayou Blue Bypass Road	Thibodaux	70301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Berluchaux	3320 Grandlake Blvd	Kenner	70065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justin	Wesche	4532 Laurelwood Dr.	Memphis	38117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Campbell	11511 Oak Knoll DR	Austin	78759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Brandewie	6401 Westover Circle	Cincinnati	45236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kate	Anderson	20229 elm lane	Escondido	92029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Belletieri	1316 Wooodlawn Drive	Hazleton	18202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	McCaslin	8924 S Round Rock St.	Littleton	80126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacob	Nammar	4002 Stahl Rd.	SAN ANTONIO	78217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Levesque	P.O. Box 24261	Fort Lauderdale	33307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Smith	6248 Jasmine Ct	Commerce City	80022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Stackhouse	12 Seminary St, Middlebury , Vt.	Middlebury	5753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Melvin	229 Barbara Dr.	Los Gatos	95032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emily	Wyman	403 Lincoln Ave.	Takoma Park	20912	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry	Witte	624 Spear Avenue	Duluth	55803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marlene	Satter	216 Stratford Road, New Britain, CT	New Britain	6053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Gaarlandt	2698 Danielle dr	Oviedo	32765	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Toni	Caldwell-Clark	2314 West 39th Avenue	Kansas City	66103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurence	Wert	52 Bible Hill Rd.	Hillsborough	3244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Lofgren	21 Quinlan Court	WARWICK	2886	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rod	Coin	14671 bonaire	Delray Beach	33446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mislaw713	Jannini	East Hanover	East Hanover	7936	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gravelle	Wednesbury Lane	Houston	77074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Kirk	2313 Monarch Dr	AUSTIN	78748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norma	Gillis	27213 Harbour Vista Circle	Saint Augustine	32080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
linzi	eisemann	63 Ponderosa way	Durango	81301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Milano	218 Thompson St. #21	New York	10012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Nadle	858 Gladys Ave	Pittsburgh	15216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Wittl	3069 Calle Mariposa	SANTA BARBARA	93105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Russell	6052Chabot apt 1O Oakland ca	Oakland	94618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Hughes	2500 Verbena Dr	Los Angeles	90068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Oscar	Vela	1216 N. 21st	MCALLEN	78501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Stamps	3131 Memorial Court	Houston	77007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Urquhart	2012 NE 26 St	Fort Lauderdale	33305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aileen	Spillman	Bark Point Rd	Herbster	54844	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hiam	Gozaine	5301 Newcastle Ave	Encino	91316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Charle	29 union street	Montclair	7042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patty	Cain	1506 Oah Dr. # 127	Vista	92084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Betty	Eastham	333 S. Erie Drive	FORT PIERCE	34946	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Candurra	595 Coral Lane	Manahawkin	8050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Bloxsom	811 Catamaran St Apt 1	San Mateo	94404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sean	Caufield		1 Avondale	85392	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carmen	Buono	5770 Winfield Blvd #166	San Jose	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Greenridge	547 Georgia ave Brooklyn ny	Brooklyn	11207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alice	Hiscock	407 Main Street	THERESA	13691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Karges	33 Campus Lane, Janesville	Janesville	53545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deanna	Dyke	3010 Franciscan St. NE	Albuquerque	87107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Cogswell	63 Columbus Ave, Stoughton MA	Stoughton	2072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JOHN	CURTISS	5030 N Calle Tobosa	Tucson	85749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Madden	P.O. Box 611	Springfield	22150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J. B.	Preato	5007 McGill Way	SAN DIEGO	92130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Paugh	336 west patterson	Dunkirk	45836	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Iona	Singleton	799 Sanctuary Rd. #4	PRESCOTT	86305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Albert	Copeland	26 Willow run	Belton	76513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kristen	parrish	93 west caldwell st	Mount Juliet	37122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Dunwoodie Aman	431 Ruskin Rd, Amherst, NY	Buffalo	14226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	GOETTEL	542 Main St	Phoenix	13135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jo	Amsterdam	3704 Elau Road	Kalaheo	96741	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Krelik	256 Lakewood Rd.	New Egypt	8533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Newman	581 South Creek Rd	West Chester	19382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carmen	Buono	5770 Winfield Blvd #166	San Jose	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Tubbs	246 2nd St.	San Francisco	94105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Kuhns	1009 Millwood Rd.	Derry	15627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brookie	Judge	210 Boylston Ave E #306	SEATTLE	98102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	McvKelvey	1830 E Yosemite Ave spc 196	MANTECA	95336	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Candurra	595 Coral Lane	Manahawkin	8050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Desautels	461 Williams Hill Rd.	Richmond	5477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	McLeod	4 Penrose Street	FAIRMONT	26554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Powell	651 Sinex Ave	Pacific Grove	93950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Snyder	5905 53rd Street Court West	University Place	98467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Besanko	New Bern	New Bern	28562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Georgia	McDade	4802 S. MEAD	Seattle	98118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Johnson	5750 Olinda Rd	El Sobrante	94803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Rhee	91 N. 4th St.	Brooklyn	11249	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicole	Lehr	7196 Biscayne	White Lake	48383	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patty	Cain	1506 Oah Dr. # 127	Vista	92084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Lozon	1506 Raspberry Ln.	FLINT	48507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Rogers Jr	Goose Hollow Drive	Chestertown	21620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jeanette	Zawacki	384 Colonial Cir	Geneva	60134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	LaRoche	83 Murray Road	Ashburnham	1430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Pedersen	514 East Kamala St Oxnard	OXNARD	93033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonard	Kraus	57 Paradox Drive Worcester, MA	Worcester	1602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Longobardi	52 Kenalcon Dr	Phoenixville	19460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Welts	3687 4th Ave. Unit 405	San Diego	92103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Jessop	PO Box 5504 DO NOT SEND MAIL	Santa Fe	87502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Hirsch	PO Box 1543	REDWAY	95560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wiley	McIntyre	197 Spur Road	MARTINSBURG	25404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gabriel	Sheets	1620 Shirley St	Merced	95341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mke	C	123 street	Crystal Lake	60014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Raymer	1613 E Madison St	South Bend	46617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keri	Rossi	17 Greystone Place	Milford	3055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Contos	39 Campbell Ave.	Williston Park	11596	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Sills	252 Second Street	Ronceverte	24970	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norma	Ayee	703 N Lakeside Dr	Lake Worth	33460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
carol	Moorefield	7916 dogwood rd	WINDSOR MILL	21244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Rogers	1014 Alabama St	SAN FRANCISCO	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Palmer	2842 Marconi Ave.	Sacramento	95821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Abel	Morales	113 Gilson Road	Brownsville	78520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Howe	245 Emery lane, #206, Boothbay Harbor, Maine	Boothbay Harbor	4538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Wiesmeyer	1812 Eastside Ave	Nashville	37206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Lozon	1506 Raspberry Ln.	FLINT	48507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lo	Daniels	612 N 6th St	Columbia	65201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	O'Neal	Plantation Road	Effingham	3882	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Pickens	112 Saint Charles Court, Danville, CA	Danville	94526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kent	Stallter	90 Shank Painter Rd	Provincetown	2657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheri	Lochner	231 Oaks Ave	Monrovia	91016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louise	Lee	411 Ramble Street	Hot Springs National Park	71901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Tomeo	1673 shangri last dr	Reno	89509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	s	Soule Alley	EUREKA	95503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claudia	Hevel	1001 Suffolk Way	Los Altos	94024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

marcella	marcozzi	1112 Bedford Ave	Cherry Hill	8002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
HERB	ROSENBLUM	po ox 2331	East Hampton	11937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Bellert	720 Cameron Street	Sycamore	60178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Fiorentino	PO Box 517	Rosendale	12472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Burt	Slater	145 Ambassador Ave	Romeoville	60446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ella	Morris	587 Porters Mill road	Spring City	19475	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jd	Foos	P.O. BOX 274	Port Orchard	98366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	white	2044 Airfield Ave	KINGMAN	86401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	McLaughlin	615 stewart ave	Glen Burnie	21061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Jackson	1402 Onagon Beach	Battle Creek	49014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Brown	3300 grand ave. so.	minneapolis	55408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Wyrick	3233 Boyd Mill Pike	Franklin	37064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim	Pezzella	4990 driftwood dr.	Liverpool	13088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Lessly	2389 ROMAN DR	SPARKS	89434	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Stratton	213 Samaritan Ave	Ashland	44805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Zello	106 kifer road	Jeannette	15644	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Gill	1749 Ducker Ct	CONCORD	94519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	Cruz	159-05 Goethals ave	JAMAICA	11432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

robert	kral	clearwater,fl	CLEARWATER	33761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. then do the same with all other industry monopolies,you have a lot of work you have not done!
Angie	Bray	1040 Victoria Ave.	Venice	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Suchenicz	301 Old Springfield Rd	Stafford Springs	6076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	Kinnaman	8706 Hamlet Avenue South	Seattle	98118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Peirce	23 Thorpe Rd	Needham Heights	2494	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miriam	Carr	3092 Druid Lane	Los Alamitos	90720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jordann	Wine	8500 Meadowlark Lane, Bethesda, MD	Bethesda	20817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Tallent	po box 134	Azalea	97410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Greenridge	547 Georgia ave Brooklyn ny	Brooklyn	11207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	A.	49 Marwood Place	Stony Brook	11790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gudith	Dolan	3930 checkmate dr	Anchorage	99508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Ehlert	215 south lincoln street	Shawano	54166	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Gill	1749 Ducker Ct	CONCORD	94519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Levinson	332 east 6 st	NEW YORK	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Thompson	575 East Lake Road, Quincy FL	Quincy	32351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	McNally	120 North Milton Road	SARATOGA SPRINGS	12866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	Cohen	2341 South Street	Boulder	80302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Alexander	2373 Broadway	NEW YORK	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Valerie	Goodness	200 NW 53rd St. #23	Corvallis	97330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Valk	4 Ivy Court	Orange City	32763	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brie	Gyncild	1407 15th Ave	Seattle	98122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Blake	Smith	1416 Martin St	ARKADELPHIA	71923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Esma	Duplantier	6556 W 79th Ave	Arvada	80003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
dianne	gallagher	40 clara ct	Cortlandt Manor	10567	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dianne	Gove	43 Canal Rd	ORLEANS	2653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Bailey	1704 Baylor Drive	Richardson	75081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mitchel	pilipovic	5905 diamond lake lane	Minneapolis	55419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leila	Zai	2021 28th Street	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Otherwise, it would appear that political contributions matter to some a great deal more than do the wishes of their constituents.
Mike	Crawley	702 Edwards Rd #135	Greenville	29615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Powell	651 Sinex Ave	Pacific Grove	93950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

AL	Epding	1250 Arizona St. Apt. #5 Port Orford, Oregon	Port Orford	97465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonard	Neering	72 Sperling Rd	Clifton	7013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stefanie	Holmes	157 Outer Drive	Oak Ridge	37830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rod	Stokes	5220 Twin Creeks Drive, Valrido, FL	Valrico	33596	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Margulies	32 Glenridge ave	STONY BROOK	11790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosita	Aranita	1735 Ala Aolani St.	Honolulu	96819	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Rossi	421 Walker Road	Margaretville	12455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	E	5180 75th St SE	Rochester	55904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Cahill	34808 shasta st	Yucaipa	92399	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Winne	884 US Hwy 221A	Forest City	28043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Victory	53 Arlington St.	Nashua	3060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bettyann	Johnsen	1995 E. Schodack Rd.	CASTLETON ON HUDSON	12033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dominick	Dirksen	5694 S Ingalls St	LITTLETON	80123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Overholt	200 Janzen Way	Hemet	92545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Holzer	15 Cedarhill Rd	Randallstown	21133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eugene	Ferrari	99 lake st Florence ma	Florence	1062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gene	Browan	2317 4th Ave		54481-	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Herzog	11 Smith Street	Newburyport	1950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry	Markatos	800 Rock Rest Road	Pittsboro	27312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Rain	1555 Merrill St Space 17	Santa Cruz	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Additionally, Seniors, people who are seriously ill and the disabled, often watch TV to cope with isolation. Most of these people cannot afford to purchase a set top box and then pay additional fees to get TV reception. As big Cable makes profits, an entire segment of our population is unable to have recreational entertainment and a connection with the outside world.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	Day	2010 Del Ave	Vero Beach	32960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harold	Holtzinger	1235 Golden Way	York	17402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victoria	Webb	McKinleyville	McKinleyville	95519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Neil	Volkman	502 Green Avenue	Albert Lea	56007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	LePoer	11 Nagog Hill Rd	Littleton	1460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wesley	Gunn	351 Patton St	Los Angeles	90026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dory	Stewart	430 S. Main	Creston	44217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Florence	Cormier	3178 Crescent Ave	Marina	93933	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	de Garmo	7410 SE Taylor	Portland	97215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Carter-Lovejoy	606 West 19th Street	Richmond	23225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Paski	PO Box 3337	Blaine	98231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dupe	Thomas	758 Carmel Ave #4 Sunnyvale CA	Sunnyvale	94085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	West	7328 SW 184 Place	Beaverton	97007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Lyons	1404 Vine	Cassville	65625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B	Mellinger	Talman Ave	Chicago	60647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valerie	Roberts	596 Point Rd	Thomasville	31757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wanda	Arnett	1505 Island Ford Road #41	Madisonville	42431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kerin	kinzer	3801 155th Pl SE	Bothell	98012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Feda	1920 Jamestown Lane	Elgin	60123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clydell	Peairs	27217 Sleepy Hollow Ave. Apt.104	Hayward	94545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Freeland	Manassas, VA	Manassas	20110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kerrie	humphrey	19 Birch Cres		25189	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denise	Orovio	2418 Chetwood Circle. Apt 303	Lutherville Timonium	21093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Kallick	1966 South Locust St	Denver	80224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jorge	Mojica	2268 Pimmit Run Ln.	Falls Church	22043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S	Waterworth	6206 Maywood ave	Middleton	53562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Blumenthal	5346 16th Ave S	Seattle	98108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristin	Love	6013 35th ave sw, seattle, wa	Seattle	98126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amber	Tidwel	2420 1/2 N Beachwood Dr	Los Angeles	90068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Slawson	58 CLUB HOUSE DR APT 104	Palm Coast	32137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Irwin	1831 Pennland Ct	Lansdale	19446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marisa	Gonzalez	10 Lake Bridge Dr.	San Antonio	78248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mario	Morales	PO Box 101	Bronx	10451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Kloberdanz	36 Cape Breton Ct.	PACIFICA	94044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Cook	7514 N Eastlake Ter	Chicago	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Hayes	6753 W Country Club Dr.	Homosassa	34448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dick and Libby	larrabee	14 Lynah Way	Okatie	29909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	O'Hare	90 Pinehaven Dr	Daly City	94015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sequaya	Chapman	337 Nunnally Drive	Stockbridge	30281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marianne	Currie	6 Bayley Point Lane	HILTON HEAD ISLAND	29926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erika	Springstead	3805 SE Lakewood Pl	TOPEKA	66609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Fell	67 Morning Dove Road	Naugatuck	6770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Ziemnik	2332 15th Ave S.	Seattle	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Tergesen	9 Simmons Dr	EAST ISLIP	11730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lucas	Taverni	-			American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Gulbransen	2778 S 900 E	SALT LAKE CITY	84106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	standeford	1720 beeler av	INDIANAPOLIS	46224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
brendan	dodd	15 Royal palm Dr.	Colorado Springs	80918	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	DeStefano	8508B Midvale AVE N	Seattle	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kausik	Datta	4412 LAPLATA AVE	BALTIMORE	21211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B. Rae	Parr-Moore	P.O. Box 892	Powder Springs, GA	30127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brynnen	Owen	2016 Scottsdale Dr	CHAMPAIGN	61822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brennan	Baranska	14103 Arbor Hills	Tampa	33625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Kahn	474 West 238th St, #5C	Bronx	10463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Berge	Holly View Dr., Martinez, Ca.	Martinez	94553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rachel	B	il	Dekalb	60115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
P	B	1341 yorkshire lane	Carol stream	60188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	jerome	6936 Daneman Drive	Memphis	38133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tara	Kerr	1018 Bold Springs Road	South Boston	24592	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Hartley	15829 NW 32nd Avenue Newberry, Fl	Newberry	32669	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	McClure	13217 1st Ave. NW Seattle, WA	Seattle	98177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Murphy	2442 Palo Verde Ave	Long Beach	90815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcelo	ferreyra	6600 cypress rd	Fort Lauderdale	33317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Martin	17 Arbor Road , N Chelmsford,MA	North Chelmsford	1863	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Werth	415 Fantasia	San Antonio	78216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. We are retired and dependent on SS benefits. We cannot afford cable TV so we installed a rooftop antenna to receive basic local channels.
Carol	Harriff	9322 Karen st.	ROMULUS	48174	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry &	Allen-Combs	xxx	Tyler	75703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Feldman	137 Winchester Dr	Santa Rosa	95401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
lisa	corbett	690 Walnut Avenue	Eugene	97404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Rentko	22 N Hill Rd	COLONIA	7067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pawiter	Parhar	3325 Southbury Drive se Kentwood MI	Grand Rapids	49512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M.	Royce	P.O. Box 541432	Greenacres	33454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helene	Huff	3372 Hickory Hills Drive	Oakton	22124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Ellen	Jacobs	721 Willow Street	Pottstown	19464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Wolf	4613 N University Drive	Pompano Beach	33067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Falco	6505 Kalua Road, #104	BOULDER	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Drury	Bacon	15679 W Avalon Drive	GOODYEAR	85395	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colleen	Hagen	21050 George Hunt Circle Apt. 821	Waukesha	53186	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JULIO	CARELA	20085 NE 3RD CT	NORTH MIAMI BCH	33179	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Willis	9808 34th Ave SW	Seattle	98126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonita	Weis	203 Crescent St	Northampton	1060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Koch	581 Court Road	Onalaska	54650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Kelbaugh	8325 Windsor Ridge Drive	Charlotte	28277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Dobson	32 Main St.	Hendersonville	28792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Naomi	Steinfeld	5140 E. Atherton St., apt 39	Long Beach	90815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrea	Thomas	4704 18th ave Kenosha WI	Kenosha	53140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Harriston	11801 Chase Wellesley Dr	Henrico	23233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Chockla	3145 Fish Creek Rd	Estes Park	80517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brandon	Waddle	rancho viejo	Olmito	78575	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Reyes	19628 Antago St.	Livonia	48152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alfred	Lukasek	207 Court Street	Hobart	46342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Mommers	24 Bog Rd	Brownfield	4010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Natalie	McGrath	1408 Sunset AVE SW	Seattle	98116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samantha	Thomas	736 N Forest Hills School Rd	Marshville	28103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheryl	Iversen	39415 Brighton St.	Murrieta	92563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Peterson	1113 Tarbert Ct, Cary, NC	Cary	27511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Felicity	Hohenshelt	11326 Carlsburg Ct.	Jacksonville	32246	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Geralyn	Farwell	5135 Hopner Court	Colorado Springs	80919	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Ullinskey	611 South Tremont Street, Kewanee, IL	Kewanee	61443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jack	kirfman	15406 interlachen	AUSTIN	78717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Josh	Willis	1111 state st	San Diego	92131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Hudson	184 Concordia Park	VIDALIA	71373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Garcia	2020 Fisher St.	Madison	53713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chad	Brown	11410 Kansas Cir	Omaha	68164	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Wendt	103 Alder Avenue	Egg Harbor Township	8234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Shelley	Plymouth	Plymouth	53073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Weiss	2727 SE 16th Ave.	PORTLAND	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. glenn	Embrey	2313A Voorhees Ave.	Redondo Beach	90278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tatum	hammer	1917 Redbridge Dr!	Brandon	33511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Tindall	3405 Ardilla Road	Atascadero	93422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Pall	638 NE 41st Ave.	Portland	97232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
susan	Donnelly	151 Tremont St 7N	BOSTON	2111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

vik	sarakula	sydney	Arlington	22222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Brien	3028 Airlie St	Charlotte	28205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Probes	385 North Street	Traverse City	49685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	Carlin	21390 Robinhood Ave.	CLEVELAND	44126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Revel	Paul	538 Taraval	SAN FRANCISCO	94116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberta	Galant	5 ridge drive	Chappaqua	10514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glynda	Henderson	14241 E. 1st Dr.	Aurora	80011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Nickel	1421 Itawamba Trail	London	43140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Thomas	10117 SE Sunnyside Rd.St F #742	Clackamas	97015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tobias	Boyd	130 NE 72nd Ave	PORTLAND	97213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maxwell	Morrongiello	210 Chestnut Street	FRANKLIN	2038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	White	P.O. Box 54	HAGER CITY	54014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ian	Talcroft	1275 4th St. Santa Rosa CA	Santa Rosa	95404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Graham	Nashville	Nashville	37216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Keen	64 Oak Ave	Tenafly	7670	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Parham	2667 NE 205th Ave	FAIRVIEW	97024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Hosegood	4475 Pleasant View Dr	WILLIAMSBURG	23188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
elisabeth	heefner	210 west grant #114	Minneapolis	55403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Wagner	1346 Juanita Ave.	OXNARD	93030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Stone	6024 Eagles Crest Drive	CHESTERFIELD	23832	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Davis	1030 W Froebel Dr	Beloit	53511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Keough	17515 SW Granada Dr	Beaverton	97007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Kimball	68 Venus Ave	Burlington	5408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Nolan	100 Island Palms Drive	Carolina Beach	28428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ray	Hardin	650 Huntington Ave, #8F	Boston	2115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Panebianco	300 Market St Apt 1	Moscow	18444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathon	Merz	775 Post St.	San Francisco	94109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hilda	Shaffer	1049 Macy St	West Palm Beach	33405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Carswell	640 Woodward Dr	HUNTINGDON VALLEY	19006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juan	Segovia	130 Surfside Dr #2	Port Hueneme	93041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Della	Fernandez	1304 Mariposa	AUSTIN	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Chance	5131 SW 38th PL	Portland	97221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Peritz	PO Box 2611	Aspen	81612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Tamura	92-531 Ualehei St.	Kapolei	96707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marlene	Smith	510 S. Cortez St.	New Orleans	70119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evgeny	Ogorodnik	Davis	Davis	95616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lea	Ekman	29884 kiawah	Dagsboro	19939	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
E	McConnell	33 N Market St Wailuku Hi	Wailuku	96793	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Fitzgerald	17731 Robert Emmett	Homer Glen	60491	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Easterling	29 Surfside Drive	Irving	14081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Ade	4125 Marianne Dr.	Flushing	48433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Cross	1925 E. Linda Vista Drive	Flagstaff	86004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Maderer	300 riverside dr, ny,ny	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Bowman	32801 Hwy 441 N Lot 49	Okeechobee	34972	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Brigode	240 Del Rio Paseo	Sonoma, CA	95476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

kathleen	waters	212 sw 177th St	Seattle	98166	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald & Sonja	Wiegand	5199 Marian Dale St	Lafayette	47905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	schlitz	1596 molitor rd	Belmont	94002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arshad	Ameen	4013 Rolling Green Drive	MEMPHIS	38125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Easterling	29 Surfside Drive	Irving	14081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Moore	401 C W 3rd St	Wilmington	19801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Meyer	5180 Calicowood PL.	San Jose	95111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Pearce	17175 Coatesville Road	Beaverdam	23015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Luderitz	111 N. Newport Avenue, Ventnor, NJ	Ventnor City	8406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Foote	1012 Hillside Drive	Keller	76248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Flower	290 belfry ct	pembroke	3275	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Norberg	173 Durnell Ave	Roslindale	2131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ric	Rodgers	00 j st	Oxnard	93033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
FRANK	MAZUCA	5510 OLD SCOTT LAKE RD	LAKELAND	33813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samantha	Peterson	PO Box 233	ASTORIA	97103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glenn	Ross	PO Box 3807	EUREKA	95502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Erceg	3079 Donnellville Road	NATRONA HEIGHTS	15065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Veronica	Nelson	1669 Indigo Ave	The Villages	32162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Politzer	13 Drummers Ln	BETHEL	6801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	Eason	17 Forest Park East	Jacksonville	62650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
william	hodge	4427 Grandview Dr. W.	Tacoma	98466	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristofer	Nurmia	1143 London Avenue	Sunnyvale	94087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leah	Vasquez	606 Bluebird	LAGUNA BEACH	92651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aron	Flynn	5121 W 11th St., Apt. #416, Greeley, CO	Greeley	80634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol Ann	Loehndorf	716 Palm St. West Palm Beach	WEST PALM BEACH	33401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Slattery	314 Shipley Road	Wilmington	19809	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
tom	cooney	4509 S W vermont Street, #14	Portland	97219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Israel	34 Erics Way	Wellfleet	2667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Kiernan	839 - 41st Street	Des Moines	50312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
suzanne	dalati	1723 shannon valley	Houston	77077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stuart	Hyatt	4025 Patterson St.	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Swan	9525 Ella Lee Lane 346	Houston	77063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Ashkenaze	4007 McCullough Ave #209	San Antonio	78212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Buettner	3323 Elmwood Ave	Erie	16508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Juskowich	247 Dewey Avenue	Washington	15301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sabra	Valdick	759 Marin Drive	Mill Valley	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Bonnell	204 Edinburgh lane	Petaluma	94952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lilly	Knuth	38 Harvard Rd S	Garden City	11530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Garth	Greene	372 Pershing Dr #C	Playa del Rey	90293	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

prisca	Gloor	4055 Coolidge Ave.	LOS ANGELES	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jemille	Hardy	2402 Jayden Way	Stockton	95212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Schwartz	486 northwestern ave	Altamonte Springs	32714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bill	Malloy	104 muirfield dr	ROYERSFORD	19468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Kras	2980 Northampton Dr.	Troy	48083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Josh	Kimmelman	4815 New England Lane Apt 11	Sylvania	43560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Carlisle	514 Burleigh Ave.	Norfolk	23505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Shook	1020 E Apache Blvd	Tempe	85281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Waychoff	291 Corning Dr.	Cleveland	44108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Monica	Simpson	6611 Avenida la Reina	La Jolla	92037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Marzuki	2740 Lynda Ln	Columbus	31906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Griffin-Bonnaire	393 Cannon Way	Warrenton	20186	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheri	Langham	3000 Spout Run Parkway	ARLINGTON	22201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darryl	Roberts	4663 Petaluma Hill Road	Santa Rosa	95404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jorge	Bardisa	841 NE 14th CT	Fort Lauderdale	33304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Hamilton	74 JOST VILLA DR	Florissant	63034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Flynn	199 1/2 Summit St.	Elkins	26241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
G.	D.	5502 Houghton Street	Philadelphia	19128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wilson	Diaz	680 Phelps Ave Romeoville Il	Romeoville	60446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
G.	Hodgson	APNJ	Asbury Park	7712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
chris	garrett	p.o. box 4797	Calabash	28467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Ashkenaze	4007 McCullough Ave #209	San Antonio	78212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Granberg	9342 Lemona Ave	NORTH HILLS	91343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ing. Erwin	Felkel	Vienna		1170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	Green	431 Sunset Ln	DECATUR	46733	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Wilson	112 Puma Dr.	West Monroe	71291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	w	21 Old Beach rd, Newport, ri	Newport	2840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Mcdermith	3392 Lubich Dr	Mountain View	94040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Ashkenaze	4007 McCullough Ave #209	San Antonio	78212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Rodriguez	2506 Dovetail Drive	Ocoee	34761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jackie	ewing	12 hadlar dr	Lebanon	8833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gina	everly	15770 barbee	FONTANA	92336	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Wilson	1017 Green Ridge Dr.	GREEN BAY	54313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. It's time the FCC rein in cable companies and stop the ripoffs that we consumers have been dealing with for years. The set top box is one way they are "stealing" and you have the power to stop it. Please act on behalf of the consumers.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Ferrito	9 Simons Way Los Gatos, CA	Los Gatos	95030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	London	PO Box 749	NORTH TRURO	2652	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Dixon	206 W. Washington Ave., Terra Alta, WV	Terra Alta	26764	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Grant	Wilson	3918 elaine dr	Salt Lake City	84120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Courteau	Box 1584	Langley	98260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Kearnes	311 Kenady Cir	Colorado Springs	80910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Feehely	1201Gladstone Ave. Churchton Md	Churchton	20733	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Spencer	Henderson	1710 County Road 4109	Campbell	75422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claudia	Devinney	perry, ny	Perry	14530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Harris	7717 Rainbow Cove Drive	Las Vegas	89131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Giudice	16 Wicklow Road	Westerly	2891	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Alagammai	Palms park	Tucson	85715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Cherubin	821 La Jolla Ave	Sun City Center	33573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liam	Sauer-Wooden	Lichton Springs	Seattle	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samuel	Speciale	14 Trevors Trl	ASHEVILLE	28806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Allen	77-6462 Marlin Road	Kailua Kona	96740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kaleb	Pederson	742 Meadow Side Drive	Saratoga Springs	84045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Dorman	1503 Thomas Ave #4 Grandview Mo	Grandview	64030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Zachary	2534 Foothill Blvd., La Crescenta, CA	La Crescenta	91214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Stuart	37a Fitzroy Rd.,		Lambto	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvan	Grey	1019 SW 10th Ave	Portland	97205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Yazbek	35 Blenford Rd	BRIGHTON	2135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Brown	12233 W Cross Drive #207, Littleton, CO	Littleton	80127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
d'Anne	MacNeil	1718 S Longmore	Mesa	85202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Adan	4419 Rollingrock Way	Carmichael	95608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Audrey	Minick	4271 Willis Rd.	MILAN	48160	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Chalfant	1190 Johnsarbor Dr. W., Rochester, NY	Rochester	14620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry	Mayworm	416 W. Washington	Princeton	61356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Lensenmayer	3787 ritamarie drive	Columbus	43220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Bacon	34 Francis Street	East Hartford	6108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pam	zimmerman	946 Hyland dr	Santa Rosa	95404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rita	Glasscock	1443 Bishops Lodge Road	SANTA FE	87506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Skinner	1929 W Record St.	Tucson	85705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	Nguyen	660 e river rd	Tucson	85704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wesley	Banks	P.O. Box 823234	Vancouver	98682	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarie	Bryson	300 Rolling Oaks Dr	WESTLAKE VILLAGE	91361	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roger	Erbe	2132 Kuerbitz Drive	LANSING	48906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Lemont	90 Robbins Road	ARLINGTON	2476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
virginia	dwyer	2500 sawmill rd	Santa Fe	87505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Rosenblum	4745 Hawley Blvd. Apt 2	San Diego	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jasmine	Bolden	354 Kingston Cir	Birmingham	35211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Scheidt	130 Hunt St	Durham	27701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nathaniel	Loch	6915 Goose point court	Longmont	80503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Hansen	18 Lakeview Ave	Park Ridge	7656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Keske	622A President ST.	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Smith	4101 Lillian Dd.	CONCORD	94521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Paskewitz	345 Cree Ct	Lyons	80540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Sheldon	Norwich NY	Norwich	13815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shirley	McNulty	223 N. Cherry	Gardner	66030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Giese	Houston	Houston	77053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alicia	Wicks	7013 44th Ct SE	Lacey	98503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Colleen	Stoneburner	600 Isabelle Ave	Racine	53402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Yamada	12484 Dormouse Rd	San Diego	92129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Vaccher	4611 Grantwood drive	Cleveland	44134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Yeakley	1042 Hymettus Ave	Encinitas	92024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Mooney	28 Urrico Ave.	North Smithfield	2896	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rita	Cardarelli	2428 N. 75th Court,1	Elmwood Park	60707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	Wisniewski	13515 John Cline Road	Smithsburg	21783	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karla	Silva	529 Montana Avenue	Santa Monica	90403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hank	Galle	7 Boxwood Rd	Lincoln	2865	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michele	Nihipali	54-074 A Kam Hwy.	Hauula	96717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanine	Lord	14131 Brightmore Dr	STERLING HEIGHTS	48312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lydia	Mathis	8115 bideford ln	Houston	77070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elisa	Farley	7338 Greenhaven Ave	Rancho Cucamonga	91730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sanja	Futterman	9510 20th Ave. NE	SEATTLE	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Norton	3642 Chillingham Ct.	PLEASANTON	94588	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Strachan	45390 stonehedge dr.	PLYMOUTH	48170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Simon	13025 Weddington St	Van Nuys	91401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristen	G	6829 Canterbury Ct	Derby	14047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Boes	1106 w 29th st	Vancouver	98660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hezikiah	Johnson III	5603 Old Dawson Road	Albany	31721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Anderson	655 Clearview Dr. Charleston SC	Charleston	29412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Malo	Malo	Larkspur	94939	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Lucas	1933 Conifer Ct.	Winter Park	32792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Radosen	135 Marcou Road #113	Onalaska	54650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

LeAnn	Turner	2142 Clayton Ct Apt A	Marion	46952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tricia	Cancel	1338 willoughby ave.	BROOKLYN	11237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Lee	1343 West Touhy Avenue, Ste.2S	Chicago	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tiffany	Baker	313 Elkchester	NICHOLASVILLE	40356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Hawthorn	N. Balsam Road	HAYWARD	54843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Taylor	Smith	6424 Green Ridge Avenue	New Carlisle	45344	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Katzer	2700 reynolda rd.	WINSTON SALEM	27106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosalba	Cofer	175 Emerald Oak Drive, Galt, CA	GALT	95632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chad	Murphy	1343 El Dorado Dr.	Livermore	94550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Mojica	929 Othello Street	Arcadia	91006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	McCahill	219 Scottdale Rd	Lansdowne	19050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Atwood	Gorham ME	Gorham	4038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glenda	Collins	7024 Kings Row Apt 3	Austin	78746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Oeth	420 Mendoza	Corona del Mar	92625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Malcom	Castleberry	2909 Arlington Road	ATLANTA	30344	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julie	Pease	471 Kings Mill Rd	Danville	40422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dylan	O'Bannion	5348 Newcastle Avenue #107	Encino	91316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DIANA	SPILLMAN	19961 Cottonwood Dr	Canyon Country	91351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcey	Lachance	4 Broad View Ln.	BAILEY ISLAND	4003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerome	Urbaniak	12 Gloxinias Court	Homosassa	34446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Hutson	5362 Marquis Ct.	Wooster	44691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Jordan	1850 S Ocean Drive, Hallendale, FL	Hallandale	33009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Talbert	Forest Acres Drive	Bradford	1835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clark	Thomas	6530 E. Bethany Pl	Denver	80224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roy	Kristiansen	800 Jefferson Street	Seattle	98104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Salvatore	Daniels	2815 Double Eagle Ln	Valparaiso	46383	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheryl	Benning	2414 whitlock rd	Madison	53719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Trail	23 Charles St	Bristol	6010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	Fields	1665 10 Avenue SE	Rochester	55904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Roemer	6331 Pillsbury Ave S	Minneapolis	55423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JUDY	kozlowski	2660 Havenwood Dr. Unit A	Oshkosh	54904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Wright	1007 Maplewood Lane, Tumwater, WA	Olympia	98501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alicia	Wicks	7013 44th Ct SE	Lacey	98503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Rosner	156 School Street	WATERTOWN	2472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Neu	11868 S. Gate Rd	Roscoe	61073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Lopez	53 Cleveland Ave	Rutland	5701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Soteropoulos	16 Vincent Street	Chatham	7928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Sandstrom	1622 Olua Street	Minden	89423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Narici	9 Fort Salonga Rd	CENTERPORT	11721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angelique	Brake	548 Roadrunner ridge	San Jose	95111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Neil	Ferguson	513 galway ct.	Vacaville	95688	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jackie	Grguric	2131 faulk dr	Tallahassee	32303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

zynita	smith	888 Webb St.	Detroit	48202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Bein	2216 OverlandAve.	Los Angeles	90064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Barros	112 W CAPE SHORES DR	Lewes	19958	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Perkovich	5464 S. Woodlawn, Chicago, IL	Chicago	60615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelsea	Sloper	31816 Hydrangea Lane	Tangent	97389	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Patterson	707C Old Due West Ave	Madison	37115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joslyn	Pine	50 7th Avenue	SEA CLIFF	11579	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Hollomon	49 Wellington Ave., Unit 1	Everett	2149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Newton	37894 Melrose Dr.	Cathedral City	92234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Keller	1429 Old Reliance Rd	MIDDLETOWN	17057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marlow	Johnson	3808 N Wright Rd Apt 325	Janesville	53546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Maves	Palm Springs, CA	Palm Springs	92262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Rinear	109 Wilson Avenue	Strathmore	7747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joy	London	1435 Bedford Street	Stamford	6905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherie	Helstien	625 Main St.-#433	New York	10044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dustin	Griffith	7164 Holden Dr Unit B	Oklahoma City	73145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Anderson	300 20th Ave.	SIDNEY	69162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	McNeil	841 E. 75th Ave. Apt. 2	Anchorage	99518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vincent	Geiger	130 Ave C S.E. Apt. 43	Winter Haven	33880	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Maxson	1560 N Via Arizpe	Green Valley	85614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vincent	Serapiglia	260 rolling hill green	Staten Island	10312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Stewart	7882 13th Street	WESTMINSTER	92683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
YVONNE	QUICK	CARMICHAEL	CARMICHAEL	95608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Ise	746 via Ma?ana	SANTA BARBARA	93108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Pisano	272 Bay 19th Street	Brooklyn	11214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherri	Andrade	25272 Rockridge Rd	Laguna Hills	92653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Quale	2009 Stahlke Way	CHASKA	55318	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Kreil	318 Lower Cherry Valley Rd	Saylorsburg	18353	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty L	Porter	25119 Filaree Av.	Moreno Valley	92551	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francine	Lane	22 Bittersweet Lane	Amagansett	11930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

john	s	dfvdvno	Portland	97212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margery	Bowser	4964 Ravine Rd	Fayetteville	13066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Abbring	9735 Bend Drive	Jenison	49428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Wyman	136 Hilldale Rd.	Bethany	6524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy Sophia	marashinsky	72 Baker Rd.	Shutesbury	1072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	Anderson	5757 Colfax	Minneapolis	55419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doug	Stiebler	1108 wind River St SE	Albuquerque	87123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
james	colado	268 green st	Somersworth	3878	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Holder	141 Kelbourne Avenue--rearcottage	Tarrytown	10591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Alexander	800 Cvw	Bronx	10451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Millard	3217 Chicago Ave	MINNEAPOLIS	55407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Calara	38 Nelson Court	DALY CITY	94015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Giorgi	8094 Olney St SE , Salem	Salem	97317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Allison	9109 McDougal Court	Tallahassee	32312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doris	Pong	345 N Fort Lauderdale Bch Blvd	Fort Lauderdale	33304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryn	Gallagher	76 Woodside Dr	SAN ANSELMO	94960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Hammel	7707 Breckenwood Drive	Fort Wayne	46819	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	Condon	19579 Fellows Rd.,Morrison, IL	Morrison	61270	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

M	Olson	3270 NE Emerson St.	Portland	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jim	wait	715 frontier drive	west jefferson	28694	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	Romney	78 pine creek	Fairfield	6824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glenyss	Holmes	2024 Herald Rd, Spokane WA	SPOKANE	99206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Smith	1162 E. Stable Way, Washington, UT	Washington	84780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Phillips	2714 County Road 719, Alvin, TX	Alvin	77511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Mandl	Coram	Coram	11727	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Parker	80 van Rensselaer Ave	Stratford	6614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ford	Taylor	3826 E. Green St.	Pasadena	91107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Miller	697 andrewct.	Benicia	94510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Shinners	7444 sawmill rd.	Madison	53717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	R.	1248	Decatur	30035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Edson	Po box 33 West Burke VT.	West Burke	5871	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Julian	2026 contiental ave	BRONX	10461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Blaine	929 Idaho Ave, Apt. 10	Santa Monica	90403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerald	Glover	Owensboro, Ky	OWENSBORO	42303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Branse	4970 E Sabal Palm Blvd	Fort Lauderdale	33319	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Goff	464-a natchez trace drive	Lexington	38351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryn	S	22173 Derby Rd	Trenton	48183	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Celia	Roberts	P.O. Box 5	Paonia	81428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marion	Stover	PO box 5364	CLEARLAKE	95422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Strickland	Joseph	25368 148th Rd	Rosedale	11422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Cox	1194 E 65th	Kansas City	64131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
lynne	lasser	470 sheridan	Evanston	60202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret S.	Fedel	5652 Madison St	Dearborn Heights	48125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trish	Kendall	69 Pelley	Gardner	1440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Florian	Meinhardt	44251 Indian Canyon Ln	Palm Desert	92260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aloysius	Wald	523 East Lincoln Avenue	Columbus	43214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandy	Schafer	170 Golf View Rd	Newberry	29108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Smith	1415 8th St	Clarkston	99403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roberta	Finke	290 Ninth Avenue Apt. 14H	New York	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miguel	Detonaccioneses	Eugene	EUGENE	97440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Childs	8326 Robert St.	Babbitt	55706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jan	Gagnon	22740 Boones Ferry Rd	Aurora	97002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francis	Cady	952 weinberger trace drive	Ponchatoula	70454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Williams	221 Pequot Ave	MYSTIC	6355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip	Ratcliff	4665 Tragen Ct SE	Salem	97302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Guy	Biagiotti	18082 LEAFWOOD Lane	Santa Ana	92705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Folger	5478 Flushing Rd.	FLUSHING	48433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

lewis	chicklas	139 regency park dr	Agawam	1001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Mar	146 New Holland Vlg	Nanuet	10954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary Ann	McDonald	2653 2nd Ave #3	Sacramento	95818	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Schatner	2588 Rollingridge Ln NW	Grand Rapids	49534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Troy	Tackett	Proctorville	Proctorville	45669	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Somers	4318 E.Presidio Rd	Tucson	85712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phil	Young	6702 Double Eagle Dr #207	Woodridge	60517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clara	Thomas	BenvåÕ_gen 36	La Grange	72352	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
donna	ellis	250 hartnell place	SACRAMENTO	95825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anpeo	Carpenter	22 Marina Drive	NEWPORT NEWS	23608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carmon	Grissom	2866 Laurel Rd	Brunswick	44212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Parks	13 Ledgewood Dr	BEDFORD	1730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Valerie	Beard	2744 Donner Way	Sacramento	95818	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Palasits	176 Mountain Way, Rutherford, NJ	Rutherford	7070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Willsey	15 Eleanor Dr.	Cumberland	2864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Jackson	736 Longwood Road	Lexington	40503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norm	Conrad	919 N 97th St	SEATTLE	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Connors	6 Birch St	Walpole	2081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Staci	Galvin	85 Argon	Martinsburg	25405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zerron	Webber	4443 IDAHO ST.@15	San Diego	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sergio	Rivera	3319 N Karlov Ave, Apt 3W	Chicago	60641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Hurley	2941 W Knights Ave.	Tampa	33611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Walters	2411 downer ave	RICHMOND	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
K	Lipps	3817 W 76 ST	Prairie Village	66208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shaughna	Bishop	292 8th Ave Apt 1	New York	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacquelyn	Burton	1745 Wells Rd. #521	Orange Park	32073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amina	Al-Aminn	5113 Haverford Run Dr	Lilburn	30047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Lopez	214 NW 52nd Street	Seattle	98107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Schatner	2588 Rollingridge Ln NW	Grand Rapids	49534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Hoffman	1837 Radnor Road	York	17402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gene	Ward	4025 Waldemar	Abilene	79605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Devine	4618 y6			American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Baures	1155 E 2100 S Apt 844	SALT LAKE CITY	84106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Autrey	Porter	11491 Smithers Ct	SAN DIEGO	92126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Dillard	Wichita, Ks	Wichita	67216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Balogh	3804 Walsh Street	Jacksonville	32205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Wenzel	10952 Browning Rd.	Lithia	33547	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Sanderson	242 E. North St. Apt. B Hastings MI	Hastings	49058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Woods	1521 Morro St	San Luis Obispo	93401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Justice	21 Park Rd	Asheville	28803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erica	Kermani	202 Hancock St	BROOKLYN	11216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
rich	c	1689 broadway	Chula Vista	91911	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tracy	Lipinski	442 e trellis LN	Oak Creek	53154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Coffee	403 Devonshire Ct. Aberdeen, MD	Aberdeen	21001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Blackledge	892 N Willow Drive	MOREHEAD	40351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Armitage	7400 s state st	Midvale	84047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	Smock	469 Eastern Parkway	BROOKLYN	11216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Sterne	1414 Wheeler	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clifford	Mead	9 Kyle Drive	Salem	3079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clifford	Mead	9 Kyle Drive	Salem	3079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Low-Beer	concord street	charleston	29401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Wiley	511 S. 49th St.	PHILADELPHIA	19143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Dailey	7 Marcia Road	Ringwood	7456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Phillips	217 Little Santee Road	Colfax	27235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elaine	Cefola	1528 Saran Ct.	Oceanside	92056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	Easterbrooks	500 Jones Ave	Oakland	94603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Nguyen	6 Plantation Court	Savannah	31419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelly	Garbato	147 SE 260th ST	Plattsburg	64477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
dan	carter	2515 davison	Richland	99354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nina	French	Seattle	SEATTLE	98178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	LaRiviere	64 S Shore Dr.	ORANGE	1364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bobbi	Boyd	3748 SW Elmgrove St, Seattle WA	Seattle	98126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Licia	Crawford	7025 Riggs	Overland Park	66204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Teresa	Hassig	2065 Pennsylvania Ave. St.Albans WV	Saint Albans	25177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Chandley	PO Box 415	Ashby	1431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lloyd	Girg	506 Countryside Drive	Vacaville	95687	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elaine	Cefola	1528 Saran Ct.	Oceanside	92056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Fuller	Fuller	Acworth	30101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Barrall	5878 Allen Ave.	San Jose	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Warren	Bagby	2803 Sydney Avenue	District Heights	20747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
l'iv	l'iv	320 old farmhouse road	Cottonwood	86326	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Ybarra	20531 loyalton dr	Walnut	91789	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Loomis	203 SE 162nd Avenue #9	Portland	97233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Whyte	2636 Whitehaven Blvd	Steubenville	43952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Kent	hailey id	Hailey	83333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lee	Eames	Eames	Long Beach	90815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	White	3800 Rube Smith Rd	Canmer	42722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
SHIRLEY	ARTIS	1 Sterling Drive #116	Piscataway	8854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Berel	Spivack	201 Gulf Cove	STAFFORD	22554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Letitia	Dace	2217 Stone Post Rd	Manhattan	66502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Bodenstein	Morristown	Morristown	7960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sally	Green	349 n 137th	Seattle	98133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregg	Sparkman	160 Lincoln ave	Palo Alto	94301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clifford	Mead	9 Kyle Drive	Salem	3079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenya	Norwood	8557 S. Bennett	Chicago	60617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	LaRiviere	64 S Shore Dr.	ORANGE	1364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rpberta	Costa	416 Wischman	Oreland	19075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joel	Vignere	PO Box 194	Lakeside	59922	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Also, the cable company boxes are ANTIQUATED. There should be much better equipment available but the cable companies will not invest in it. This sorry situation has existed for 35 years or more.
David	Snope	31 School St.	CALIFON	7830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Drake	222 E Indianolam Ave # 1010 Phx, Az	Phoenix	85012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Andresen	395 E 4th Street, Long Beach, CA	Long Beach	90802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorraine	Suzuki	3870 Inglewood Blvd.	LOS ANGELES	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Bobadilla	3125 Ash St. Antioch, Ca	Antioch	94509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryn	Price	11039 Azalea Drive	PITTSBURGH	15235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yvonne	Phillips	2230 Maryland Av	Titusville	32796	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Neblett	133 Camino de las Crucitas	SANTA FE	87501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Todd	Spahr	617 Krall st.	Boise	83712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elwood	Hain	1973 Minoru Drive, Altadena, Ca	Altadena	91001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Piatek	220 West 24th Street Apt 6C	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzanne	Gordon	28040 Dovewood CT	BONITA SPRINGS	34135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanne	Schieck	2683 HEWLETT LN, BELLMORE, NY	Bellmore	11710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Josh	Dawkins	ë_	North Fort Myers	33903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynne	Ridgeway	P.O. Box 282	Clintondale	12515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Schwartz	5101Wwright Terrace	Skokie	60077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Schaab	409 Oahu Street	Morro Bay	93442	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Farideh	Dabiri	37 Mareyland Ave Unite 405 Rockville MD.	Rockville	20850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Olson	1911 Apple Court	Plover	54467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Rasche	702 E Amelia St	Orlando	32803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Danielle	O'Terry	238 s berendo street	Los Angeles	90004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Albert	Wagner	none needed	Fayetteville	72704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Reyes	19218 old ranch ln sw	ROCHESTER	98579	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Optenberg	101 Elliott Ln #302	Oregon	53575	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	McDonough	132 W High St	Carlisle	17013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rod	Knowles	723 South 5th Street	East Gull Lake	56401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mariama	Congo	34 Village Lane	Berlin	1503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Weinstock	136 Hicks St.	Brooklyn	11201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jorge	Sotelo	1730 W Washington St	Weslaco	78599	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lee	West	6203 N 12th Pl	Phoenix	85014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sister Clare Ann	Litteken C.PP.S.	930 Withnell Ave	Saint Louis	63118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Albano	64 bristol rd	Medford	2155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Blum	81 Clinton Street	FAIRFIELD	6824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zaira	Jones	124 pembroke court exton pa	Exton	19341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Ryan	1208 woodland hgts	Streamwood	60107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lawrence	Couch	623 N Westlink Ave.	Wichita	67212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Esposito	2501 Nicole Drive	PORT JEFFERSON STATION	11776	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Carter	Box 343	PELLSTON	49769	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Waynett	Sobers	55 N Broadway Apt 3-20	White Plains	10601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gus	Patino	58 Floral Ave	BINGHAMTON	13905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Linton	25 Udine St., Arlington, MA	ARLINGTON	2476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jesse	Green	13144 Via Vesta	Delray Beach	33484	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Cserr	707 Green Acres	North Dighton	2764	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Braunstein	1405 Buckingham Gate Blvd., Cuyahoga Falls, OH	Cuyahoga Falls	44221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margo	Czinski	10559 Czinski Rd	Willis	48191	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Cohen	142 hoernerstown rd.	hummelstown	17036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	FOLIT	5201 Desoto Rd.	SARASOTA	34235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Kent	7547 March Ave.	Canoga Park	91304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Esposito	5419 highway 36 p o box 288	CARLOTTA	95528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JoAnn	Chateau	63384 Polly Dr	Tarpon Springs	34689	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Asta	7660 Broadview Road #319	Cleveland	44134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Klueger	W2274 County Road Y	LOMIRA	53048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kiley	Brown Newton	1437 s 1st st	Louisville	40208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Mahony	19 Skyview Dr	Nashua	3062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B. Thomas	Diener	405-E Zena Lona St. NE	Albuquerque	87123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jackson	Fowler	506 Brooks drive	Temple	76502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Liv	Hempel	P.O. Box 5738	Bay Shore	11706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S	Venzke	5500 Park Avenue	Minneapolis	55417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Armstrong	125 Edmond St	Manchester	3102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Natalie	Ryan	1617 Sarah Circle	Conway	72034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Albright	600 18th Ave N	Minneapolis	55411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	DaBreu	southern golf ct	Fayetteville	30215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	D	Santa Fe	Santa Fe	87505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Mount	771 Oregon St.	Sonoma	95476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Marburg	2501 W. 45th St	Austin	78756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Gomel	4321 52nd St #321	San Diego	92115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Vernon	5869 Cory Dr	Hudsonville	49426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Lamson	35 Brown Rd	Asheville	28806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Grethel	8400Pine Road	Philadelphia	19111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Long	549 Spaulding Drive	KENT	44240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
claudia	Honsberg	960 Division St	Bayport	11705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charlie	Weir	5906 NE 74th Circle, Vancouver, WA	Vancouver	98661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Asta	7660 Broadview Rd. #319	Cleveland	44134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yefim	Maizel	5025 Diamond Heights Boulevard	San Francisco	94131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robyn	Phillips	129 Rte 27	Raymond	3077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	cockrell	3675 S. Cherokee. #106	Englewood	80110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rochelle	Farkas	2602 Orchard Hill Place	Lake Oswego	97035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Callahan	227 Washington St.	BORDENTOWN	8505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Ganio	1614 Hudson St #311 Redwood City	Redwood City	94061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjorie	Johnson	24 Lex Ave	Plainview	11803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Goldberg	1609 Arbor Dr.	Glendale	91202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Holden	14 Brookside Ct	Cartersville	30120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	Imhoff	5135 Commercial Ave.	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Thometz	987 Simerly Creek Rd	HAMPTON	37658	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gordon	Lange	38 Wawali St	Kihei	96753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vana	Spear	1805 204th	Lynnwood	98036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne	Whitaker	1088 Greenbriar Circle	Decatur	30033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Cranston	5427 Grape St	San Diego	92105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Galbraith	1852 Churchill Terrace	West Linn	97068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R D	JONES	53 ROUND HILL RD	BUTLER	7405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brent	Christen	1618 n 159	Omaha	68118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Pennington	5620 NW Briarwood	Lawton	73505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barb	S	143rd	Woodinville	98077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Estes	643 Crystal Springs Dr	WOODLAND	95776	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Phelps	768 Van Es Parkway	Eau Claire	54703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregg	Loew	3035 Randolph Court Drive, Ann Arbor, MI	Ann Arbor	48108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gretchen	Boyer	4648 NE 35th Ave.	PORTLAND	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kay	McPherson	2409 Arcadia Dr	MISSOULA	59803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Rankin	111 NW 11th	CORVALLIS	97330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Bradley	Greenfield	Greenfield	1301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Lindeman	1516 25th St SE Rochester MN	Rochester	55904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tracy	Kanno	23 barrett st	Cranston	2910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Nawara	30585 Vernon Dr.	FRANKLIN	48025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Phillips	5380 Brittainywood Road	Kernersville	27284	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Betty	Harry	2127 W 12th Ave #2	Eugene	97402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gar	Mosey	1860 2nd St	Cuyahoga Falls	44221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
l	Hurd	106 Fair Ave	Hanover	17331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Cohen	RR4 Box 2524	Pahoa	96778	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Heideman	11126 3500 Rd.	Hotchkiss	81419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Hartwig	53 S. Main St apt 1d	East Granby	6026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Eckstein	541 Hayes Street	Lawrenceburg	47025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Klopert	PO Box 245040	Brooklyn	11224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Olson	20538 Cadwell Ave.	Brainerd	56401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Faoro	43225 SE 172nd Street	NORTH BEND	98045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Jacobs	8061 Romaine Street	Los Angeles	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Matuszewski	29927 Lonnie	WESTLAND	48185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Burke	111 E San Miguel Avenue, Phoenix,	Phoenix	85012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jo	Scott	13608 Choir Street	WOODBRIDGE	22192	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Nohava	1117 Bell Rd.	Chagrin Falls	44022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Jones	9058 Forestview Road	EVANSTON	60203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Starobin	602 Sawyer Terrace #323	Madison	53705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Miller	70-25 Yellowstone Blvd.	Forest Hills	11375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bill	Helton	4369 Sandra Ln	Bremerton	98311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Pendygraft	10371 Forkland Rd	Parksville	40464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Rosenkranz	102 Skiffs Lane	VINEYARD HAVEN	2568	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Urbano	1025 Grandview Ave	Westfield	7090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bobby	Morrison	606 Lilly Road NE, Apt 624	Olympia	98506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim Steven	Waltz	307 Constitution Dr	Pittsburgh	15236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Crosby	113 magnolia st	HAWTHORNE	32640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Greaud	5100 John D Ryan Blvd, APT 226	San Antonio	78245	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tre	Stewart	2752 ponce de leon ave	Decatur	30030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jarron	Sutton	7379 Co. Rd. 108	Town Creek	35672	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Jorgenson	2400 Winterstone Drive	PLANO	75023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Big media is way too big to the detriment of the consumer.
Kathy	Kobak	25 Moorings Drive, Palos Heights, IL	Palos Heights	60463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phillip	Schwartz	426 East Allen Street	Hudson	12534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Shepler	6722 10th ave	Eau Claire	54703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
RONALD	PEASE	14504 S RICHMOND AVE. APT 1	Posen	60469	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron & Karen	Riggert	133 Moore Road	Sudbury	1776	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dana	Dongilli	267 Van Meter Rd.	BELLE VERNON	15012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gene	Caselli	1316 Glen Eyrie Ave	San Jose	95125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harvey	Metzger	11699 Briqrwood Cir	Boynton Beach	33437	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
theresa	sipe	45 ivy drive	Manchester	17345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Brosnihan	4 farm house court	Mount Sinai	11766	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rachel	Gullett	1300 e chulavista rd	TUCSON	85718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Butche	2660 Carriage Court	AURORA	60504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Margolis	507 Highland Grove Dr.	BUFFALO GROVE	60089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brown	Geoffrey	3120 Macintosh Drive	Westlake	44145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Albert	Goy	207 N. Salem Dr., Schaumburg, Il.	SCHAUMBURG	60194	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
joan	armstrong	285 huntington ave	BUFFALO	14214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jelica	Roland	M. Trinajstica 1		11111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doris	Koehler	12 Enid Ct	Potomac	20854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ethel	Birnbach	4703 C SW Caldew	Portland	97219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Rabatsky	1743 Robson Ave	Santa Monica	90405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	moore	31 n 4th st	Philipsburg	16866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Raschke	1929 Ford Pkwy, Apt 10	SAINT PAUL	55116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Diggs	7129 E. 40th Cir. N.	WICHITA	67226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emily	Sabol	311 E. Oriole Dr. Larksville, PA	Kingston	18704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Axle	2360 Oltesvig Ln	Highland	48357	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Finegan	1092 lillibridge dr.	Leland	28451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nikki	Alexander	81 N. Katherine Drive	VENTURA	93003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Higbea	83 L&E Meadows Drive, Waynesville,N. Carolina	Waynesville	28786	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anna	Engdahl	894 county Rd 94	Hankins	12741	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hussam	Ghazzi	144 E 7th St Apt A10	New York	10009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Nelson	45 high st	Livingston Manor	12758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sean	Molero	3416 Moss Ln	Violet	70092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jody	Gibson	317 E. Wall Ave.	Des Moines	50315	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Corder	2554 Douglas Fir Dr	Lodi	95242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katrina	Godshalk	9335 Eric Place NE	Bainbridge Island	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Wagner	6707 Martin Road	THREE OAKS	49128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gar	Mosey	1860 2nd St	Cuyahoga Falls	44221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenan	Ugucu	1419 Southwest 21st Court	Fort Lauderdale	33315	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Georgiann	Huber	3 menocker road	Monsey	10952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joletta	McGraw	723 N Madison Ave	North Vernon	47265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Voelker	6938 Hancock Av.	Saint Louis	63139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norman	Finkel	12002 andrail Pl.	PHILADELPHIA	19116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Connolly	22 Hasbrouck Drive	Garnerville	10923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	MacGregor	2512 Sarno Rd	Melbourne	32935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wesley	Struebing	1111 Rosedale Ave.	Dubuque	52001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosalie	Sable	885 Mindy Sue	MEDFORD	97501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryn	Melton	3209 Brookmeade	DEER PARK	77536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
margaret	brickman	12406 W. Wildwood Drive	SUN CITY WEST	85375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colleen	Mole-Garcia	3409 Wilke Road	Rolling Meadows	60008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cg	Acevedo	2504 Herring	Bronx	10469	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Boesch	14127 SW 166 st	Miami	33177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
marguerite	bryant	po box 1012	Fortuna	95540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	James	86 Denny Ridge Rd. #20002	Jasper	30143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Duket	2017 N Vagedes Ave	Fresno	93705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Conran	3113 Darlington Road	Holiday	34691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Monte	Rudy-Davis	411 w 11 st	Alexandria	46001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sonya	Grant	109 Middlebury Ave.	Akron	44305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
dorothea	herman	161 w crestview	Benson	85602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne	Almond	408 Clymer Ave.	Morrisville	19067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Maciolek	22 Brittany Ln	Barrington	3825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Lenardson	8772 1/2 Wyngate St	Sunland	91040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pierre	Hamm	Rue du Ried		67240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Danajoy	Monroe	470 Muirfield Circle	Louisville	80027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gilbert	Torres	79 Hoffman Boulevard East Orange,NJ	EAST ORANGE	7017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Cleckley	2905 Old Hwy 45 N Lot A-18	Meridian	39301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. We have the option to buy our own modem for Internet, why not let us buy our own box for cable?
Gavi	Stevens	460 Deville Dr	Largo	33771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Homer	Griffin	650 Depot Hill Rd.	POUGHQUAG	12570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Stuhlmacher	1580 N BLANCHARD CT	WHEATON	60187	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Cadkin	2949 Northwood Dr	Endwell	13760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
raynaldo	rodriguez	925 sw 5th st	Grand Prairie	75051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Warren	West	409 S.5th St.	Hugo	74743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Tramontano	1010 Wexford Blvd	Venice	34293	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Lubow	360 Court Street, #15	Brooklyn	11231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Pfitzner	19 Scott Lane	Lagrangeville	12540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Poposki	4351 Main St	Skokie	60076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Lester	516 Anita	Des Plaines	60016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tricia	Deane	31177 US Hwy 19N, Apt 1004	Palm Harbor	34684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Florence	Furst	24 Horseshoe LaneRoslyn Hgts NY	Roslyn Heights	11577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Cookson	768 Val Sereno Dr	Encinitas	92024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

RONALD	PEASE	14504 S RICHMOND AVE. APT 1	Posen	60469	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darryl	Mestel	214 N 8th St, Elkville, IL	Elkville	62932	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Golden	1721 Sunnypark; Redlands CA	Redlands	92374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deryl Ann	Ford	5037 Koster Hill Place	Cary	27518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Martini	32 Wonderwood Drive	Greenville	29615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Selma	Obermeyer	16938 Analan N.E.	Sand Lake	49343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Wessels	58 Primrose St.	APTOS	95003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Lawrence	410 44th Ave. #203	San Francisco	94121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	McClellan	1005 W Longhorn Drive	Jackson	83001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keneth	Menell	2250 w chestnut st #6	San Bernardino	92410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Caldwell	3308 N SEELEY AVE	Chicago	60618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Groh	6443 Heronwalk Dr.	Gulf Breeze	32563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Johnston	1303 Augustine Ct	College Station	77840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Maxwell	59 Lorraine Street	Roslindale	2131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shahla	Wahid	3311 H. Creek Dr.	Sugar Land	77479	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	ZENNER	120 N Locksley Dr	LAFAYETTE	70508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	carter	Corvallis	Corvallis	97330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Veronica	Mayo-Palmer	2521 Sundial Circle	Durham	27704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Nelson	2516 W. Airport Road	Willcox	85643	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Colburn	2105 Friar Tuck Ln	Oxford	36203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Cesare	10621 Mt Vernon Street	Taylor	48180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lewis	Middaugh	1034 S Genevieve Ln	San Jose	95128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Hof	Murrieta	Murrieta	92562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Wilson	1217 Princeton Ave	PHILADELPHIA	19111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Lewis	171 Forest St	Whitman	2382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Cloud	42 Walnut	SOMERVILLE	2143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Homola	1308 knollwood circle	Crystal Lake	60014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.